FARM BILL HAS REACHED VOTING STAGE IN SENATE

Amendment Was Voted Providing For a Graduated Reduction of Export Debenture Rates When an Increase of Production in Debenture Products is Forecast—There Was No Record Vote and the Action Was Not Considered a Test Vote For the Debenture Plan Itself.

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—The farm relief bill framed by the senate agriculture committee reached the voting stage in the senate today and the first change made was by adoption of the Norris amendment affecting export debenture rates.

The decision on the amendment, which would provide for a graduated reduction of debenture rates whenever an increase in production of debenturable products is forecast, was not considered a test of sentiment for the debenture plan itself. There was no record vote.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, chairman of the agriculture committee, previously had suggested the adoption of the Norris proposal even though he is opposed to the debenture plan, on the theory that no harm could be done by perfecting prospective legislation.

Although Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, and other supporters of his amendment, contended it would gain support among those who feel the invocation of the debenture plan would increase production, the proposal did not have unanimous support of the friends of the debenture plan. Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, was among those who asserted the idea of graduated reduction in rates would work against giving the farmer the full benefits of the debenture system.

Just before adjournment, Chairman McNary told the senate he had arranged to meet some dairy association representatives with a view to discussing "several important amendments" to the farm bill.

Before reaching a vote on the Norris amendment, the senate put in a full day discussing the farm bill with the hope of reaching a final decision on the debenture plan Thursday and on the farm bill itself by Friday night.

The debate brought new administration senators into the fight to exclude the plan opposed by President Hoover and also caused a brief flurry over the merits of the last campaign as a deciding factor in what the farmer wanted in the way of farm relief.

Senator Sheppard, democrat in Texas, contended that President Hoover and the republican party had failed to keep their promises, asserting that the pending farm bill fails to carry out campaign pledges.

Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana, denied that the bill fails to meet the campaign pledges of Hoover and confended the campaign had demonstrated that the republican plan of farm relief was more acceptable to the country than the democratic program.

Senator Sheppard declared the democrats believed in the principle of the equalization fee as expressed in the McNary-Haugen bill and that "the country is already beginning to understand" their confidence had been misplaced.

The debenture plan was denounced by Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, and one of the administration stalwarts, as "an unworkable provision" which would result in retaliatory tariffs from other countries. He was questioned closely by democratic senators as to what his attitude would be with respect to tariffs for industries which dispose of surplus products abroad cheaper than they are sold in this country, when the tariff measure comes up. Senator Smoot said he would wait until the tariff bill is discussed before arriving at any conclusions.

One of the new senators, Allen of Kansas, also attacked the debenture plan. He said the farm bill sought to handle surplus crops so as to bring prosperity to the farms and that the debenture plan would only increase the surplus and work against the things the bill sought to remedy.

The Kansas senator criticized Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, for his recent attack upon President Hoover's farm program and said that the president never had uttered a word in conflict with the provisions of the house farm bill or the senate bill as it would stand without the debenture clause.

HUSBAND CONFESSES GUILT OF "TORCH" MURDER

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 30—(AP)—A confession signed by Earl Francis Peacox in the presence of the district attorney today attributed the killing of his wife, Dorothy, to her referring to the home in which she and Peacox began their ill-fated married life as a "dump." Her body, six days later, was saturated with kerosene and partly burned.

The Peacox's were married April 21, 1928, he being then 20 years old and she 19. They didn't get along well together almost from the start. They separated and the young wife went to New York while Peacox, a radio repairman, stayed on in the home he had furnished for his bride.

On April 21, of this year, he was playing cards in the home of his mother-in-law when he suddenly remembered, so the confession read, that it was his first wedding anniversary. Actuated by "some confused emotion he was unable to explain he called on his wife and persuaded her to go for a drive with him.

He drove her to the former home and shortly before midnight they crossed the threshold of the house that had been the beginning and the end of their romance.

"Well, this looks like the old dump," the confession quotes Mrs. Peacox as saying and records that the husband took offense at the remark. A quarrel ensued which passed through the stage of angry words to "clawing" by the wife, Peacox said, and then he drew a pistol from his pocket and struck her on the head with the butt.

Still fighting and screaming, Mrs. Peacox was said in the confession to have knocked the weapon from her husband's hand. He then took her by the throat with one hand and pressed the other over her mouth. She relaxed suddenly, her body became limp, and he realized that she was dead. He put the body in his car and drove along the Ardsley road to near Greenburg where he hid it in a thicket.

REVIEW OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF BOSTON

BOSTON, April 30—(AP)—After enjoying the highest business activity for the month of March ever recorded, a moderate recession is in prospect for New England, the monthly review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, reported today.

"The unusually high rate of industrial activity which prevailed in New England during the first two months of the current year was continued in March and the first part of April," the report states

"The physical volume of business * * * was at the highest March level ever recorded. There has been evidence of a slowing up in certain lines of industry during the recent weeks, however, and it is doubtful whether the present high level of activity will be maintained without a moderate recession."

CONVENTION OF CONN. DENTAL ASSOCIATION

Nogales Surrendered By Mexican Rebels

Mexican Government Accepted Terms Submitted at a Conference in Nogales, Arizona.

NOGALES, Sonora, April 30—(AP)—With dramatic flourishes Mexico's latest revolution virtually passed out of the formal military stage here today.

Sudden and unexpected proposals of surrender by the few revolutionary leaders who had not fled from this city to the United States for safety were accepted by the Mexican government with assurances of safety, food, clothing and shelter as requested.

The parade of rebel chieftains to safer soil was followed today by an aerial attack on the city by federal planes which although apparently doing little damage, evidently hastened the decision to surrender.

The feeling of uneasiness was enhanced when 500 Yaqui Indian troops at the rebel garrison bolted. It was asserted they had left to join the forces of General Gonzalo Escobar commander-in-chief of revolutionary armies who is supposed to be at Pulpito Pass personally commanding the only remaining body of rebel troops of importance in the republic.

While events were moving here United States troops at Camp Stephen D. Little, near American Nogales, were called to arms presumably to be prepared for any clash that might occur across the line affecting American lives and property. A clash seemed improbable in view of the surrender however.

The offer of the rebels to surrender was made at a hastily summoned conference of insurrecto leaders with Rafael Avelevda Mexican consul in Nogales, Ariz. The conference was attended by Brigadier General Frank S. Cocheu of the United States army.

The proposal asked that the lives of rebel soldiers and commanders in Nogales be spared. The request was referred by wire to President Portes Gil in Mexico City who promptly telegraphed his acceptance of the proposals thus avoiding bloodshed.

Disposition to be made of rebel generals who fled across the line had not been ascertained. These include General Fausto Topete; Francisco Borquez, former commander of the Nogales garrison; General Hector Ignacio Almada General Ramon Burbe and Dr. Francisco Arriola chief surgeon of the revolutionary army.

When acceptance of the rebel terms was announced Mexican federal authorities in American Nogales crossed over the line and took possession of Mexican Nogales in the name of the government. The rebel flag was taken down and the federal flag hoisted in its place. There was no disorder aside from the excitement incident to the recent bombings and the sudden transfer of allegiance not altogether a new thing in Mexican communities.

By coincidence the revolution virtually ended in the principal point of its origin. Although the revolution was planned at Hermosillo, Sonora and broke out at Vera Cruz on the same date it started here March 3, Nogales, Sonora remained its chief headquarters. The Vera Cruz defection was overcome within two weeks after the outbreak.

There still remain roving bands of "Christeros" or so-called religious rebels in some places in the northwest for the government to contend with and the possibility of a period of guerilla warfare.

The government's plans regarding Escobar's troops were not known here.

NEW $11,000 AIR MAIL PLANE DAMAGED TRYING TAKE-OFF

WORCESTER, Mass., April 30—(AP)—A new $11,000 air mail plane of the Colonial Air Transport, Inc. was badly damaged when the muddy field at the Webster-Dudley airport prevented the wheels from leaving the ground on a proposed take-off for Hartford tonight and caused the plane to crash into a stone wall. Thomas Donnelly, night supervisor of the New York Newark line, a passenger and H. H. Tallman, of Boston, pilot, escaped injury.

DIED OF INJURIES CAUSED BY AUTOMOBILE

NEW HAVEN, April 30—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Hill, 45, died suddenly tonight at Grace hospital of injuries she received by an automobile operated by Richard H. Mathew, of Baltimore, Md., senior at Sheffield Scientific school. The accident occurred during a downpour of rain last Friday as Mrs. Hill stepped off a curbing. Mathew took the woman to the hospital and then reported the accident to police who arrested him on a charge of reckless driving.

Warning To Germans About Reparations

French Government Cautions There Will Be No Political Conference to Patch Up Affairs.

PARIS, April [illegible] Pointed advice to Germa[illegible] her reparations proble[illegible] present conference of ex[illegible] semi-officially from the [illegible]overnment tonight through [illegible] Press. Germany was wa[illegible] there will be no political c[illegible] later to patch up affairs [illegible] present second Dawes comm[illegible]orts its failure.

S[illegible]ormed that the Dawes plan, [illegible] the German delegation protests [illegible] becoming insupportable, is the only alternative to an agreement at the committee.

Through Paris newspapers, led by the semi-official Temps, this advice was given quite clearly today, and sources close to the government itself let it be known that this is France's firmly resolved policy.

The other allied delegations to the committee are disposed to take the same view, it was learned elsewhere tonight.

Thus Germany appears to be faced with strong pressure for an immediate settlement when Dr. Hjalmar Schacht returns to Paris on Thursday.

All this fits in exactly with Premier Poincare's repeated declarations which were last voiced in his speech at Bar-Le-Duc a week ago. There also is a belief that Foreign Minister Aristide Briand very probably has conveyed this information to Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, and that therefore all the delegations look to Dr. Schacht's return as vital.

The experts are not certain that the Germans will change their figures sufficiently to make possible an agreement, they are not even sure that Dr. Schacht will present a new offer, but they all feel that Germany's yes or no will be momentous.

Heretofore, the Germans as well as others have felt that if the allied demands and the Germans offer could be brought closer together, the delegates could split the difference and make a settlement in order to achieve financial, political and economic stability in Europe. All this now seems clearly out of the question if France holds to her position, and there is nothing to indicate that she will do anything else.

The committee's report is being whipped into shape and the subcommittee will meet tomorrow to study the revised portions and additional chapters.

This report will contain much information about German finances and capacity to play, it is understood.

INCREASED EARNINGS OF UNITED STATES STEEL

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—The United States Steel Corp. at the quarterly directors meeting today announced a new post war earnings record for the first quarter of the year, when profit amounted to $5.04 ne share of common stock or 72 per cent of the $7 dividend requirement for the entire year. This compares with only $3.43 in the previous quarter, and $2.11 in the first quarter of last year.

Total earnings for the quarter amounted to $60,105,381, an increase of $19,171,049 over the first quarter of 1928. This is after all expenses incident to operation including those for repairs and maintenance to plants estimated federal taxes and interest on bonds of subsidiaries. Of this amount $14,716,828 was charged off to depletion depreciation and obsolescence, and $3,203,106 was required for interest on funded debt.

This left a net profit of $42,388,553 which is a gain of $20,853,575 over the net profit for the period a year ago. Dividends paid on the preferred amounted to $6,304,919, and on the common to $12,453,411 leaving a surplus of $23,427,117. Surplus for the first quarter of last year was only $2,573,541.

EXPLAINS THE PURCHASING OF STOCK IN NEWSPAPERS

President Graustein of the International Paper and Power Company Asserts That the Company's Holdings Were Purchased to Obtain Outlets For Its Newsprint Paper Products—Was in No Way Associated With Power Projects—Declares There is Not a Case of a Newspaper Where the Company Has Control—Says No Efforts to Influence Editorial Policies Have Been Made.

WASHINGTON, April 30— (AP) — Emphasizing that no efforts to influence editorial policies have been made, Archibald R. Graustein of Boston, president of the International Paper & Power company, testified before the federal trade commission today that his company and its affiliated concerns had purchased stock in 13 newspapers in various sections of the country.

Appearing as a witness at the commission's investigation of the recent purchase by his company of stock of the Boston Herald and the Traveler, Graustein declared the company's stock holdings in newspapers were procured to obtain outlets for its newsprint paper products. The International Paper company is a subsidiary of the International Paper & Power company.

Mr. Graustein said the stock holdings in the newspapers were in no way associated with the hydro-electric and power project of the paper and power company and its affiliated concerns.

"There is not a case of a newspaper where we have the control," he said, "and where the control is not in other hands."

"I have never met an editor of any of the papers," he declared. "We have nothing to do and do not want to have anything to do with news and editorial policies. The only contact we have is with the newspapers' business offices. We know there is the danger of suspicion of our controling editorial policy and we feel we must keep 100 per cent clear of influencing news and editorial policies."

An exhibit placed in the record cited the stock holding in newspapers of the parent and power company and its subsidiaries as follows:

Chicago Daily News, $250,000 in preferred stock and 5,000 shares of common stock.

Chicago Journal, $1,000,000 of debentures and $600,000 of preferred stock of the Brien-Thomason Newspapers, Inc., and 10,000 shares of the common stock of the Chicago Journal.

The Brien-Thomason Newspapers, Inc., also owns the Tampa, Florida, Tribune and the Greensboro, North Carolina, Record.

The Albany, New York, Knickerbocker Press and the Albany Evening News, $450,000 preferred stock and 3,000 common stock shares.

Boston Herald and the Traveler, 10,248 shares of common stock purchased at $525 per share.

Brooklyn Daily Eagle, $1,954,500 in notes and 400 shares of common stock.

Augusta, Georgia, Chronicle, Columbia, South Carolina, Record and Spartanburg, North Carolina, Herald-Journal, though Hall & Lavarre, $855,000 in notes secured by the stock of these newspapers.

A contingent interest in the Ithaca, New York, Journal News, $300,000 in notes.

Prior to the testimony of Mr. Graustein, Robert Lincoln O'Brien of Dedham, Mass., former president of the Boston Publishing company, which publishes the Herald and the Traveler, and former editor of the Herald, and James Garfield of Boston, secretary of the publishing company, testified concerning the negotiations leading up to the purchase of the stock of the two newspapers by the International Paper & Power company.

Graustein testified that his company never had sought the control of the Boston Herald and the Traveler, although it had purchased 50 per cent of the stock. At the time of the stock purchase, he added, the company created a voting trust which effectively prevents it from exercising its voting rights of stock for the control of the publishing company.

Questioned by Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, Graustein said the assets of the International Paper & Power company and its subsidiaries totaled about $490,000,000, with $292,000,000 in power development and projects and $198,000,000 in paper and pulp. Discussing the status of the International Paper & Power company's business, he declared that his concern primarily was in the paper business although in recent years the defiated condition of the newsprint market had caused the power business to yield the greater return.

In 1927, he added, the company's income included 54 per cent from power, 25 per cent from newsprint and the remaining 21 per cent from other paper products and other sources.

"The International has no right, ability or desire," Graustein concluded, "in any way to influence the news or editorial policy in any newspaper in the whole country. The International feels that it would be unwise policy from the point of view of its power properties to adopt any other policy, and public sentiment generally, we believe, supports that viewpoint."

INTN'L. PAPER'S INTERESTS IN GANNETT NEWSPAPERS

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 30—(AP)—Frank E. Gannett, owner of the Gannett group of 17 newspapers, told the Associated Press today that he had received financial assistance from the International Paper companies and that he wished to make clear the connection of four of his papers as established by the testimony of A. R. Graustein, president of three paper companies, before the federal trade commission.

He said, "The International Paper company has no interest in any of the Gannett newspapers with these exceptions:

"Last fall when the money market was in bad condition I found it difficult to issue public securities and made temporary arrangements with the International Paper company by which this company bought certain notes and preferred stock of the corporation that owned the papers in question, absolutely and clearly.

"For advancing this money the International received 30 per cent of the common stock in Albany and Brooklyn, but have no stock interest in Ithaca.

"The International Paper company has nothing whatever to do with the editorial policy of these papers or anything to do with their management. The International merely asked that it be given consideration in the purchase of the newsprint supply of tonnage.

"I was able to make very favorable terms with the International both in tonnage arrangements and in borrowing money. It was a very satisfactory business deal that really concerns no one but me. However, I have no objections to disclosing the facts. Everyone knows that the amount of money I borrowed from the International is only a fraction of my resources and that I am no more obligated to that concern than I would be to a bank in a similar transaction.

"I might add that I buy but a part of my newsprint supply from the International Paper company."

MRS. BEARDSLEE INSISTS HUSBAND KILLED HIMSELF

BRIDGEPORT April 30—(AP)—In a plaintive querulous voice, at times hardly audible Mrs. Gladys Maude Beardslee widow of Oliver Beardslee shot to death on April 25, in his home at Stratford a few miles from here, told her story of the happenings on the night her husband was killed to Coroner John J. Phelan today at the resumption of his inquest. Time and again she insisted that Beardslee had killed himself and that she was innocent.

"I did not fire that shot. I did not have the gun in my hand that night or at any time I am entirely innocent of shooting my husband" Mrs. Beardslee replied to a question by Coroner Phelan as to whether or not she shot Beardslee.

Mrs. Beardslee was the last witness of the afternoon to testify at the inquest which had been continued from last Friday.

WHAT CHEMISTRY MAY DO TOWARD "FARM RELIEF"

COLUMBIA, Ohio, April 30—(AP)—Chemistry by finding new uses for farm products and by-products, can do more toward "farm relief" than any legislation congress may pass, Louis J. Taber, Columbus National Grange master, told the American Chemical society today.

When new uses for agricultural products are found by the chemist, he said, the "burdensome surpluses will begin to disappear and these surpluses are a great part of the agricultural problem". Taber spoke in a symposium on "the relations of chemistry and agriculture."

In addition to discovering new uses for farm products as the raw materials for industry, Mr. Taber said agriculture looked to chemistry to find cheaper plant foods, such as nitrogen; to find better ways of detection of adulteration of foods; and to find more effective ways to combat the pests "that menace rural prosperity," such as the corn borer, boll weevil, and the Mediterranean fruit fly.

U. S. WILL TAKE NEXT STEP IN NAVAL DISARMAMENT

GENEVA, April 30—(AP)—Washington and not Geneva will decide the next concrete step in reduction of naval armaments if the prevailing impression here is in accord with facts.

The white house, the Washington state department and Downing street are believed to be agreed that a preliminary agreement between the United States and Great Britain on general lines is wise before further public naval discussions at the preliminary disarmament conference here are engaged in.

Failure of the tripartite naval pact is held up as a warning that there must be no further collapse as a result of lack of suitable preparation.

Geneva is therefore guessing that Sir Esme Howard British ambassador at Washington, is talking or will talk with Secretary of State Stimson, and perhaps with President Hoover direct over the political aspect of the Anglo-American naval problem.

COL. LINDBERGH LAUDS EUROPEAN AIRPORTS

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's impressions of the development of aviation in this country were laid today before a joint congressional committee which is studying the airport needs of Washington.

Lindbergh observed that while there is now more private flying in this country than abroad, not one American city has airports to compare with those of Europe and none of the existing American fields may be used as models for the future.

He discussed radio apparatus for flying through fog, transport service to South America and other matters.

The colonel was taken into the senate by Senator Bingham of Connecticut during a recess for an impromptu reception. After the senators had shaken hands with him, the senate pages surrounded him while the gallaries applauded.

STRANGLED HIS THREE SONS THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE

FORT WILLIAM Ont., April 30—(AP)—A 36-year-old saw mill employee tired of his wife, today strangled his three small sons and then committed suicide by throwing himself in front of a train.

Discovery of the triple killing came after the finding of the body of Mike Walskin on the railroad tracks just as a freight train passed over it.

Dollies in the Walskin home in north section of his death police found the three sons, Charles, 7, Francis, 5, and Norman, 2, with a cord around each of their necks. Death in each case was declared to be asphyxiation. Beside the bodies was found the note addressed to the police.

Walskin's wife, who was in Detroit when the tragedy occurred, is expected here tomorrow.

COMMITTEE FAILS TO VOTE ON STATUS OF MELLON

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Attention of the senate judiciary committee was focused today on a visit of Secretary Mellon to Canada in 1925, especially as to whether it was in the interest of his holdings in the Aluminum company of America.

The committee has been considering the report prepared by Chairman Norris finding the treasury secretary to be holding office illegally but no decision was reached. An effort for a vote may be made at a meeting tomorrow.

Seeking approval of the Norris report, Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana at today's session continued his discussion of a deposition given by Mr. Mellon in an old law suit which disclosed the Canadian visit. The Montanan contended Mellon's Canadian visit. The mountain contended Mellon's visit showed he was interested in carrying on business.

The Norris report declares that the treasury secretary as a stock holder in various enterprises has violated a hundred year old statute forbidding the head of the treasury department to be interested in carrying on trade or commerce.

Some members of the committee want an inquiry to be made into the Mellon visit to Canada, where the aluminum company had taken over a power development from the Duke tobacco interests.

PERMANENT DEMOCRATIC QUARTERS IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Democratic party leaders, intent upon recovering in the 1930 congressional elections some of the ground lost last year, have decided to open permanent headquarters in Washington under the direction of Jouett Shouse, of Kansas, as chairman of the executive committee.

Formal announcement of this was made here today by John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, who at the same time said he had succeeded in reducing the party deficit of $1,550,000 to about $500,000, "with every indication of a further reduction to under $500,000 within the next fortnight."

Replying to questions put to him by newspaper correspondents after he had read his formal statement, the national chairman said he had no intention of relinquishing his post and expected to be very active in party affairs.

Besides, Mr. Shouse, other members of the committee are the chairman himself, former Senator Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island; Senators Harrison and Pittman, of Nevada; Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and F. J. Hoey, of New York.

THREE DEATHS IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN NORTH HAVEN

NORTH HAVEN, Conn., April 30—(AP)—An investigation by three different sources was carried on today after an accident between a taxicab and two trucks which caused three deaths and serious injuries to two others early today. Deputy Coroner James J. Corrigan, Deputy Sheriff A. Herbert Carlson and State Officer William L. Schatmann each were making separate investigations to determine the cause of the crash on the Boston Post road.

Those killed were Peter Clark, 32, of 29 Rose street, Hartford; Charles D. Brown, 1183 Main street, Hartford, and John Steiner, 25, of this town. Their bodies were claimed late today by relatives. Frank Goodall, of Hartford and Harry Lemberger, Brooklyn, N. Y., are patients in New Haven hospital, the former with a fractured skull and possible internal injuries. The nose is on the former. Mr. Lemberger suffered serious injury to his left eye but did not think at the hospital that it would be lost.

FORMER SECY OF STATE OF VERMONT SENTENCED

CONCORD, N. H. April 30—(AP)—Hebert Pillsbury former secretary of state, was sentenced to from one to three years imprisonment in superior court here today on charges of misappropriation of state funds. He retracted a previous plea of not guilty and pleaded nolo.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Fannie B. Holmes.

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Mrs. Fannie B. Holmes, wife of Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the supreme court of the United States died at her home here tonight. Mrs. Holmes was the daughter of Cons. S. Darwell, of Cambridge, Mass. She was married in 1872.

ESTATE OF REV. DR. PERCY STICKNEY GRANT, $79,394

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—Appraisal of the estate of the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, prominent Episcopal clergyman who died at Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 13, 1927, filed today showed a gross estate of $79,394 and a net of $65,213.

The principal beneficiaries under his will are his sister, Mrs. Margaret Grant Stone of 355 Center avenue, Abington, Mass., and Mrs. Mary E. Findleton, chambermaid in Dr. Grant's rectory for many years. Mrs. Stone received personal effects valued at $8,675 and a life estate in $37,322. Mrs. Findleton received a life interest in a trust fund of $18,215. At the death of the two women the principals of the trusts are to be divided between two of Dr. Grant's nephews, Percy Stone of 167 Lloyd avenue, Providence, R. I., and Stephen Grant Stone of Abington.

MARION TALLEY MAY SETTLE ON A FARM IN LITCHFIELD

LITCHFIELD, April 30—(AP)—Marion Talley, retired Metropolitan opera star who recently announced her intention to go to the middle-west and spend her remaining days on a secluded farm, will, instead probably settle on a farm in or near this town Miss Talley, with a lawyer and accompanied by her mother and younger sister, inspected two pieces of farm property here this afternoon and one in Goshen nearby. It is understood that Miss Talley has a contract with a phonograph company to make records which will compel her to spend much of her time in New York for a considerable period to come. This is believed to have influenced her in her decision to buy a farm in Connecticut instead of in the middle-west.

MAY 1 WILL BE CONN. DAY AT STORRS COLLEGE

STORRS, April 30—(AP)—May 1 has been set aside by Acting President Charles B. Gentry as "Connecticut day," the one day of the year on which classes are officially suspended to enable the student body and faculty to accomplish something in a direct way for the institution

Work will be carried on tomorrow at the institution on the new practice field in an effort to set the playing surface in first class condition. Improvements will also be carried on around the Storrs church, and the new Charles Lewis Beach science building, which will be graded off. The work will be under student supervision, with Willis H. Pratt '30 and Leo T. Duffy, '30, in charge.

PHYSICIAN WAS KILLED AFTER SLAYING WOMAN

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, April 30—(AP)—Dr. Harry T. Dowling, 45, shot and killed Mrs. Lola B. Roland, 19, here today in the home of Mrs. Roland's uncle, H. L. Hempkins, and then was shot and killed while he wrestled with a peace officer, who attempted to disarm him.

BATTLE IN HOUSE OVER BILL RAISING LICENSES FOR HUNTING AND FISHING

(Special to The Bulletin)

HARTFORD, April 30—As was expected the bill reported by the fish and game committee that increased the licenses for hunting and fishing met with stiff opposition.

An amendment was offered by Mr Palmer, member from North Stonington. The amendment was supported by Rep. Ross of Lisbon and Rep. Reeve of Burlington.

It was opposed by Johnson of Manchester, Wilcox of Sharon, Thompson of Colebrook and Clark of Haddam. The first vote being doubted a rising vote was taken and the bill was passed by a substantial majority. The bill as passed increases the anglers and hunters license to three dollars and a recording fee of thirty-five cents. A combination license will cost five dollars and a recording fee of thirty five cents.

A non-resident angling or alien license will cost five dollars and a recording fee of thirty five cents. If from any state that charges a higher rate the same shall be charged. The property qualification for a non-resident to obtain a resident license is raised from $500 to $1,000. A non-resident hunter will have to pay $10.50 for the privilege. A non-resident combination license will cost $14.25. A separate license will be required to trap. The fee for a person under sixteen years will be $2.25 and if over sixteen $5.25. No alien can obtain a hunting license.

The provisions of the act will not be in force till January 1, 1930.

A bill passed in the house today is intended to correct or remove the unsightly piles of abandoned or discarded automobiles which are appearing along the highways in the state. The important provisions are: "When there is displayed, to the public view, two or more unregistered motor vehicles which, in the opinion of the commissioner of motor vecicles, are unfit for reconditioning for use for highway transportation, or used parts of motor vehicles or old iron, metal, glass, paper, cordage or other waste or discarded material which has been a part of any motor vehicle, the sum of which parts or materials shall, in the opinion of said commissioner, be equal in bulk to two or more motor vehicles," it shall constitute a motor vehicle junk yard.

"No person shall establish a motor vehicle junk yard or business unless he shall first obtain and present to the commissioner of motor vehicles a certificate of approval of the location to be used therefor from the warden of the borough, the mayor or acting commission of the city or the selectmen or town manager of the town wherein such location shall be situated, as the case may be, nor unless he shall have obtained a license for such trade or business from said commissioner. * * * Such certificate of approval shall not be issued unless such warden, acting commission, selectmen or town manager shall, after such hearing, find that no unreasonable depreciation of surrounding property would

MAZZOLA MURDER CASE GOES TO SEPTEMBER TERM

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 30—The case of Thomas Mazzola of this city, charged with the murder of his mother-in-law Mrs. Rosario Lorella, was postponed until the September term of the Windham county superior court at today's session of court. Announcement of the postponement was made by State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford and was based on an agreement to that effect with the defense counsel, Attorneys Samuel B. Harvey and William A. King. Mrs. Lorella was strangled to death at the Mazzola home on the morning of January 3 last. Mazzola had reported late to work and owing to his apparent inability to give an accurate account of his whereabouts from the time he left his home to the knowledge of his wife and daughter to the time he reported for work as a railroad section hand, suspicion was directed to him. Account was made also of the fact that the woman had several hundred dollars in cash and insurance policies. Mazzola is being held in the county jail at Brooklyn without bail.

Herr; Chaplin, Garfield J. Hayden, Ross A. Moran; Eastford, Walter Lannhear, Orlo B. Carpenter; Hampton, Jirah Hyde, James Reilly; Killingly, Alcide Page, John Princle; Plainfield, James Downing, Orren E. Kenyon; Pomfret, Frank Chism, Andrew H. Amidon; Scotland, Morrell Roberts; Sterling, Fred C. Whitford; Thompson, George E. Fairfield, Ellsworth C. Bixby; Woodstock, Lennen Sumner, George Clark.

C. H. Hughes Gets Divorce

In the divorce action of Carleton H. Hughes of this city against Florence Hall Hughes, now of Boston, Mass., which was uncontested and was heard last Friday morning, Judge Marvin granted a decree on the grounds of desertion. The couple were married in 1919 and the desertion is alleged to have taken place the following year.

Under previous agreements continuances until September were granted in the cases of William Sezar of this city, charged with non-support and Clarence N. Ellison of Windham, charged with obtaining value under false pretenses. In view of these continuances State's Attorney Bradford stated that all criminal business for the present had been disposed of and Judge Marvin adjourned the criminal term until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. At that time a brief session of the term will be held to take up the case of Alexander Kaminski of Mansfield City who will be arraigned on a bench warrant on charges of breaking and entering. The youth was returned here from Florida last week by Officer Arthur Hurley and he had admitted several breaks in the city and vicinity and in Columbia and Coventry. The only break of importance which he does not confess to and which was perpetrated at a time when he with his brother and a pal were doing a wholesale thievery business in this section is that at the Jordan Auto company garage.

High school principals of the state held their sixth annual conference at the Willimantic State Normal school building today with a registration of 65. An opening dinner and social was held at Residence hall Monday evening with Dr. A. R. Meredith state commissioner of education presiding. Dr. Meredith gave a short talk and notes regarding the secondary educational field were read in connection with a general discussion on this subject.

Today's sessions were in charge of Franklin E. Pierce of Hartford, supervisor of secondary schools in the state. Some 90 principals attended these assemblies. A report of the committee on vocational guidance in secondary schools of Connecticut was read by Donald B. Sweet of Hartford, chairman at the opening session. The membership of this committee was Chairman Sweet, T. S. McKee of Bridgeport, S. Adler of Hartford and Dr. P. Collier of Simsbury. A talk on Costs in High School Education was given by Amos C. Hoyt, director of high school research at 10:30 and at 11:30 o'clock E. E. Cortright, president of the Connecticut Junior college spoke on The Place of the Junior College.

The luncheon session was addressed by Dr. A. F. Myers, director of the division of teacher preparation on The Professional Training of High School Teaches. The speakers at the afternoon sessions were: 2 p. m.—Mrs. Ruth White Colton of Hartford, member of the bureau of character education research on Guidance and Character Education. 2:30 o'clock—Mis Alice Wilson of the Ansonia high school, A Guidance Program in the Small High School. 3 p. m.—Miss Marie McNamara of the Troup Junior high school of New Haven, A Guidance Program in a Junior High School. 4 p. m.—Dr. Pierce of Hartford, A New Type of Permanent Record Card. The final session of the day was held at 4:30 o'clock and was in the nature of a round table discussion with suggestions from the floor in reference to the 1930 program.

The closing dinner was served in Residence hall at 6:30 o'clock and was followed by entertainment. Walter B. Spencer, principal of the New Haven Commercial high school presided. The final session of the conference will be held at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning when a summarization of guidance material will be presented. This report will be supplemented with recommendations for its utilization in Connecticut.

Some 40 leading merchants of the city voted to close their stores on Wednesday afternoons, beginning at 12 o'clock noon from June 19 up to and including Wednesday, September 18 at a meeting held in the chamber of commerce rooms Monday night. The vote on this matter was unanimous. The only exceptions to this rule will be during the week of the Fourth of July and Labor day when the stores will remain open all day Wednesday owing to the full holiday granted during those weeks.

Arrangements have been made for a meeting of the Willimantic Retail Merchants' bureau Monday, May 13, when Alfred C. Moreau, manager of the Hartford Credit Rating Bureau will explain the functions of the organization as information for the establishing of a similar bureau in this city. The matter is one that has been under advisement here for some time. Announcement has been made through the bureau that a progress exposition will be held next fall with a view of acquainting the results of the city and surrounding towns with the products manufactured in Willimantic and the quality of the merchandise offered by the retail merchants. This movement is sponsored by the chamber of commerce.

Above $2,000 of the costs of $2,800 have been received when the Kolystic Band contests in Willimantic and Stafford Springs was officially closed tonight by Leoland H. Cady, organizer of the campaign. It was felt that while the result of the drive was below the quota, it was nevertheless remarkable, in view of general business conditions and the fact that so many people face what might be termed extraordinary expenses in the spring season.

A farewell social was staged at the citadel this evening by the young people in honor of Adjutant Carrie McVeigh, retiring Army head here, who leaves Thursday to assume a new post at the Winsted state headquarters. She will be succeeded by Captain and Mrs. Berkhoudt who will be publicly welcomed at the citadel Thursday evening.

OBITUARY

Timothy Gillen

Timothy Gillen, 88, veteran of the Civil war, died at the home of his son-in-law, James J. Colgan in Forest Hills, Boston, Mass., Monday night following an illness of several weeks. He had lapsed into a coma Friday of last week. Mr. Gillen enlisted in the Third Rhode Island Heavy Artillery during the war. He had resided here for many years, up to last October, and was a member of Francis S. Long post No. 30, G. A. R. He went to make his home with his son-in-law upon leaving this city. He is survived by one son, residing in Olneyville, R. I.

At the police court session this morning William Minor of Eagleville was fined ten dollars and costs on an amended charge of speeding. The original charge had been of reckless driving to which he pleaded not guilty. Minor was arrested by Officer Alfred Meikle about 7 o'clock this morning after Minor had driven his car over the sidewalk for a distance of about 40 yards after accelerating the machine in order to avoid a collision with a truck that was turning from Main into Walnut street. Minor admitted that he was traveling at a fair rate of speed when he was forced to avoid striking the truck. The officer, James F. McGlone and the accused were the only witnesses.

Willimantic will be headquarters for one of the five districts in Connecticut for the 1930 national census, according to a press dispatch from Washington D. C. Congressman Richard P. Freeman of New London will have the supervision for this district which will be known as No. 3 and will comprise Tolland, Windham, New London and Middlesex counties. Each supervisor will have an assistant and about 125 clerks and enumerators.

The funeral of Peter M. McCabe of New York, formerly of this city, was held today at 9 o'clock at a funeral home in Hartford with a requiem mass in St. Peter's church at 9:30 o'clock. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery.

A pneumatic drilling machine owned by the city street department and manned by Mechanic Reed was applied to the paving on Main street, near Railroad street today to bore a furrow which will contain the cable nine to the new electric traffic signal being installed at the junction of the streets.

Nearly 500 dog owners had engaged in a last minute rush to register their canines when the town clerk's office closed this afternoon. It is estimated that about 150 additional dogs remain to be licensed and the owners will have to do this before Wednesday night to avoid payment of an extra dollar.

Rev. Robert A. Clarke, a student at Hartford Theological seminary has been appointed as supply pastor at South Coventry and Gurleyville Methodist churches to take up his work there on Sunday, May 5.

Miss Laura Sypher, daughter of George Sypher, is making good recovery at St. Joseph's hospital where she underwent an operation last week.

Ray L. Hahn of Mansfield has purchased a house and lot at 225 Windham road from Leicester F. Benton according to a warranty deed filed at the town clerk's office. Another deed shows the sale of a tract of land and buildings on the westerly side of North street by Martha West Hawkins to Ella S. Simonds.

Mrs. Victor A. Storrs and daughter Jean left today for a week's visit in Larchmont, N. Y.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barker has returned to the home of her son, Joseph Barker and family of Riverside park after spending the winter with her daughter Mrs. Elizabeth Barth in Stonington.

Miss Jean Chamberlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Chamberlin is visiting Mrs. A. E. Cherry in Boston, after which she will be guest of Miss Marion Bass at Wellesley college for the week end.

Miss Maude Stanforth of this city, primary supervisor of the public schools in Bozrah, Colchester, Franklin, Hebron, Lebanon, Marlborough and Sprague has resigned her position to accept one as elementary supervisor in the schools of Neptune, N. J. She will assume her new duties Thursday.

Mrs. Sally Paone of Hartford is now with her daughter Mrs. Charles Taylor after spending the past six months in Tennessee. Mr. Taylor is a member of the state trade school faculty.

Mrs. T. Frank Howie is guest of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Schmitz, in Naugatuck to celebrate the latter's birthday.

Mrs. Fred J. Williams of Maple avenue is entertaining Mrs. Curtis Kemp of Springfield.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Peter Rabbit Looks in Vain

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Peter Rabbit was full of curiosity. He always is full of curiosity, but now it would seem as if he were a little more full than usual. And it was all on account of Beauty the Wood Duck and Mrs. Wood Duck. They had told him that they had decided to stay at the pond of Paddy the Beaver because they had found a tree that just suited them for their home. Now, until the Wood Ducks had arrived, Peter had supposed that all ducks nested on the ground, and it had been hard work for him to really believe Beauty when the latter had told him that he and Mrs. Wood Duck would make their home in a tree. Now that they had admitted that they had found a tree that suited them, Peter was, of course, exceedingly curious to know just where that tree was.

Now, as you know, the homes of the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest are their own precious secrets as long as they can keep them secrets. This is for safety's sake. Peter had asked Beauty where the tree was, but Beauty had refused to tell him, just as Peter had expected he would refuse. So there was nothing to do but to hunt for it.

"Those Wood Ducks are not very big ducks, but still they are big enough birds to need a fairly big nest. That nest is somewhere near the pond, so I ought not to have much trouble in finding it," thought Peter. This was a week or ten days after the arrival of the Wood Ducks, so he knew they had had plenty of time to build the nest and he knew that they had been building it. But so far he had been unable to find it.

Now Beauty and Mrs. Wood Duck were having a lot of fun at Peter's expense. They knew just how hard he was looking for that nest and they delighted in teasing him by starting away from the pond in different directions. At first Peter had thought that he would find the nest easily by watching the direction the Wood Ducks took when they left the pond and from which they came when they returned to the pond. But after a few days Peter decided that this was wasting time. You see, those ducks had left the pond in practically every direction and it seemed as if they never returned to the pond twice from the same direction.

"I'll have to just use my eyes to find that nest," thought Peter. "They probably have built it in a big tree. I'll just go look over all the big trees that are fairly near the pond. Probably they built a nest of sticks, the same as Quack the Night Heron. Anyway, whatever they have built it of, it must be fairly big."

So Peter wasted a lot of time and patience looking up in trees until his neck fairly ached, but nowhere did he see a nest that he thought belonged to the Wood Ducks. Two or three times he thought he had found the nest, only to discover that he was mistaken. Once it proved to be an old nest that belonged to Blacky the Crow. Once it was a squirrel's nest. Perhaps you can guess how disappointed Peter was. Finally he began to doubt if the Wood Ducks had any nest at all. Every day you could see them swimming about in the pond of Paddy the Beaver and feeding there. Sometimes Beauty would be alone. This became the condition more and more often until really Peter had only occasional glimpses of Mrs. Wood Duck.

"Where is Mrs. Wood Duck?" Peter asked Beauty one day.

"Attending to her duty," replied Beauty, his eyes twinkling.

"And what is that duty?" asked Peter.

"Sitting on eggs," replied Beauty.

Peter sighed. "Then you really and truly have a nest," said he.

"We really and truly have," replied Beauty.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

FIVE ARE PENALIZED—VIOLATED VEHICLE LAWS

The time of the borough court was taken up Monday morning in disposing of cases against five persons charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws. Louis Bennett of Willington pleaded guilty to operating an automobile without having an operator's license and was fined $7.00 and costs of $11.85.

John Metsack, of Ashford paid $5.00 for operating his automobile with defective brakes and $3.00 and costs of $11.85 for not having the light weight and carrying capacity marked on the side of his truck.

Emery Scarran of Mt. Carmel, Conn., entered a plea of guilty to the charges of not having obtained an operator's license and of having defective brakes, no windshield wiper, no horn and no muffler and paid $14.00 and costs.

Chester Field was taxed $11 for operating with defective brakes, defective lights and improper markers. He had no money with which to pay his fine and will work it out in Tolland jail.

The case against Henry W. Hall, Jr., who was in the car with Chester Field and who did some of the driving was nolled, upon payment of costs.

Miss Marion Moran of Hartford was a week end visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moran.

Joseph Quinn of Springfield, Mass., spent the week end at his home on Prospect street.

Kenneth E. Sullivan of Rockville was a recent visitor at his home on Benton street.

Mark Quinn of Storrs college was a recent visitor with local relatives.

Miss Louise Andreisky of Hartford spent the week end at her home on Corcoran avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sawyer of Springfield spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mullins.

INSECT PEST MENACING MAINE'S WHITE BIRCHES

AUGUSTA, Me. (AP)—The sawfly leaf miner has become a serious menace to white birch trees in Maine.

Dr. Henry B. Parison, state forest entomologist, and Neal C. Violette, state forest commissioner, say that a survey has revealed an urgent need for immediate action to save the birch. A two-year study of methods to exterminate the pest is advocated.

30,000 miles of the first-year feel—with the New Mobiloil in your engine

The above figure may seem excessive. In actual road tests, however, the New Mobiloil has preserved the first-year feel in many engines for more than twice this distance. If regularly drained and refilled with the New Mobiloil, your engine should keep its first-year feel for at least 30,000 miles.

Why We Chose Auburn

Because we think we are harder to sell an automobile to than any one else in this community. Before we bought we investigated not only the value of the present models, but the factory behind them, and the future ahead of the factory. In all three respects we found, after a thorough study of the industry, that Auburn decidedly leads. Auburn's financial strength, stability and permanency are unquestioned. In manufacturing facilities and resources Auburn leads the industry. Not in mere size, but in engineering ability; production methods; workmanship and quality standards. Auburn's policy of not obsoleting former models with rapid changes in design, protects the owner's investment. Auburn's methods of doing business, and treatment of its customers is fair and constructive. Auburn's management is young and aggressive, insuring an even more brilliant future for Auburn. Now, as to the cars themselves, Auburn's policy sold us. Auburn said "There are our new models—compare them—drive them—and if they do not sell themselves, you will not be asked to buy." We make you the same invitation.

Six $995 — Longest, strongest, roomiest closed car in the world under $1000. A Six, too!

Straight Eight $1395 — A Straight Eight closed car that obsoletes high priced Sixes. An economical, too!

CHILD HEALTH DAY.

May first is celebrated throughout the country as Child Health day, and when we stop to realize that the children are the future citizens too much emphasis cannot be placed upon its importance.

Health plays a vital part in the efficiency of individuals. Much depends upon the health of children as to how many of them live to become citizens, and among those living it has as important a role in determining the activity, ability and accomplishments of the individuals. It is the health child, the healthy boy and girl the healthy adult that is desired. It is such that are needed for the future of the nation and it is desirable that the best possible help in that direction should be gained through insisting upon better health in children.

The child health movement has had widespread support. One phase of it is the school health work which is designed to clear up some of the misunderstanding on such subjects as nutrition, care of the teeth and methods of teaching health and this assists school administrators to make time and effort and money spent in health activities more successful.

President Hoover has been, until recently, president of the American Child Health association which directs this child health work. As the result of his recent appeal in behalf of child health, Senator Couzens of Detroit has created a trust fund of $10,000,000 to be devoted to the alleviation of suffering among unfortunate children. This fund is to be spent within a period of 25 years. There is a desire that the good work that is needed should be done in the immediate future and in that period it will mean that the principal and interest will result in the expenditure of $17,500,000 in this noble cause.

While this fund is intended chiefly for the children of the state of Michigan the trustees have the authority to use it for work outside the state if sanctioned by the trustees. The possibilities of this undertaking are great but it is a cause in which many others may well experience a similar inspiration.

NAMING JUDGES.

There can be no serious questioning of the attitude displayed by Attorney General Mitchell relative to the appointment of federal judges, when he declares that it will be fitness rather than political pull which will determine them. Further than that he lets it be known that judgeships will be considered on a non-partisan basis so far as possible, the idea being to see that the highest judicial service is provided for.

This is the policy that is to be expected when such important posts are filled by appointment. That also means an assumption of some responsibility by the one making the appointment and those making the recommendations.

When judges are named who are qualified and who can be relied upon to faithfully discharge their duties and administer the important details of their position, it means that much greater confidence is going to be placed in the judiciary than is the case when they are named because of political activity. For that reason it is believed that the practice of having judgeships filled by appointment rather than by election is far preferable. It undoubtedly means better men and if there is any office to which the better men should be named it is to that of judge. It is necessary for the proper administration of the law, it is needed to insure confidence in the courts and it is needed to keep the courts on the high place where they should be. Where politics creaks into the courts they too often become a football to be kicked about and abused, and the interests of the public disregarded.

Thus when the new attorney general puts forth his policy it cannot fail to get hearty endorsement from all sections of the country, and in the application of that policy thus far there has been a consistent upholding of his announced determination. Nothing could be more timely in view of some of the disclosures which have been recently made in connection with federal judgeships.

ROAD WALKERS.

Whenever persons are killed by hit and run drivers there is immediate resentment over such acts. There is a common desire for the apprehension and punishment of the guilty person. The feeling is general that the responsible person should be made an example of for the prevention of other cases of a similar character.

In such instances there is invariably too little actual information as to just what was the cause. It is perfectly evident that the person who was killed was walking along the road when struck and killed, but whether there was any plausible excuse is seldom known. The fact that the machine was speeded away carries its own inference.

After such affairs attention is frequently directed to the importance of doing various things, such as walking on the left side of the road, providing sidewalks for pedestrians and requiring all who walk in the road to carry lights.

Taking measures for dealing with every new problem that arises in the highway would provide business for an endless session of the legislature. But while there can be no support given to the hit and run drivers, it cannot fail to be realized by individuals who walk the roads that there is danger in so doing. Perhaps there have been more narrow escapes from accidents than there have been cases of hit and run drivers, but whether that is so or not, it cannot fail to be noted that there is protection to be had in the carrying of some form of a light.

Many who will never get into the class of hit and run drivers have had experiences with individuals walking along the side of the road which were not comfortable. They have been picked up by the light on the car none too soon, but if there had been a light in the hand of the walker or a reflector on his arm, the warning would have been discerned much farther in advance of the actual meeting.

Regardless of legislation or regulations, the person who walks in the road should exercise due concern over his own safety, and the drivers of cars are entitled to fair warning that one is occupying a part of the highway. If such a practice is followed it is believed that it will reduce the number of cases of pedestrian deaths while walking the road which are not due to drunken and irresponsible drivers.

RECKLESS SHOOTERS.

Reckless use of firearms by those engaged in upholding the law occurs from time to time. It can be readily understood that no officer likes to lose the object of his quest and he is bound to stop a runaway if such a thing is possible. There are times, however, when an officer is carried away by his enthusiasm, in his eagerness to capture he does not realize that he is overstepping the bounds of good judgment when he brings a gun into use and employs it to kill, when the offense for which the person wanted does not justify any such treatment.

There is the right time for the use of a gun and there are times when it can be misused. It is in regard to the reckless use of firearms that Prohibition Commissioner Doran warns prohibition agents and narcotic agents through a circular letter in which he points out that the fact that a prisoner is escaping is not in itself sufficient justification for the use of a gun to apprehend him.

He points out that much of the good work being done in the prohibition service can be instantly undone by the reckless use of firearms and he brings to their attention the regulations concerning the use of firearms, and directs attention to the fact that the gun is for the purpose of protection, self defense or to prevent the taking of human life.

The difficulties of the prohibition and narcotic agents are many. They are subject to much criticism if they fail and if they accomplish what they attempt. The taking of human life in certain instances has aroused much opposition and the commissioner does well to remind the agents that they are governed by regulations and are expected to comply with them.

FRUIT FLY CONTROL.

When it becomes necessary to deal with a pest no half-hearted methods should be employed. To do so means a waste of time, effort and money. Where conditions call for drastic efforts to accomplish eradication the quicker such work can be started and completed the better.

It is in recognition of this that prompt and what it is believed should be effective measures have been taken to combat the Mediterranean fly which destroys citrus fruit. With 50 square miles of fruit land in Florida infested by this pest and brought to the attention of the government, President Hoover recommended that an appropriation of $4,500,000 be made by congress to wage a fight against it. It is important that it should be prevented from spreading and it is equally important that it should be wiped out in order to end such a menace. Such a sum may be considered large but it is preferable that it should be spent now while the territory infested is at the minimum, and enough is needed to do a good job. An inadequate sum employed in such a way that only the surface would be scratched would not only give encouragement to the spread of the pest but it would virtually amount to throwing the money away.

Florida fruit interests face a serious situation unless the fly can be wiped out. As it is it will be necessary to inspect all fruit to see that none in which eggs have been laid leaves the area and that only fruit which has been inspected is sold in trade.

It is a sorry situation which is faced by the fruit growers of that area since they must submit to the drastic measures, and yet if the situation is to be controlled no other course could be thought of. Desperate situations call for desperate treatment.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

What has become of those old time Maypole dances?

It is time for the hanging of May baskets to be revived.

Evidently the burden rests upon the senate itself to place a check on the activity of its troublemakers.

The man on the corner says: It is strange how some people who were the same age when children, are years apart when they get to be 40.

One third of the year has gone and it is a long time since we heard anything about how the new resolutions are wearing.

The fine progress made in the legislature this year and the early closing that is indicated prove the advantage of Friday sessions.

A MATCH FOR DONALD

Donald's father paced angrily back and forth across the room, biting savagely on the stem of a stubby black pipe.

"Character" he announced, solemnly—"is built on a foundation of rigid discipline." Donald's mother promptly burst into tears.

"No use your weeping," said father, grimly. "I tell you he must be spanked—and spanked hard."

"He's so little," sobbed mother. "Big enough to strike matches," reminded father.

"He's tall," admitted mother, chokily, "but he's only 3." Entreatingly she added the timeworn excuse of all doting mothers, "After all he's really just a boy."

"If," said father in his coldest most dignified courtroom manner, "Donald is old enough and big enough to strike matches whenever the spirit moves him, he is big enough and old enough to suffer the consequences. Having demonstrated that verbal reproof has no effect, we must resort to a more stringent punishment—one that will bring home to him the fact that matches are not playthings."

Mother sat up very straight, dried her eyes and took her turn at cold logic.

"Might one ask just why you suddenly regard justifiable in practice a punishment which in theory you have always claimed to regard as primitive, unintelligent and altogether to be condemned?"

Gauging correctly the determined set of mother's lips, father knew he was steadily losing ground in the argument. Feebly he offered the threadbare alibi of all fathers, "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

"One might also add that 'Forbidden fruit is sweetest,'" responded mother, who knew her bromides. "If you make such a fuss about Donald's striking a few matches he will be keener than ever to get them."

"For Pete's sake be reasonable!" exclaimed father, forgetting his dignity. "I tell you, we can't let the boy strike matches—he'll set fire to the house! Let me give him one sound spanking—then the matter will be settled once and for all."

"You mean settled until the sting of the spank wears off," sniffed mother. "You know perfectly well that spankings don't do anything except make children try to do things on the sly, so they won't get caught and spanked again."

"Well," stormed father, "what punishment do you suggest? If he isn't to be spanked, what is to be done? I think perhaps even you will admit that it isn't the part of wisdom to let him continue juvenile arson."

"What unpleasant expressions lawyers do use," remarked mother. "However, we'll let that pass. And you just leave Donald to me. I'll think of a way to settle him—permanently!"

When the marketing order arrived, mother pulled out a long, rectangular box. "For Donald," she announced cheerfully.

"What," began father, noting the label on the package.

"Gangway!" said mother, brushing past father. "Come son," she called to Donald. "Come see all the lovely matches mother has bought you to strike an dthrow into the fireplace. Twelve whole big boxes."

It was father who later put in the plea for commutation of sentence, as wearily Donald struck his approximately four hundred and seventeenth match.

"Have a heart and let the kid off," begged father. "Can't you see that he's had enough?"

Without looking up from her sewing, mother answered: "Character, you know, is built on a foundation of rigid discipline."

"Doesn't he get anything off for good behavior?" ventured father, a few moments later.

"Certainly," replied mother. "Donald will have time for his nap, meals, bath and night's sleep. And of course just as soon as he finishes striking all these nice matches, he can play with his toys."

"I'll bet the very sight of a match will make him sick by the time he gets through with those other nine boxes," said father.

"I trust so," calmly answered mother. "The object of a punishment is, I believe, not to wreak vengeance for a crime already committed, but rather to prevent a repetition of the offense."

"Maybe I wouldn't hate going up for trial with you on the jury!" exclaimed father, feelingly.—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Looking Backward

Mr. Editor: On Saturday morning, April 13, I had the extreme pleasure of meeting a very fine old man in Willimantic and passed a very pleasant two hours at his home. I left Norwich on the trolley leaving at 7:45 and this car was in charge of a very courteous conductor, Frank Hill. As we went along he pointed out many interesting places to me and I to him. Up in Occum I noted a hickory tree where I used to climb each fall and gather the nuts and it never failed to have a bushel or so. This was at least 60 years ago. And there it stands today, a "lone sentinel," for there isn't another tree anywhere near it. Of this it could be said, "All its other companions, they have withered and gone." I was, at that time, working for a man named John Smith who was the "village blacksmith." He also kept a bar room. I suppose this would be called a "cafe" today, and here I was I used to meet Mr. Hilbert, who was the owner of the woolen mill at Ford Ned. (Page "Quid Nunc" on this.) Mr. Hilbert was of German origin and every day on his way into the "Landing" he would stop at this particular bar room and have a good glass of beer. In the meantime, while he was inside I would hold his horse and when he came out he would give me a coin. Let me tell you this, that coin in those days looked as big as a "cart wheel" to me. And I always watched for him to come along and he was always on time.

With the permission of my friend in Willimantic I want to tell you a story of the days of Mr. Hilbert, for he made a partial solution of the prohibition question in those early days. There was, as there are today in many sections of the country, many "blind tigers" in the hills of Windham. No, I don't mean wild animals, but places where a person could get a drink of "moonshine," and it was the custom or habit of Mr. Hilbert's employes on Saturdays and Sundays to ferret out the haunts of these "tigers" and get a load, in fact, too much, so that on Monday when it was time to check in to work, they would often be in no condition to work. This condition was getting worse and worse, so Mr. Hilbert had to meet this condition by a counter move. Every Saturday night he would have a barrel of beer delivered and this was for the employes. Apparently this move worked successfully. That, "Quid Nunc," was in the long ago, when you and I were boys.

As I rode along in the trolley I could not help but recall the assertion that was made by Professor Harper of Chicago university, who said that if all the available land in the "Lone Star" state could be utilized it would feed the entire world. This thought came upon me as I looked from the window of the trolley, that even Connecticut has lots of land that has been tilled in days gone by and today is idle. It is gradually reverting back to its original condition with bushes and weeds covering it in many instances. I often think of the hard work that is incident to the life of a farmer, not so much today as it was say 60 years ago. Nothing but the hardest kind of toil to grub a living out of the soil; hardly ever any amusements, just work, work all the time, I know whereof I speak. Neighbors were quite some distance away. The only time that they would meet their friends would be on their occasional trips into town. But now, although the work is hard, there are many labor-saving appliances and the homes are equipped with the radio, the phonograph, telephones, and all the 20th century ideas; steam-heated houses and every modern convenience. Going back to early days as I see it, I do not think I exaggerate when I say the monotony of such a life was enough to drive a person crazy. Now and then a bright spot would appear when a pack peddler would come along. If late in the day, he would ask for permission to remain overnight and for this he would pay with some of his wares. The story is told of a Russian Jew who was one of those wanderers, having reached a farmhouse at nightfall and asked to stay over night. Opening his pack to give the farmer's wife some little present, they noticed he had quite a sum of money, and the said their cupidity took possession of them and the pack peddler did not go any further. He was not missed. The house where he put up was owned by a farmer named "Micah." Although I know the last name, we will forget it at this time. The following spring there was an apple tree that was full of blossoms and instead of being pink and white of other times they were splashed with a bright red. When the fruit had reached the ripening stage, in the center of the apple where the seeds were was a small "globule," a bright red drop, not unlike a small drop of blood. Many years after, this particular tree was blown down. And at the foot of the tree, beneath the roots, was found the remains of an old pack. The buckles still remained, a mute witness of something that told its own story. This apple, due to having been first grown on this farm, was called the "Mike" apple. I wonder if this isn't a fairy story? But whether it is or not, this is what is given as the origin of the "Mike" apple which, as I recall them, were a very excellent fruit.

Yes, the lot of the farmer was none of the easiest, and still they are of the greatest importance, for they are the balance of power in this world. Without them the world would starve.

And as I note, the papers stress the point that the time is ripe for a farm relief bill. To begin at the foundation, the taxation of the farmer ought to be reduced 50 per cent. This would be a move in the right direction. But we will leave this to the law-makers. I am only making a suggestion.

Say, Old-timers, do you remember when we used to go out in the country to some little church where they advertised a festival and an oyster supper and with all the other "fixin's" on the side—mince pie, doughnuts, and ginger bread—such as those splendid old New England mothers used to make? To paraphrase an old quotation: Turn back, turn back, O Time, in thy flight, and lead me to one on this very night. Boy, lead the way, I will follow, and don't forget a good glass of orchard tea.

C. H. "DAD" SHAW.

Passaic, April 25, 1929.

YOUR HEALTH

Do You Feel Like Work on Monday Morning?

By Harold Bailey, M. D., Springfield, Mo.

In 1906 in the London hospital in Whitechapel the writer was complimented by Professor Head for correctly diagnosing a case of neurasthenia in a man. The professor concluded by saying that these nervous cases were quite rare in England among men, and uncommon among women.

Shortly after 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the same day, the surgical clinic adjourned while the doctors had their cake and tea, after which we again scrubbed up and resumed operations.

The same year an American opened a shoe store in Oxford street. Clerks were required to report at 7:30. Doors were opened at 8. By 10 o'clock people made their appearance in the street. At 10:30 the first customer arrived.

Nothing strange about these incidents except that neither of them could have happened in the United States.

Business men who spare time to read this will smile knowingly, thankful to be living where they are. Quite true. Also true that they will not live so long. A man who reports at his office at 10 a. m., takes an hour for lunch, a half hour for afternoon tea and knocks off work at 5 o'clock for a couple of hours' tennis, cricket or a walk, is not going to suffer from a shattered nervous system.

The brain should be the last organ to be overworked. A brain fatigued is a menace to its host. He who would protect his body must preserve his mind. This is all important. Many an injury follows an error in judgment, the direct result of nerve exhaustion. Many a bad investment also.

A man's entire disposition can be changed by overwork. He loses that self-control so essential in the control of others. He becomes a different individual, unable to do himself justice because he is not himself.

Thousands of Americans lose health in finding money, and then lose money in trying to find health. In America, business is a disease, and a contagious one; often complicated by nerve exhaustion, insidious in its onset. The earlier recognized, the sooner cured.

Every individual has a normal standard. Any variation from that standard is worthy of notice. Irritability of temper normal in one, is in another a symptom of overwork calling for a vacation.

When we begin to lose interest in our work, neglect correspondence, require an extra effort to do the simplest things, grow forgetful, find our memory lagging and begin to worry over trifles, it is time to get away. Three weeks now are worth three years later on. An ounce of prevention is always worth a pound of cure.

Our best prevention is a hobby used with system and moderation. One that affords complete relaxation and mental rest.

A man who does not feel like going back to work on Monday morning needs a longer vacation than the previous day afforded.

Let the American business man pause in his pursuit of power. While he is setting the pace he is also paying the price.

The comedy that fails to make a hit is no laughing matter.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 30—General Pershing seems to have been well advised in refraining from comment on the purported Foch interview published by M. Raymond Recouly, the French journalist and confidant of the great French soldier.

In his final report as commander-in-chief of the A. E. F., Pershing fully revealed the enormous pressure he was under continuously to permit the allies "to draft Americans under foreign flags," as he puts it. That report was published in 1920.

Disagreement

The only new thing about the Recouly article was its intimation that Clemenceau, "the Tiger," had urged Foch to request that Pershing be supplanted because he stood out so stubbornly for creation of an independent American army.

Recouly quotes Fosh as saying that Clemenceau thought the generalissimo was "too patient and easy" with Pershing.

Yet the limitations of the commission given Foch to supervise strategic operations on the western front make it quite clear that he had no authority whatever over tactical and command questions even in the French armies, let alone the British or American.

That agreement was entered into at Beauvais, April 3, 1918. It bore the signatures of Clemenceau, Petain and Foch for France, of Lloyd George, Haig and Sir Henry Wilson for Great Britain, and of Generals Bliss and Pershing for the United States.

It is a brief affair of less than 10 printed lines. And it specifically confided to Foch only "strategic direction of military operations" on the western front, reserving to the national army commanders, Petain, Haig and Pershing, "to the fullest extent tactical direction of their armies." Each had also the right of appeal to his government, over strategic instructions received from Foch.

Certainly "the Tiger" may have meditated diplomatic intrigue behind Pershing's back to get a more complacent commander for the American forces. Probably Lloyd George had similar notions at times; but hardly Foch. His function was purely military and closely delimited. He had no political status save in his own country.

Successful Plan

Pershing's report is illuminating in giving reasons for his "stubborn" battle for an independent army, quite aside from any question of national prestige and honor.

He believed implicitly that only a young, eager army, trained for offensive, not defensive, warfare, could break the trench stalemate of four years.

Events seemed to prove him right. It was the American drive through the Meuse-Argonne toward Sedan, the nerve center of German military operations in France, that broke the back of the war.

And Pershing personally, not Foch, selected that point of attack because its strategic possibilities meant at least a chance of early victory and because "in my opinion no other allied troops had the morale or the offensive spirit to overcome successfully the difficulties to be met."

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

OLD LEDYARD HOUSE AND ANTIQUES BURNED

Fire early Tuesday morning destroyed the large farmhouse, known as the Old Quaker meeting house in Ledyard, one mile north of Burnett's corners, together with a large quantity of antique furniture which was to have been sold at auction there Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The building was estimated to be worth $3,000. Insurance of $2,000 was carried.

The house was owned by Edward Sinay, a sign painter in New London, but much of the antique furniture was owned by Fred S. Wright of Burnett's corners. On this, it was said, there will be a total loss of about $2,500.

The fire was discovered about 1:15 o'clock in the morning by a person living on a farm near the Old Quaker meeting house farm. A call was sent in to the Mystic fire department and a pumper responded, but the fire had gained such headway before the arrival of the firemen that it was impossible to save the building or any of its contents. The cause of the blaze was undetermined. No one lived in the house.

Of early construction, the house contained 15 large rooms. It was, a number of years ago, used as a Quaker meeting house, and from this fact the farm derived the name by which it has been commonly known.

FORECLOSURE SUIT BROUGHT ON FARM IN SALEM

A foreclosure suit on a mortgage on a farm in Salem has been brought by Nicholas and Mary Zachacheiski against John and Antoinette Razion of New Britain.

Party defendants named are the Moodus Savings bank of Moodus; Steve Speck and Frank Kulakauskas, all of New Britain; Joseph Zamiska and Michael Revak, both of Farmington.

On Oct. 11, 1927, Mr. and Mrs. Razion were the owners of a 50-acre farm in the town of Salem, along the Hartford-New London turnpike, which was subject to a mortgage of $300 to the Moodus bank, and to a $3,700 mortgage to the Zachacheiskis. The Zachacheiskis claim that their mortgage is still owned by them is due and wholly unpaid.

Speck and Kulakauskas claim to have a mortgage of $250; Samiska claims to have an attachment lien for $200; Reyak an attachment lien for $600.

WEDDING.

Mack-Jackson.

A quiet wedding took place Tuesday noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Jackson, 63 Lafayette street, when their daughter, Shirley Amy, and Paul Mack of Pottstown, Pa., were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, only the immediate relatives of the couple being in attendance. The house was prettily decorated by George Scott, florist.

The bride wore a traveling gown of rose beige crepe and hat to match, and carried an arm bouquet of pink snap dragons.

During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Mack left on an unannounced honeymoon trip. They are to make their home in Stanhope, N. Y., where Mr. Mack holds a responsible position at the transatlantic radio receiving station of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The bride who is a graduate of Norwich Free Academy 1924, and the Willimantic state normal school 1926, has been teaching at the Bishop school for the past three years.

OBITUARY

Mrs. E. Stiles Ely

Mrs. Emma Durrie Palmer Ely, 69, widow of E. Stiles Ely, who died Friday at New Haven following a short illness, became ill soon after the death of her husband, April 7, at New Haven. Mrs. Ely was born in Newark, N. J., the daughter of Albert W. and Cornelia Ailing Palmer. The family was prominent in Newark and in Cornwall-on-Hudson, where they had a country estate. For about 20 years Mrs. Ely lived at Lyme.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Daphne Ely Poulson of Lyme, who has a number of friends in Norwich, and by two sons, Richard D. Ely of Waterbury and Ernest Stiles Ely of Lyme.

Thomas Kaneen

Thomas Kaneen, 63, died early Tuesday evening at his residence, No. 852 Bank street, New London, following an illness of some duration. He conducted a market in New London and besides his widow is survived by one son, C. William Kaneen; a brother, John Kaneen, and three sisters, Miss Maude Kaneen, Mrs. Louise Pettigrew and Mrs. Annie Shields, all of New London.

Joseph T. Cormier

After a year's illness, Joseph T. Cormier, formerly residing on Boswell avenue, died in this city Tuesday morning. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cormier and was born in New Brunswick, Can., Dec. 7, 1879. At Fitchburg, Mass., Feb. 1, 1903, he was united in marriage with Jennie Cormier, who survives him.

There also survive a step-daughter, Mrs. Arthur Duhaime, of this city; a brother, Philip Cormier, and a sister, Mrs. Agnes Gaudette, of Leominster, Mass. His many friends extend heartfelt sympathy to the surviving members of the family.

COUNTY LEGISLATORS VOTE FOR NEW COUNTY HOME FOR CHILDREN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

HARTFORD, April 30.—The New London county members of the general assembly met today immediately aftre adjournment of the house and senate with Sen. Manning of the 20th district presiding and Judge Marvin, of Lyme, as clerk. Senator Manning stated that the purpose of the meeting was to consider laying a county tax and the building of a county home.

County Commissioner George E. Bradford, of Montville, told of the present inadequacy of the present building on Smith avenue, Norwich and of their poor condition. There was not sufficient land, he said, at the present location for expansion and it would be poor judgment to spend any great amount of money for improvements as now located.

Representative Fred Beckwith, of East Lyme, moved to lay a $250,000 tax on the towns of the county, payable $125,000 on Sept. 1, 1929 and $125,000 on Sept. 1, 1930.

Senator Fox of New London, moved an amendment by adding "so much of such sum as may be necessary to be used for the purchase of land and site and erection and equipment of buildings for a new county home."

A further resolution by Representative Beckwith authorized the county commissioners to borrow up to $125,000 in anticipation of the tax collectible Sept. 1, 1930.

Senator A. W. Lillibridge of Norwich spoke as a former selectman, of the necessity of a better building at the county home and urged that it be of sufficient capacity to care for all children, including those under four years of age, who are now barred.

Commissioner Bradford said that the commissioners did not think there was any necessity for laying a tax for county expenses as he thought they could set along with the funds now in hand, a balance of $138,195.31.

A motion to appoint a county sealer of weights and measures at a salary of $2,200, was opposed by Senator Fox of New London and Representative P. T. Connell of Norwich as being unnecessary because Norwich and New London have such officers. Senator Fox moved to make the salary $500 and this motion passed.

On motion of Senator A. W. Lillibridge of Norwich the usual appropriation of $8,000 for the next two years was voted to the New London county farm bureau, one-half to be paid each year.

The report of the county commissioners was accepted as presented.

It was stated that the county commissioners had not considered any site for a new county home. Their first thought would be to secure a location where water and sewage could be obtained and thus avoid the expense of such installations. Another requirement would be to secure enough space for playground facilities.

The action of the meeting was unanimous on all matters.

In communication with County Commissioners Charles H. Smith of Noank and Elisha Waterman of Lebanon Tuesday night that it was said the purpose was to sell the present county home property on Smith avenue in this city and look for another site. They could not say whether this might be in Norwich or in some other part of the county.

According to Commissioner Smith, the commissioners had hesitated about making this suggestion towards getting a new county home because they were afraid they couldn't get the money that would be needed, but the matter had been taken up among the county representatives in the legislature, especially by Mr. Beckwith of East Lyme and Mr. Lillibridge of Norwich who had been strong in its support. He said he did not know of any site having been considered yet and did not know whether any other site in Norwich would be considered acceptable, but the Smith avenue property would certainly not be used. A place where modern conveniences such as water, electric lights and bus or trolley service would be accessible would be desirable.

The county home at present has 71 children in it and has had as high as 102 at times.

OUT-OF-TOWN VISITORS FOR PROGRESS EXPOSITION

Representatives from the New London, New Haven, New Bedford, New Britain, Springfield, Willimantic, Waterbury, Lynn and Haverhill, Mass., and Waltham, Mass., chambers of commerce have signified their intentions of attending the second annual Norwich Progress Exposition which will open at the state armory on McKinley avenue Thursday at 1 o'clock p. m., and continue until 10 p. m. These hours will also be maintained on Friday and Saturday.

The exposition is being held under the auspices of the Norwich chamber of commerce and is under the personal supervision of Sheldon H. Fairbanks, general manager of the Boston Garden and director of many of the country's leading expositions.

On the stage of the armory on the opening evening the Silver Mask tenor, probably the greatest known radio entertainer, will appear for the first time in Eastern Connecticut. The Silver Mask Tenor will be met at New London by a committee from the chamber of commerce consisting of President Joseph C. Worth, First Vice-President F. Russell Smith, the exposition's general chairman, Charles A. Saxton, Secretary Walter H. Pilcher and a number of other members of the chamber. The plan is to escort him from New London to Norwich and arrangements are being made for a very elaborate reception to be given him in honor of his first appearance here.

It was through the personal friendship with Director Fairbanks that it was possible to secure the Silver Mask Tenor to appear at the Norwich Progress Exposition. He has toured the country for the past 52 weeks as the solo artist with the Silvertown Cord orchestra and holds the distinction of probably being the oldest radio star now making personal appearances. He signifies the word mystery because residents of Norwich will only see him covered with his silver mask. At the exposition headquarters in the chamber offices a number of people have phoned and called in person to inquire as to his real identity. They have stated in a number of instances that they recognized his voice as that of John McCormick and other well-known concert stars. However, it will probably be a long time before his real identity will be made known. He is known personally to members of the 27th division, the division with which he saw service in the recent World war. His friends among the World war veterans stated that many happy hours were enjoyed by them because the Silver Mask Tenor, who was then known as a very popular concert artist and composer of popular music, was one of the official entertainers in Europe.

It is expected that the Silver Mask Tenor will have as his accompanist the local favorite, Henry J. LaFontaine. The Silver Mask Tenor stated Tuesday that he will be very happy to renew acquaintance with his friend, George F. Hines, secretary of the Haverhill, Mass., chamber of commerce, who is coming here as a guest of Secretary Pilcher with several members of the Haverhill chamber. The Silver Mask Tenor was the guest artist at the recent Haverhill Pageant of Progress exposition.

In addition to the appearance of the Silver Mask Tenor, Thumm's local orchestra will be seen on the stage of the armory in a program of especially arranged dance numbers and they will also play for the gorgeous style show which is being put on by the Reid & Hughes company. The models for the Reid & Hughes company will include Miss Nonie Nagle, Miss Mary Girard, and Miss Alice Gallup. The entire fashion show is under the personal supervision of Miss Kinnan. It was stated at the Reid & Hughes company that Miss Kinnan is in New York selecting some of the latest in wearing apparel to be shown for the first time at the exposition.

On Friday evening, Lieut. William B. Tassilo and his Governor's Foot Guard band will be heard in a return engagement.

On Saturday evening in addition to the style show, D'Atri's popular band will be heard in a number of special dance selections.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY TO WORK AT STORRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

STORRS, April 30 — Wednesday, May 1, has been set aside by Acting President Charles B. Gentry as "Connecticut Day," the one day in the year when the classes are suspended, in order that each undergraduate, and faculty member can get out and do something directly for the institution.

In former years much work has been accomplished in this way. In 1928 the present football field was constructed in one day, last year the work was confined to the construction of the new practice field and baseball diamond, the work being completed the past summer.

The work tomorrow will consist of grading around the Charles Lewis Beach building, in the vicinity of the Storrs church, with further work on the athletic divisions being carried on extensively.

MRS. WILSON IS MAKING PROGRESS TOWARDS RECOVERY

Reports current in the city Tuesday that Mrs. Samuel C. Wilson of 95 Cliff street, who is a patient in the isolation ward at the Backus hospital with a case of smallpox, was in a very serious condition were positively denied Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Wener, house physician at the hospital.

Dr. Wener stated that Mrs. Wilson's case is taking a perfectly normal course, that she is improving and her condition is very satisfactory to those in charge of the case.

NORWICH ELKS ARE TO HONOR P. E. R. FITZMAURICE

Norwich lodge of Elks is preparing for another big time at its meeting this week, when the lodge will present an honorary life membership to Past Exalted Ruler Richard J. FitzMaurice, now of Boston, who is the oldest living of the past exalted rulers of the lodge.

As Mr. FitzMaurice is now general superintendent of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, with headquarters in the South station, Boston, it has been considered appropriate to put the meeting in charge of Elks who are railroad men.

Methodist Scouts Win Awards

Troop 6, Boy Scouts, of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, held its weekly meeting Tuesday evening at the church at 7 o'clock with Scoutmaster Raymond Brown and two assistants, Privates Metzger and McNeil, in charge. William Nicholson was presented with a red, white and blue bar for service while a member of the troop. He is to be transferred to Bridgeport. The results of the interpatrol contest were as follows: The Fox patrol won the patrol prize and Edward Lichenstein won the service button with 802 points. Scout Brodeur also won a service button with about 300 points. After the meeting a short drill was held in charge of Private Metzger.

Entertained Club Girls

Mrs. David A. Pitt entertained Monday evening at her home on Broadway a number of young girls of the Every Other Monday club, when a programme of sewing, reading and singing was enjoyed, followed by dainty refreshments. This club recently gave the one-act play, "The Commander-in-Chief," most impressively under patronage of the Woman's Crusade and later by request repeated it for the Christian Americanization school, which is led by Mrs. Robert W. Otis.

Correcting Marriage Misstatement

Because of a telephone message purporting to come from the sister of the bridegroom, The Bulletin was led into a misstatement in reporting the marriage of George Kudlik and Miss Agnes L. Lambert on Monday April 22. Mr. Kudlik is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kudlik of East Great Plain but the telephone message stated that these were not his parents.

DEFENDANTS' APPEALS HEARD BY SUPREME COURT

Two defendants' appeals were heard here Tuesday morning by the supreme court which was in session for the April term, one case which was on the docket was withdrawn and two were transferred to the first district.

In the appeal brought by William Smiddy of Montville against a $5,000 verdict given against him by the jury in the superior court in favor of Miss Anna McCaughey of New London, the argument for Smiddy's appeal was made by Attorney Arthur T. Keefe, while Attorney G. C. Morgan made the argument for Miss McCaughey. She sued for $15,000 damages and was given a verdict of $5,000, with $184.94 costs, because of injuries she received when struck on Jan. 12, 1928 by an automobile which Mr. Smiddy's son was driving on Waller street, New London.

The appeal taken by John James and Alex Parry, partners in the Commercial garage of this city was argued for them by Attorney A. M. Brown and the opposing argument was made by Attorney Arthur F. Libby, counsel for Warren L. Maynard of Southold, L. I., in whose favor Judge John Richards Booth gave a judgment for $3,500 and costs of $196.59.

Maynard, who is a son-in-law of Officer Henry Fenton of this city, left his automobile in the defendants' garage on Nov. 24, 1927, to be washed. While the automobile, which was a straight eight Packard, valued at $5,500, was at the garage, an employe there, LeRoy W. Bashaw, took it without the knowledge of his employers to drive home to breakfast. On the way the machine collided with another car, a telephone pole and a stone wall on Thames street, demolishing the Maynard automobile and Bashaw was fatally injured. Maynard sued the garage proprietors for $6,000.

TELEPHONE SERVICE EMBLEMS TO TWO NORWICH EMPLOYES

Miss Jennie C. Glasbrenner and Miss Helena A. Leahy of this city are among the employes of the Southern New England Telephone company to receive gold service emblems during the month ended Tuesday.

In April 56 employes of the telephone company received service emblems to mark the completion by them of five year periods in their association with the business, some receiving their first emblems for five years, others getting the insignia to show they have been much longer with the company.

Thirty-two employes last month completed five years with the company, 12 received ten year buttons, six got 15 year emblems, three rounded out 20 years, one finished his first quarter century and two, well known and active telephone workers received the special emblem for those who have finished 30 years with the company in its service to the public.

ALMSHOUSE SERVICE BY LOYAL CIRCLE, K. D.

Loyal circle, Kings Daughters, Mrs. George E. Zimmerman, leader, held a Sunday service at the almshouse, many of the members attending.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. Luther D. Packer, followed with the singing of hymns and several were favorite ones of the members of the home. Vocal solos by Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler and violin solos by Dorothy and Nelson Packer, accompanied by Mrs. Luther Packer, were greatly enjoyed by all.

Each member of the home was given a jar of candy.

This service was given under the leadership of Mrs. Louis H. Geer, chairman.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

This week's meeting of the Monday Auction Bridge club was held Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Gurdon L. Bidwell, of McKinley avenue. Mrs. Frank H. Pullen won the prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Turner have been guests at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York, this week.

Mrs. Arthur F. Howard and Miss Lucille L. Howard, of Lincoln avenue, have returned, after two weeks' visit in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Palmer, Jr. (Rosalind Ray), who were married at Summit, N. J., April 20, arrived in town Tuesday evening from their wedding journey and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Palmer, of Vergason avenue. They are occupying their new home, 305 Washington street.

The Tuesday club went to the Colonial Inn, East Lyme, for a dinner bridge Tuesday evening. The prizes were won by Miss Callahan, Miss Katherine I. Corcoran and Miss Ella C. Shannon.

The ways and means committee of Faith Trumbull chapter, D. A. R., Mrs. Albert L. Sinay, chairman, arranged a benefit whist Tuesday afternoon for which Mrs. Arnaud J. LaPierre opened her home on Elm avenue. Twenty-one tables were taken. The rooms were decorated in spring flowers and following play most delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. LaPierre, who had the assistance of the girls of the Children of the American Revolution society. With Mrs. Sinay and Mrs. LaPierre on the committee were Mrs. Raymond B. Sherman, Mrs. Elijah S. Burdsall, Mrs. Edward J. Graham, Mrs. Harry E. Higgins, Mrs. Ernest J. Jones, Mrs. Herbert M. Lerou, Mrs. Arthur M. Thompson and Mrs. William S. Elliott.

Mrs. Albert H. Chase and Miss Virginia Chase, of Sachem Terrace are in Boston for a week.

James L. Hubbard, of Scotland Road left Groton Sunday on his yacht Lou for a cruise through Long Island sound. Mrs. Hubbard and three sons are in Washington for several days and later will visit Philadelphia friends.

WILLIMANTIC IS TO BE HEADQUARTERS IN CENSUS

According to a Washington dispatch, Willimantic is to be headquarters for the district comprising Tolland, Windham, New London and Middlesex counties in the 16th national census.

The state will be divided into five districts with a supervisor in charge of each and this will be district No. 3. The supervisor for the district will be named by Congressman R. P. Freeman.

Each supervisor will have an assistant supervisor and approximately 125 clerks and enumerators under him, between 650 and 700 enumerators being employed to take the population count in the entire state.

According to present plans, enumerators making the canvass in urban communities will work two weeks while enumerators working in the rural districts will be employed about 30 days. Supervisors will be paid between $2,000 and $2,500, and enumerators will average from five to eight dollars a day.

In selecting the supervisors, the various congressmen will recommend for appointment to the director of the census bureau a resident of the headquarters city of each district. The supervisors selected, in turn, will be permitted to select their own enumerators, although congressmen will recommend the selection of certain individuals to them.

ACADEMY FACES STIFF OPPOSITION IN WEST HARTFORD HIGH HERE TODAY

Weisgraber, p	p, Boisseau

William Hall high of West Hartford, better known as West Hartford high, Hartford district champions and also titleholders in the Central Connecticut league, face the state championship Academy baseball forces this afternoon at the campus in one of the Red and White's most important games. With a favorable nod from the weatherman a large crowd should be present for the fray.

ALEC ARICO
N. F. A. First Sacker

Butsy Weisgraber will in all probability get the mound assignment for the Wildcats this afternoon. Butsy made a great impression by his relief work in the Chapman Tech game. Weisgraber has rounded into form slowly and today is slated for his first start of the year. In him Academy followers see their star pitcher this season.

Boisseau, leading pitcher of the Hartford district last season will attempt to turn back the state champs. In his last appearance this lad showed so much stuff that Meriden high was able to get but one hit and no runs while his mates pounded out 24 runs. With Weisgraber going at his best against this visitor, a stiff hurling duel would seem to be in prospect.

But, both teams can slug the best pitchers, if past performances are to be reckoned with. West Hartford made 31 hits in the Meriden game, which was the opener of the Central Connecticut league schedule including six out of seven for Lane, the leadoff hitter, four each for Collins, Sheldon and Carey and three for Boisseau, the pitcher. The Academy has also compiled an impressive slugging record, for in their six games this season only one pitcher, Hewitt, of Chapman Tech has been able to stay the distance. Bud Fontaine, Hal Cummings and Buck LaCroix are leading but every boy on the team is getting his hits regularly and Mr. Boisseau may expect a busy afternoon.

West Hartford has been substituted on the Academy schedule for two teams, Weaver and Bulkeley, of Hartford. West Hartford trimmed both of them last year and with a view to strengthening the schedule, Coach Brigham has brought this club here. By winning from West Hartford, the Academy will have disposed of as good a club as there is in the northwestern section of the state.

The infield has been fixed over and the field is in good shape. With favorable weather the Wildcats' return after two games away from home should be a gala one.

The Academy lineup today will be practically the same as has started games all season. Red Fagan will be in rightfield with "Hack" Penin or Sherry at second.

U. S. FINISHERS TO HAVE STRONG TEAM THIS SEASON

The United States Tinplating company is planning a strong baseball team to enter this year's Industrial league. With Harry Mills added to the already formidable roster of Walter Dabrowski, Snow, Flor, Dilworth, probably Lefty Dugas, and others, the Finishers figure to repeat their winning of the pennant in 1928. Manager Raymond Sherman has had practice sessions for the past two weeks.

WHITE SOX PULL TRIPLE PLAY ON THE INDIANS

CHICAGO, April 30—(AP)—A freak triple play which left the Cleveland Indians standing around wondering how it all happened, put a high polish on the Chicago White Sox fourth straight victory over the Billy Evans-Rogers Peckinnaugh crew today. The score was 8 to 4, but even if the Sox had lost, the day would have been a success.

The play occurred in the seventh inning and wound up with the common version of the hidden ball trick. Hodapp batted for Willis Hudlin and singled to right. Jamieson sent a single to center, putting Hodapp on second. Lind grounded to Cissell and Hodapp attempted to score from second as the Sox shortston tossed out Lind. He was caught between the plate and third where he was run down by Kamm. Kamm concealed the ball in his glove and as Jamieson, who had sneaked to third during the excitement led off the bag, touched the Indian outfielder out.

YANKEES TAKE TEN INNING GAME FROM SENATORS

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—The Washington Senators waged a hard uphill fight against the Yankees here today, but the World Champion Yankees won in the tenth 10 to 9. Each team called upon three pitchers and Fred Heimach, last of the Yankee defenders, won his own game in the tenth with a hot double, which ripped through Goslin's hands, permitting Durocher to score.

Lou Gehrig hit a home run in the third with Combs and Ruth on base. It was his third homer.

The Senators tied the score at 9 to 9 with a five-run rally in the seventh.

VANCE BLANKS GIANTS WITH THREE PUNY HITS

BROOKLYN, April 30—(AP)—Lured by the magnificence that is the right arm of Arthur C. Vance, 20,000 Flatbush folk gathered at Ebbets Field today to sit by while the dazzler made the Giants dance at his bidding.

Vance let down the aspiring young men of John J. McGraw with three very small hits appropriately scattered and one Brooklyn flurry netted the home team enough edge for a 2 to 0 victory.

Bill Walker gave the runless Robins just four hits, but Gilbert's double with the bases filled, swung the tide in Vance's favor.

Babe Herman was put out of the game in the fifth for arguing over a third called strike.

"Business Ethics. Ain't that a grand sounding phrase?

Don't you like to roll that phrase around under your tongue like a choice bit of filet mignon?

But believe me, brethren and sisteren, it don't mean a thing, as hundreds of merchants will tell you if they are absolutely honest with you.

It's only a high-toned phrase used to kid themselves and soothe their consciences when they drive a sharp bargain. The business man that practices "business ethics," sincerely is as hard to find as a flea on an elephant.

Of course there's some who are going to say I'm all wet and I am conversing through the old bonnet, but just as an illustration I'm going to tell a couple experiences I've had.

Now to start with I'm telling the public that I'm not picking out Norwich merchants or business men as we have a very nice class of them in Norwich and I believe they're above such things.

Since I got married and drew an automobile in the lottery I do quite some traveling around to different cities in the state. And as does every woman, I do quite a lotta shopping, although I don't buy much but I keep my ears and eyes open.

The other day I did have need of purchasing a rug for the living room floor and in my travels I went into a store in a certain city in Connecticut. I asked to see their rugs and a very obliging clerk showed them to me.

I saw a very nice looking rug that I liked and I asked the price. Then came the old hokum. "The price is $150 but I'll give you a bargain and let you have it for $100." You should have seen that benign smile on the clerk's face.

That was O. K. with me until I happened to spy the price tag on the corner of the rug. I read as follows: "Price $100." And to think he was giving me a bargain. You should have seen the brilliant crimson blush that spread over that chap's face when he saw me read the tag. It would be the envy of a million girls. No, I didn't buy the rug.

That's only one instance. Here's another. I was in another city the other day and looked at a dress. It was a week day and the price was plainly marked on the dress.

Not wanting it just at that time I went out but came back again on the following Saturday. The dress had not been sold but the price had gone up several dollars. The tag informed me it had been marked down from a still higher price. Figure that one out.

It seems to me that the majority of stores have more prices than there are squeaks in a funeral chair.

I sincerely hope that our Norwich merchants are not as crude as these two from other cities.

Business ethics. It is to laugh.

REDS RALLY IN NINTH TO NOSE OUT CUBS

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 30—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds took a 5 to 4 victory from the Chicago Cubs here today, staging a ninth inning rally which brought them two runs and the game.

Jackie May and Sheriff Blake stayed a mound duel that threatened to force the game into extra innings.

Rogers Hornsby poled out a home run in the eighth inning, the first man up, to start the Cubs rally and break their scoreless stringe. Hack Wilson followed with one into the sun that was good for three bases when Horace Ford lost it. Wilson scored on a single. Score:

BROWNS BEAT OUT TIGERS N SLUGGING MATCH

DETROIT, April 30—(AP)—For the third successive day the St. Louis Browns trod rough-shod over the Detroit Tigers winning a game in which four home runs played a prominent part, 6 to 5. The circuit clouts were registered by Blue and Kress for St. Louis and Schuble and McManus in the Tiger periods.

Dan Howley used two pitchers. Orden and Collins. Orden was yanked in the fourth after McManus doubled and scored on Schuble's home run, which bounced over the fence from the top of the score board. Yde's downfall followed three singles and a double in the third and Stoner was pulled for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

GAVUZZI INCREASES HIS LEAD IN BUNION DERBY

MILLER, Mo., April 30—(AP)—Pete Gavuzzi, Italian speed king of Southampton, England, led C. C. Pyle's plodding trans-continental stepers into their daily control point today to check up his second consecutive win.

He ran the 33.7 miles from Springfield, Mo., to Miller, Mo., in 4:15, increasing his lead over Johnny Salo, Passaic, N. J., policeman, to 3:52.

Salo finished in a tie with Paul Simpson of Burlington, N. C., today for sixth place. Sam Richman, New York, was second in 4:25:1.

The five leaders in elapsed time:
Pete Gavuzzi, England, 197:12.
John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 201:50.
Ed Gardner, Seattle, Wash., 209:08.
Giusto Umek, Italy, 215:14.
Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., 222:17.

AL KOZIOL KNOCKS OUT MITCHELL IN FIRST ROUND AT PROVIDENCE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30—Al Koziol of Norwich, Conn., the pocket edition of Jack Demusey, gave the boxing fans at the Auditorium another thrill tonight when he knocked out Charley Mitchell of South Boston in the first round of their bout. It was Koziol's second professional fight and also his second knockout of his professional career. In his last two bouts the battler has fought less than three minutes, the knockout in his first bout coming in 42 seconds and the knockout tonight in little less than two minutes.

The Norwich lad fought his usual rioting and tearing fight, swarming over his opponent with both hands working like pistons of a high-speed motor. Mitchell was at a loss when Koziol bounced out of his corner and met the South Boston boy in his own corner and started to work. Mitchell put up a feeble defense while he lasted but it was quickly beaten down and Koziol crashed through for the knockout.

In the main bout Young Montreal was awarded the decision over Johnny Farr of Cleveland. Frankie Garcia of Utica forced Ernie Mandell of Providence to quit in the sixth round of their semi-final.

MAYS-CURCIO BOUT IS CREATING MUCH INTEREST

Great interest has been aroused in the bout May 7th at the Hamilton street arena, New London, between Bobby Mays, Connecticut lightweight champion, and Frankie Curcio of Providence, Rhode Island lightweight champion.

Curcio expects to add Mays to his long list of victims and there is no doubt but that he has a good chance of doing so as he is not only a very clever boxer but a deadly hitter as proved by his knockout of Al Conly at Hartford last summer. Frankie is confident that Mays will be the stepping stone for some big shots in Connecticut this summer.

Mays is training hard for this bout as he realizes that in Curcio he is meeting one of the toughest boys in the lightweight division and he intends to be in the best shape of his career.

The semi-final arranged by Matchmaker Fakourey is good enough for a main bout at any club, bringing together Sonny Suggs of Newport, R. I., and Mickey Genaro of Waterbury in eight rounds.

Sonny Suggs is the brother of the famous Chick Suggs and like Chick is a very good fighter and only consented to box in a semi-final when he was told that Genaro was a good boy and that if he defeated Genaro he would be given a bout with Eddie Lord or Battalino. Lord defeated Genaro in a close bout at Waterbury recently for the junior lightweight championship of Connecticut and if Suggs can do the same a bout between him and Lord would be a natural outcome.

BRAVES TAKE HITTING BEE FROM PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, April 30—(AP)—In a free-swinging hard-batting game here today Boston defeated the Philadelphia Nationals 14 to 12. The Braves bunched hits against some bad pitching in three innings, grabbing eight runs in the seventh inning.

Friberg, Lerian and Davis made home runs for the Phillies and Delaney and Harper hit homers for the Braves. The Phillies used four pitchers and Boston three.

MORRIS HALTS ATHLETICS WITH FOUR SCATTERED HITS

BOSTON, April 30—(AP)—Behind the four hit pitching of Ed Morris, the Red Sox stopped the rampaging Athletics 4 to 1 today.

The visitor's only run was Al Simmon's home run into the right field bleachers in the fourth inning. Todt drove for the circuit off Earnshaw in the sixth after Taitt had singled. Three fast double plays helped the Red Sox.

AMERICANS START PRACTICE FOR BRITISH OPEN

GULLANE, Scotland, April 30—(AP)—Retreating northward from the Yorkshire Moors where they were vanquished in last week's Ryder cup matches, the somewhat dazed American golf pros have crossed the Scottish border and started practice for the British open championship, starting May 6.

The Muirfield course of the Honorable Company of Edinburgh Golfers presented an animated picture today with most of the world famous golfers either playing full rounds or practicing shots.

In the club house half a dozen Anglo-Americans—MacDonald Smith, Jim Barnes, Bobby Cruickshank and others who have been practicing here for a week, were on hand to welcome the Americans.

DUNDEE AND MELLO TO BATTLE FOR TITLE ON JUNE 24

BOSTON, April 30—(AP)—Definite announcement that the Boston Garden would stage a bout between Joe Dundee and Al Mello, for the welterweight championship on June 24, was contained in a letter which Eddie Mack, the boxing promoter, dispatched today to Latrobe Cogswell, chairman of the Maryland boxing commission.

The Boston promoter was unable to explain why the Maryland commission has suspended Dundee and his manager, Max Waxman, and demanded definite assurance that the Baltimore welterweight defend his title before June 25.

AGGIES CLASH WITH CLARK AT STORRS TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, April 30—In the third start of the season for the Connecticut Aggie nine, Clark University invades Storrs Wednesday, fresh from a trouncing administered to Boston university at Boston last Saturday. The Clark aggregation has a number of veteran players among its starting nine and should give the Connecticut team some little worry.

Coach Dole sent the varsity through a scrimmage with the freshmen here today in order to prime his team for the Bay Staters. Mullany will be given his first chance to start a home game for the Aggie varsity this year. Dole thinks that Mullany has shown enough stuff this season to warrant the taking up of the pitching duties by the Hartford youth. He is the only left handed pitcher in the Aggie camp and will be backed by a team that is due to come through with a parade of hits after an early season slump. The practice today was limited to the warming up, and batting variety.

KEN STRONG'S TRIPLE ENOUGH TO BEAT YALE

NEW HAVEN, April 30—(AP)—A single, Ken Strong's triple and an infield out in the ninth inning, gave New York university a 2 to 0 victory today over Yale. Until the scoring frame Thompson had allowed the visitors four hits. Gallagher was touched for seven singles by the Elis. Each pitcher struck out four. Score by innings:

DAY TO FIGHT GLICK AT NEW HAVEN NEXT MONDAY

Georgie Day, the human tornado of New Haven, who has been doing duty for some time in the lightweight division, is finally being recognized as a battler of worth and one of the men recognizing him is Al Weill, matchmaker for the Arena A. C.

As a result of Weill's recognition of Day the New Haven lightweight goes against Joe Glick, the Brooklyn button hole maker, in the star bout of ten rounds on the arena card for next Tuesday night, May 6.

Yale Swimmers Get Letters.

NEW HAVEN, April 30—(AP)—Four members of the Yale championship swimming team were awarded the major "Y" today for placing first or second in major dual meets and the Princeton meet. The awards were made to E. G. Cahill, New Haven, John Howland, Jr., Baltimore, W. M. Millard, Rochester, N. Y., and M. A. Glascock, Washington, D. C.

Five other members of the team received the minor "Y" and the remainder an insignia. The minor "Y" was awarded the water polo team while the varsity fencing team and the freshman hockey, polo and fencing teams were given insignias.

Challenge.

The Blackhawks challenge the Elizabeth Street School for a game to be played Wednesday at 4 p. m. at Hollyhock Island.

TEST ON CHESTNUT BLIGHT IN CONNECTICUT FORESTS

A consignment of young chestnut trees, supposed to be blight proof, have been sent from the government nurseries at Washington and set out at Wickaboxet Farms, West Greenwich, R. I., and part of Voluntown and Sterling.

This is an experiment to determine whether or not the trees in question actually will withstand the ravages of the blight. The trees about 150 in number, have been imported from Asia, and it is expected that about two years will be necessary to determine whether or not the young trees will contract the disease.

Chestnut blight has practically wiped out the chestnut tree from this part of the country, and there are at present very few trees of this variety which have survived the pest. The spot where the young trees have been set out is near native chestnut trees which have been killed by the blight.

Wickaboxet Farms, which extend into Connecticut, itself a unique experiment in reforestation, was selected by the government for its excellent natural adaptabilities to tree raising. Four ponds and nine miles of brooks are contained within the 3600 acres of land that make up the reservation and already there have been countless successful experiments in forestry conducted on the premises by A. Studley Hart, owner of the property.

In the five years that have elapsed since Mr. Hart undertook general reforestation of his estate, partly as an experiment and partly as an example of what can be accomplished by the individual to aid the state in its forestry problem, over 300,000 red and white pines have been set out and a large number of white spruce has been added this year as an experiment in the Christmas tree situation. Wickaboxet represents the second largest planting by an individual in Rhode Island and the third largest in New England.

Wickaboxet, in addition to being one of the largest arboreta in New England, claims many other distinctions. Although a private estate, it is run like a park or community. Mr. Hart has devoted himself to cleaning up the property, stocking the ponds and brooks with trout and other fish, and preparing the reservation for the occupancy of 18 or 19 family groups which will use the premises for summer camping purposes. The campers are invited by Mr. Hart out of his personal acquaintances. They lease a part

WESTERLY

CHAS. H. MERRITT SUICIDES—DESPONDENT WITH PAIN

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 30—During a period of despondency brought on by ill health, Charles H. Merritt, 73, took his own life at his Westerly home, 15 Spruce street, about 3:30 p. m. Tuesday. With his wife and a relative in the house at the time he sent a rifle bullet into his brain and died instantly.

He was a retired contractor and moved to Westerly about a month ago from South Norwalk, Conn. In June of the past year, while tearing down a building, he stepped on a joist and fell, sustaining injuries in his head and other injuries resulting in incurable complications. Two weeks ago Dr. Michael H. Scanlon was called to attend him and at 5 a. m. was again called to relieve him of intense pain from which he was suffering. It is thought that a return of the pain caused him to take his own life. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jennie Larkin Merritt, formerly of Westerly.

STONINGTON TOWN MEETING DID NOT ACT ON SCHOOL BONDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 30—A special Stonington town meeting was called to order by Selectman John Fribance, who was made chairman of the meeting, Tuesday night in Stonington town hall. Town Clerk Elias B. Hinckley stated that one matter in the call would not be acted upon. He explained that an issue of $50,000 worth of Third District school bonds (Mystic) was thought to be 20-year bonds from insurance papers in his possession. It had since developed that they were 20 1-2 year bonds and had ten more years to run. Consequently, no action was required or taken.

On a petition headed by Henry P. Walton of Pawcatuck, after a motion seconded by Judge William A. Wilcox, it was voted to accept Manle street, Pawcatuck, as a public highway of the town of Stonington. It extends from Washington to Morgan streets a distance of 300 feet.

It was also voted to accept as a Stonington highway, Morton avenue, in Pawcatuck, extending from Liberty street, a distance of 380 feet. The layouts are to be recorded and maps filed in the office of the town clerk. There was an attendance of 20 and the meeting lasted less than 20 minutes.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Wm. M. Corbin

Weekapaug Beach summer visitors were saddened to learn of the death in Hartford of Mrs. Joseph W. Corbin, 88, widow of William M. Corbin, a summer resident of Weekapaug. She died April 15 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Wiley, of 40 Terry road, Hartford. She was born March 30, 1841, in Union, Conn., the daughter of Harvey Walker, manufacturer, and Julia White Walker. Mrs. Corbin attended Monson academy under Principal Tufts, and Mt. Holyoke seminary under Mary Lyon. In 1860 she married William M. Corbin, a manufacturer of boots and shoes at Mashapaug, Conn., who was later a leader in Tolland county and the state, being sheriff of the county, member of both branches of the legislature, the republican state central committee for many years, and delegate to the republican national convention which nominated President Garfield. Later Mr. Corbin became president of the First National bank in Stafford Springs. They moved to Hartford, where Mr. Corbin died in 1895.

For several years Mrs. Corbin had made her home in Hartford with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Wiley, in the winter, and at Weekapaug, R. I., in the summer. She leaves, besides her daughter, three sons, William H. Corbin, executive vice-president of the Hartford chamber of commerce; Harvey W. Corbin of the firm of J. Lewis & Co., Hartford, and J. B. Corbin, New York manufacturer, who makes his home in Darien; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

TREFES AND PETERS BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF ARSON

(Special to the Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 30—Harry Trefes, of 11 Mosa street, Pawcatuck, proprietor of the Majestic pool rooms and bowling alleys, Coggswell street, and his companion, Dr. Stanley Sanford Peters, of New York, were adjudged probably guilty of arson in an all-morning session of Stonington town court today. Judge William A. Wilcox found probable cause and bound both over to the next term of the New London county superior court, criminal side.

The complaints made out by Officer Peter B. Busch of Groton barracks grew out of the burning of the kitchen of the Majestic Lunch, operated by Charles C. Moussey, in the building on land leased by his wife, Ethel Eggleston Moussey, of the North Stonington-Norwich road, the building owned by her since 1924. The cases were heard jointly, with Attorney John F. Gallagher appearing for the defendants, Mrs. Madeline Sisson Panciera, of Westerly, was stenographer. The state was represented by Prosecutor George R. McKenna, with Miss H. A. Little, of New London, state stenographer. In all, eight witnesses appeared for the state; but when Attorney Gallagher asked to have all state's witnesses excluded some 12 or 15 retired to the rooms of the judge of probate, adjoining the courtroom.

Mystic Man Fined

Preceding the hearing of the arson cases, Frank Cironi, of Mystic, represented by Judge Frank H. Hinckley, was arraigned on complaint of Officer William E. McKenzie, charged with operating his Cadillac sedan last Saturday near Main's gas station on the Westerly-Groton road at a rate of speed between 55 and 60 miles per hour. His attorney stated that he was hurrying to meet his wife, who was to go to the hospital. Judge Wilcox fined him $10 and costs of $6.45, remitting $5 of the fine. The defendant paid.

In the arson complaints, Attorney Gallagher waived the reading of the warrants which alleged burning of the property of Mrs. Ethel L. E. Moussey. She testified that she held a lease of the land on Coggswell street with the option of a five-year renewal, the building being purchased by her Dec. 22, 1924.

Charles C. Moussey on the stand stated that he had occupied the building as a lunch room until Wednesday, April 10, when he went from his home at 7 a. m. to the restaurant and first learned that there had been a fire in the place. He said that he saw Harry Trefes in front of the restaurant and at that time he told him that he had taken a pail of water and thrown it on a blaze in the back room and put out the fire before the arrival of the firemen.

George Moussey, 22, a nephew of the manager, worked as a counterman in the restaurant and made sure that both the back and front doors of the place were closed and locked when he finished work at 11:15 p. m. The only fire left was a small flame under the coffee urn, and Attorney Gallagher exhibited a photograph which was identified as one of the interior, showing the urn in the front part of the restaurant, but located near the kitchen partition.

Fred W. Tucker gave evidence that he was a general utility man and for three and a half months had worked from 8 a. m. to 11:15 p. m., and on the night in question was positive the back door was closed and locked when he left.

Patrolman C. Wilson Brown, of Pawcatuck, was the main witness, occupying the witness stand for the longest time and going to the judge's bench to point out places on a large blue print offered by Engineer Louis J. Rossi, of Westerly. He told the court that while on duty he saw a blue colored sedan come down West Broad street, under the railroad bridge, and turn into Coggswell street shortly before 3 a. m., and that he crossed West Broad street near the Girard lunch and went into Coggswell street and saw Harry Trefes sitting in the auto and another man standing at the side of Trefes' car, having come from the lane between the Majestic lunch and an adjoining building and was arranging his clothes. He asked the second man his name and was told that it was either Peters or Peterson. He then went on a tour of duty to Mechanic street, Liberty street and down West Broad street and when in front of the Greek-American Fruit store saw smoke coming from the rear of the Barrows' block. He hastened down Coggswell street and back across West Broad street and pulled in the fire alarm.

Going back to the Majestic lunch building, he assisted the firemen in laying the hose. Trefes was present and helped with the hose, and remarked to someone that "the fire had started up rather quick." On cross-examination, he stated that he had known Trefes for some ten years and that the latter was law-abiding, as far as he knew.

Anthony Luzzi, 19, of Marion street, employed by the Victory bakery, testified to seeing the Trefes car and Mr. Trefes at 1:45 when he went to the store on the bridge. At 3 a. m., the auto had gone from the street.

Cacio Pappas, State Line chef, heard the fire crackling and looking out of his back door saw the blaze in the kitchen. Going to the street in front of the restaurant he blew his police whistle as Officer Brown was going to turn in the alarm.

Joseph Purtill, assistant chief, was one of the first to the fire, saw the back door open about six inches and took in the first line of hose. Trefes helped him at the time.

John Sudin, of Worcester, Mass., was arraigned by Trooper Florence Harvey of the Hope Valley barracks, Monday evening, before Acting Judge Clerk Herbert P. Clark, in a special session of Third district court on a charge of reckless driving of an automobile on the Nooseneck Hill road in Ashaway, April 7. He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to Friday, May 10. Surety was furnished by Harold M. Lewis, of Hopkinton.

Petit Jurors Summoned

Petit jurors for the Westerly adjournment of the April term of superior court for Washington county, summoned by Town Sergt. George L. Madison, to report Thursday at Westerly courthouse, are: James Maxwell, janitor; Henry Lepper, weaver; U. Everett Crandall, gardener; Isaac Greaves, machinist; Raymond W. Crandall, clerk.

FUNERAL

Jerry Sullivan

Tuesday morning the funeral of Jerry Sullivan was held from his home, 70 Mechanic street. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock at St. Michael's church by Rev. Leo Weston. During the service, Martin H. Spellman sang "Passing Out of the Shadows," and "Jesus, Saviour of My Soul." Burial was at St. Michael's New cemetery, where the committal service was by Father Weston. The bearers were John Shea, James Jordan, Charles Jordan, Patrick Shea, John McMahon and William Keefe.

Tuesday, April 30, was the last day for the payment of taxes to the Westerly Fire district. Tax Collector E. E. Whipple received over $4,200, leaving about $8,500 to be collected of the total amount of $32,800. Up to Tuesday 480 owners of dogs had paid their 1929 tax. Of this number, 50 were issued as new taxes. Last year 650 taxes were paid.

William S. Nichols, of East Providence, was in Westerly Monday in the interests of the New Haven railroad.

John B. Findlay, of Stonington, left Tuesday for Boston.

George O. Murphey, of Pawcatuck, left for Boston on business Tuesday morning.

Simon E. Kinney, of Pawcatuck, is on a short visit in Boston.

The New England express on the New Haven road was an hour late Tuesday morning in leaving the Westerly station, due to a locomotive breakdown at Old Lyme.

C. M. Hanson, of Detroit, executor of the estate of Mary S. Mandelle, was in Pawcatuck Monday in consultation with Judge William A. Wilcox, and visited the estates of Schwandasse and Hinckley Hill.

JUNIOR YACHT CLUB PLANS ACTIVE TEASON

Although the Junior Yacht club has been talked about much for the past few months the members are intending to do some boat racing this summer. W. Clayton Buddington has already launched his fast boat "Spark Plug". The craft has been overhauled and looks fine with its new black and yellow paint. Among the first sailing sloops that will participate in the annual races will be entered under the name of Web, owned by E. W. Butson. The date for the races has not been set by the club. Many social and sporting events are planned for the summer.

Charles Butson has returned to East Greenwich after spending the week-end at his home here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Troland and Mrs. Doris Beebe of Lebanon were recent callers at the home of Mrs. Troland's mother, Mrs. Susan Morgan.

The Silver Links are to meet at the home of Mrs. John Sawyer this (Wednesday) afternoon.

Stanley Specht of Newark, N. J., is spending sometime at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Specht.

W. H. Myers has returned to Jamaica, L. I., after a few days stay at Cone Nook farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salois and daughter Louise, of Shannock, R. I., were recent callers on friends in the village.

Frank Trahan has returned to East Greenwich after spending several days at his home on Main street.

Oiling Fishtown Road.

The state highway department has been oiling the Fishtown road and filling in holes in the road. It is expected the roads in the village will soon be oiled as the workmen have piled up sand along the highways.

The Noank fire department completed the burning of the dead grass and brush from around the cottages at Groton Long Point. Engineer Foster took the engine over Sunday to stand by in case the fire should spread.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chapman and children of Norwich were recent callers on friends here.

Capt. Ted Morgan of the boat Elisa Bennett of Edgartown, Mass., called on relatives here Monday. He was bound for southern waters for mackerel seining.

William Connell was a recent caller on friends in Baltic.

MOOSUP

Sunday morning Rev. Joshua Jensen, former missionary in China, gave an interesting talk at the Baptist church service in Moosup. He explained some of the political, language difficulties, religious beliefs, manners and customs of the people of China and showed many art treasures (gowns, banners, panels, mottoes, books, slippers) and many beautifully embroidered silk articles, gifts from the Chinese people to Mr. Jensen and his wife; they both having taught English in the Chinese schools aside from their missionary work. He was enthused at the progress made in China along lines of education, sanitation, hospitals and all modern lines of industry as well as the progress made by the gospel. Mr. Jensen has lived 14 years in China and has instructed many missionaries there. He and his wife will return to China to continue the work.

Charles Williams returned Saturday from an auto trip to California. Thomas Cooper of Atlanta, Ga., came with him to visit New England.

New Beauty, New Comfort and New Smoothness

Beyond comparison among low-priced cars

"FULL SIZE" $655 and up f. o. b. factory

THE Improved Plymouth is today exhibiting new standards of performance, economy, comfort and beauty entirely beyond comparison in the field of low-priced motor cars.

Chrysler engineers have created many new refinements in Plymouth's famous Chrysler "Silver-Dome" type engine. These include longer stroke and an increase in piston displacement; a heavier crankshaft; larger interchangeable bearings; larger connecting rods; a newly designed system of full-pressure lubrication. These and a number of other improvements have accomplished in the full-size Plymouth a remarkable type of performance, comfort and economy heretofore unlooked for in a low-priced motor car.

Now more than ever is Plymouth brisk and flexible in pickup. Now more than ever is Plymouth smooth and quiet through all gears and all speeds.

Now more than ever is Plymouth a joy in performance, as it is in comfort, quality and low upkeep. The moment you step inside the improved, Chrysler-built Plymouth you are aware of exceptional comforts. In addition to uncramped roominess, Plymouth has self-conforming seat cushions of lounge-chair restfulness.

Come see the improved full-size Plymouth in all the glory of its new Springtime colorings. Come see how it sparkles and shines in the showroom—and take one out and see how it also sparkles and shines in action.

DANIELSON

MISS MARIE TAYLOR BECOMES BRIDE OF ALBERT BIRCH

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 30—A very pretty wedding at St. Alban's church at 7 o'clock tonight was that of Miss Marie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Taylor of 230 North Main street, and Albert Birch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Birch of the West Side. Relatives and many of the local friends of the bride and groom were in the congregation and there were guests from Lawrence, New Bedford, Providence, Brockton, New York and Webster. The church had been prettily decorated with laurel and daisies by members of the Girls Friendly society, in which the bride has been prominent and the roses on the altar were the gift of that society.

Mrs. Frederic O. Armington, organist, played the wedding march from Lohengrin, as the bridal party entered the church. The marriage ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. J. Rees Jones. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Harold K. Brown, of Lawrence, as matron of honor, and by Miss Ethel Birch, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Walter Walberg, an intimate friend, of Saylersville, R. I. Ernest Dyson of Danielson was best man and the ushers were Hubert Taylor brother of the bride, and Edwin Birch and Frederick Birch, cousins of the groom, of Providence.

The bride was very beautiful in a gown of white taffeta and tulle and with a veil of tulle. Her bouquet was a shower arrangement of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of apricot shade satin and tulle, with hat and shoes to match. Miss Birch's gown was of green taffeta and hat and shoes to match. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of sweet peas

For the recessional Mrs. Armington played Mendelssohn's wedding march

After the wedding there was a reception for the newly wedded couple in St. Alban's parish house and they were congratulated and showered with everyone's best wishes for their future happiness. After their wedding trip, during which they will visit in New York and Washington, D. C., they will make their home at 4 Oak street.

The bride received many beautiful gifts. The bride's gifts to the matron of honor and bridesmaids were bracelets. The gift of the groom to his best man was a pair of cuff links and fountain pens to the ushers

Both Mr. and Mrs. Birch are well known to the people of Danielson, where they have great numbers of friends.

OLD BUTTS CIDER MILL COLLAPSED YESTERDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 30—Something that has been a landmark in that section of Danielson for pressing well toward half a century became a thing of the past this morning when the Butts cider mill, as it was known for many years, collapsed and is now but a twisted mass of beams and boards, on lower Broad street, just south of Franklin street. The building stood on property now owned by Mrs. Mary Tetreault. The building was erected by the late Horace Butts when he owned the property, which originally was a tavern on the old Providence-Hartford pike through Danielson. The building had not been used as a cider mill for many years, but in the years when the press was in action during the fall season scores of thousands of bushels of apples were run through the mill. The building has been practically no use for years and in its weakened condition finally bowed before the gales that have been lashing at it for the past few weeks.

Following complaint relative to his interests in and activities with little children in Brooklyn, Philip Beauchemin was taken into custody today by state officers and this afternoon in charge of Sergeant G. L. Gardner of the Danielson barracks was committed to the state hospital at Norwich. Beauchemin is 70 years of age and has been living alone in Brooklyn. He had an unsavory record prior to becoming involved in his latest slight. In 1924 he served time in jail for indecent actions and has served a year in the Rhode Island state prison at Cranston for a statutory offense.

It was indicated today that there is likely to be opposition in the coming special town meeting to the proposal to appropriate $700 to remove a row of trees from the south side of Davis park, in Reynolds street. Some of the opposition heard of today is based on the desire to preserve the trees for their beauty. More of the opposition will be on account of the expense of removing the trees and in maintaining the rigid economy that is the policy in Killingly this year.

This afternoon at A. F. Wood's funeral home on Mechanic street funeral services for George C. Spooner of North Sterling were conducted by Rev. Ernest C. Drake, pastor of the United Protestant church at Sterling. Numbers of relatives and friends from Sterling were in attendance. Burial was in the High street cemetery, beside the ancestors of Mr. Spooner. The bearers were John Shippee, Frank Shippee, Walter Dixon, Alvah Dixon, William Young and William Sweet. Among the beautiful floral pieces was a large standing cross.

A death in Foster this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olney Knight was that of Mrs. Abbie A. Hillary, 89 years of age. Mrs. Hillary was the widow of Joseph L. Hillery and had been a resident of Foster for years. She was a great aunt of Mrs. Knights. Mrs. Hillary leaves one sister, a resident of Worcester.

Rev. Lorne Brown, who is to give the morning address at the Girls' conference in Plainfield on Saturday, has been a popular teacher at the Storrs summer conference for young people. He is the pastor of the Presbyterian church in Stamford, Conn. Some of the girls know Mr. Brown and are anticipating hearing the address and having him with them during the day at Plainfield.

Miss Priscilla Holton speaks in the afternoon about her friends among the Chinese girls. Miss Holton is a young woman who has been a missionary under the American board. She has written a book of delightful stories of Chinese children, entitled, "The Spirit of the Street."

Swimming in the pool of the Plainfield community house is to be the recreational attraction. The girls are requested to bring their own bathing suits and towels.

The conference program is to be on daylight saving time.

Miss Phyllis Kenworthy has charge of the transportation of the Danielson girls. Cars are to be at the Congregational church in Danielson to take the girls to Plainfield.

Up to the early part of this afternoon Town Clerk Frank T. Preston had registered about 300 dogs out of the 500 to 600 owned in the town of Killingly. May 1 is the last day on which a dog may be registered without an extra fee being added.

Dr. Sylvester's dental office removed to Keystone block, over Putnam Buick salesroom.—adv.

At the LaClair block, where extensive alterations are underway, the main floor has been dropped down to the street level and an entire new front is to be put in.

During the gale of yesterday afternoon a large tree at The Pines on the Brooklyn road was blown over onto the north side of the roof of the home of John Casey. That side of the roof was not injured in any degree, but a stub of the tree pierced the south side of the roof, scattering plaster and other debris about the hallway.

Thursday evening at the Huntington club alleys in Boston Frank Barber of Danielson and Jack White of New Haven are to roll against Joe Copeato and Archie Bonjiglia, Boston stars, who last week made a new world's record of 501 for two-men teams. Tuesday night another match between these teams will be rolled at the Casino alleys here. The match is for a purse of $500.

Following a service conducted by Rev. Chester J. Armstrong at L. E. Kennedy's funeral home at 2 o'clock this afternoon the body of Peter Goulin was interred in the town's cemetery at Dayville. All efforts to locate relatives of the dead man have failed up to this time.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Lucy Ethel Laurie Beeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Beeney of the West Side, and Clarence Andrew Briggs at St. Alban's church on Thursday evening, May 9.

Danielson will have a considerable representation at the Girls' conference to be held at the Congregational church in Plainfield Saturday of this week. A play is to be presented by Danielson Tri-Y girls.

Pickerel fishermen will get their first opportunity of the season to be out on Wednesday, when the open season begins.

County Sealer Gaston A. Maindon underwent another operation at the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam this morning for the relief of an infected toe. He returned to his home here this afternoon.

Forty Hours' devotion, starting on Sunday after the last mass, was concluded at St. Joseph's church in Dayville this morning. A number of visiting priests were in attendance during the period.

Ernest Lamire of Academy street has taken a position in Bristol with a metal working concern.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dalbert of Shelbyville, Ind., have three sons in the United States navy. Two from one family and even twins are somewhat common in the naval service, but three from one family is rare. However, the most unusual case in recent years is inclusion of a father and a son among the enlisted ranks, both serving on the same ship.

PUTNAM

TO LOCATE AVIATION FIELD WITHIN FEW MILES OF PUTNAM

PUTNAM, April 30—Aviation is a subject receiving much attention by the commonwealth of Dudley, Mass., a few miles north of Putnam. The aviation department of commerce of the United States in cooperating with the citizens of the community announced their plans tonight to enlarge the emergency landing field in Dudley to a size suitable for the landing of the largest plane in the service of the government in commercial flying organization.

Nearly 30 acres of land surrounding the Dudley airport in the direction of this city have been acquired by the government and work to place the field in shape is to be started in the near future. Additional sky-beacons, used to guide night fivers are to be erected and several other colored lights, easily seen from the air, will be placed in service to show the outline of the field after dark. The large beacon now in use at the Dudley field, is seen each evening from this city as its powerful beams penetrating the western horizon sweep across the skies at intervals of two minutes.

It is expected that when improvements are completed the field will be adopted as a stopping-point for the Colonial air express Boston-New York planes now making daily trips over Putnam and Dudley between the two cities.

Developments regarding the razing of the Central block now owned by Charles A. Seder, Putnam realtor, during the past month have been few. The law offices of Searls Russell and Bradford, and the shoe store of C. M. Elliott, last tenants in the block are now removing to new quarters. The last business house to remain intact is the Bonneville Clothing company which is now under sheriff's care. Attorneys holding claims on the block were unable today to state a definite date as to when the stock of goods will be removed.

Mr. Seder, owner of the structure, said this morning that he was uncertain as to when building wreckers will commence operations in the razing of the block, but thought some action would be started within the month.

Week for the Blind, Odd Fellows' hall, May 6-11. Products for sale.—adv.

Time has thinned out the Civil war soldiers to such an extent that only a few remain to narrate the incidents that occurred during the strife of '61. In Putnam the one time A. G. Warner post of G. A. R., is only a memory in the minds of the scant dozen veterans now living. While their grandsons and granddaughters are now hard at work formulating plans for the observance of Memorial day on May 30, these stout hearted boys of '61, unable to assist in the plans, have already pledged their support to cooperate in the ceremonies of the day by once again donning the blue garrison hats bearing the gilt shield with the letters G. A. R. inscribed within the Union wreaths, and by affixing to their waistcoats the army badge with the insignia of the Union corps of that time, the only remnants surviving of the once famous uniforms.

While the general committee in charge of the Memorial day observance have not as yet released any definite plan of programme of events of the day, a promise was made by one of the committeemen that such notice would be made within a few days.

The grand officers of the Order of Eastern Star will be present at the Masonic club rooms in this city on Wednesday evening when the annual inspection of the local chapter takes place. Visiting delegations from chapters in Woodstock, Danielson and Webster will attend. A turkey supper will be served in the grill rooms of the club preceding the inspection ceremonies.

Funeral services for Mildred L. Kempf, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kempff of Pomfret were held this morning in the Holy Trinity church in Pomfret. A high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. George J. Donahue, pastor of Holy Trinity. The mass was largely attended by former schoolmates and friends of the young girl, who on Saturday fell a victim of pneumonia. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery in this city, with a committal service at the grave.

Miss Mary A. Light, for many years a resident of this city, died last evening at her home on Pomfret street, following a prolonged illness. Miss Light was widely known in this city where she had passed the greater part of her life. She is survived by two sisters, Miss Katherine of Pomfret street and Mrs. John Maguire of Sabin street and by three brothers, Albert, Thomas, and William, all of this city. Miss Light was a devout member of St. Mary's church and was active in church social circles.

The weekly report of Health Officer Peter A. Gardner was tendered to the state department of health Saturday contained mention of but two communicable disease cases existing in the city. One of the diseases was a case of mumps and the second, acute pneumonia. Mr. Gardiner stated that both cases are of a mild nature.

The period of enrollment of boys between the ages of 17 and 25 for service in the Citizens' Military Training camps as operated by the war department during the summer months closed on April 23, according to a statement from Commander G. Stanley Shaw of the Anselm Mayotte post 13, American Legion, who is directing the enrolling in this city. Commander Shaw was in receipt of a circular letter from the first corps army base in Boston today advising him of the expiration of the period for enrollment.

Indications were today that clean-up week which officially began Monday morning will be one of the most successful held in this city in recent years. Property owners and tenants alike seem to be enthusiastic in cooperating with the chamber of commerce and the common council in ridding the city of rubbish and debris collected about the streets and in front of their homes.

An intoxicated rounder picked up by the police last evening was before Judge M. H. Geissler in city court this morning. Upon a plea of guilty to the charge the vagrant was sentenced to serve a month's time in the county jail at Brooklyn.

Carl Weeks of Franklin street, local undertaker, who was discharged from the Day Kimball hospital last week following an operation, returned to the institution this morning for observation.

Mrs. Martin J. Hogan of Totem street is to leave for New York today to spend a week as the guest of her son, John M. Hogan, and her daughter, Miss Anne Hogan, both of whom are employed there.

A successful dance was held last evening in Odd Fellows hall on Pomfret street. The event was sponsored by the ladies degree team of the Putnam grange.

The American Legion auxiliary of the Anselm Mayotte post, No. 13, held a whist and bridge party last evening in the high school auditorium. The affair was well patronized and seventeen tables were in play during the evening.

Everett E. Brown of Plainfield formerly of Pomfret and well known in this city is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital.

JEWETT CITY

VITAPHONE EQUIPMENT FOR THE FINN THEATRE

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 30—The Finn theater is installing two new motion picture projectors, received from Boston, this week. Plans have been completed for a modern electrically operated ventilator system, which is guaranteed to change the air in the auditorium in three minutes. The first shipment of the vitaphone equipment arrived Tuesday and within three weeks it will be "Hear what you see" at Finn's.

Dog Owners Dilatory

Only about half the close to 300 dogs owned within the town of Griswold have been licensed. The list shows many breeds, including the chow, Pomeranian and coach. But dogs, collies and police dogs are in the lead.

A whistle alarm at 1.30 p. m. Tuesday called the department to a fire on the shingled roof of a shed on the Martin Foley property, Mechanic street. No damage reported.

The borough electricians have erected a new transformer on the pole near Finn's theatre entrance. Increased load in nearby blocks made the change necessary.

Mrs. H. E. Olsen has a beautiful magnolia tree in full bloom in her yard on South Main street. She says "It's no tulip either."

Mrs. Ernest Brown and sons, Russell and Ernest, Jr., of Worcester, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Olsen. Mr. Brown will come to Jewett City for the week end.

Borough taxes due. Pay within 3 days and avoid interest charges. U. E. Jodoin, collector.—adv.

The May first water measurements in the Quinebaug will find the river at nearly a foot above its normal spring level.

For the balance of the legislative session, G. A. Ross, the member from Lisbon, and L. E. Boucher, Griswold's representative, will be fellow travelers.

Horned Pout Bites Readily

One may fish for pickerel today, May 1, also may try for bull-head. Locally, no speckled beauty browned in the pan ever had anything on the festive Tadpole horned pout. He is not particular, just bites in a not uncertain friendly way at any sort of bait, with an established preference for lawn-fed night-crawlers. A trial any day through apple blossom time eliminates all previous preferences in favor of Mr. B. H.—

There is no better investment in the motor car market today than that small amount of money that represents the difference between the price of De Soto Six and that of lower priced cars.

On the basis of cold cash alone, you will find that, over the whole period of your ownership, it will cost you less to buy and operate a De Soto Six than any car whose appeal is solely in its low purchase price.

For when you buy a De Soto Six, you not only spend fewer actual dollars in the long run, but you get vastly superior value for every dollar of your investment. Already you know that any Chrysler-built car includes a whole list of unique engineering features that make for finer, fuller enjoyment of motoring.

Already you know that any Chrysler-built car is ultra-smart in appearance, staunch, speedy, economical, easy in control, responsive—that it embodies the most attractive equipment and fittings that you can find in any motor cars.

Now we want to show you that you can afford to own a De Soto even though you had set your price limit somewhat lower and had resigned yourself to infinitely less than De Soto offers.

Check all of De Soto's remarkable features—find out how much less De Soto costs to maintain. Consider these items in relation to the purchase price—and you will be convinced that an investment in De Soto Six is not surpassed by anything in the low-price field.

MYSTIC

PRESIDENT OF LOCAL C. OF C. GETS OUT ARTISTIC SEAL

Some time ago L. E. Kinsey, president of the local chamber of commerce designed a seal to be used on letters as a way of advertising Mystic. The seals have been received and all who have seen them pronounce them very artistic. They are oval, printed in green, the design and lettering embossed in gold. The central design is an outline map of Connecticut and Long Island, showing New York city, and positions of Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford and New London. A curved arrow points to Mystic.

Highway Repairs.

The state road foreman, Joseph D. Austin and men are busy getting the roads ready for oiling, sand having been piled along the highway and the oil is ready in a car on the siding at West Mystic. The Mystic-New London road was oiled between showers Thursday. When finished the roads are fine, but autoists do not relish the fresh oil, it being dirty as well as dangerous to drive on before the sand is spread.

Mrs. Joseph Johnson who has been soprano at the Union Baptist church for the past four and one-half years, has resigned and completed her engagement Sunday. Mrs. Johnson has been very faithful in her work and the people regret her leaving.

GRANDSONS ARE BEARERS AT MRS. WILLIAMS' FUNERAL

Relatives and friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Mary Jane Williams, 92, which was held from local funeral parlors, Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Rev. Francis M. Mitchell, pastor of First Groton Baptist church, Old Mystic, conducted the services. Grandchildren acted as bearers and burial was in Elm Grove cemetery. There were beautiful floral tributes.

Two Amusing Sketches

A full house greeted and applauded the two sketches put on by Williams Woman's Relief Corps in Grange hall, Monday evening. The sketches were entertaining from start to finish and very well done. The first, Hen Pecked Holler Gossip, had the following characters: Mrs. Lucy Burdick, Mrs. Hattie Grimes, Mrs. Elsie Thorpe, Mrs. Leota Wilcox, Mrs. Margaret Decker, Mrs. Lillian Barden, Mrs. Alberta Hammond, Mrs. Anna Higbee and Mrs. Cassie Neff. The second was entitled Johnny's New Suit. Lewis Skiarem as Johnny gave readings hoping to win a prize. His mother was Mrs. Lucy Burdick. The judges were Mrs. Lillian Lamb, Mrs. Fannie Sklarew and Mrs. Emma Johnson. David Brown presented the prize. An orchestra furnished music.

Close of Season

The Monday club will hold no more meetings until next fall and the new officers for that time will be, President, Mrs. Charles B. Holmes, vice president, Mrs. Walter T. Fish; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. G. Albert Thompson; program committee, Mrs. Alfred O. Colby, chairman; social committee, Miss Eleanor Fish, chairman.

Elwood Lathrop and Henry Chesebro are working on Frank Williams' house at Lantern Hill.

The prayer meeting of Old Mystic Methodist church is to be held in the Parish House this Wednesday evening with Lawrence Williams, leader.

The Fellowcraft degree was conferred on a class by the officers of Charity and Relief lodge, No. 72, A. F. and A. M. at a special communication Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell D. Tompkins have returned to Mt. Vernon, N. Y., following a few days spent at their summer home on Pequot avenue.

EAST WOODSTOCK

Miss Sarah Pike, teacher at Spring Hill, Mansfield, is enjoying a week's vacation at her home.

Mrs. James Barnes and children, of Pawtucket, R. I., are spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bearce.

Windsor White was in collision with a car coming from North Woodstock at the four corners on the county road Thursday last, when returning to his home after his day's work with the Stillwater Worsted company. Both cars were damaged but the occupants were uninjured.

Eunice Pike spent the week-end with Ruth Palmer in Pomfret. Both are students at Woodstock academy.

The Men's social was well attended Friday evening. A delicious supper was served, the menu being beef loaf, mashed potato, corn, rolls, cake and coffee. The committee was Edmund Damon, Wendell Bosworth, Ray Eddy, Spencer Jordan and Charles Peckham.

Where should the cost of the annual fuel supply be p ?

MOST of one's household expenses are fixed, as to both their amount and the time they fall due. But the annual fuel-bill is a movable expense that can readily be shifted from the Fall peak-load months to the Spring months, when it can be more easily taken care of.

Therefore, the chief advantage of buying one's coal in the Spring, from income, is readily seen from the above chart; and the disadvantage of deferring its purchase until Fall is equally apparent.

There is, however, still another advantage in Spring coal-buying—a very immediate and concrete advantage. This is the cash saving to be effected through the seasonal low prices now in force with all Old Company's dealers.

Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite has been famous through more than a century for its purity, uniformity and high heat-value. The householder who buys it at the Spring price may rest assured that he is securing maximum value.

F. W. Murnau and Janet Gaynor,

Fox Director and Star, find that smooth skin always touches the heart . .

The cruelest test a skin can meet is the close-up. In the glare of the incandescent "sun-spot" lights, a star's skin must show exquisitely smooth. That is why nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap.

JANET GAYNOR, winsome Fox star, in the bathroom—one of the most charming seen in Hollywood—which sets off so well her flower-like beauty.

"THERE'S a caressing quality to Lux Toilet Soap that I have never found before except in finest French soaps—my skin feels so soft and smooth."

ESTHER RALSTON, popular Paramount star, says: "In their close-ups stars are more closely observed than women in any other profession. Their popularity largely depends on the beauty of their skin. Lux Toilet Soap is excellent for keeping skin delightfully smooth."

MARY ASTOR, lovely Fox star, says: "A smooth skin is one of the most important assets a screen star has. Like every woman, I have to guard my skin. I always use Lux Toilet Soap—a lovely soap."

Nine out of ten screen stars use this soap for smooth skin

LOVELY SKIN, fresh and smooth—it is the very essence of that flower-like beauty the world finds so appealing! Every girl knows how greatly her power to charm depends on the clear smoothness of her skin.

In Hollywood, stars and directors alike know this so well! "People respond instantly to the loveliness of beautiful skin," says F. W. Murnau, Fox director—and sums up the experience of 39 leading directors.

"Every screen star knows this," he goes on to say, forcefully. "They take the utmost care of their skin. For in the close-up only the skin of naturally flawless beauty can stand the pitiless search of glaring lights."

Janet Gaynor knows so well how important a part lovely skin plays in her success on the screen—she is one of the host of adored screen stars who keep their skin exquisite with Lux Toilet Soap.

Of the 451 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 442 use this daintily fragrant white soap. They like its gentle care of their skin—its generous lather, too. All the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms.

BULL PARTY ENDED MONTH IN MARKET WITH A GREAT OUTBURST OF STRENGTH

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—The bull party which has been held barely in check by the rigid credit policy of the Federal Reserve bank during practically all of April, ended the month with a powerful outburst today which sent more than a score of issues to record high levels.

The Associated Press index of 50 leading industrials was carried up 3 1-2 points to within a little more than 3 points of its maximum reached six weeks ago. The day's business totaled 4,314,580 shares, the largest of the month, which saw only four 4,000,000 share days.

The forward movement was promoted by a slackening of the month end credit pinch. Call money renewed at 5½ per cent, but funds came into the market in good volume, and the rate got down to 10 during the afternoon. Some funds were available in the outside market as low as 9 per cent.

Bankers stated, however, that there was no indication that the Federal Reserve bank would alter its policy of restraining credit for speculative use until there has been a very substantial improvement in the credit structure. Some betterment in the call money market has appeared during April, when the renewal rate averaged 8.73 per cent, as compared to 9.5 per cent in March, but this was apparently due to a slackening of market activity, rather than more abundant credit. A year ago the April average was but 4.03 per cent.

It is understood the New York Federal Reserve bank has added about $25,000,000 in bills to its portfolio in the last few days, which has probably helped the credit situation over the month end, but these purchases are said to have been made through repurchase agreements with dealers, and represent no change in policy. Another factor in the situation was the receipt of $8,000,000 in gold from Germany last night.

Outstanding developments in the days news were the offering of rights to $219,000,000 in convertible debentures by American Telephone, one of the largest bond offerings since the war, and the first quarter earnings report of U. S. Steel, showing a most war-high record of $4.04 per share, more than double the $2.11 per share earnings in the period last year. The Telephone offering was attractive. The value of the rights being calculated between $7 and $8 a share, and more than half of the proceeds will be used for new construction.

Automobile accessory and parts shares, office equipment and chemical issues were prominent in the upturn. Earnings of automobile parts makers as reported for the first quarter show gains of about 75 per cent over last year. Murray Corp., Hayes Body, Motor Products, Wilcox Rich A, Timken Roller Bearing, International Business Machines, Underwood Elliott Fisher, and U. S. Industrial Alcohol mounted to 3 to 11 points to record prices. Commercial Solvents was sent up nearly 19 points to a new peak.

American Can was a strong point, rising 5 1-2 points to a new top, and copiers were well summoned on better demand for the red metal and further reports of a possible merger of American Smelting and Kennecott. Anaconda sold up about 4 points on its excellent 1928 earnings report. United Aircraft was again hurled upward, touching a new peak at 140 1-2, up about 12 points. The floating supply of this issue is said to be only about 100,000 shares, so that it lends itself to pool operations. Advance Rumely issues moved up about 3 points to new top on the rumors of a plan to pay off accumulated dividends of about 30 per cent on the preferred.

American Telephone responded to the issue of rights with an extreme gain of more than 4 points. U. S. Steel was firm, but uninfluenced by the earnings report, which came after the close of the market.

A weak spot was Brockway preferred, which drowned 22 points to 106, a new 1929 low in a small turnover. Adams Express fell back 24 points to 705, and Otis Elevator lost 9 1-2 points.

Commodity markets were generally firm. Cotton rebounded about $1 a bale, after yesterday's sharp break but lost some of its gain at the close. Wheat futures gained 1 to 2 cents a bushel, largely on evening up of May contracts. Corn was steady.

Foreign exchanges were dull but firm with sterling, marks and francs showing slight improvement.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 30—(AP)—Indications that selling had been overdone on recent price breaks that carried wheat down about 20c a bushel led to brisk rallies at times today. The upturns were especially notable as taking place notwithstanding predictions that deliveries on Chicago May wheat contracts tomorrow would be on a big scale, totaling as much perhaps as 6,000,000 bu.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm 2 1-4 to 2 1-8c net higher with corn varying from 3-8 off to 1-2c up, oats 1-4 to 3-4c advanced, and provisions 2 to 17c down.

Highest prices reached today for wheat came in the late transactions when offerings had become scarce and many previous sellers were evidently narrous as to whether setbacks had not been carried beyond a point where all bearish factors were more than allowed for. Complaints of too much rain in parts of Kansas, with a forecast of frost tonight west and southwest, tended also to stimulate rallies, and so likewise did the fact that the Liverpool market today showed an unexpected upturn. Moreover, buying here on the part of houses with foreign connections was also a subject of attention.

Reports that European demand from consumer sources had enlarged were meanwhile current, and figures were at hand showing that European Continental arrivals of wheat last week amounted to but 5,216,000 bu. against 11,800,000 bushels the week previous. Besides, a decrease of 3,393,000 bushels in the world's available stock of wheat was announced. Export business today in wheat from North America, however, was only moderate. 300,000 bushels. Bears failed to make much headway with estimates from a trade authority that domestic wheat supplies are 17 per cent higher than a year ago and demand 11 per cent lower.

Liquidating sales by holders of the May delivery of corn were much in evidence today and it was asserted that fully 1,500,000 to 2,500,000 bushels of corn would be tendered here tomorrow in settlement of May contracts. The market was also bearishly affected as a result of reports of corn planting having progressed as far north as Lafayette, Ind. Weather conditions over the corn belt as a whole were rather favorable, but many complaints of the soil being too wet continued to be received. Oats averaged higher owing to scantiness of receipts.

Provisions inclined downward, sympathizing with hog values.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—Steady investment demand for some of the rails and miscellaneous high grade issues and expectations of easier credit steadied the bond market today through the month-end tightness of money rates.

In the late trading convertibles had a small comeback in response to a bullish demonstration in the stock market but comparative quietness of demand for stock privilege issues was off-set by broader buying in the rail, foreign and industrial divisions.

United States government obligations were firmer and traders accepted this as indication of an easier undertone in the money market.

The ability of the bond market to weather the latest credit storm was in marked contrast to its March performance when price averages sank to the lowest level since 1926. Most observers, however, consider the April improvement in bonds as inconclusive evidence o fa definite reversal of the long-trend of a definite reversal of the long-trend.

Still the fastest-trading issue on the list, the new American I. G. Chemical convertible 5 1-2s closed at 99, four points above the subscription price and a gain of nearly a point for the day on sales of $888,000 par value. One of the previous convertible favorites, Anaconda Copper 7s dropped into the background with expiration of their conversion privilege. Most of them have been converted into stock. International Telephone 1-2s were a little more active on the upside.

Junior rails as a group showed the most strength. Chesapeake & Ohio refunding 4 1-2s moved up a point to within a fraction of their year's high. Other active and firm issues were St. Paul Adjustment 5s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas Adjustment 5s and Frisco 4 1-2s.

Prime foreign government loans steadied up under influence of more cheerful news of the European situation. French Republic and British issues were firm. German Republic 7s were unchanged. Fiat 7s carrying stock purchase warrants ran up 9 points for the widest gain in the foreign list.

BATTLE IN HOUSE OVER RAISING LICENSES

ensue from the establishment or maintenance of such motor vehicle junk yard or business and that, in his judgment, the best interests of the community require the operation of such yard or business at the location designated. In making such designation, the warden, mayor, zoning commission, selectmen or town manager shall take into account the proximity of schools, churches or other places of public gatherings, the sufficiency in number of other similar places in the vicinity and the suitability of the applicant to receive such license."

HOUSE

The house was called to order at 10:18 by the speaker. Prayer was offered by the house chaplain.

Bills that have passed in the senate received concurrent actions and bills favored were placed on the calendar and unfavorable bills were rejected.

The committee on education reported favorably H. B. 439, an act revising and codifying the laws relating to education.

When the calendar was reached, the bill relating to parking regulations was recommitted to the committee on cities and boroughs. Representative Cramer of Wethersfield announced the sudden death of his colleague from his town, who passed away suddenly on Monday evening. He voiced a tender appreciation of the character of Mr. Willard and of his usefulness in his home town. A committee of seven was appointed by the speaker to attend the funeral and to draw up resolutions of appreciation and sympathy for the family.

At 11:42 the house, out of respect to Mr. Willard, adjourned until Wednesday at 10:15, standard time.

The general new codification of motor vehicle laws was favorably reported today and tabled for calendar and printing. It contains a requirement that truck drivers must obtain truck drivers' licenses; sets the limit of load on pneumatic tires at 30,000 pounds, and embodies a reflector provision.

Among the bills passed today were:

Substitute for H. B. No. 549, an act concerning hunting, trapping and angling licenses.

Substitute for H. B. No. 138, an act concerning cruelty to animals.

Substitute for H. B. No. 642, an act concerning the licensing of motor vehicle junk yards.

Substitute for H. B. No. 118, an act exempting the property of veteran organization from taxation.

H. B. No. 959, an act concerning the solicitation of insurance for persons not authorized to do business in this state.

H. B. No. 960, an act concerning the imprisonment of women at the state farm for women instead of at the state prison.

Substitute for S. B. No. 185, an act concerning state aid to schools.

Substitute for S. B. No. 487, an act amending an act concerning the collection by the state treasurer of certain moneys due the state.

S. B. No. 518, an act concerning uniform traffic control.

SENATE

The senate was called to order at 10:25 (standard time) by Lieutenant Governor Rogers. Prayer was offered by Chaplain Aver.

The following bills were adopted from the calendar:

S. B. No. 62, appropriating $104,500 for the Norwich State hospital to be spent as follows: Sewage plant, $65,000; ground improvements, $25,000; barn improvements, $19,500.

S. B. No. 64, appropriating $90,000 for buildings and equipment at Fitch's Home for Soldiers.

S. B. No. 132, increasing from $3,000 to $5,000, the salary of the prosecuting attorney of the common pleas court for New Haven county.

S. B. No. 523, authorizing the comptroller to instruct the state treasurer to pay $150,000 to the town of Darien when it shall have completed an adequate sewage disposal plant and shall have entered into a contract with the state to dispose of all sewage at Fitch's Home for Soldiers at Noroton.

S. B. No. 100, exempting Berkeley Divinity school from taxation, except property in Middletown not used for school purposes.

The senate concurred with the house in adopting House Bill No. 27, appropriating $10,000 for a study of the water resources of the state by the state water commission.

The following bills were reported favorably and tabled for the calendar:

S. B. No. 531, increasing the capital stock of the Bridgeport Brass company from $3,650,000 to no more than $15,000,000.

S. B. No. 47, increasing compensation for the examining board of nurses, increasing registration fee and changing time of examination.

The senate adjourned at 12:05, standard time, until 10:15 tomorrow morning.

Members of the senate were guests of Senator Wallace R. Pierson of Cromwell this afternoon at the Middletown Golf club.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Johnson Sea Horses.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(Special)—A radically new type of outboard, known as the high speed rotary valve motor, proved its mettle under fire in the opening speed classic of the 1929 outboard racing season—the nation-famous Albany to New York Marathon down the historic Hudson on April 20. Both the winners of first and second places in this marathon were powered with motors of this new design while five of the first eight boats to finish were also driven by the high speed rotary valve outboard.

Jacob Dunnell, marine architect of Boston, was the first to finish this gruelling 156 mile dash down the river from New York's capital city to Manhattan. His boat, the "Miss Eastern," which was powered with this new type motor, a Sea Horse 32, cut 51 minutes from the 1928 record and made the distance of 156 miles in 3 hours 36 minutes, 40 seconds. His average speed for the entire course was a trifle over 47 miles per hour.

"The amazing speed for this distance is certainly a tribute to the new rotary valve type motor—the Sea Horse 32," said Dunnell at the finish. "While my Sea Horse was capable of 6000 revolutions per minute or better, yet for the greater part of my run I held it throttled down to around 5,000 revolutions. Not once did the motor falter and it is now in just as good shape as when I left Albany."

In explaining this rotary valve design on the new Sea Horse, Julian L. Williams, local distributor for the Johnson Motor company, said, "The rotary valve is a whirling cylindrical shaped valve which controls the admission of the gas charge from the carburetor and the crankcase. It is geared to the crankshaft speed. By allowing full gas charge to reach the cylinders even at the highest engine speeds, it permits a much greater speed and power in these popular outboard motors."

De Soto Six.

Many a wheel has passed over the road since the days when "butcher, baker and candlestick maker" made business calls with horse and buggy.

Twenty miles a day then was considered a fair average at the reins, but the traveler often ended a long drive over bad roads with few calls made, little business transacted, and weary as he stabled his horse for the night. Time and distance, however, have taken on new meanings with the coming of the automobile. The telephone now brings the doctor to the door almost as soon as the receiver is put back on the hook. The traveling salesman counts his daily mileage in the hundreds; his appointments and business have increased; his overhead costs are materially reduced.

Economy in operation today is one of the essential features of the business and professional man's car. It must consume a minimum amount of fuel and oil; bills for general upkeep and service charges must be low. In the matter of time, too, economy is an important factor, not only in the heavy traffic of the city but on the open road where long distances between towns demand a car that is dependable, safe in operation and has an adequate reserve of power. Of only secondary importance is the feature of easy parking in urban communities, where curb space is so often at a premium.

Keenly aware of the important part the car plays in the prosperity of the nation, Chrysler engineers produced the De Soto Six business coupe only after they had carried on exhaustive tests and studied the requirements of business men who spend a majority of their time behind the wheels of their cars.

"The automobile is no longer a luxury but a necessity in modern business," said L. G. Feed, general sales-manager for the De Soto division of Chrysler Motors at Detroit. "The business car must be an all-season, all-weather car—economical, dependable and fast. Then the question of carrying capacity is important, particularly to the salesman with his heavy load of samples. In designing the De Soto Six business coupe, special attention was paid to this feature, which is the main reason why it has found favor rapidly with business men and professional men requiring a spacious rear compartment for sample cases, personal effects and baggage.

"The business coupe is the logical car for the business man. Sturdy in construction, dependable in performance and the ease with which it can be parked are other qualities, apart from low operation and upkeep costs, which have made the De Soto Six business coupe justly popular."

Kreiger & St. Germaine will be glad to show the cars.

Mother and Daughter Praise Vegetable Compound

Johnson City, N. Y.—"My daughter was only 20 years old, but for two years she worked in misery. She was all run-down, nervous, had aches and pains and no appetite. I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results so she decided to try it. Before she had taken two bottles her appetite was better, she was more cheerful and was able to work. I cannot praise your medicine too highly. It is wonderful for mothers and for daughters. It's surely a friend in need."—Mrs. L. E. Hart, 222 Floral Avenue, Johnson City, N. Y.

THE NEW

PONTIAC BIG 6

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Some people make a fundamental mistake when they go to buy a car. They receive a demonstration and they compare the new car only with the car they are about to trade in.

To help you avoid this mistake we have arranged a special demonstration of the New Pontiac Big Six. See the others, by all means. But see the New Pontiac Big Six, if only for the sake of comparison.

Prices $745 to $895, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and Lovejoy shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

POETRY

Little by Little

Little by little the bird builds her nest;
Little by little the sun sinks to rest;
Little by little the waves in their glee
Smooth the rough rocks by the shore of the sea.

Drop after drop falls the soft summer shower;
Leaf upon leaf grows the cool forest bower;
Grain heaped on grain forms the mountain so high
That its cloud-capped summit is lost to the eye.

Little by little the bee to her cell
Brings the sweet honey, and garners it well;
Little by little the ant layeth by,
From the summer's abundance, the winter's supply.

Minute by minute, so passes the day;
Hour after hour years are gliding away.
The moments improve until life shall be past,
And, little by little, grow wise to the last.

—Alice.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Cradle of the Deep" arouses reading public—

Cradles are always doing that.—Boston Transcript.

"Is Mrs. Newrich in the social swim?"

"Well, hardly enough to get her bathing suit wet."—Exchange.

Fisherman (describing the catch)—The pike was so long—I never saw such a fish.

Hunter—I doubt if you ever did.—Detroit News.

Jones (out for the first time in his new car)—Don't talk for a few moments, my dear. Here is a telegraph pole coming.—London Weekly Telegraph.

The restaurant manager stopped in front of a patron who had lit a cigarette. "That sign says 'No Smoking'," he remarked. The other gazed at it. "Yes," he returned, puffing away, "but it doesn't say 'Positively'."—Boston Transcript.

Rippy—They say if there's anything in a man, travel will bring it out.

Dippy—You said it! I found that out my first day on the ocean.—The Pathfinder.

"How do you guard against microbes?"

"First I boil all my water."

"Yes, and then?"

"I filter it."

"Yes."

"And then I always drink beer."—Moustique Charleroi.

The skipper was talking to a card sharp taken in the lounge of the liner. "Now, my good chap, unless you want to be put in irons, you'll not touch another card this voyage. I do not allow games of chance on my ship."

"Oh, that wasn't a game of chance," was the bland reply. "That beggar didn't have a sign of one."—Exchange.

Nantucket, Mass., has had an impressive demonstration of one of the evils that results from oil-burning vessels cleaning their tanks too near the coast line. Many wild fowl, mostly ducks, were washed ashore at Sconset, unable to either fly or swim because of the oil which had matted their feathers.

One day last June a blood-thirsty woodpecker swooped down upon a nest of baby sparrows and threw them to the ground. Mrs. Louis Magner of St. Louis, Mo., saw the tragedy. She found all the sparrows dead save one, and that one she took into the house and wrapped it in flannel. In lieu of worms, she fed it cooked spaghetti, and the bird thrived. The sparrow became a pet of the household, having the freedom of the house. One day it was let out with the expectation that it would not return, but each night it flutters against the back door and demands admittance and food.

Sing Oldest Song

CHICAGO (AP)—The oldest song in the English language, "Summer is ycumen in—Loud Sing Cucu," dating back to 1225, was sung during one of the WLS programs. The ancient song is attributed to John of Fornsete, one of the earliest English composers.

NEW LONDON TAXICAB DRIVERS SHOW BAD BLOOD IN STATION RIVALRY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 30—A resumption of ill feeling between drivers of opposing taxicab interests manifested itself tonight at the union station and as a result of a fight, Lito Compo, 22, an independent driver, will be in court tomorrow charged with breach of the peace, upon complaint of George Parker, starter for the Union Cab company at the station. Compo is also charged with violation of the city ordinance in soliciting patronage away from his automobile and on property of the railroad. Compo, while soliciting fares, engaged in a quarrel with Parker because of the former not remaining within ten feet of his car. A war of words followed and Compo dealt Parker several blows on the head and face. Parker made complaint to Special Agent John Anderson, New Haven railroad, who arrested Compo.

U. S. S. Falcon and submarine S-22 arrived in port early today, after having cruised in southern waters three months, and went direct to the Submarine base. The Falcon is the salvage ship of the base control forces.

A grass fire on Pequot avenue was the cause of a still alarm being sent to fire headquarters last night. Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and Ockford Hose company responded, the firemen quickly subduing the blaze. It is believed that the fire was started by a spark from a passing locomotive.

Runaways Sent Home

Jacob Magid, 15, of 316 Grand avenue, New Haven, and John Gwinnell, 6, of 36 Vine street, the same city, arrested in New London as runaways yesterday by railroad special agents and who were delivered into the custody of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield, have been sent to their home.

Miss Beatrice O'Connor, Groton, a patient at Home Memorial hospital, was discharged today.

Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexander has issued a release of warrant calling for the sale of real estate belonging to Guiseppe Perrone, the sale having been scheduled to be held today. Perrone owed the city taxes amounting to $782.60, representing the levy on the assessment of 1923-1927, inclusive. He has paid the tax.

CLERGYMAN ALLEGED SPEEDING DRIVER

Rev. Edwin T. Thieves, Hayes street, Hartford, was arrested this afternoon on Broad street by Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey when the clergyman was observed driving his car at a speed of 45 miles an hour. Herbert Hendel, 219 Bank street, was arrested on Bank street by Officer Bailey, for traveling at a speed of 45 miles. Robert T. Stanarford, 145 Thames street, Groton, parked overtime on State street. The three drivers will be in court tomorrow.

NORWICH BOOTLEGGER HICKS RETAINS COUNSEL

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 30—Solodius Hicks, 19, colored, residing at 102 Boswell avenue, Norwich, was expected to be in the police court today charged with violation of the liquor law, the specific charge being transporting. Hicks, who says he is employed as a janitor, failed to appear in court and his bond of $1,000 was declared forfeited.

Hicks and a companion drove to New London late last night with a quantity of alcohol, which was intended to be delivered at a North Bank street drinking house. Patrolman Murphy observed the auto as it approached the house and he approached the auto. As he did so Hicks' companion jumped from the car and ran through North Bank street, escaping in the darkness. Hicks was seized and landed at police headquarters, together with the contents of the automobile, several cans of alcohol.

Hicks retained counsel today in Thomas M. Shields, Norwich attorney, and the case will be reopened tomorrow, at which time Hicks will be present and will probably be tried.

STEELE DENIES EVASION OF RESPONSIBILITY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 30—Joseph Hague, Tilley street, reported to the police Saturday night that his automobile was damaged while parked on Main street, the damage being caused by another auto. Hague stated that the driver of the colliding auto drove away without stopping to determine the extent of the damage caused. This evening, Jay L. Steele, 18, of 7 Barrows court, went to police headquarters, accompanied by his uncle, Rollo Jackson, and declared that he was the driver of the automobile which damaged Hague's car. Steele, however, denied that he was guilty of evasion of responsibility for he said that after the collision he and a companion alighted to determine the resultant damage and that the owner of the damaged car could not be found. Steele said that he drove away only after his ante was blocking traffic.

JOHN COURTNEY ADVANCED TO SERGEANT OF POLICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 30—Patrolman John Courtney was today appointed a sergeant of police by City Manager William A. Holt. The appointment becomes effective tomorrow and is the result of the creation of an ordinance April 1, when the three platoon police system was put into operation. There were six other candidates for the office. Patrolmen Dennis Cavanaugh, William Graham, Augustus Ray, James McKenna, Ernest Opperman and Clyde Murphy, Patrolman Courtney has been performing an acting sergeant's duties since April 1. For several years prior to that date he was a traffic officer, with post at the corner of State and Bank streets, which position he filled with much credit and ability. Although there were many candidates seeking the office it was generally believed that Courtney would receive the promotion as well deserved. In making the announcement of the appointment, City Manager Holt, also announced That Patrolman Elwood Bailey had been promoted from a Grade B to Grade A, Patrolman and that Supernumeraries Lawrence Fardy Louis H. Wheeler, Arthur H. Feeley, Cornelius F. Moriarty and Albert Iverson had been promoted to Grade C. All the promtions will become effective tomorrow.

John S. Rankin, 30 High street, of Essex, was in the local court Friday charged with failing to reduce speed at intersecting streets and was fined $5. He was arrested last night by Sergeant Samuel Hick.

Three cases of intoxication were tried. Judgment was suspended in one case, while a second offender was given 30 days in jail, but execution of sentence was suspended. Still another failed to appear in court and his bond of $25 was forfeited. He appeared at police court after the adjournment of court and his case will be reopened tomorrow.

Cutone-Castanza.

Miss Camilla Castanza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Castanza of 9 Grand street became the bride yesterday morning of George Cutone, of Essex. The ceremony was performed in St. Mary's Star of the Sea church by Rev. George Clark. The bride was attired in white satin. Her veil was arranged in cap effect. She carried roses, lilies of the valley and sweet peas. The bride's sister, Mrs. Eric Swanson, was matron of honor and wore powder blue silk with hat to match and carried sweet peas. Alfred Minucci was best man.

At the meeting of Emily J. Cole camp, auxiliary to the United Spanish War Veterans, to be held in the armory tomorrow night initiation will be held.

William W. Lewis, about 65, who died yesterday at the residence of his niece, Mrs. F. N. Chapman, in Groton, noted in The Bulletin's Westerly news today, had been ill about a year. Mr. Lewis was formerly a resident of New London at which time he was proprietor of the Dairy Lunch, then located on Golden street. Prior to establishing himself in business in New London, Mr. Lewis conducted a grocery store at Westerly. He was a member of New London lodge of Elks. Mr. Lewis was born at Clark's Falls.

Thaddeus Mitchell, 71, died yesterday from heart disease at his home, Black Hall. He had been ill about two years and is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Annie Finnegan, of Guilford and Miss Flora Mitchell, of Black Hall and by two sons, Charles Mitchell, Guilford and Myron Mitchell, Black Hall. Two sisters, Mrs. John Dorr and Miss Fannie Mitchell, both of Black Hall, also survived.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY CLEARS $125 FROM PARTY

There was real sport last night when a most successful card party was held by the members of the Holy Name society at the headquarters of the Diocesan Bureau of Social Service in Jay street. About 50 tables of bridge, whist and forty-five were in play and $125 was realized on the affair. The prizes in bridge went to Mrs. Thomas Condon, Mrs. J. W. Forrester and Frank J. Cullen.

In whist, Mrs. W. F. Bessette, Mrs. Charles Cables and J. A. Walker won the prizes.

A door prize in the form of a turkey went to Mrs. Frank E. G. Douglas and two live roosters donated by Maurice McFadden, were awarded as the forty-five prizes to T. J. Sullivan and Michael Connell. The prizes were donated by the members of the committee in charge of John D. Burns, chairman, Peter J. Eshenfelder and Nelson S. Smith.

The society was assisted in making the affair a success by a committee of Crowley club girls.

Lena May, 88 Ocean avenue; Mrs. Bertha Bliven, Mystic; Clifford Sullivan, 31 Alcer place, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Real Estate Transfers

William F. Carberry has sold to Charles A. F. F. Kuhl a house and lot on Squire street.

Arthur R. and Minnie E. Paine have sold to Helen C. Dorsey a building lot on Plant street.

A deed was received for record at the office of the city clerk today transferring title in the property adjoining the New London Public Library association State street, to the association. The property consists of a house and lot.

Runaway Escaped

Edward Godevitch, a youth of 13, and residing in Norwood, Mass., was arrested as a runaway last night. He was turned over to Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield today and placed in the detention room at the Salvation Army to await information from the boy's parents as to how he should be returned home. While awaiting this information the boy saw an opportunity to escape, ran from the building and has not been seen since.

John Cruise, 887 Bank street, notified the police last night that while his automobile was parked in front of his home an unidentified machine struck the Cruise automobile and damaged it.

David Doyle, of Williams street, is a patient at the Private hospital, having been taken there yesterday. Mr. Doyle is suffering of a form of stomach trouble.

Girolamo Girl, of Nameaug street, employed at the works of the Babcock Manufacturing company, was in court today on a charge of breach of the peace, but the charge was nolled.

PUBLIC SERVICE OPERATOR DISPENSED WITH LICENSES

Harry Gidley, 312 Bank street, a public service operator, was charged in the city court today with driving without either a private or public service license. He was fined $2 on the first charge and a penalty of $10 was imposed on the other charge. Gidley was arrested Sunday night when found in charge of a public service auto on Church street. He claimed that he was not the driver of the auto, but that the car was being driven by his employer, Harry Young, 113 Cedar Grove avenue. Young was charged the next day with parking overtime and forfeited a bond of $2. Yesterday it developed that Gidley had been the driver of the auto and that he was without either license. He was arrested by Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey.

Delco Garage have received the agency for Auburn cars and now have them in stock at their garage on West Thames street, where they will be pleased to demonstrate at any time.

Breed Theatre

Fate has a queer way of working her will upon mankind.

Thousands of prospectors who had to learn what raw gold looked like after arriving in the Klondike succeeded in taking millions of dollars of the precious metal from the great placer fields, but fate ordained that the man who had spent most of his life prospecting in the Yukon should come out with a mere pittance.

This is one of the dozens of details of life in the far north as brought out by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer research department in preparing to film "The Trail of '98," which Clarence Brown directed, and which will be shown for the last times today at the Breed theatre.

Jack McQuesteen, known as the "Father of the Yukon," first began mining in the frozen territory in 1891. He worked it steadily for more than a quarter of a century—finding just enough of the precious ore to keep him going in his hunt for more.

When the Bonanza Creek strike was made in 1896 he missed all the gold claims. Fate cheated him again along the Eldorado. In 1898, during the maddest gold rush the world has ever known, this man filed on land that yielded practically nothing.

After 30 years of unceasing effort he could only muster $10,000 worth of gold to show for his life's work.

Flit Soldiers

The Flit Soldiers are again on the air. The first gun, so to speak, will be fired on Wednesday evening, May 1st. From then on, this program will be broadcast for a half hour every Wednesday night, sponsored by Standard Oil Co., Inc., makers of Flit.

This 1929 Flit Soldiers program is new in every respect. New recruits from the ranks of radio talent. New uniforms—towering black hats, red coats, white breeches and shining patent leather boots. New music—from the opening Flit Soldiers March with its rollicking tune to the latest song hits of the day. New, fresh humor. Everything has been done to promise an entertaining half hour program of fun, music and song.

Harry Reser, acknowledged to be one of the best orchestra leaders in the country, and a composer of repute, plans to present each week in the Flit Soldiers program the latest song hits that have only just been released for the air.

The program promises a number of novel features and is packed full of human interest and timely wit. Unlike the usual vaudeville act, it will have just enough of a continuous plot to carry over from week to week.

Palace Theatre

"Pawns of Passion" is a strong melodrama. As the story is unfolded on the screen of the Palace theatre one is transported from the dull work-a-day world and is held fascinated by the intense love theme. The Parisian Artists Quarter forms an unusual background for the meeting of the two lovers. The snow white wastes of the Russian frontier, the straw-thatched cottages and outbuildings with their heavily befurred and bearded peasants; the backgrounds in Poland and Austria and finally the visualization of famous parts of Paris add to the splendid entertainment.

The story is that of a beautiful woman, formerly a sensational dancer in the Russian imperial ballet, who is separated from her little son by circumstance and the connivance of a hated lover. Her search for the boy takes her all over Europe and brings her eventually to Paris, where she meets an art student who falls in love with her. By a combination of extremely dramatic sequences she regains her son and retains her lover.

On the same program with an exciting story which gripped the audience "Wolves of the City," a Universal thrill feature starring William Cody, opened at the Palace theatre yesterday. It is certain to be voted one of the best underworld pictures turned out by Universal this year.

The plot moves with lightning-like rapidity and contains many thrilling sequences. It concerns a young millionaire sportsman, who, for love of the beautiful daughter of a wealthy art collector, risks his life many times in order to recover a valuable jade stolen from her father and to rescue the girl herself from the hands of the art thieves. The many exciting situations are climaxed by a thrilling auto chase.

Broadway.

Melodrama, action, mystery, suspense are collected in the great All Talking picture, "Chinatown Nights," which Paramount made from the story by Samuel Ornitz, well known authority on Chinese towns of the United States. "Chinatown Nights" reveals the intimate, little known side of the Oriental underworld of the large cities of the United States and, into it, is woven a strange and absorbing romance.

An excellent cast of players, headed by Florence Vidor, Wallace Beery and Warner Oland, enacts this gripping drama which will feature the Broadway theater program Thursday, Friday and Saturday. William A. Wellman, the man who made such outstanding motion picture successes as "Wings," "Legion of the Condemned," "Beggars of Life," and "Ladies of the Mob," directed this picture. The sets are actual replicas of noted scenes in New York's Chinatown, famed in recent history as the center of the fierce tong wars.

The story of "Chinatown Nights" centers around the struggle of two leaders of Chinese factions for control of the gambling rights in Chinatown. One of these, a strong, brutal cynical white man, captures the love of a white society woman who through this love, is dragged down to the gutters of the underworld. Seeing her so reduced, the white man realizes his love for her and, with superhuman courage, he lifts her and himself up again.

"Chinatown Nights" is as strange and unusual as the great, inscrutable, Chinese underworld with which it deals. It is mysterious, awesome, absorbing in its revelations of what goes on behind the doors of the sacred joss houses, the opium dens and the sinister meeting places of the tong factions.

The New York city student fare commission has approved a 6¢ round trip fare on Rapid Transit lines to Bronx U. 4-6 one way fare. Interest.

ESSEX THE CHALLENGER

these important things CHALLENGE TOO!

Hear the radio program of the "Hudson-Essex Challengers" every Friday evening

ESSEX challenges the performance, the style, the luxurious roomy comfort of any car at any price, on the basis that no other gives you back so much for every dollar you put in.

That is why the big buying swing is to Essex. That is why motorists by thousands are switching from past favorites, and trading in their old cars for the big values Essex the Challenger gives. Essex challenges:

IN SPEED—challenging anything the road offers up to 70 miles an hour. IN FAST GETAWAY—any car regardless of size or price. IN RELIABILITY—60 miles an hour for hour after hour. IN FINE APPEARANCE, upholstery and detail—compare with cars in which high price is paid for just those things. IN ECONOMY—compare with cars best known for low operation cost.

And with its superb chassis quality and fine, large bodies—Essex establishes also an outstanding leadership in proved VALUE. It offers a completeness of fine car equipment formerly identified only with costly cars, and available, when at all, only as "extras," at extra cost on cars of Essex price. Check these items when you buy—they represent easily above $100 additional value. But they do not cost one cent extra.

The performance ability of Essex the Challenger is due in no small part to its Super-Six motor. Thus, while it is a "Six," no one who knows can regard any other "Six" as being comparable in the power it delivers.

Essex is built by Hudson under famous Super-Six patents. No one can copy or match it. The fundamental and exclusive Super-Six principle—developed in one million motors and over 12 years of continuous service, stamps Essex as the unapproached "Six" in every particular of performance, smoothness and reliability.

EASE OF BUYING

FOR INSTANCE, in this city your first payment, with your present car included, may be as low as $277, and your monthly payments $50.

Your present car will probably cover the entire first payment. The H. M. C. Purchase Plan offers the lowest terms available on the balance.

. . . EASE OF OWNING

On Our own streets Essex the Challenger, under competent observation, averaged 20 miles per gallon. The average owner in this city can expect 20 to 24 miles and upward. Commercial users operating large fleets of Essex cars say that service and maintenance costs, covering millions of miles of operation, are lowest of any car ever tested.

GREENEVILLE

TROOP 21 MEETS AT THIRD BAPTIST CHURCH

On Monday evening at 7:15 Troop No. 21 held their regular meeting in the hall of the Third Baptist church. The scoutmaster, Rev. Harry P. Brothwell, was in charge. The programme included semaphore signaling, compass instructions and games.

The Home department of the Third Baptist church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Quinley on Fifth street Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mrs Elmer Mulkin was in charge.

Misses Mary and Margaret Delaney, of Prospect street, spent Saturday in Hanover.

Mrs. Joseph Shea, of New York, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Barry, on Prospect street.

Miss Janie Service, of Prospect street, is spending the week with her cousin, in New York city.

James Grath has returned to Providence, after spending a few days with relatives in Greeneville.

H Club Met

The H club held their weekly meeting Monday evening in their club rooms on Fourth street, with 100 per cent membership attendance present. Regular business was transacted and President Wallace Atterbury presided. During the meeting, Walter Moran, who has charge of the club's tennis court on Page street, reported that a contest for the championship of the club would be held next week, starting on Monday evening.

William Semple has returned to his home on Prospect street, after spending a few days at New London.

William Dunn, of Fifth street, has been showing a fine catch of fish which he caught in the brooks of Preston.

All the children of the local schools are enjoying a week's vacation, due to the eight-week plan in which they receive a week's vacation out of every eight weeks of school. About 35 pupils of St. Mary's school, in charge of Sister M. Andretta, left Tuesday morning in a special bus to attend the observance of the 19th anniversary of the consecration of Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, D.D., bishop of Hartford.

For Retail Credit Bureau

This (Wednesday) evening there will be a meeting of the Norwich Retail Credit bureau. The meeting will open at 6:15 o'clock when a special luncheon will be served, consisting of crab meat salad, hot rolls, coffee and pie. A large attendance is anticipated because of the fact that John R. Tarrant, treasurer of the Bankers Trust Co., will make an announcement of importance to the local merchants.

Discuss Suburban Day Plans

The suburban day committee of the Norwich Retail Merchants bureau held a meeting Tuesday morning at the office of the Norwich chamber of commerce, to discuss plans for the coming suburban day event to be held the latter part of the month. Details of the suburban day plans will be announced later.

Patients Discharged at Hospital.

The patients discharged from the W. W. Backus hospital on Tuesday were Alberta Keates, Jewett City; Herbert Richards, Versailles, who was severely burned at his store late in January; Mrs. Leonard Guntheimer and infant daughter, Allyn avenue and Vincent Demaura, 125 Franklin street.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

D. OF V. CONVENTION CLOSES WITH INSTALLATION OF DEPT. OFFICERS

The 20th annual department convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War came to a close early Tuesday evening at the Wauregan hotel with the installation of incoming officers, the ceremonies being impressively conducted by National Representative Mrs. Mattie Tucker of Somerville, Mass., acting for National President Miss Hazel L. Riley of Chicago, who was unable to be present.

The afternoon session opened at 2.30 o'clock, following luncheon, and the business meeting was called to order, when a tremendous amount of business of a routine nature was transacted, including reports of officers and heads of committees, tent reports and several changes in the by-laws. Almost the entire afternoon was taken up with the transaction of business.

All of the department officers were presented gifts from their own tents and from the department as well, and National Representative Mrs. Tucker received a gift from the convention.

Election of Officers.

Mrs. Minnie Mathieu of Willimantic was elected president of the department, the announcement of her election and of other officers being made at the afternoon session. The balloting started shortly before noon.

Other officers elected were: Senior vice, Miss Alice Slater, Hartford; junior vice, Mrs. Alma S. Hill Meriden; chaplain, Mrs. Ella Tew, New London; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Helen M. T. Church, Norwich; inspector, Mrs. Minnie Tyroll, Hartford; treasurer, Mrs. D. Louisa Atterbury, Norwich; council No. 1, Mrs Jennie S. Newbury; council No. 2, Mrs. Marion Withe, Middletown; council No. 3, Mrs. Maude Shearer.

In addition to the above officers the following were elected as delegates to the national convention to be held at Portland, Me.: Delegate at large, Mrs. Ella Miller of Bristol; first delegate, Mrs. Ella Tew, New London; second, Miss Adeline Mitchell, Hartford; third Mrs. Mary Lovett, Willimantic; fourth, Mrs. Lucy G. MacDougall, Norwich; fifth, Mrs. Cora Eddy, New Britain; sixth, Miss Anna Osborn, Hartford; seventh, Mrs. Helen Bromley New Britain; eighth Mrs. Eva Ruoff, Glastonbury; ninth, Mrs. Alice Wilson, Hartford; tenth, Mrs. Mabel Fogo Bridgeport; eleventh, Mrs. Jennie Wakefield, New Britain; twelfth, Mrs. Annie B. Turner, Norwich; thirteenth, Mrs. Sarah Bailey, Southington.

The alternate-at-large is Mrs. Ella Stearns, New London; first alternate, Mrs. Leola Davis, Hartford; second, Miss Isabelle Shailer, Bridgeport; third, Mrs. Grace Harris, New London; fourth, Marinda Knox, Glastonbury; fifth, Mrs. Marion Withe, Middletown; sixth, Mrs. Elizabeth Darby, Hartford; seventh, Miss Lois Wakefield, New Britain; eighth, Mrs Alice Gallagher, Meriden; ninth, Miss Florence Hoffman, Norwich; tenth, Mrs. Helena M. T. Church, Norwich; eleventh, Mrs. Minnie Tyroll, Hartford; twelfth, Lillian Hancock, Meriden; thirteenth, Miss Carrie Edgerton of Hartford.

The appointive officers are: Press correspondent, Mrs. Ella Miller of Bristol; secretary, Miss Saute Curley, Willimantic; guide, Mrs Florence Williams, Willimantic; assistant guide, Mrs. Etta Loveland, South Manchester; guard, Mrs. Annie Turner, Norwich; assistant guard, Mrs. Annie Fenwick, Stamford; musician, Mrs. Edith Weldrum, Hartford; chief of staff, Mrs. Mary E. Lovett, Willimantic; state counsel, Mrs. Mary Yale, Bridgeport; color bearer No 1, Miss Lois Wakefield, New Britain; color bearer No. 2, Miss Velma Breen, Bridgeport; color bearer No. 3, Miss Jennie Evans, Torrington; color bearer No. 4, Mrs. Ethel Pearl, Bristol.

Morning Session.

The morning session convened at 9.45 o'clock, at which time Milford E Newbury and little daughter, Faith Louise, were escorted into the convention hall with honors. They brought gifts to the retiring president, Mrs. Jennie S. Newbury, and greetings to the convention. A niece of the retiring president, Mrs. Anderson of New London, was then escorted in, she also bringing gifts and greetings from her family.

Gifts and Greetings.

Gifts and greetings were also extended by the following officers of various patriotic organizations. Miss Helen Shanahan of Waterbury, department president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary; Miss Agnes Peloquin, president of the Richard E. Hourigan post, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, and Louis S. Rull, Jr., commander of Hourigan post. Miss Peloquin, present leader of the Hourigan post auxiliary, presented a gift to Mrs. Annie Turner, a past president of the auxiliary, and retiring chief of staff of the D. of U. V.

Present at the reception for Mrs. Newbury Monday evening was her father, Lafayette Starr of New London, who came in spite of feeble condition to honor his daughter, delegates and guests of the convention. Miss Lola Belle Roath of this city, was awarded a beautiful cedar chest at the close of the reception.

Banners to Two Tents.

Silk banners were presented to the Essex and Mystic tents on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Nellie Orchard of New London, who said in making the presentations that these two tents with the one she represented in New London, started the department in Connecticut in September in 1910.

Delegates were present at the convention from Norwich, New London, Essex, Mystic, Bridgeport, Hartford, New Haven, Middletown, Waterbury, New Britain, Bristol, South Manchester, Willimantic, Stamford, Southington, Danielson, Meriden, Glastonbury and Torrington.

The entire local arrangements for the convention were in charge of Department Chief of Staff Mrs. Annie B. Turner, who was assisted by the following committees: Entertainment, Mrs. Helena M. T. Church; invitation, Mrs. Lillian L. Newberry, Mrs. Lucy MacDougall, Mrs. Lillian Brewster; banquet, Mrs. D. Louisa Atterbury; reception, Miss M. Florence Dean, Mrs. Alice Brinkman, Mrs. Gladys Newbury, Mrs. Lena Pukallus, Mrs. Annie B. Turner; decoration, Mrs. Lillian Newbury, Mrs. Annie B. Turner and Mrs. Lucy MacDougall.

TAFTVILLE

William Seifert of New York city has been the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Seifert, of Baltic road for the past week.

Miss Grace Campbell has returned to her home in Whitinsville, Mass., after a week's visit as the guest of Miss Cecile Latreniere at her home on Occum Heights.

Eloi Fregeau of Providence street has accepted a position with the J. B. Martin Co., Ltd.

WEDDING

Seidel-Eccleston

At St. Theresa's chapel of Sacred Heart church Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. Frederick R. H. DesSureault, united in marriage Lawrence Seidel, son of Adam Seidel, of Germania avenue, and Miss Leona Idella Eccleston, daughter of Mrs. Ida Eccleston, of South B street. The bride was attractively gowned in green georgette with hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. As maid-of-honor she was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Eccleston, who wore orchid georgette with hat to correspond, and carried white and pink carnations. The best man was John Kapteyna. A reception for relatives and close friends of the young couple was held following the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. Seidel departed on a wedding journey to New York where they expect to spend two weeks. When they return they are to reside on Germania avenue. The groom is employed by the J. B. Martin Co., Ltd., and the bride has been in the employ of the Ponemah mills. For a traveling costume, the bride wore a gown of tan georgette with hat to match.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Mell of Baltic road were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Orr of Worcester, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burton and daughter, Ruth, of Preston, and Mrs. Nancy Burton of Jewett City.

Paul Curran of Norwich avenue has been in New York city for several days.

In honor of the 45th birthday of Mrs. Adelard Jarvis of 16 Terrace avenue, a number of her friends and relatives gathered Sunday afternoon to enjoy a bountiful dinner and extend to Mrs. Jarvis the wish for many happy returns of the day. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Benoit and granddaughter, Miss Hazel Perry, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Benoit and son, Louis, Jr., of Jewett City, the Misses Aline Gibo and Irene St. Lawrence of Norwich and William Smith of Norwich avenue, Taftville.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schwartag was baptized at the Versailles Methodist Episcopal church Sunday by the pastor, Rev. Harvey H. Conklin. The child was named Rosanna Marian and the sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barton.

Mrs. Kate Fronmader has returned to her home in Occum after a visit with relatives in Providence, R. I.

George Havens, Jr., of Cristobal, Canal Zone, Panama, was a caller recently at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Stone, of South A street. Mr. Havens will spend his three months vacation in Baltic and vicinity with relatives, returning to the Canal Zone as government electrician some time in July.

William C. Kendall is to assist at the entertainment by giving a stereopticon lecture on his recent trip to California by motor, when the Ladies' Benevolent society hold their next supper.

Mrs. E. W. Yerrington of South Second avenue is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Linderson and family of Centerville, R. I.

Letters for Janet B. King and J Whiter are being advertised this week at the Taftville postoffice.

At the Sunday morning service of the Taftville Congregational church the anthem after the offertory sung by the choir under the direction of Miss Nellie S. Howie, the church organist and chorister, was "Christ, My Life, My Light" (William T. Meyer), with Miss Louise Sigrist singing the alto solo parts. The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was omitted Sunday evening to allow the members to attend the service at the United Congregational church in Norwich, where Miss Margaret Slattery was the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Meyer and family of Bilsaville had as guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Max Eribeck of New Bedford, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. William Eribeck of Bristol.

Because the trout streams are too high, there have been no record catches in the village as yet. In Lisbon the brooks are swollen to the extent that they have covered the meadows in some places.

Adam Leupold of Bilsaville has accepted a position with the J. B. Martin Co., Ltd.

Donat Fournier of Providence street has returned home from the William W. Backus hospital, where he has been a patient.

The Dime Savings Bank of Norwich

JUDGMENTS IN THREE NORWICH CASES GIVEN

Judgments in two Norwich cases heard before the common pleas court have been given by Judge C. B. Waller.

Judgment for the plaintiff of $77.15 is rendered in the case of William Hankin of this city against Alex Poikowski, of Preston. The plaintiff sued because of having bought a horse from the defendant, which was balky and which he claims was not in accordance with the agreement of sale.

Judgment of $161.17 is given Irving Eisenstein, both of this city, against Robert Goldstein of Norwich, for services rendered as an accountant.

Judgment for the defendant is handed down in the case of William M. Ryan & Son, Inc., of this city against the New Haven Road Construction Co. The plaintiff claimed $588.88 for providing a steam shovel and services in connection with building some bridges on the road leading from Hallville to Preston.

RECEIVER APPOINTMENT IS ORDERED BY JUDGE

Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court at New London Tuesday ordered a receiver appointed for the Peoples store, 143-145 Bank street, New London, after a hearing in the case of Harry R. Grossman against Samuel Hyman, co-partners in the firm.

Under the agreement, according to the complaint, Hyman was to purchase all the fixtures, pay for all necessary repairs and all merchandise, and the plaintiff, Grossman, was to contribute $1,500 in cash and an automobile.

They now have a long lease of the premises in Bank street, and on April 12 Grossman gave notice of his intention to dissolve the partnership.

TEXAS COMPANY WINS IN BOUNDARY LINE SUIT

By judgment given by Judge C. B. Waller of the common pleas court the Texas company is to collect damages of $100 from the Shetucket Coal and Lumber company and is also to gain possession of certain premises on South Golden street over which there was dispute as to boundary lines. The Texas company sued the defendants for $1,500 damages and possession of the premises.

In concluding his memorandum of decision, Judge Waller says:

"I find that the defendants have been occupying for some time prior to the commencement of this action a portion of the plaintiff's premises southeast of the aforesaid divisional line and that $100 is a fair and just amount for the rents and profits of the property so occupied by the defendants subsequent to the notice from plaintiff to vacate said property.

"Judgment may therefore be entered for the plaintiff for the possession of said premises up to the divisional line above described and for $100 damages."

IOWA DAIRY FARMER TO BE SPEAKER FOR MEETING

Announcement was made Tuesday evening at the office of the Norwich chamber of commerce that a farmers' city meeting will be held by the chamber May 30, as part of the chamber's membership meetings programme. The agriculture committee of the chamber, who are making the plans for this meeting, met Monday evening to discuss the possibility of holding the meeting in a rural district near this city. Lebanon, North Stonington and Preston are being considered.

The principal speaker will be Fred Kamiller, vice president of the International Harvester Co., and owner of a large dairy farm in Iowa. He will speak on the subject, The Greatest Thing in the World—Friendship.

This meeting is brought about as the first move on the part of the chamber's agriculture committee as a means of bringing about a better understanding between the merchants, manufacturer and tillers of the soil.

The committee voted to co-operate with the committee in charge of the good-will tour being arranged by the chamber. The tour will consist of a visit to several farms in New London county. Walter T. Clark, chairman of the agriculture committee, was appointed to co-operate with the good-will tour committee. The agriculture committee comprises Walter T. Clark, chairman; H. R. Whitman, Fred T. Thumm, G. S. Raymond, J. C. Henderson, Dr. Robert Globus, T. F. Burns, Chester Bell, Robert Montgomery, E. J. Graham, Roland Allen, W. W. Service, E. L. Waterman and Frank A. Bill.

ENDORSED BUDGET FOR CITY PARKS AND TREES

Officials of the Norwich chamber of commerce at a recent conference at the mayor's office in the court house endorsed the $4,000 appropriation for the care of trees and parks which will be included in the budget to be acted on at the annual city meeting in June. The chamber representatives who met with the city officials were Joseph C. Worth, president of the chamber, Arthur L. Peale, Max Hanover, chairman of the garden and yard contest, and Secretary Walter H. Pilcher.

During the conference it was brought out that a large proportion of the appropriation made annually has to be spent for the expense of removing trees and that little is left for the planting of other trees. It is understood that the city's finance committee are considering the advisability of including an extra $1,500 in the appropriation for this work this year.

ATTEMPTING TO INTEREST LEATHER GOODS MFR.

Joseph C. Worth, president of the Norwich chamber of commerce, was in New York city Tuesday to interview a well-known leather goods manufacturer who has expressed a desire to move his plant to this state. The manufacturer, it was announced Tuesday, is looking for a city where there is available labor, which has a paper box manufacturing plant, and is about three hours run from New York. The company is rated at $35,000 to $50,000 and asks no financial inducements.

NORWICH TOWN

REV. ARTHUR C. ADAMS TO SPEAK AT CONG. CHURCH

The woman's department of the League of Service of the First Congregational church is to have its May meeting Thursday evening at 7.30 in place of the regular midweek service of conference and prayer. Rev. Arthur C. Adams of South Africa, formerly of Norwich, who returned several weeks ago, is to be the speaker. He will tell of his experiences while in that foreign country. A cordial invitation was extended from the pulpit at Sunday morning worship by the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, for all interested to attend. A social hour is to follow the address.

At the Congregational church Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Bailey used for his sermon theme "Divine Providence in the Life of the Individual." The text was Exodus 3: 12, using only the first half of the verse. And, He said, certainly I will be with thee, and this shall be a token unto thee that I have sent thee.

A number from this parish attended the union service Sunday evening at the United Congregational church, when Miss Margaret Slattery was the speaker. Because of this, the Young People's C. E. society at Norwich Town Congregational church held a shorter meeting than usual. Miss Lucile Browning was leader. The topic for discussion was "The Triumphs of the Bible on Mission Fields."

In the Congregational chapel Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Junior Intermediate C. E. society held a costume social for the pleasure of members.

The Dorcas Home Missionary society of the Norwich Town Methodist Episcopal church has planned its May meeting for Thursday afternoon at 2.30 at the home of the president, Mrs William Weaver, Huntington green.

Square Meal Lesson

Mrs. Wellington Miner of Vergason avenue is to be the hostess at an all-day meeting Friday of the Norwich Town group of New London county home and farm bureau. Miss Ruth Russell of Norwich, demonstrator, is to give the third in a series of lessons on "Four Square Meals" demonstrated recently at Samuel Huntington school by Mrs. Marion Dakin, dietitian, sent out from Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs. Miss Russell will be assisted by the leader of this group, Mrs. William Weaver, and Mrs. Arthur Fulton, who attended the demonstration. Mrs. Weaver and Charles P. Bushnell are the two directors for the entire town of Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Buckley, with their daughter, Marion Buckley, of Town street, were guests Sunday of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert I. Sanderson, of Willimantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gremley of Mystic were automobile guests Sunday afternoon of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gremley, and little daughter, Barbara, when motoring to Norwich Town, where they called on friends.

Scouts and Cubs Take Many Tests

Troop 2, Boy Scouts, connected with Norwich Town Methodist Episcopal church, and the Wolf Cub pack of Scouts are keenly interested in their various tests, and some tests are passed almost daily. The scoutmaster, Rev. George Warren Potter, feels that the boys should be encouraged in their progress of advancement and gives freely of his time to help them attain the higher ranks.

The Wolf Cubs at their meeting Saturday morning held at their headquarters followed the usual opening ritual. The cubmaster told them another Indian legend and the games were played outdoors the first time since last fall. Charles Browning passed his compass test. John Yelke passed the ball throw test and Ellis Bentley passed the athletic test. In the scouts, Donald Olsen passed second class final tests and was awarded his pin. Robert Ringland passed first class nature test.

At the meeting of Norwich District Epworth league at the Methodist church, Willimantic, Saturday, Rev. George Warren Potter of Norwich Town took part in the devotional period. The Junior Epworth league of Norwich Town Methodist church is to hold a meeting and social Thursday afternoon at 3 in the vestry.

Scout Meeting

Troop 10, Boy Scouts of Sacred Heart church, are to hold their weekly meeting this (Wednesday) evening in the basement of the church, from 7 to 9.

MADE INSPECTION FROM PLANE OF 14 SITES FOR NORWICH AIRPORT

Lieut. Pranaitis of the state aviation commissioner's office in Hartford, and another member of the aviation staff flew over Norwich Tuesday afternoon on an inspection tour of 14 sites proposed for an aviation field in or near Norwich. The flight Tuesday was a follow-up in the study of the various sites which were inspected last Friday by Lieut. Pranaitis and officials of the Norwich chamber of commerce. No announcement has been made by the aviation commissioner's headquarters as to the result of the inspection trip other than the list of proposed sites has narrowed down to three or four. The aviation field, if established will be what is known as a class 4 airport.

The 14 proposed sites are:

New London county fairgrounds; Preston Plains on the Norwich-Westerly highway; Plain Hill east of the Plain Hill road; Franklin station west of the highway leading from Yantic to Willimantic; a site on the Lebanon road; Wauwecus Hill; C. A. Gager property at Montville; Gallows Hill road; Mohegan Park site; Norwich state hospital site on the Military highway; Fitchville pond site, half a mile beyond the Fitchville mill; Lillibridge farm site, Scotland road; Brush farm site a mile from the Franklin-Colchester highway; Pierson farm site at East Great Plain.

The chamber's aviation committee now that the proposed sites have been officially inspected, is turning its attention to the cost of establishing an airport. That is, the cost of the property, plus the cost of improving it and making it serviceable as an airport and the additional cost of equipment.

SENATOR HEFLIN AROUSES IRE OF SENATOR TYDINGS

During an Assault by Heflin Upon Those Who Voted Against His Resolution, the Senator From Maryland Interrupted and Told the Alabaman That "You Can't Frighten Me a Damn Bit"—Vote Was 70 to 14—Galleries Roared With Laughter When Tydings, Referring to Heflin, Said "the Senator Must Be Insane Now"—Heflin Classified the 14 Voting For Him as "The Roll of Honor."

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—The senate today voted 70 to 14 against the resolution of Senator Heflin, democrat, of Alabama, asking condemnation of the recent attack upon him at Brockton, Mass., after he had delivered a Ku Klux Klan speech.

In daily speeches in the senate since the opening of this session two weeks ago, Heflin declared that Roman Catholic influences were inspiring opposition to his resolution. In a two-hour speech after today's vote, the Alabaman called the roll on the vote on his resolution, warned that "this issue will haunt you many times when you come up for re-election" and again blamed Catholic influences for the result.

After Senator Heflin had concluded, Senator Jones, republican, Washington, said he admitted that he had been influenced, as the Alabaman had charged, "but the influence was solely the senator from Alabama." He said he had felt impelled to vote for the Heflin resolution at the outset.

Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, interrupted Heflin at one point to ask the presiding officer to expunge from the record the charges made by the Alabaman reflecting upon the motives of the senators in making their votes.

"I am not afraid," Tydings shot at Heflin, "to vote for what I think is right. The senator can't frighten me a damn bit."

Heflin had said that Tydings would be defeated, and added that "Whom the gods destroy, they first make mad."

"Then the senator must be insane now," retorted Tydings and the galleries roared with laughter.

Senator Heflin has been assailing Senator Watson of Indiana, the republican leader, for blocking the vote on his resolution. As the Alabaman again sought the floor today, Watson asked unanimous consent for an immediate vote. It was granted.

Despite the attacks on Watson, the other Indiana senator, Robinson, a republican, voted for the Heflin resolution. Only one other republican, Sackett, of Kentucky, supported it along with 12 democrats from southern states.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, and 19 other democrats joined the 49 republicans in opposition. The 12 democrats voting for the resolution were: Black and Heflin, Alabama; George and Harris, Georgia; Fletcher and Trammell, Florida; McKellar and Tyson, Tennessee; Sheppard, Texas; Thomas, Oklahoma; Simmons, North Carolina, and Bleaze, South Carolina.

Senator Heflin later referred to the 14 voting for him as "the roll of honor—those who stood four-square when Rome won."

Senator Heflin offered his resolution on the opening day of the session but twice he modified it. In the form it was voted upon today it carried a provision that the vote on the resolution should not be interpreted as an expression of approval or disapproval of the subject matter of Senator Heflin's address at Brockton. At one time, in calling for a roll call on the resolution, Heflin had declared that the vote would be a test of where the senate membership stood when "Romanism and Americanism clash."

DISPUTE OVER RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES IN POLITICS

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—The dispute between Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, and the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, over what the senator recently described as "improper activities" by the board, was joined today by Paul J. Ward, director of the bureau of publicity and information of the National Catholic Welfare conference.

Mr. Ward said in a statement that Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist board, in replying to Copeland had declared that the "Catholic church has long had a headquarters here from which they have no hesitancy in conferring with senators and other government officials."

"In this statement', Ward continued, "he (Dr. Wilson) wishes to draw a parallel between the activities of the Methodist board and those of the National Catholic Welfare conference.

"There is no similarity between these two organizations. The Methodist board of temperance and public morals is a party politics. It supports or opposes candidates for public office according to their acceptability or non-acceptability to the Methodist church. Its purpose is political.

"The Catholic church and the Catholic body in the United States has no political platform. The National Catholic Welfare conference is not organized for any political purpose. It does not align itself with any political party in return for party favors or support, and it has never sought the defeat of any political candidate because of his stand on any particular piece of legislation."

Senator Copeland, who is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, in a recent letter to Dr. Wilson, said he had been concerned over what he declared he regarded "to be an improper activity, the work at Washington" of the Methodist board in "its manifest efforts to dictate and control legislation."

The senator said the Methodists "are doing exactly what we have demanded shall not be done by the Catholics."

"Had that branch of the Christian church erected a building adjoining the capitol, there would have been a vehement denunciation from every Methodist pulpit," he added.

Dr. Wilson in reply to Copeland said "the Catholic church has long had a headquarters here from which they have no hesitancy in conferring with senators and other government officials, and not a Methodist pulpit in the land has made any special protest against that right."

"When Senator Copeland says that everyone would protest," Dr. Wilson added, "he knows that the Catholic church has such a headquarters and he knows that the Methodists do not protest.

"The work of our board is a denominational work in the training of the young people of our own church, an educational work and agitational work."

SLAYING RESULT OF RACE HORSE BETTING

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 1—(AP)—Race horse betting and gambling in which handbook operators run off with wagers without paying bets, were involved by police tonight in the slaying in the hotel Gibson here early today of August Bruck, 30, Newport, Ky., friend of George Remus, notorious bootlegger.

Bruck was found dead with four bullet wounds in his body by a hotel detective.

The room was in disorder. Bruck's assailants were not the only ones armed, for detectives found a holster strapped around Bruck's shoulders in which was a fully loaded revolver.

Two Chicago men, Joseph Plunkett, 30, son of a former Chicago police officer, and Edward D. Hall, who had registered at the hotel several days ago and occupied the same room where the slaying took place were the objects of a police dragnet tonight. Both were charged with murder in warrants signed by Mrs. Lottie Bruck, widow.

Mrs. Bruck said Plunkett phoned her husband last night asking him to come to the hotel room. Since then the whereabouts of Plunkett and Hall remained untraced.

Remus put police in touch with John Monohan, another friend of the former bootlegger. Monohan admitted he was in the hotel room with Bruck talking race horse bets, but police declared he knew nothing of the murder.

Evidence was found in the room that hand book and gambling operations had been conducted on a large scale, police said. Telephone bills running into hundreds of dollars had been spent for calls to Chicago, New York, Washington, Detroit and other cities.

Notes were found addressed to Plunkett from girls telling about jockeys riding certain horses, tips jockeys had given them, and thanking him for flowers. There were numerous such notes from a Detroit girl who signed herself "Your Lil Pal Patsy".

Remus was not involved in the crime by police.

AIRPLANE IN THE AIR COMMUNICATED WITH LAND

HADLEY FIELD, N. J., May 1—(AP)—The airmen of America were presented today with the means of speaking from cloudy peaks with their bosses, their sweethearts, or anyone else of the earthbound millions who have access to a regulation telephone instrument.

The Western Electric company demonstrated in a series of tests for the press an invention linking planes on the wing to the land lines of commercial telephone system.

The first call was put through by an Associated Press reported who went aloft in the flying telephone booth at 11.40 a. m. and stayed up until noon. Wearing a regular telephone headset and speaking into a microphone held in his hand he gave the telephone number of the Associated Press office in New York to the Bell Telephone Experimental Radio Station at Whippany, N. J., by wireless telephone.

A moment later he heard the A. P. switchboard operator respond and was switched to the city desk which in turn handed the call over to a rewrite man who took the report of the demonstration from the flying reporter.

SECOND DAWES COMMITTEE BUSY DRAFTING ITS REPORT

PARIS, May 1—(AP)—The barometer of the second Dawes committee continued low today while delegates were busy drafting the text of their report, which probably will be an official announcement of their failure to solve the German reparations problem.

Unless the unexpected happens after the return from Berlin of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, failure will have been the result of more than eleven weeks of effort by the committee.

Members of the German delegation now are working separately from the drafting committee in preparation of a minority report which they will have ready to present to the full committee if it is found expedient.

In that case, Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee, and J. P. Morgan, of the American delegation, probably will either draw up a short report of their own or have inserted a brief declaration in the report as prepared by the drafting committee.

W. E. SHEAN PAROLED FROM STATE PRISON

HARTFORD, May 1—(AP)—Walter E. Shean, of Springfield, Mass., described during the trial of Gerald Chapman as the "go-between" for criminals, companion of Chapman when the latter needed loose change, was paroled from state prison today.

He was sentenced for complicity in the burglary of a store in New Britain in which exploit Chapman shot Officer Skelly and went to the gallows for it, on May 17, 1926, but specifically he was sentenced for carrying an automatic pistol which Chapman gave him and for attempted burglary. On one count Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin gave him from one to three years and on the other, two years.

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—President Hoover today signed an order dismissing from office William A. DeGroot, United States attorney for the eastern district of New York, effective immediately.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 1—(AP)—Scotland's only woman minister, the Rev. Vera M. Findaly, of Patrick Congregational church here, was admitted as a minister to the Congregational Union of Scotland after a lively discussion.

VATICAN CITY, May 1—(AP)—Pope Pius tonight praised America as the land of religious liberty when he accorded an audience to Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, who is here for his "Ad Limina" visit which every prelate is supposed to make each five years.

JERUSALEM, May 1—(AP)—With appropriate ceremony the Nathan and Lina Strauss health center for all races and creeds was opened by Sir Robert Chancellor, British high commissioner in Palestine, in the presence of representatives of government, zionist and city communities.

VIENNA, May 1—(AP)—Ten thousands Vienna shopkeepers have demanded that the government withdraw by May 4 a recent agreement between the socialist democrats and Christian socialists permitting landlords to make private contracts with their tenants, increasing their rents which have been kept down by law.

PATROLMAN M'INTYRE ACQUITTED OF DIAMOND SMUGGLING CHARGE

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—John T. McIntyre, waterfront traffic policeman, was acquitted by a federal court jury tonight in his second trial for diamond smuggling. The first jury disagreed.

He was arrested in November of 1928 on the charge that he acted as courier for a smuggling band, taking packages of smuggled gems from crew members of incoming liners and delivering them to agents of the smugglers.

He and four other were indicted in February of this year and in April he went on trial, several others having been indicted by that time. On April 10 the jury disagreed and was discharged. The second trial began April 23.

DEATH OF FORMER GOV. HENRY ROBERTS

HARTFORD, May 1—(AP)—Henry Roberts, governor of Connecticut in 1905 and 1906, died this afternoon from an illness which had made him infirm for several years. The death had been expected for some time although his condition had shown no material change until today.

Mr. Roberts was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Jan. 22, 1853, and his paternal ancestry ran back to William Roberts who came to this country from Wales in 1654, and included in the line George Roberts, who was a Revolutionary army officer. A maternal ancestor was Capt. Thomas Evans I, whose heroism in the French and Indian wars is commemorated by a monument at Deerfield, Mass.

Mr. Roberts' boyhood was on a farm in South Windsor. He was graduated from Hartford high school in 1873, from Yale college in 1877, and the law school in 1879. The next year he entered business in the office of the Hartford Woven Wire Mattress company, with which he was active head eventually for more than a quarter century.

During a very active business career, he held directorship in banks, the Hartford Electric Light, and a power company, his knowledge of finance being recognized. He served long as a director of Slater Industrial school at Winston, N. C.

Mr. Roberts began in politics as a ward alderman and then as a water commissioner, going next to the house and then to the senate and was elected lieutenant-governor in 1903, and then became governor for a single term. After leaving public office he retired to private life and seldom was seen at political gatherings nor did he take part in political affairs. On the other hand he gave greater attention to his tastes for literature and art, and greater interest in his memberships in the Sons of the American Revolution, Connecticut Society of Colonial Wars and his various clubs. He was companionable, and had agreeable qualities which endeared him to a wide circle of friends. In recent years failing health made him take life quietly.

Mr. Roberts married Miss Caroline E. Smith at Bridgeport, Oct. 5, 1881, and there were two children, John Taylor Roberts and Edward Constant Roberts.

It is recalled that on the day Governor Roberts was inaugurated the streets were blocked with snow. The city cleaned a path for the Governor's Foot Guard so that the inaugural parade might pass Mr. Roberts' house, at the window of which his aged mother viewed the military as it passed with her son as the chief figure in the spectacle.

FIRE IN HOLD OF WHITE STAR LINER MEGANTIC

LONDON, May 1—(AP)—Lloyd's reported tonight that fire had broken out in number two hold of the White Star liner Megantic at King George the Fifth docks in the Thames river. Thirty rolls of paper and a large quantity of loose straw were the only contents of the hold and it was not considered likely that the fire would extend further.

8,000 GALLONS GASOLINE EXPLODED ON TANKER

FORT MYERS, Fla., May 1—(AP)—One man was missing and two others seriously injured today when 8,000 gallons of gasoline exploded aboard the tanker Doughdrill at docks here. V. P. Pelham, a deckhand, was believed to have been burned to death in the wreckage.

20 BUILDINGS IN FORT SMITH, ARK., RAZED BY TORNADO

FORT SMITH, Ark., May 1—(AP)—A tornado at 2.30 this afternoon struck the southwestern part of Fort Smith and wholly or partly demolished 20 houses, filling stations and garages. It lifted and struck the northeastern section of the city, where it tore down trees and did other damage. Several persons were injured.

FOUND WOUNDED LYING BESIDE BODY OF HUSBAND

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 1—(AP)—Mrs. Jeanetta Kilmer, 52, was found critically wounded by a revolver bullet tonight lying in bed beside the dead body of her husband, Edward F. Kilmer, 64, who had been shot through the head.

Story Of Tragedy Of Airplane Kookaburra

Crew Made Forced March Into the Heart of Waterless Desert.

SYDNEY, Australia, May 1—(AP)—A rough diary, scribbled on the rudder of their plane, revealed today the tragedy of Robert Hitchcock and Kletis Anderson, aviators who lost their lives in an attempt to find the airplane Southern Cross. The story came from a land party under Lieutenant Eaton, who came upon the airplane Kookaburra with the body of Hitchcock under one wing and that of Anderson about 40 yards away.

The Eaton party made a forced march from Wave Hill into the heart of a waterless desert in the northern territory. The brief communications did not give the exact text of the records on the rudder but did reveal the manner in which the two aviators met death.

A faulty cylinder and push rod drove the Kookaburra to earth, seven hours after leaving Alice Springs on April 10. The men tried to construct a runway to permit them to take off again but did not succeed. They found no water and finally were reduced to drinking alcohol from their compass. They had dug a hole near the machine in an effort to reach water, but this hole was dry.

Food was not lacking for the plane contained two tins of biscuits, when the Eaton party found it. There also were 20 gallons of gasoline left in the fuel tanks.

"Attempted to take off," said the diary. "Clearing runway but owing to increasing debility and thirst we are unable to make further attempt."

The last entry was dated April 12.

Lieutenant Eaton said that because of atmospheric conditions and the fact that his horses had been without water for 50 hours, he was unable to bring out the bodies. His party therefore buried them near the plane and hastened back to civilization.

UNDECIDED WHETHER TO CALL SECRETARY MELLON

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee today reached a cross roads in its inquiry into the right of Secretary Mellon to hold office and a decision is impending whether to call on the treasury secretary to testify or to rest the case on an interpretation of the law relating to his office.

Some committee members believe the secretary should be questioned about his relations to the business world as a stockholder in various enterprises, while others contend such action would amount to a trial of Mr. Mellon for violation of the law and would be outside the jurisdiction of the committee.

A decision is in prospect tomorrow on whether to open the committee hearings for an investigation or whether to rest the case on Mr. Mellon's statement that he is a stockholder.

Waldorf-Astoria, N.Y., A Thing Of The Past

More Than 1,000 Guests Were at Last Dinner Ever to Be Served There.

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—Festively, with all her flags flying as though she were about to welcome one of the presidents or princes whose visits made her long career so colorful, the Waldorf-Astoria passed out of existence tonight, victim of the mighty march of business up Fifth avenue.

With the removal of the famous hostelry [illegible] make room for an office skyscr[illegible] whole character of 24th [illegible] Fifth avenue, once the mo[illegible] fashionable neighborhood in the [illegible]rld, will have completely [illegible]. Even now, with those familiar red walls still standing ghosts [illegible]hose dandies of the "the Age of [illegible]nocence" and "the Mauve Decade" would have a hard time finding their way about.

More than 1,000 guests tonight rode up in taxis and limousines to her brilliantly lighted carriage entrance to eat the last dinner ever to be served at the Waldorf. There was one big stag dinner in the grand ballroom, attended by members of more than 40 organizations that for years have had their annual dinners at the hotel. In the beautiful old dining room overlooking Fifth avenue, in the grill, and in the other smaller cafes a $10 table d'hote, prepared under the direction of Oscar, was served to individual diners.

After the dinners there was dancing and, around midnight, the last of Oscar's famous suppers.

Two hundred guests had reservations to spend the night there, but they'll have to get out early tomorrow morning to make way for the auctioneer, and they'll have to go out for breakfast.

The hotel will be torn down in about a month. Auctioning off of the furniture started today—with a dresser which brought $17 after the auctioneer had suggested that "perhaps before this dresser Anna Held undressed for her famous milk bath."

A little more than a week ago, the Waldorf-Astoria entertained her last great personage. On April 22 President Hoover spoke there at the Associated Press luncheon.

DENIES PROCURING GUNS FOR GANGSTERS

CHICAGO, May 1—(AP)—The coroner's investigation of Chicago's St. Valentine day gang massacre, which has shown promise of rattling the skeleton in more than one official closet, brought a denial today from a suburban chief of police that he had aided gangsters in procuring machine guns.

William C. Freeman, chief of police at Evanston, wealthy and fashionable suburb, appeared before the coroner's jury to refute reports that he had assisted in providing machine guns to gangsters.

Norwich Progress Exposition

This big attraction, which is bound to interest all Norwich and surrounding towns, opens at the armory this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Unusual features have been arranged for each of the three afternoons and evenings, in addition to the exhibits which you shouldn't miss in the 75 booths.

See and hear the Silver Masked tenor, Thumm's orchestra, Lieut. William B. Tassilo's Great Hartford orchestra, Clarence B. Collins, the famous radio janitor; D'Atri's popular band, Henry J. LaFontaine, as well as the style show.

TODAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, 1 to 10 P. M.

BILL WOULD STIFFEN SENTENCE FOR 2D CONVICTION FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

(Special to The Bulletin)

HARTFORD, May 1—By the provisions of the bill relating to suspension of execution of sentence in drunken driver convictions, it will be impossible to secure a suspension if convicted the second time if the offense occurs within a period of six years. It is reported that cases have occurred within the state where a violator has escaped the penalties of a second conviction while driving under a former suspension. The bill is as follows:

Section 1. Chapter 62 of the public acts of 1923 is amended to read as follows: Any criminal court in any case within its jurisdiction, except in cases of commitment to the state prison, may impose sentence and suspend the execution thereof indefinitely, when the mitigating circumstances clearly justify such action, and, upon such suspension, the court shall forthwith cause to be spread upon its records the reasons upon which such action is based, provided the court shall, in no case, suspend the execution of the sentence of an accused convicted of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor if such offense shall have been committed within a period of six years immediately following such final conviction of a like offense by a court of this state, or by a person convicted of a felony if it shall appear that he has twice been previously convicted of a felony.

Another bill that it will be well for owners, who rent, lease or loan automobiles, to study, as it places a direct responsibility upon the owner, provides:

Section 1. Any person renting or leasing to another any motor vehicle owned by him shall be liable for any damage to any person or property caused by the operation of such motor vehicle while so rented or leased, to the same extent as the operator would have been liable if he had also been the owner.

Sec. 2. Section 61 of chapter 400 of the public acts of 1921 as amended by section 21 of chapter 195 of the public acts of 1925 is repealed.

Hereafter the board of finance and control will determine the salaries to be paid the state's attorneys and assistants, and the prosecuting attorneys and assistants in the courts of common pleas. They can allow an assistant state's attorney compensation not exceeding $25 for each day actually spent in court.

Provision has been made for the erection of an additional hospital for the insane that is to be erected in Fairfield county and to be known as the Fairfield County hospital. Seven trustees are to be appointed by the governor. The trustees are to purchase a site, have charge of the construction and equipment and upon its completion shall have the management and control of its operation and affairs. The sum of $1,750,000 is provided for the work. In the bill making appropriation for the tuberculosis commission is a provision for $75,000 for construction and equipment of a fireproof infirmary at Niantic.

Appropriation for the State Farm for Women at Niantic is as follows: $288,500 is appropriated for the State Farm for Women for the following purposes: For construction and equip-

SERIOUS RIOTING BROKE OUT IN BERLIN LAST NIGHT

At Midnight the Casualties Were 6 Dead and 78 Wounded—Hundreds of Others Suffered Injuries From Missiles and Policemen's Clubs—Communists Barricaded the Streets, Using Street Repair Material—They Held Off the Police With Rifle and Pistol Fire Until Armored Cars Broke the Obstructions.

SUMMARY OF MAY DAY DISTURBANCES ABROAD

By the Associated Press

Eight dead, 78 seriously injured, 300 arrests in Berlin.

Several dead and "many" hurt in Kovno.

Mob dispersed from American embassy, Mexico City.

Hungary's principal cities "armed camps."

More than 3,200 arrests in Paris.

Communism parading the soviet armed forces in Moscow.

Above concisely are the outstanding events marking the celebration of May day, 1929. Offsetting them, however, came reports from Brussels of quiet parades, more sparsely attended than any in ten years, from rural France depicting outdoor oratory but no violence and from southeastern Europe, South America and Central America recording exceptional quiet.

BERLIN, May 1—(AP)—Communists in an attempt to "conquer the streets" for May Day, caused an ugly riot tonight in the working class quarter in northern Berlin. They erected barricades, using street repair material, and held off police with rifle and pistol fire until armored cars forced the obstructions and enabled the authorities to clear out the surrounding houses.

At midnight the casualties for the day had mounted to 8 dead and 78 seriously injured. Hundreds of others suffered bruises from missiles or policemen's clubs.

The rioters erected barricades in the main thoroughfare of the Pankstrasse and its side streets. The police charged them repeatedly with batons until the commanding officer realized that his force was too weak for these tactics and ordered his men to open fire. Then armored cars were brought up and the police finally captured the barricades.

Communist ambulances and first aid squads were overwhelmed by the number of victims brought from the fighting front.

Fighting was also reported from eastern and southeastern parts of the city. Three sections were plunged into darkness.

The Pankstrasse and the Poesilnerstrasse were under repair, and a quantity of paving material, including blocks, was lying about. The communists erected barricades from this material and from behind them received the police with pistols and rifle volleys.

Shots also were fired from windows of nearby houses and when the armored cars arrived their searchlights were turned upon those various points and the rioters were quickly driven from them by well-directed police fire. The houses were invaded after the police had stormed and carried the barricades and many of the sharpshooters were found and arrested.

At 11 o'clock the police said they had the situation well in hand and that rioting had ceased. It was reported then that 8 persons had been killed and 80 wounded.

SEVERAL COMMUNISTS WERE KILLED IN KOVNO

KOVNO, Lithuania, May 1—(AP)—Several communists were killed and many wounded today when police fired on demonstrators who had defied an order forbidding May Day assemblages.

CAUSE OF SLAYING OF HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETE

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, May 1—(AP)—Failure of William Sanford Wright, 18, baseball and basketball star of Wheelersburg, Ohio, high school, to heed a warning to cease attentions toward a young woman in the neighborhood, was blamed tonight by Scioto county authorities for his slaying late last night.

Wright's body was found on a wood cutter's block on the farm of Ernest Marsh, Powellsville, early today, riddled with shot apparently fired from a shot gun. Marsh summoned county authorities.

Meager clues to the murder were pieced together by county authorities, who are convinced that Wright was shot by a motorist while walking along a highway to his home, two miles east of Wheelersburg.

County officials said they believed the body was taken into the automobile and removed to the farm where found.

Wadding from a shot gun shell was found in Wright's clothing, indicating that the youth was fired upon at close range.

Wright was last seen near midnight by a companion, Wilbur Brown, who said the athlete started walking home. They previously attended a motion picture show at Wheelersburg high school.

County authorities said that Wright engaged in several fights in the past two weeks as a result of a warning to keep away from the young woman.

MISS ANNE MORROW IS EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK

CLEVELAND, May 1—(AP)—Miss Anne Morrow, fiancee of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, left for New York tonight after dodging crowds which had gathered at two stations to witness her departure.

Miss Morrow and her party were expected to leave over the New York Central from the East 105th street station or the Union depot. Instead her private car was sent to the Erie railroad depot early in the evening and was attached to the New York Central's Ohio State Limited when it pulled through the Union and East 105th street stations.

With Miss Morrow were her sister Elizabeth; her mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, wife of the ambassador to Mexico; her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Long Cutter of Cleveland; and Mrs. Morrow's sister, Mrs. Stanley Yates. They are due to arrive at New York at 9:05 o'clock tomorrow morning and are expected to be met by Colonel Lindbergh.

The Morrow party spent two days in Cleveland visiting Mrs. Cutter and Miss Annie O. Cutter, aunt of Anne.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR DROWNED WHILE FISHING

PITTSFIELD, Mass., May 1—(AP)—James Hyde, 19, a Pittsfield high school senior, drowned today while fishing in Onota lake with Harold Hennessey, an instructor at the school. Hyde slipped from a pipe on which he was standing and fell into ten feet of water. He weighed more than 200 pounds and could not swim. He was a weight thrower on the school track team. The body was recovered.

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—Miss Velma Pilling, of Providence, R. I., was married today at the Church of the Transfiguration, "The Little Church Around the Corner," to William C. McClelland, manager of the National City company of Boston. Mrs. McClelland is a graduate of Middlebury college in Vermont. Mr. McClelland was graduated from Colgate in 1917.

SENATE TO VOTE ON FARM BILL DEBENTURE FRIDAY

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—Friday afternoon was set today by Chairman McNary of the senate agricultural committee for a senate vote on the export debenture plan as a method of farm relief.

LONG DISCUSSION OF PROHIBITION IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—The smoke screen having again appeared in the capital as the medium by which suspected bootleggers escaped pursuing police, more than usual interest was attached today to a long prohibition discussion in the house in which the smoke screen and President Hoover's recent law enforcement speech figured.

Police were guarding suspicious trances into the district and Private Henry Rinke was recovering from near-blindness occasioned by smoke loosed from a rum car, which eluded him after a chase of many blocks. The intensity of the situation in the current war between police and rum runners had been increased by two pistol battles, one in nearby Maryland and another in Virginia. One Negro was wounded.

Representative Miller, republican, Washington, proposed in a bill that the stamp of "justifiable homicide" be put on cases where an officer kills a person in attempting to halt an automobile from which a smoke screen was being projected.

Representative Laguardia, republican, New York, a wet, had failed earlier in a second attempt to have expunged from the congressional record the words "applause" after a statement in defense of a Washington policeman in shooting to halt and killing a 21 year old suspect who was using a smoke screen.

Laguardia took exception to several statements made by President Hoover in his speech before the Associated Press, characterized the Washington policeman's action as "unjustifiable" and declared that modification of the dry law would remove 50 per cent of the conditions complained of by the executive.

STRIKERS ORDERED TO RACE OR GET OFF TRACK

AURORA, Ill., May 1—(AP)—Striking horse owners, who have caused at least a two-day postponement of the annual spring turf meeting at the Aurora track, today were ordered to race or get off the track.

The ultimatum was issued by Clifford R. Trimble, general manager of the track, who warned that no further concessions would be granted the strikers and that thoroughbreds from other points would be invited to compete, beginning Friday.

Meanwhile, the strikers stuck to their demands that the track boost the minimum purses from $800 to $1,000 and that the track deduct one per cent from all first moneys from all events and turn that sum over to their organization, the Thoroughbred Horse Association. Some wavering was noticed in the strikers' ranks today, but generally they clung to their demands.

"I am certain the track will open with a fine card by Friday at least," Trimble said.

INDICTED FOR ALLEGED BRIBERY CONSPIRACY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 1—(AP)—Scandals of the Los Angeles county district attorney's office under Asa Keyes were given a new turn today with a grand jury's announcement of the indictment of two former Keyes aides, Harold L. "Buddy" Davis and Donald MacKay, for an alleged bribery conspiracy.

On information supplied by Ben Collizoff, convicted bribe passer in the Teapot dome cases against the promoters of the defunct Julian Petroleum corporation, the inquisitorial body charged Davis with the acceptance of a $7,500 bribe to "range" his prosecution of the oil operators.

Immediately afterward the jury voted to accuse MacKay with receiving a $7,500 bribe and $1,000 to "use" his influence to wield his influence toward a dismissal of embezzlement charges once filed against A. I. Lasken, convicted of grand theft following the failure of his automobile finance company. The indictment too was based on Collozoff's accusation.

Both men surrendered to the sheriff's office.

ASKS AGE EXEMPTION FROM TAX FOR HIS DOG

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 1—It is probable that the attorney general of the state may be requested to say whether Connecticut's eldest fox terrier, now enjoying his twenty-second year, may not be allowed a tax exemption. Henry Duplese, owner of the dog has been arguing the matter for the past ten years with Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton. He came again this year to register the dog and once more asked if an old age exemption was ever going to be declared on his canine. The terrier was between six months and one year old when first registered and the records show him receiving a new tag every year for 21 years. The dog is called "Bum" and is described as a white and yellow fox terrier. Duplese, who is the son of a Civil war veteran said to Town Clerk Fenton, "Now 'Bum' is going on 22 and it seems to be an exemption should be declared in his case pretty soon." Thus the annual argument again began and the town clerk responded that he realized that "Bum" was probably the oldest dog in the state if not in the country and he thought maybe he would consult the attorney general about this unusual case. "Bum" is unusually active and healthy although he has seen the kiddies of his neighborhood on Windham Road grow into young manhood.

Somewhat handicapped by inclement weather the students and faculty members of Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs worked arduously in making improvements to the college grounds today in observance of Connecticut Day. The male students went to work on the athletic field, resuming a task started last year while members of the faculty improved the landscaping about the community house. The co-eds pitched into the spirit of the day by waiting on their fellow students during the luncheon period. The day's program was under supervision of Professor Allan W. Manchester.

The effect of the clean-up week campaign was noted today in the general appearance of lawns, sidewalks, streets and alleys. Half a dozen men and three trucks of the city street department were occupied today, collecting rubbish in the first and second districts. The collections in the third and fourth districts will be made Thursday.

OBITUARY

Ronald F. Rennie

Ronald F. Rennie, 77, native of Scotland, of 26 Gardner street, Manchester, died in the Memorial hospital there Tuesday from asthma and heart trouble. He had resided in Manchester for many years and was employed by Cheney Brothers, retiring on a pension a few years ago. The deceased leaves one daughter, Mrs. Catherine F. Johnson of Manchester and one son, James F. Rennie of Coventry.

William Brown

William Brown, 24, of Lakeville, died at the Mansfield State Hospital and Training school Tuesday. He leaves his parents who reside in Lakeville.

The sixth annual conference of state high school principals came to a close with a report session this forenoon. Breakfast was served in Residence hall at 8:30 o'clock. The guidance material that was presented at the several sessions Tuesday was summarized. The conference recommended that the outline be utilized in the schools of Connecticut as far as possible under the individual direction of the principals.

With the expiration of the time limit for registering dogs in the town of Windham this evening nearly 700 members of the canine population had been placed on the records by the owners. In view of a last minute rush the day was an unusually busy one for Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton.

Mrs. Roland B. Jordan of Windham street entertained with a luncheon and bridge party at the Mary Anna Tea room Tuesday afternoon. Covers were laid for 22, and were placed amid attractive spring flower decorations. Winners at bridge were, Miss Myrtle V. Jordan, first, Mrs. Raymond A. Parker, second, Mrs. William A. Buchanan, third, Mrs. Lyndon E. Little, fourth. Guests from out of town included: Mrs. William P. Little of Stratford, Mrs. William M. Turnbull of Hartford, Mrs. Aline Ward of Bristol, Mrs. Harold T. The progress of New England was outlined in an interesting and informative address delivered by F. L. Gerety, of Derby, at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Exchange clubs held at the Nathan Hale hotel with a banquet at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Covers were laid for about 85, members of the two service clubs and a number of guests, including Rotarian William Slate of New Haven and Philip Dodge, Charles E. Curran, Albert J. Fournier and Chamber of Commerce Secretary John O'Rourke of this city. Welcome on behalf of the Rotary club which was host for the evening was extended by President Raymond A. Parker, response was made by Attorney E. Frank Bugbee, vice president of the Exchange club in the absence of President Dixon VanZandt.

The song numbers were led by Harry W. Standish. The meeting took on the form of a smoker with everyone receiving a corncob pipe and pouch of tobacco, donated by Rotarian Ernest Bottomley. The program was in charge of Herbert W. Huber. The entertaining talk was entitled The Gullibles of 1929 and was given by Professor Walter Stemmons of Storrs. This was followed by the main talk by Mr. Gerety, who is secretary of the Connecticut branch of the New England council and secretary of the Naugatuck Valley association.

The Exchange club project of having the name "W" mastic placed in 12-foot letters on the roof of the New Haven railroad freight shed off Bridge street was completed today by Frederick J. Palmer and an assistant. Below the name is an arrow indicating the north.

Charles E. Mayo, manager of the Nathan Hale hotel, has returned from a conference of the managers of the American Hotel corporation held in Glenn Falls and Troy, N. Y., with managers from New England and New York state in attendance.

At the successful whist given by the American Legion in the legion rooms Tuesday evening the prizes were donated by Mrs. Samuel Nield, Mrs. Maude Beauchamp, Mrs. Ida LaMarche and Dr. W. P. Keating and were won respectively by Mrs. Margaret Squires, Mrs. Mary Moran, Mrs. Cora Yorke and Mrs. Lillian Wilcox.

Over $65,000 had been collected to date in taxes on the 1928 grand list by Albert J. Piche, town tax collector. The collectible list is $247,867.65.

Mrs. Annie O'Connor and Mrs. Catherine Shea have been entertaining Mrs. Mary Harrington of North Weymouth, Mass., for the past two weeks.

Commander James Haggerty and Comrade Adam Duntz of the Civil war veteran's post will attend the state convention of the G. A. R. in New London, Thursday. From many sources Commander Haggerty is considered a potential candidate for the office of state commander. He is at present senior vice-commander of the state.

MYSTIC

CALLING IN PLEDGES FOR FLAG POLE REPAIRS

It is very gratifying that so much interest has been shown in regard to having the Liberty pole repaired and left where it now stands. As the repairing has been started, Fred Williams is ready for those who have pledged to pay in their money. Following is an additional list of patriotic residents pledging aid in this project:

Burrows Coal Co., Mystic chamber of commerce, Mrs. Stillman, Dr. Stillman, L. Bartlett, Alden Fish, Cash, C. L. Allen, Geo. Brooks, John Fribance, E. H. Saunders, Mrs. Clara Brown Wilcox, Mystic academy, Archie Chapman, Broadway school, A. H. Eldredge, Mrs. Walter B. Patterson, Geo. H. Griswold.

Paul Chesebro, a student at Princeton university, and his fiancee, Miss Florence Lane, spent the week end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chesebro.

The Junior C. E. society of the Union Baptist church held a masquerade social in the vestry, Tuesday evening. The varied costumes won great applause. Russell Potter and Margaret Van Pelt were in charge of the games. Ice cream and fancy cookies were served.

Regret Paper Suspension

Residents of Mystic were sorry to learn that the Stonington Mirror and Mystic Journal was discontinued last week after having been printed for the past 60 years. Jerome Anderson, Sr., started the paper in 1869 and he edited it for 24 years when his son, Jerome Anderson, Jr., took it over and has been the editor for 36 years. Mr. Anderson has been appointed acting postmaster in Stonington and feels that he cannot do justice to both. People in the two villages have ben in the habit of sending subscriptions to their friends in other parts of the country so that it will be missed by others as well as by local residents.

Miss Dorris Bindloss and Mrs. A. P. Bindloss were in New London Tuesday.

Ina, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Clendenen has been very ill with measles.

Mrs. H. E. Higgins is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall.

Mrs. Charles H. Denison and daughters, Mrs. Clair Lester and Miss Stella Denison spent Wednesday with Mrs. Charles Aiken of Quiambaug.

Mrs. Clarence Davis and Mrs. O. L. Main called Wednesday on Mrs. Julia Cromwell, who is very ill at Home Memorial hospital, New London.

The pansy beds of William L. Main are attracting attention.

Miss Louise Noyes, a teacher at Mystic Academy, is spending the vacation in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stark, who have been spending the winter with Miss Joanna Burnet, have opened their summer house on Godfrey street.

Merrill and Julius Foote went to Bridgeport Saturday afternoon with Stonington High school baseball team, one of the boys being a player. They spent the night at the home of their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Trulock B. Hathaway. Sunday the four, with Mrs. George Hathaway, came to Mystic and spent the night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foote. Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Hathaway and Mrs. George Hathaway returned to Bridgeport Monday morning.

At the meeting of the Mystic grange Thursday evening the third and fourth degrees will be conferred.

Dr. Thurman Maine of North Stonington was in the village Tuesday.

When a meeting of the World Wide Guild society of eastern Connecticut and western Rhode Island is held at Huntington Street Baptist church, of New London, on Saturday afternoon and evening, members from the local guilds are to attend.

RETAIL STORE CLERKS ORGANIZE A UNION

A clerks' union was organized Wednesday night and is to be known as Westerly Retail Clerks' association, a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The new union came into existence at a mass meeting held in Stonecutters' hall, under the auspices of the local branch of the Federation of Labor. About 500 men and women, retail store clerks, attended the session and 67 signed agreements whereby the new union was organized.

The charter was forwarded to the secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and its return is expected in about two weeks. Cornelius Riley, president of the Westerly Central Labor union, presided, and the principal speaker was Frank McCarthy, national organizer from Boston. Other speakers included President Merrill of the Painters' union, Adam Sawyer, president of the Granite Cutters' union, and Joseph Sisco, who with Mr. Riley was a delegate at the recent state convention of the Federation of Labor. Cornelius Riley, Joseph Sisco and Arthur Merrill are directing the organization of the new clerks' union.

Mrs. Harry R. Mitchell at her Wequetequock home was hostess to the Travelers' club, when Mrs. Frank E. Peckham, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Rhode Island, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Peckham gave an informal talk on federation work and of the New England Federation meeting to be held at the Ocean House, Watch Hill, in September. Mrs. Joel Sherman, of Westerly, gave a pleasing program of vocal and instrumental music and readings. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

DANIELSON

LIFE OF MRS. T. F. BAILEY COMES TO CLOSE AFTER LONG ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 1—A death this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter I. Chase, of Broad street, was that of Mrs. Effie Florence Bailey, 69, widow of Theodore F. Bailey, a veteran of the Civil war and former commander of McGregor post, G. A. R., of Danielson. Mr. Bailey died in mid-May, 1923. Mrs. Bailey had been ill a little more than a year, the decline in her health being gradual but steady. Her condition had been critical the past two weeks, the end coming during the early hours of this morning.

Mrs. Bailey was a native of this town, born Sept. 11, 1859, a daughter of Erastus Dwight and Mary E. Francis Hutchins. With the exception of about a year, when she was resident in Brooklyn, Mrs. Bailey had always lived in Danielson and vicinity. Throughout her life she was a wonderful woman in her home, one who by her cheery disposition and unvarying kindly manner won and kept a host of friends in this and adjoining communities and one at whose passing there is widespread regret.

Mrs. Bailey was a member of McGregor, Woman's Relief corps and was active in its interests for years, a member of the Baptist church and a member of Killingly grange.

She leaves four daughters, Miss Lillian E. Bailey, president of the Connecticut state department, W. R. C., which on Thursday is holding its annual state convention in New London, where Miss Bailey was to have presided; Mrs. Walter I. Chase, also of Danielson; Mrs. Henry Leach of Wauregan and Mrs. Frank Jones of Forestville, this state. She also leaves a brother, Marion Hutchins, of Danielson, and three sisters, Mrs. David Hutchins, Miss Nettie Hutchins and Mrs. Genevieve Leach, all of Danielson.

The Windham County Girls' conference is to open at Plainfield Saturday morning at 9:30, and will hold sessions also in the afternoon and evening. The first period has been set aside for registration and getting acquainted. Girls will be in attendance from about every section of the county. At 10:30 there is to be a welcome service, opening with the singing of the processional Lead on, Oh King Eternal. The welcome to Plainfield will be given by Miss Irene Generous of that place and the welcome to the conference by Miss Emma F. Pilling of Danielson. The president's message will be delivered by Miss Ruth Mellor of Danielson. At 11 o'clock there is to be a period of worship with Miss Virginia Wakeman of Weymouth, Mass., as the leader. The address at the morning service will be by Rev. Lorne Brown of Stamford. At 12:15 comes the luncheon period.

When the afternoon session opens at 1 o'clock with a period of worship, the Willimantic girls' delegation will be in charge, they introducing the theme World Friendship. This period will be followed by an address on Our Friends among Chinese Girls by Miss Priscilla Holton of Boston. After Miss Holton's talk there will be an adjournment to the Plainfield Community house, where play Chee Moo's Choice, will be presented by Plainfield girls. From 3:30 will be a recreation period for freshmen and sophomores, with swimming in the Community house pool. During the afternoon discussion groups will meet under various leaders, and there also will be a tea at 4:00 at which adult leaders will meet Miss Holton. Group leaders include Miss Marjorie I. Gaffney of Danielson, Miss Ethelyn Nichols of Willimantic, Miss Virginia Wakeman of Weymouth and Mrs. Ethel Gallup of Moosup. Adjournment to the church will be taken at 5:30. In the evening, at 6:00, there is to be a fellowship supper, with Miss Beatrice Beckett of Danielson as song leader, and Miss Eva Jane Covell as toastmistress. A period of music, by Moosup girls, will be presented at 7 o'clock, and a dramatization, Ruth, by Danielson Tri-Y girls will follow. The conference will close with a Friendship Candle-lighting service, in which Miss Katherine Smith and Miss Helen Keech of Danielson will have prominent parts.

Supt. W. E. Parker of the schools in Killingly and Danielson is planning here next week Tuesday afternoon, testing the eyes of pre-school children.

Mrs. B. Franklin Royer, staff associate of the National society, will have charge of the demonstration, which is to be held in the high school building. School teachers, nurses and parents who are interested in this work are invited to be in attendance. During the Week for the Blind, which is to be held at the town hall next week, Rev. Edward P. Ayer of Branford and with relatives here, will be here to assist with the work. Rev. Mr. Ayer has been chaplain of the state senate. Rev. Mr. Ayer will be accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Lucy Gatchell. As children, Rev. Mr. Ayer and his sister lived in this section, where their father was a Congregational minister. Rev. Mr. Ayer will have a brief part in the program at the mass meeting at the high school next Sunday afternoon at 4:30.

Within a year, it was forecast today, there will be a new and beautiful route from Norwich to the Massachusetts-Connecticut line at North Woodstock for motorists who desire an optional route from that afforded by the Mohegan trail. The new route will be completed before another cold weather season sets in, it is hoped, and the assurance is that the greater part of it will be, at any rate. Construction work started last fall from Canterbury Green southward to the Lisbon town line. Work will begin in the near future on the link between Brooklyn Center and Pomfret Center. The road is already complete between Brooklyn Center and Canterbury Green, a distance of about six miles. It is also complete between Pomfret Center and the Mass.-Conn. line on the northern border of the town of Woodstock. The town of Canterbury is making an original investment of $50,000 in this state-aid highway, but much of this sum will eventually revert from the state to Canterbury. Coming out of Norwich, those who would use this route will come north to Taftville, over the upper bridge, through Newent to the point where the new highway makes in from the north to join up with the present route going over to Jewett City. Advantages of travel over the new route will include, at least for a time, freedom from dealing with so much traffic, a shorter distance to points in central Windham county and to Southbridge, Springfield and other cities in adjoining sections of Massachusetts and particularly beautiful country to ride through, and country with which the average motorist is not familiar.

James Carrigan, 23, claiming New York city as his home, was presented before Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court this afternoon to answer to a charge of vending without a license. Carrigan, who first claimed that his name was Burke, was picked up here last night by a state office while he was engaged in an attempt to sell finger rings, supposed to be gold. Later he told state officers that he purchased the rings for 50 cents each and was selling them at whatever profit above that price was offered to him. A companion who was with him at the time of the arrest made off in an automobile.

Mrs. Leonard James, Mrs. Vera Beaman, Mrs. Emily Milone and Mrs. Eva Shoales, members of Mary A. Livermore Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war reported on their return here a most enjoyable experience in attending the sessions of the state convention of the Daughters at Norwich this week.

We have pansies in full bloom. Time to set out. A. Bretschneider.—Adv.

May day, rainy day, keeping up the record of sopping wet April, and just everyone's talking about it, to no particular good, it seems.

The great percentage of overdue borough taxes have been collected, some of the money through the use of alias warrants, it was disclosed today.

Chicken pie dinner Thurs., May 2, 11:30 a. m. at Cong. church.—Adv.

William A. Beauvais of Bellows Falls, Vt., formerly a resident of Danielson is visiting with friends here for a few days.

At David park, a beauty spot of the borough, tulips are in bloom and much admired by those observing the pretty flowers.

It develops that numbers of residents in rural areas about Danielson are paying no attention whatsoever to the daylight saving schedules of commercial communities nearby, but are conducting all of their activities on standard time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winkelman, who left here in early December, motored to Florida and spent a long time in California, have returned to Danielson after a delightful experience and have reopened their home on Spring street.

The "farthest from home" automobile seen here this season carried a New Mexico registration. In addition distant-state cars noted here today had registrations of Wisconsin in one instance and West Virginia in another.

Many dog owners of Killingly are in line to pay an extra dollar for registering their dogs for the coming year. Today was the last day for attending to the matter without being penalized, and just all of the owners did not get in to see Town Clerk Frank T. Preston.

Passenger planes of the Colonial Airways, operating between Boston and New York, have not been seen over Danielson for several days, a matter of interest and speculation to many residents of the borough, for the line is operating regularly.

Adelard Beauregard of Wauregan exhibited at A. E. Meech's here today some real trout. Two of the string shown weighed a pound and a half each, while another weighed a pound. Fishermen who were out this morning agreed the trout were biting the best of any day since the season opened.

Mrs. W. Irving Bullard has presented beautiful curtains for the windows of the vestry of the Westfield Congregational church.

Sharp rings of the doorbell, chases and the inevitable catches, inaugurated the May basket season in Danielson tonight, with the resultant parties.

What Happens When We Pray? will be the subject of Rev. Harding W. Gaylord's sermon at the Westfield Congregational church next Sunday.

Old Sores and Ulcers Can Be Healed!

"This sincere letter," says Peterson "gave me another happy day and as nearly every mail brings praise for Peterson's Ointment, is it any wonder that I keep cheerful all the time?"

"Dear Sirs: I had a bad leg for 20 years, tried everything but no benefit. I tried Peterson's Ointment and five 35 cent boxes healed my leg. I can never praise it enough. My leg was so painful at first that I had to put fresh ointment on every two hours, night and day. It stopped the pain at once. Mrs. Mark Richards, Lake Linden, Mich."

Besides running and old sores and ulcers, Peterson's Ointment is just as good for piles, eczema, itching skin, sore feet, prickly heat, sunburn, chafing, cuts, burns, bruises, scalds and scores of other ailments as any druggist anywhere will tell you. A generous box 35 cents

MANY VIEW AIRPLANE CRASH AT DUDLEY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 1—When a report reached this city last evening that an airmail plane in the service of the Colonial Airways carrying mail between Boston and Hartford had crashed at the Dudley airport, severely injuring the pilot and port manager, several Putnam residents left for the airport where they viewed the wreckage of the plane which had caught its undercarriage in a stone wall when taking off. The plane dipped as the impact buried it over the wall, and dove into the ground on the opposite side of the stone obstacle, transforming itself into a mass of crumpled steel.

The pilot, whose name was not obtained, and the port manager fought their way through the twisted mass and were unhurt as the result of the crash. The plane left East Boston airport early in the evening, arriving at Dudley at about 7.15 depositing a passenger. The plane was made ready for the takeoff and started off briskly down the runway, being a few feet in the air when the landing wheels came in contact with the wall, causing the accident.

"Loyalty Day and Its Meaning," was the subject of an address given at the luncheon and meeting of the Putnam Rotary club held today at the Putnam Inn, by County "Y" Secretary L. Edwin Hill of Danielson, formerly of this city. In his talk Mr. Hill outlined the day as a part of the celebration of Boys' week as sponsored by the Putnam Rotary club. He touched upon the extensive plans now being formulated by the Rotary club in connection with the observance of the day. All boys and girls of school age in the city are to cooperate in the parade which is also a part of the day of Loyalty.

President James F. English of the Rotary club delivered a report of the state convention held in Hartford last week, which he attended as a representative of the local organization. Rev. Mr. English's account of the happenings at the state Rotary gathering contained an interesting and detailed outline of the progress of Rotary in Connecticut. During the executive session of the club, the Rotary minstrel to be held on May 13-14 in Putnam and Danielson respectively, and sponsored by the Danielson and Putnam clubs was widely discussed. President English circulated a number of tickets among the club members.

Visitors at today's meeting were William Grosvenor of Providence, head of the Grosvenordale mills of North Grosvenordale; Henry Dubuc of Danielson; Fred Dart of Hartford and L. Edwin Hill of Danielson.

Arthur E. Smith, cashier of the Citizens National bank of this city, and delegate to the international Rotary convention to be held at Dallas, Texas on May 27, will leave for the Lone Star state on or about May 20. Mr. Smith will represent the Putnam Rotary club at the convention

The Caney Creek Crusaders of Community Center, Kentucky, are to be in Putnam on May 13, to address the boys and girls of the grammar schools of the city, Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin, said this afternoon, that the Crusaders are a group of boys from the mountains of Kentucky who have been taken from the Kentucky mountain homes and educated. This work was part of the movement started to send the light of knowledge to these half civilized mountaineers. To impress upon the people living outside of these mountain districts where the trails of civilization are yet to be blazed, the work that has been accomplished, the Community Center educational department has amassed a group of these boys commonly called by the Kentuckians "poor whites" and sending them throughout the nation on a lecturing tour.

Superintendent Farrin stated this afternoon that the Crusaders have appeared on other school speaking platforms in Windham county before but have not visited Putnam as yet.

A report reached here early this morning that Julius Carlson of 137 Walnut street, had been the driver of the car which struck and instantly killed Axel F. Backlin of Philadelphia in North Oxford on the Worcester road this morning. Communication with Deputy Sheriff Arthur Keefe of Oxford revealed that while Carlson was an eye witness of the killing he was in no way involved. The victim, Mr. Backlin was for a number of years chief of engineers of the American Steel and Wire company of Worcester and was returning to his home from a visit to Worcester when suddenly the motor of his car began to spurt steam, caused by the lack of sufficient water in the radiator. Mr Backlin drove his car to the side of the road near Oxford Heights pond. He approached Mr. Carlson who likewise was filling his empty radiator of his truck and asked if he might borrow the pail he was using. Mr. Carlson gladly obliged the former wire expert and it was when he was returning from the pond with the water that a car being operated by George F. Boyd of Oxford came along and struck Backlin, hurling him above the car. When the driver and Mr. Carlson reached the body, Backlin had expired.

Sheriff Keefe of Oxford investigated the accident. Boyd informed him that Backlin stepped directly into the path of his auto without observing the condition of the highway, and that the accident was unavoidable. Sheriff Keefe's findings compared with the statement of the driver of the car and he immediately released Boyd. Carlson was in no way drawn into the accident investigation by the police authorities as was reported in this city this morning.

Child Health day as endorsed by President Herbert Hoover was fittingly observed in this city today with appropriate exercises in all the schools in the city. At noon a May day pole dance, held in connection with the day was staged on the Putnam high school campus, with over 25 girls taking part in the revival of the old time custom. The day was promoted by the school health department with Miss Viola Snyder, school nurse chairman of the committee. In the afternoon, two tableaux being presented by the kindergarten children of the Israel Putnam school and the first grade pupils of the Smith street school. These exercises were held in the large show windows of the Byrne company on Main street and were viewed by a large crowd of interested spectators. At seven o'clock tonight the first aid corps of St. Mary's Boy Scout troop presented a first aid demonstration in the store windows, in connection with Child Health day.

Manager James F. Mahorey, cooperating with the committee in charge of the observance of the day screened a reel of health pictures approved by the state department of health at the afternoon and evening motion picture programmes at the Bradley theatre.

Because of showers at noon time much of the color expected to be present in the Maypole dance at the high school was absent. Miss Snyder said this afternoon that the girls would endeavor to carry out their original plans by presenting the dance again on May 13, as part of the Loyalty day parade exercises to be sponsored by the Putnam Rotary club.

Stetson K. Ryan, secretary of the state board of education of the blind stated today that the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness of New York City is cooperating with the Connecticut state board in its plans for the Week of the Blind to be held in this city on May 6 to 11. Mrs. Jessie Royer, staff associate of the national society, will be in Putnam Wednesday, May 8, to hold a demonstration at 4 p. m. These arrangements are being made in cooperation with Supt. of Schools Leon M. Farrin. The meeting will be open to school teachers, nurses, club women and parents interested. The blind chaplain of the state senate, Rev. Edward P. Ayer of Branford and his sister, Mrs. Lucy Gatchell will be in Putnam during the week for the blind, to assist with phases of the work.

Capt. of Police William J. Jarvis of this city said this afternoon that he is to communicate with the police of Manchester, Conn., in connection with the apprehension of clothing store bandits arrested in that city Monday following a broad daylight store holdup there. The local police captain's efforts will be devoted to the linking of the bandits in custody there with a clothing store break in the Dunne Ladies' shop, committed here last April. Capt. Jarvis doubted the men being held there were responsible for the Putnam offense, but nevertheless will investigate the nature of belongings found by the Manchester police in their possession.

Police in this city have on hand a number of complaints from anonymous persons asking police cooperation in various matters, Capt. Jarvis stated this afternoon that in the future complainants wishing police action must make themselves known in order to have the attention of the police in clearing up reported situations.

Rev. Joseph D. Casey, assistant pastor at St. Mary's church entered a Hartford hospital today for an operation.

JEWETT CITY

BISHOP NILAN TO BLESS NEW ST. MARY'S SCHOOL SUNDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, May 1—Arrangements are nearing completion for the impressive ceremonial Sunday in connection with the formal dedication of the new St. Mary's school. Preceding the exercises and ceremonies within the building, which is now completely equipped and furnished, there will be a public procession. The right of the line will rest at the junction of Main street and Railroad avenue, with formation at 2:30, D. S. T. Those who will take part in the parade as guests will include the town and borough officials, the board of education, heads of the local manufacturing industries, officers of the local banks, the architects and contractors of the school, and representatives of the home and Norwich newspapers.

The line of march will probably be up Main street to the church and school. The pastor, Rev. Father John J. McCabe, has completed arrangements for the parade music to include the Ashland Boys' band of Jewett City and the Catholic Boy Scouts' band of Willimantic. It is also arranged that the several organizations connected with the church, and the pupils of the school, shall be assigned a division in the line. At the school, Bishop Nilan will dedicate the new building. The leading addresses will be given by three Connecticut priests, all pulpit orators, whose messages will be heard with interest and profit. The first, in English, will be delivered by Rev. Matthew Brady, of St. Thomas' seminary in Hartford. Rev. Arthur Routher, of a French parish in Bridgeport, will talk to the French-speaking members of the audience and Rev. Father Stanislaus A. Iciek, of St. Joseph's big parish in Norwich, will speak in Polish.

The chief marshals of the day will be M. E. Shea, Louis Beaulieu and Martin Meszaszck. The charge of the women's division is assigned to Mrs. Edward Rousseau, Mrs. M. E. Shea and Mrs. Andrew Burda. For the men's divisions, the selections are William McGovern, George Sylvester and Joseph Jaskiewicz, with the children in charge of Thomas F. Barnett, Louis Cyr, James Morey and Edward Dudkowski. The automobile division will be under the supervision of Joseph Cadieux. Following the parade, Bishop Nilan will officiate at the school exercises at 3:30, D. S. T. The musical program will be under the direction of James Olsen and Sister M. Cecilia. Special seats on the platform will be assigned the guests.

Borough taxes due. Pay within 30 days and avoid interest charges. U. E. Jodoin, collector.—adv.

Miss Helena Griffin has taken a position for a short time at the Gaylaird Children's preventorium sanitarium in Wallingford, Conn.

Agnes Bouchard has been discharged from Dr. Lena's hospital after an operation for appendicitis.

PICKEREL ENTHUSIASTS SPEND STRENUOUS DAY

Tadpole pond was lined with May day pickerel fishermen. A stiff southeast wind was not conducive to good sport and not many were taken. One man caught a fine bass but had to put him back, Dr. Donahue, in a recent speech, told of the Mt. Misery wheeled chairs especially designed for trout fishermen. One chap at Tadpole had a camp chair, while others were content to sit on the railroad track that runs through the pond. Two heavyweights were in the limelight. First the boat they hired was locked to a good-sized maple. The owner told them they would find the boat unlocked. One of the men, the lighter of the two, walked a half mile, secured an axe and did the cherry tree act. Then, after embarking, and reaching the middle of the pond, the boat sprung a forward bulkhead. The pair made the railroad track with everything awash. One chap disembarked and walked home—two miles. Later, during the noon time shower, he hired an automobile and drove to the pond after his companion, whom he was finally able to rescue from a (threatened) watery grave.

Mrs. Albert Brown, Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Eugene Partlow, Mrs. Mary Rix and Mrs. Nettie Lewis were visitors at Mrs. Margaret Bitgood's in Voluntown Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Sarle, of Holyoke, has been spending a few days with Mrs. Ella Geer.

Farewell Party

Several friends of Gerald Wolf gave him a farewell party at the home of Miss Doris Burr last week, as he was leaving for a new position in Webster, Mass. Bridge was played, and refreshments served. He was presented a very handsome traveling bag as a parting gift.

PARTY FOR HERBERT WEBSTER ON EIGHTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Grace Webster gave a birthday party Wednesday for her son, Herbert, Jr., who is eight. A fine birthday cake adorned the table, together with golden daffodils and napkins, and crepe paper decorations, all in yellow. The little lad received many presents from his guests. Miss Margery Webster and Miss Grace Jeffers served the refreshments. Among the many games, the donkey's tail pinning contest found general favor. Those who attended were: Estelle Ellis, Agnes Broadfoot, Corinne Zegeer, Phillis Clement, Bernice McNicol, Ralph and David Goodenough, Helen and George Bromley, Raymond Cathcart, George LePage, Helen Frown, Oscar and Mabel LeFavre, Eunice Webster.

PLAINFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Royle and daughters, Arline and Sally, spent the week-end at Groton Long Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Reardon, of New Bedford, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Irving Smith. Mr. Reardon has started to work in the Lawton mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Linnell, of Moosup, left recently for a farm about two miles from Daytona, Fla. Mr. Linnell is engaged as manager for the farm, which is mainly for the growing of figs. It contains 250 fig trees and last year the owner harvested 40 bushels from one tree, which she sold at $3 a bushel at the canning factory not far away.

Frank Lourovich has returned to his home in Moosup, after spending five weeks in a hospital in New York, where he underwent a serious operation.

William P. Barstow was a caller in Norwich Tuesday.

The marriage of Miss Irene Bellavance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bellavance, and Lewis Jette, of Moosup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmidos Jette, will take place May 6.

SOUTH KILLINGLY

Mrs. George Fiater and daughter Betty visited Addie Holland of Putnam Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hall and Mrs. Patrick Coffey were in Central Village Friday to call on Mrs. William Dean, who remains ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. H. Cross.

Fred Gomo has been working for Luther Cole the past two weeks. He returned to his old job with A. E. Hall Monday.

William Davis remains seriously ill at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wood had as guests on an automobile trip Sunday Mrs. Patrick Coffey and daughter Beatrice.

Mrs. Herman Barlow is a maternity patient at Day Kimball hospital. Mrs. Barlow and little son are doing well.

Henry Leonard and family of Valley Falls spent Sunday at Spaulding cottage.

William Potter, Ada and Myra Spaulding of Auburn, R. I., spent Sunday with local friends.

Ernest Barlow attended a birthday party Saturday afternoon given by Mrs. Donald Stone on the fourth birthday of her daughter Arline. The little people enjoyed games and refreshments of cake and ice cream.

A pig which strayed from the Groves farm ten days ago has been found and returned to the owner, Mrs. Nathan Cook.

Dora Lefleur of Danielson was a visitor Friday with local friends. Miss Lefleur was a former resident of this place.

Friends of George C. Spooner of North Sterling regret to learn of his death at Day Kimball hospital Saturday. Mr. Spooner has resided in this vicinity for many years.

Byron Place, Harvey Fortune, Francis Coffey and Raymond Barlow were members of a party of 14 who enjoyed a day of deep sea fishing at Point Judith Sunday.

"Bond Bread is child's energy food"

CHARLES CHARRON is a member of the firm of Charron Brothers, Inc., Baltic, Conn. For seven years this progressive grocery has been supplying this community with the finest quality foods. Prompt and courteous delivery is assured when you phone 2809-5.

Recently I've seen in the papers, letters written by mothers telling how Bond Bread had benefited their children's health.

The sincerity of these letters impressed me. They came from rich and poor alike. They told how fond the children were of Bond Bread. Many mothers said that Bond's goodness and flavor had solved for them the problem of getting their children to eat energy-giving foods.

I had been through that with my own children, and was very much impressed by what these mothers had written about Bond. Since then my own children have been among my best Bond Bread customers.

My children like Bond Bread and certainly it is a good food for them. It is made of the very best flour, milk, yeast, sugar, salt and shortening that can be bought. It is thoroughly baked, with a well-browned crust. Every slice is full of goodness.

Mothers convinced me of Bond Bread's goodness. I try to do a good turn by spreading the word to more mothers.

THE NEW COUNTY HOME.

Even though the county commissioners have taken no action in regard to a location for the new county home, except that it will not be on the site of the present building, there appears to be a feeling that the action of the county representatives in caucus reflects an effort to remove the county home from Norwich where it has been located for so many years.

We sincerely hope this isn't so. So far as known there has been no open agitation to that effect. A new county home has been urged from time to time. There are reasons for better and safer accommodations for the wards of the county and if the present property isn't sufficient and enough additional land cannot be acquired adjoining it there are plenty of available sites in Norwich where the new building can be erected.

Such an institution should have the benefit of sewage facilities, a water supply and be so located that it will be easy of access to the many who are interested therein. Furthermore it should be centrally located within the county. Such requirements can be fulfilled within the town of Norwich and there will be no upsetting of the central location.

This is an institution in which Norwich has been long and deeply interested for a great many years and it seems a bit surprising that the representatives from Norwich should not have placed before the caucus the importance of keeping it within this town. That such was not done indicates that the thought was not raised in the caucus of removing it from Norwich even though there is a change in site.

It is because of the possibility of placing the county home elsewhere and at some point that will not be central in the county that much uncertainty has been created by the caucus action. It has stirred those interested in the home to get busy in its behalf and protest against a removal of an institution to which Norwich has made and will continue to make heavy contributions, not only in the way of maintenance but in the cost of constructing the new building. It is quite evident that the time to let this sentiment be known is before it is found out that the decision has been made to locate it elsewhere

EDISON'S SUCCESSOR.

By many people the question has undoubtedly been asked, mentally if not vocally, Who will carry on the work of Edison?

Perhaps no one will. For another to step into the shoes of such a genius is not an easy task. Edison is in a class by himself and his contributions have been many and wonderful, not because of his education but because of his inborn ability and natural talent. Can another of the same type and the same training be obtained?

Opinions will differ, but the attempt is to be made to give some boy in this country the opportunity to train to be his successor. It is to be done by asking that a class be made up of one boy from each state and the District of Columbus, to be appointed by the governors and the district commissioners, and that class be subjected to tests by Mr. Edison to determine through his own method the one most available.

This idea is bound to be followed very closely throughout the country as it is put into operation. It is a chance that will be eagerly and hotly contested for by boys throughout the country. The distinction of getting into the class will be worth obtaining but to be selected as having the requirements in the opinion of Mr. Edison to be his successor will be a highly coveted and enviable honor.

Such an opportunity places a goal before Young America that will be well worth striving for and it is not improbable that if careful state tests are made that Mr. Edison will experience difficulty in making his decision.

Even though it means a combing of the country there is no assurance that it will produce another Edison although it may mean opening the way for developing real ability whether it be natural or acquired.

THE MEXICAN WAR.

If we can believe the reports which come from Mexico the war in that country is at an end. Since it began there has been looting, devastation of property and bloodshed, bridges have been destroyed and there have been the usual results which must be expected where a revolution is in progress. For the time being the republic has been devoting its attention to seeing such conditions with the result that other matters have had to be sidetracked. Instead of a peaceful condition there has been trouble, so that it is to be hoped that the telegram sent by General Calles at the head of the federal forces to President Portes Gil that the revolution is over is correct.

Mexico is a country which is more or less used to revolutions, but it is unfortunate that it has to be torn by the effects of them so often. While it took but a short time to put down the rebellion in some localities the rebels were able to continue a forlorn fight or strategic retreat through Sonora to the border towns, there to be deserted by their leader and forced to surrender.

Getting back even to the conditions which prevailed before the war will require some little time. The financial effects of even such a short rebellion is not small. The havoc that has been wrought will be overcome less quickly, but it was a situation where it was necessary for the government to sink or swim. It was a case of putting down the rebels or submitting to their orders.

The revolution was aimed at the government headed by Portes Gil and it was necessary for him to demonstrate that his government was a stable one and able to defend itself against such an organized attack. That it has been doing with increasing success, although there was a period when the fire of revolution was spreading when the outlook had its elements of uncertainty. But for the manifestation of a strong control the government might not be what it is today. The friendly attitude of this government and the services of General Calles in the field have been most valuable in bringing the rebellion to an end at this time.

WALKING.

Perhaps spring, with the usual accompaniment of that tired feeling, isn't exactly the season for encouraging individuals to give up the comfort of their automobiles or the accommodations of the trolley and put in a certain part of the day going to and from work on the hoof, but we have no doubt that doctors would tell many of us that it would be the best thing we could do.

When it comes to exercise there isn't any better or more easily taken than walking. A certain number of miles every day is a grand good thing and it isn't long before the value of it can be demonstrated. The Providence Journal refers to a scattered line of pedestrians making their way townward each morning between 8 and 9 o'clock "made up of business men, college professors, teachers and men of other professions who only a few years ago were driving or being driven to their offices."

This is the time of the year when there should be an interest in the out of door life, the things growing, the fresh air, the new life. It is a time when a good brisk walk in the morning puts one in condition for the day's activities and it provides that muscular exercise which is important in keeping the physical condition trim.

It isn't believed a desirable thing that there has been such a yielding to the temptations of easy transportation. A few years ago people never thought anything of walking a mile or two to work, back home to dinner and again home at night, but there has been a growing disposition in late years to ride even though it is only to the next block. School children have fallen into the habit, but it is inevitable that the time should come that those who thought they were contributing to their comfort and well being by such dependence upon vehicles should find out otherwise and appreciate the need of returning to their daily walks for exercise. They have their tonic value quite as much as the gymnasium or the golf course and instead of being a hardship to walk it is a benefit in disguise. Walking is invigorating and healthful and it would be much better if there were more of it done.

REDUCTION OR LIMITATION.

Some question seems to have arisen as to whether there should be a reduction or a limitation of armament If it were a case of expressing a preference there is no doubt as to what should be done, but if it is a case of getting something instead of nothing it would seem advisable to accept a limitation.

Getting the countries of Europe to change from age-old practices and to abandon the habit of suspecting their near neighbors is not the easiest task that might be placed before a disarmament conference. It is a time when progress is apt to be slow and when it cannot be expected that nations which have been involved in war for centuries are going to plunge headlong into the slaughter of their watchdogs.

If a reduction in armament can be obtained by all means let it proceed. If it is not possible to get an agreement upon such action it is to be remembered that limitation of armament is a step in that direction. It means a stop to the competition in naval construction, the value of which most nations admit, and it means that a step will be taken which will turn increased thought toward the subject of actually decreasing the protective measures.

Probably no country has done as much in the way of decreasing armament than the United States. We set a magnificent example at the Washington conference and our land forces were never large in the time of peace. Our example is excellent but European conditions are different from those on this side of the ocean and European countries are bound to move cautiously. Thus there are reasons to strive for some progress even though it manifests itself in no other way than through limitation.

JUST PLAIN STEW

"Bessie Smith's Lunchroom," read Walter Okes. "Old-fashioned beef stew a specialty."

"Shucks!" he muttered; "there ain't no such animal. But it can't be worse than some of the others. Hmph!" he kept on; "cottage effect. Blue and white tablecloths. And clean! Cozy, too."

"Nice day, isn't it!" The greeting came from a buxom woman wearing an old-fashioned apron and smiling the old-fashioned smile that comes from a kind heart backed by a good digestion.

"What would you like?" smiled the woman.

"Beef stew," ordered Mr. Okes. "Old-fashioned" he emphasized.

"Oh, yes, a real beef stew," responded the woman. "It's extra good today—one of the best I ever made."

"I really believe she's proud of her beef stew," thought Mr. Okes. "And that she smiles because she enjoys life and wants others to do the very same."

"There," said Bessie Smith, placing before her customer a dish which looked like a compromise between a platter and a mixing bowl; "try that!"

"I can tell it's good now," answered Mr. Okes. "My nose knows. Um!" he exclaimed as he tasted it. "I've gone gray looking for a stew like this."

"Just a touch of silver at the temples," poohpoohed Bessie Smith. "Without it I always think a man looks only half-cooked."

"This," said Mr. Okes, tapping the dish; "certainly doesn't taste half-cooked."

"I'm glad it tastes right," smiled Bessie Smith. "I always think a man who doesn't like to polish off a big bowl of beef stew must be sick or have something wrong in his make-up."

"It's possible," agreed Mr. Okes, smiling, too. "You never hear of criminals forgetting cigarettes and begging the jailer to bring them an old-fashioned beef stew. Boys brought up on that can't go wrong; it's solid enough to act as ballast, and too digestible to depress."

"Well," said Bessie Smith, taking up the crockery, "come in again some time."

"Tomorrow," said Mr. Okes.

The next day Bessie Smith didn't even go through the formality of asking Mr. Okes for his order. Mutual smiles met in midair and in a moment she set the fragrant dish before her customer.

"I do like," said Bessie Smith, " to see a man enjoying an old-fashioned beef stew."

"And I," said Mr. Okes, "think the woman who can cook one is very little, if, any, lower than the angels." At which the old-fashioned smile burst into even greater effulgence.

Daily for a week was this conversation, with but slight variation, repeated. Daily for a week mutual smiles gilded the faces of cook and customer. And then, "I won't be in tomorrow," said Mr. Okes.

"Going away, maybe?"

"No," said Mr. Okes, "but my wife's coming back from California, and I'll be getting my old-fashioned beef stews at home. 'Twas eating my wife's cooking," he explained, "made me an expert."

"I'll miss you," said Bessie Smith simply, "but my husband," she proudly added, "knows more about beef stews than any man in America. 'Twas cooking for him learned me the knack of them, and glory be, the oil company's taking him off field work and he'll be back here for good Saturday.'

"That's lucky," said Mr. Okes heartily.

"I'm thinking we're both lucky," said Bessie Smith. "You appreciate old-fashioned beef stews and you got someone to make them; I like cooking them, and I got someone to appreciate them."

And two understanding smiles illumined the lunchroom.—Chicago News.

Discharging Ears a Menace to Life and Happiness—"Bugs" Scout for Feeding Grounds

By V. K. Hart, M. D., Charlotte, N.C.

In the wake of winter there are many discharging ears, both in children and adults. They complicate any upper respiratory infection because of the intimate connection by the eustachian tube, of the ear with the throat. Nature brings about a cure in many cases. Other ears continue to discharge, sometimes despite intelligent care. Every effort should be made by one so afflicted to obtain a dry ear.

If an ear discharges longer than two or three months, it may easily become an annoying member for life. In time, this discharge takes on a foul odor obnoxious to those nearby. This odor indicates bone destruction. With this bone destruction comes a very serious impairment of hearing that is progressive and permanent. Unless cured, it may end in almost complete deafness in the affected ear.

Any infection of the middle ear, that region behind the drum membrane, is a constant menace to surrounding territory. The "bugs" scout for new feeding grounds. The mastoid may become acutely involved. Rupture may occur into the brain cavity, with formation of a brain abscess or a meningitis. A very large percentage of the former are of ear origin. The latter is usually fatal. Even the inner ear, which houses the "telephone wires," or nerves of hearing and balance, may be attacked. Then comes deafness and dizziness, or both.

That the above facts are not those of fancy is shown by the attitude of insurance companies towards a "chronically discharging middle ear." Insurance rates are greatly raised to the possessor of the same, or insurance is denied altogether.

Every effort should be made, therefore, to stop a discharging ear. The best aid is a conscientious and skilled specialist. Lack of money is no excuse for neglect of self or family. No real doctor—none with the ideals of the "Great Physician" within his heart—will deny care because of lack of funds.

A few words as to prevention. Any nose or throat infection—be it a "plain cold"—or so-called La Grippe or the severest of all, influenza—is a menace to the ear. Therefore avoid blowing the nose hard during these acute attacks. Too severe blowing may carry infected secretions into the middle ear. Avoid nasal irritations and douches. If fluids are forced into the middle ear, they may carry infected material. During the acute stage, keep the nose open with a simple oil spray. Several times a day use a ten or fifteen per cent argyrol in each nostril, and allow it to run back into the throat.

The infection is usually "planted" in the nose and throat by one of three things: 1. Chilling. 2. Fatigue. 3. Improper nourishment and lack of outdoor exercise. Organisms are always present in the upper respiratory tract. All they need is a fertile field prepared by the foregoing.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 1 — When Madame Rosika Schwimmer, Hungarian pacifist, decided to seek American citizenship and got into a tangle with the government that has taken the question of her eligibility before the supreme court for solution, it was quite natural that she should turn to a woman lawyer as counsel.

Her case was briefed and orally argued by Olive H. Rabe of Chicago. And no layman who reads that brief can doubt that it presents very ticklish aspects for the highest tribunal to consider.

There isn't any doubt about Madame Schwimmer's pacifism. She has a notable record here and abroad, covering many years as a writer and worker.

Her part in organization of the Ford peace ship pilgrimage in 1915 to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas" is well remembered in Washington.

But the specific reason for denial of citizenship by the federal district court in Chicago was that she had declared in her application that she would not bear arms in defense of any government or cause.

"Conundrums"

Both the district court, and now the executive branch of government as represented by Attorney General Mitchell, took the view that Madame Schwimmer, in the circumstances, could not take her oath of allegiance without a mental reservation. They contended that willingness to bear arms in defense of the constitution and government was one of the principles of that constitution to which an applicant for naturalization must be "attached" before admission to the privileges of citizenship could be granted under existing statutes.

The appellate court held that "mere views" were not sufficient ground for denying naturalization and that questioning Madame Schwimmer as to her willingness to bear arms was just talking in "conundrums" in view of her sex.

So, on government motion, it is now up to the supreme court to say what that word defend in the oath of allegiance means and if an applicant for naturalization describing herself as "an uncompromising pacifist for whom even Jane Addams is not enough of a pacifist," is eligible to take it.

Fine Points

Lawyer Rabe raises interesting points about that in her brief. She holds that if "defend" necessarily means by force of arms, Quakers and others of "religious conviction" against bearing arms could not even be granted passports.

Also, Lawyer Rabe touches on the presidential oath of office which includes the "defend" language. Should "defend" be held to mean by force of arms, the brief said, there was no sound reason why the same construction should not apply to the president's oath "so as to bar from the presidency a member of any religious sect whose principles forbid its members to bear arms."

Which, quite obviously, is a neat reference to the fact that President Hoover, who also is constitutional commander-in-chief of the army and navy, is a Quaker.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Seeing Things

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A careless look, a wandering glance,
And lo! a secret found by chance.
—Beauty the Wood Duck.

Peter Rabbit sat under a little hemlock tree back a short distance from the shore of the pond of Paddy the Beaver. He had given up looking for the nest of Beauty the Wood Duck. As he sat there under the little hemlock tree there was nothing in particular on his mind. He had a full stomach and he was just sitting there having daydreams. Now cut just beyond him was a dead tree. It was a tree that long before had been killed by lightning. It was quite tall and, of course, it was bare. Even the bark had peeled from it. Half way up this tree, on the side facing Peter, was a hole.

"I can remember when Bobby Coon used to live in that tree," said Peter to himself. "I wonder if anybody has lived in it since. I guess not. I have never seen anyone around it. My goodness! What was that?"

Peter abruptly sat up very straight with his ears pointing straight up like two exclamation marks and his eyes very round and wide. With all his might he stared at that hole half way up that dead tree. "I saw something move in there," said he under his breath. "I know I did. It must be someone is living there right now. Probably it is one of the owl family. Still, it may be one of Bobby Coon's children. Or perhaps it is one of the possum family. I shall sit right here until I find out."

So Peter once more made himself comfortable and kept his eye fixed on

"I saw something move in there," said he under his breath that hole in the dead tree. Two or three times he thought he saw something moving back in the hollow, but it was so dark in there that he couldn't be quite sure. Peter was patient. Peter can be very, very patient when he wants to be. At last his patience was rewarded. A head was suddenly thrust out of that hole and just as quickly drawn back.

Peter gasped. Yes, sir, he gasped. Then he rubbed his eyes. "Did I, or didn't I?" he muttered. "I certainly did, but I couldn't have. It must have been my imagination. Such a thing couldn't happen. There it is again. I certainly am seeing things."

It was true that the thing had happened again. A head had been poked out of that hole in the tree and just as quickly withdrawn. Peter was certain that that head was the head of a duck, but who ever heard of ducks in holes in trees high up from the ground! Certainly he had never heard of such a thing and that was why he couldn't make himself believe his own eyes.

"That head looked just like the head of Mrs. Wood Duck," thought Peter. "But of course it wasn't. I wish I could climb like Happy Jack Squirrel. I would climb right up that tree and find out who was living in that hole. I must have been thinking so much about those Wood Ducks that when I saw someone else my imagination made me see a Wood Duck. My, I wish I could find out just who is in there!"

But, though Peter watched for a long, long time, he saw nothing further and finally left to go back to the pond of Paddy the Beaver as puzzled as he had ever been in all his life.

Well Equipped

The milk for the children's lunch at school was frozen one zero day. Six-year-old Donald started to blow on the bottles until restrained by his teacher.

"Oh, let me blow on 'em," he urged. "I can thaw them all out. I got lots of hot air."

Dumb-bells

Little Mary went with her mother to her older sister's school exhibition of physical training which took the form of Indian club drill, dumb-bell exercises, and so on. Mary watched with delighted interest and when the second group came on she whispered eagerly to her mother:

"What are those?"

"Dumb-bells," laconically answered her mother, her attention on the performance.

"Yes, I know," returned the little girl, "but I mean, what are those things in their hands?"

Relief for Sore, Aching Feet

New York City — "In my practice of Chiropody, I have applied Resinol Ointment with beneficial results after the extraction of irritated and inflamed corns. Particularly when a corn is cut too close, a small application of Resinol is soothing and healing. After the extraction of soft corns, it has no equal. For cracked skin or for any kind of skin irritation on the feet, I find it reliable and safe.

Now presenting six ALL-STEEL MODELS
INTRODUCING STILL HIGHER STANDARDS OF EFFICIENCY

An outstanding achievement . . . the first all-steel refrigerators. New low prices. The greatest values ever offered by General Electric.

Now you can buy a refrigerator with a cabinet built like a safe. One with doors that will always fit perfectly. One which will operate on the least amount of current. One which shuts out the heat.

The General Electric, too, was the first to provide an easily accessible temperature control which speeds up the freezing of ice cubes when the user desires.

Because of mass production economies, prices now start at only $215 at the factory. There are six sizes. See them at our display rooms—examine them thoroughly—let us explain our plan of conveniently spaced time payments.

POETRY

Twenty Years Ago

I've wandered to the village, Tom; I've sat beneath the tree,
Upon the school house play-ground which sheltered you and me;
But none were left to greet me, Tom, and few were left to know,
That played with us upon the green some twenty years ago.

The grass is just as green, Tom; barefooted boys at play
Were sporting just as we did then, with spirits just as gay,
But the "master" sleeps upon the hill which, coated o'er with snow,
Afforded us a sliding place, just twenty years ago.

The old schoolhouse is altered now; the benches are replaced
By new ones, very like the same on penknives had defaced;
But the same old bricks are in the wall the bell swings to and fro,
Its music just the same, dear Tom, 'twas twenty years ago.

The boys were playing some old game beneath that same old tree,
I have forgot the name just now,—you've played the game with me
In that same spot; 'twas played with knives, by throwing so-and-so;
The leader had a task to do there, twenty years ago.

The river's running just as still; the willows on its side
Are larger than they were, Tom; the stream appears less wide;
But the grape-vine swing is ruined now, where once we played the Beau,
And swung our sweethearts—"pretty girls"—Just twenty years ago.

The spring that bubbled 'neath the hill close by the spreading beech,
Is very low—'twas once so high, that we could almost reach;
And, kneeling down to get a drink, dear Tom, I started so,
To see how sadly I am changed, since twenty years ago.

Nearby the spring, upon an elm, you know I cut your name,
Your sweetheart's just beneath it, Tom, and you did mine the same;
Some heartless wretch has peeled the bark—'twas dying, sure but slow,
Just as that one, whose name you cut, died twenty years ago.

My lids have long been dry, Tom, but tears came in my eyes;
I thought of her I loved so well—those early broken ties;
I visited the old churchyard and took some flowers to strew
Upon the graves of those we loved, some twenty years ago.

Some in the churchyard laid—some sleep beneath the sea,
But few are left of our old class, excepting you and me;
And when our time has come, Tom, and we are called to go,
I hope they'll lay us where we played just twenty years ago.

Breed Theatre

Love of country—that great emotion called patriotism—is the predominating note in William K. Howard's latest directorial venture, "A Ship Comes In," a dramatic DeMille studio production for Pathe which heads the double feature program at the Breed theatre today.

Rudolph Schildkraut portrays the featured title role in the screen story by Julien Josephson. It deals with an immigrant's life in an alien land and the difficulties confronted by one who takes pride in his new country when those around him had no faith in his sincerity.

Providing a fine foil for Schildkraut Louise Dresser is cast in the feature feminine part in this particularly forceful screen story scenarized by Sonya Levien. In the supporting cast are Robert Edeson, Milton Holmes, Louis Natheaux, Fritz Feld and Linda Landi.

Tonight is China night at the Breed theatre. A piece of the elegant Golden Pheasant Chinaware will be given free to each lady attending tonight's performance.

Announcement

Dr. Paul A. Schwartz has removed his dental office to the Metropolitan store building on Main street. Dr. Schwartz leased the upper floor of the building and occupies the entire front floor for his dental practice. The premises were rebuilt under special plans prepared by Ritter Dental Manufacturing Laboratories of Rochester, N. Y., and it consists of the following rooms: A main operating room provided with most modern up to the minute sanitary dental instruments and equipment, one room accommodating the latest X-ray machine for X-ray work, also extracting units and instrument cases. A small room built expressly to house sterilization equipment for dental instruments. There is also an office room and X-ray mechanical laboratory rooms, provided with approved scientific dental paraphernalia and store rooms.

Dr. Paul A. Schwartz was born in Norwich and graduated from local public school and Norwich Free Academy. He then entered Harvard university Dental school and graduated in 1918. He enrolled in the World war service in 1917, and rendered dental service to enlisted men, at the Boston Naval base, until 1919. In April of 1919 Dr. Schwartz opened a dental establishment in Norwich and has continued in practice ever since.

The equipment and furniture in the present establishment is entirely new and of most approved scientific and sanitary pattern. Dr. Schwartz has a large following and his friends will be pleased to learn of the new and progressive change.

Telephone Directory

The summer issue of the telephone directory goes to press at noon, Saturday, May 4, according to announcement Wednesday by Manager W. S. Lyon and will contain more listings for telephones in this exchange than ever before. There has been a steady and substantial increase in the number of telephones locally, and throughout the state as well, since the current directory made its appearance last January and, taking the state as a whole the directory is the largest ever issued.

One of the business features of the next directory, which will go into effect early in July, will be an improved classified section in the yellow pages. The advertisements in this section have been arranged uniformly and the alphabetical business listings have been compiled with a great deal of care so that the yellow section will, it is hoped by the company, give a maximum of service to telephone subscribers.

In announcing the closing date of the directory Manager Lyon stated that after May 4 it will be quite impossible for the company to accept additional listings, changes in listings or to add listings of telephones contracted for later than Saturday. He urged that all patrons of the company who wish any change in their listings to write or call the business office of the company so that the desired change, or addition, may be made. He added that persons contemplating having telephones installed should contract for the service before the closing of the directory, otherwise the telephone will not have a listing in the next directory.

Denies Divorce Petition

David Gabur, of New London, was denied a divorce from Della Ruchard Gabur by Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court at New London late Tuesday afternoon.

Gabur sued for a divorce on the grounds of a statutory offense. They were married June 6, 1922. Mrs. Gabur contested the action.

In his decision Judge Brown says:

"Although adultery by the defendant is found as alleged decree denied because defense of recrimination found established. Petition for order re custody of two minor children and for order for their support denied without prejudice."

BANQUET FOR LAYMEN OF N. L. ARCHDEACONRY

Preparations are underway for the annual banquet of the laymen of the New London archdeaconry to be held at the Wauregan hotel on June 12. The main address of the day will be delivered by Dr. William C. Sturgis of New York and Bishop Acheson will also address the gathering. Vocal and instrumental music will also have a place on the programme.

OBITUARY

Henry H. Gallup

Henry Haskell Gallup, president of the Norwich Manufacturing Belt Co., with plant on North Main street, former treasurer of the state of Connecticut, and one of the best known business men of the city, died this (Thursday) morning at 12:55 o'clock at his home, No. 127 Washington street. Mr. Gallup had been a sufferer from angina pectoris and his condition had become serious in the last two weeks.

Mr. Gallup was born June 2, 1846, in Preston, received his education in public and private schools and then for four winters taught school, working on the home farm through the summer. At the age of 22 he began his business career as a clerk in a store in Norwich. Soon thereafter he was employed as bookkeeper for Barstow and Palmer with whom he remained three years. On March 1, 1871, he became associated as a partner with George S. Smith, establishing the firm of Smith and Gallup, engaged in the leather and findings trade. Associated with Frank Ulmer and Mr. Smith in purchasing the tannery of the late Charles N. Farnham, he established the Norwich Belt Manufacturing company in 1873 with which he has ever since been associated, becoming sole proprietor in 1892. In January 1903 the Norwich Belt Manufacturing company was incorporated and has since continued as a corporation, with its tannery and offices on North Main street.

In both industrial and financial circles in Norwich Mr. Gallup has long been a power of stability and advancement. He was a former director and vice president of the Chelsea Savings bank and also a director of the Thames National bank. He was president of the Crescent Firearms company for 26 years and was president of the New London County Fire Insurance company at the time of his death. He was a former president of the Norwich Bulletin, holding that position for eight years.

In politics Mr. Gallup was a republican and he was twice secretary of the state of Connecticut, being elected in 1900 and re-elected in 1902. He was president of the board of trustees of the Norwich State hospital, having served on the board for a number of years.

Mr. Gallup was a member of Christ Episcopal church, of which he has been senior warden for many years, and in the activities of which he was deeply interested.

Mr. Gallup has done much for the advancement of the city of Norwich. No man who had a worthy object in view has ever found in him an unwilling listener when proposing a reform or bringing about a movement, which involved the public good, particularly affecting the city of Norwich. He has always been a leader in the promotion of all industrial and manufacturing growth of the city. It has been said of him that he has done more to advance the manufacturing interests of Norwich than any other citizen holding residence here.

On Sept. 26, 1871, Mr. Gallup married Irena H. Breed of this city. Besides his wife he is survived by one son, Walter H. Gallup, a daughter, Miss Susie L. Gallup, one brother, Charles D. Gallup of this city, and two granddaughters, Mrs. Robert P. Spear of New London and Mrs. Richard P. Tilson of Shelton.

Charles Barstow

Deacon Charles Barstow, 71, of Canterbury, died at his home Tuesday afternoon. A week before his death Deacon Barstow suffered a shock. Complications quickly developed and a consultation of physicians was held, but little hope for his recovery was held out from the first. Deacon Barstow, a quiet, dignified man, represented one of the best of the old New England families. He lived and died in teh house built by his father upwards of 150 years ago and in which he was born. The house has been rebuilt and has received additions from time to time. In his home and surroundings were reflected the characteristics of a well ordered life. The beautiful home life of Deacon and Mrs. Barstow who were married 39 years ago attracted many friends to them; their hospitable residence at the foot of Westminster hill has ever been a favorite gathering place for friends and relatives. Mr. Barstow was a deacon and trustee of Westminster Congregational church for the past 25 years. The interests of the church were always uppermost in his mind. In the death of Deacon Barstow the church and community have suffered an irreparable loss. Besides his wife he leaves two brothers, George of Canterbury and Frank of Worcester, Mass., and two nephews, Roy Barstow of Plainfield and Ralph Barstow of Goodyear, also a niece in Central Village, Maud Potvin.

FUNERAL

Edward J. Devlin

The funeral of Edward J. Devlin, son of Edward J., and Claire Hartie Devlin, was held Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock from the home of his parents, Federal street, Camden, N. J. Rev. Fr. Sullivan was celebrant of the mass at St. Mary's church, Camden, and the Angels' mass was sung by the children's choir of the church. Classmates of the fifth grade at St. Mary's school, Camden, attended in a body. Six playmates of the boy, Albert Scott, John Davis, Harold Rod, Jack Duffy, Fred Timmins and Norman Schinn, were the bearers. There were a number of beautiful floral pieces, including a vacant chair sent by the Ninth Street club of Camden. The boy was a favorite with his playmates, who sincerely mourn his untimely death. Father Ryan and Father Sullivan conducted the committal service at Calvary cemetery, Camden.

NORWICH PROGRESS EXPOSITION READY TO THROW OPEN ITS DOORS

The doors of the Norwich Progress Exposition will open this (Thursday) afternoon at 1 o'clock at the armory and the culmination of several months preparatory work will be shown before the citizens of Norwich and eastern Connecticut. The exposition will be officially opened by Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, who will be introduced by Arthur M. Brown, state's attorney for New London county.

"The World Uses What Norwich Produces" will be exemplified in 20 of the 75 booths by eastern Connecticut manufacturers. A representative exhibition of the commercial and industrial resources of the city is shown in a striking way as the exhibits are composed of manufacturers, merchants, banks, contractors civic and social agencies, marine equipment distributors, and many others.

Diversity in Programme.

Picture a food show, a better-homes show, a radio show, a motor boat show, an electrical show, merged into one, with many other features added, and accompanied by such an amusement program as will, through its magnitude and diversity, interest, entertain and instruct the most critical visitor to the exposition.

This exposition is being held under the auspices of the Norwich chamber of commerce and is under the personal supervision of Sheldon H. Fairbanks, president of the Sheldon Fairbanks Expositions, Inc. Mr. Fairbanks is also general manager of the new Boston Garden and director of the Boston Radio-Aero exposition, the Rhode Island Radio exposition, Haverhill Pageant of Progress, which is held annually for the Haverhill chamber of commerce, the Hartford Home Progress exposition, the New England Radio Trade Show, and is advisory director for a number of the leading expositions held in this country.

Ströll down the spacious aisle, meeting old acquaintances, visualizing again the things forgotten about your city, and learning new phases of its greatness. When you have passed half a mile or more of these exhibits, a completely new and revised picture of your city will have been painted in your mind. Your belief in it will have been tremendously strengthened; your pride in it aroused and heightened. You will be conscious that you have been in the presence of the actual making of civic unity.

Then, and not until then will the full realization of the spirit of the exposition become apparent.

Display of Speed Boats.

The radio salon under the direction of Herbert Ferguson will show a display of Cape Cod sail boats and also a fast outboard motor housed on a Laconia speed boat. The Julian L. Williams Co., will display the Ludington and the Boyd-Martin powered with the Johnson outboard motor. The combination of Ludington and Johnson is a duplicate of the boat and motor that recently set a new world record in the Albany to New York race. The E. D. Steele Co. in conjunction with W. R. Frisbie will show the sea sled, also a winner in its class in a number of the races held this season. The Beach & Goltra company, state distributors of the Baby Gar and Fairchild boats, will show the Fairchild speedster and the Baby Gar will be brought here and docked in the Thames river. The Baby Gar is a speed boat powered with one of the world's famous motors but is so large that it cannot be brought into the armory. It was through the cooperation of the chamber's executive committee that this boat will be docked in the Thames so that residents of Norwich and eastern Connecticut may see this boat.

Silver Mask Tenor.

On the stage at the armory tonight the presentation and personal appearance of the famous radio and theatrical entertainer the Silver Mask Tenor will be made for the first time in this section. It will also be his only appearance in New England this season as after his Norwich engagement he will entrain for the west where he has an engagement of 15 weeks.

Henry J. LaFontaine, who is so prominently known in eastern Connecticut turning out from his studio some of the finest pianists in this part of New England, and who is also organist at St. Patrick's church, stated Wednesday to Clarence F. King, assistant to Sheldon H. Fairbanks, that he was very much pleased to cancel an outside engagement to stay here and be the accompanist to the Silver Mask Tenor. He added that he was glad to do his part to make the progress exposition a success.

In addition to the Silver Mask Tenor, Thumm's orchestra will be seen on the stage of the armory in a program of especially arranged dance selections and they will also play for the style show.

Style Show.

The style show is also a feature of the opening night and also for Friday and Saturday. This style show will be given under the personal supervision of Miss Kinnan of the Reid & Hughes Co. The entire wearing apparel is being displayed through the courtesy of the Reid & Hughes Co., and the models will be Miss Nonie Nagle, Miss Mary Girard, and Miss Alice Gallup. It is expected that one or two other models will be added to the already elaborate style show.

On Friday evening Lieut. William B. Tassilo and his Hartford Society orchestra will be seen and heard. As will be remembered Tassilo's band last year was the creation of the show and it was by the insistent demands of the exhibitors and the visitors that he will return again this year. The style show will also be held on Friday evening and Thumm's orchestra will render the special music for the style show.

Radio Singer.

On Saturday evening the stage of the armory drill shed will set a figure on one of the finest radio voices that radioland has listened to for a period of five and a half years. Clarence B. Collins, known from the commercial broadcasting standpoint as the famous Radio Janitor, will present his latest sketch of songs and an entertaining monologue. Mr. Collins was one of the outstanding features of the Haverhill chamber of commerce show, the pageant of progress last fall. He has received more than 15,000 letters from radio listeners throughout New England and the country, said Mr. King. Mr. Collins stated Wednesday afternoon that he would render a program of songs for more than a half hour. It is planned to have Mr. D'Atri's pianist accompany Mr. Collins.

In addition to the style show and the famous Radio Janitor D'Atri's popular dance band will present a program of latest Broadway dance hits. Plans are also being formulated to bring to the progress exposition Saturday evening a young lady who has been heard in the Oakland-Pontiac, General Motors Family hour. She is known as one of the finest sopranos that has been heard on the air this season. After her first appearance at the microphone so many letters of comment were sent in that she has been retained as the guest soloist of the Oakland-Pontiac hour. The soloist's name will be announced this (Thursday) afternoon at the exposition headquarters in the armory.

BID OF $15,750 ABOVE MORTGAGE TAKES FAIRGROUNDS

The New London County fair grounds property at East Great Plain, where county fairs have been held for the last 60 years by the New London County Agricultural society, went under the auctioneer's hammer Wednesday afternoon and the real estate was sold to Attorney George H. Gilman and his brother, Francis Gilman, on their bid of $15,750 for the equity in the property. There is a mortgage for $25,000, it was explained, and the purchaser takes the property subject to the mortgage. The real estate has been appraised at $40,000 so that the auction sale brought a little more than the appraisal valuation which has been made in receivership proceedings against the agricultural society brought by Martin E. Jensen. The auction sale was on an order of the superior court in consequence of the receivership suit, Gilbert S. Raymond was appointed receiver by a judge of the superior court and was in attendance at the auction with Attorney E. W. Perkins as his legal advisor.

Before the real estate was put up for sale by Auctioneer Witter, a quantity of personal property had been sold at auction in small lots, bringing in a total of about $300.

When the time came for the real estate auction, which was set for 2 p. m., standard time, Auctioneer Witter assembled the crowd in the new dance pavilion, where he explained terms of sale, calling for a 10 per cent cash deposit at the time of acceptance of the high bid and the balance as soon after May 13, 1929 as the sale was ratified by the superior court. No bid less than $100 was to be received.

A crowd that numbered many old horsemen, with affectionate memories of the track in their minds, prominent business men of the city, life members of the society and a few women, was on hand and the bidding started at $1,000 with Charles H. Lamb, one of the Belt family and Attorney George H. Gilman as the early bidders. The raises were $500 at a time until finally Mr. Lamb and Mr. Gilman were left to bid against each other. The sale was made when Mr. Gilman raised Mr. Lamb's bid of $15,500 by $250.

Mr. Gilman stated after the sale that he was purchasing the property for himself and he expected to get the $15,750 out of it as quickly as possible. He would not say how he expected to use the property, but it was understood that he told others he expected to sell building lots from the property.

Before the auction was started, Mr. Witter stated that there were about 240 house lots in the property.

The tract of land comprises about 29 acres and contains a half mile race track with a number of frame buildings which include two grandstands, three horse barns with 68 stalls, dance hall, exhibition hall of 11,288 square feet, cattle sheds, office building, hay barn, two merchants' booth buildings, judges' stand, vaudeville platform and dressing rooms.

The race track was laid out there 50 years ago, but county fairs had been held on the grounds for ten years before that.

LIEUT. COMMANDER ELDER SPEAKS ON THE PHILIPPINES

The meeting of the Norwich Rotary club on Wednesday was devoted to the observance of Philippine Day and as a speaker the Rotarians heard Lieutenant-Commander Elder of the Submarine base in an address on the Philippine Islands. Commander Elder recently returned from a three years' stay with the Pacific fleet, being attached to the Asiatic station in the Philippines.

The speaker was introduced by Arnold Smith, who is in charge of the programs for May, Lieutenant-Commander Elder said in part:

Soon after Columbus discovered America, Magellan, sailing westward across the Pacific ocean in search of the fabled riches of the east, came upon the Philippine Islands. He was the first white man to reach these islands. He tarried there, looking for the hoped-for riches and in one of the encounters with the natives during this time Magellan was killed. His force of men and number of ships were sadly reduced by weather and disease. Finally the remnants manned a single vessel, and not through choice, but because the winds in that locality appeared to blow constantly from the east, they sailed again to the west and so completed the first circumnavigation of the earth.

Later other Spanish adventurers sailing from Mexico visited the Philippines which, by right of Magellan's discovery, were then administered by Spain as a part of Mexico. These later travelers, however, encountered many difficulties. The constant wind carried their ships readily enough from Mexico westward, but there appeared to be no way to get back as their ships could not make much headway against the wind and the westward routes to home were jealously guarded by the English, Dutch and Portuguese, who made short work of all Spanish vessels encountered. Finally a practicable return route to Mexico for sailing vessels was found by proceeding to the north of the Philippines until out of the path of the trade winds and then turning eastward as soon as the region of favorable winds was reached. This, of course, greatly enhanced the islands in the eyes of the Spaniards.

These early Spaniards made a remarkable exploration of the islands considering the difficulties encountered. They established settlements at several places, but eventually, by reason of its advantageous location Manila became the principal one.

In establishing their control, the Spaniards were not unopposed. There were frequent conflicts with the natives. Manila was beset at various times by other powers and for short periods both the English and the Dutch were in control. Even the Chinese on one occasion made a descent on Manila in great force but the defenders were able to beat them off.

It is a surprising fact that the Philippine Islands, as now constituted, consists of over 7,000 islands with a combined area almost twice as large as New England. Many, however, are very small. Luzon is the largest. It is also the best known of the islands due to its greater advance in development and to the well known historical events which centered around Manila. Some of the islands are so little known and so undeveloped that even in recent years reports of the discovery of strange and hitherto unknown tribes of natives have been heard.

The Spaniards found the islands inhabited by natives of small stature and brownish color. The ancestors of these people, it is presumed, had migrated from the mainland in times past.

These natives were in a comparatively savage state of development. The Spaniards being very robust and aggressive Christians and seeing a rare opportunity to gain favor with the powers at home by converting these ignorant people to the Spanish religion, proceeded to do so with a vengeance. Eventually the Christianization became so intense that it became a burden instead of a benefit to the people.

Prior to the American occupation each Philippine community consisted of magnificent church property surrounded by a collection of shacks in which the people lived. It is obvious that most of the wealth produced found its way, by one means or another, to the production of such structures and the upkeep and enrichment of the establishment.

After the American occupation some of the bad laws were repealed and better ones substituted so that now the toiler is able to apply more of the results of his own labor to his own personal betterment.

The magnificent church structures of the Spaniards are now largely unoccupied, most of them are crumbling to decay.

The Filipinos retain, however, to a very considerable degree, the religion taught them by the Spaniards.

In the southern part of the archipelago, the influence of the early Spaniards did not penetrate. The results is that Mohammedanism has become the prevailing faith. The people that are native to these parts are known as Moros and are usually in disagreement with the more northern Filipinos. They are great warriors and in earlier days frequently waged successful war against their northern neighbors.

The Philippines, being tropical, there is no winter or summer, but the year is divided into wet and dry seasons. Roughly speaking the dry season corresponds to our winter and the wet season to our summer. The dry season is the most comfortable weather of the year. Light clothing is used, but at night, it is frequently necessary to use a blanket for covering. The wet season is very wet. Sometimes as much rain falls in a single day as in a whole year here but it is a sort of a warm comfortable rain that does not carry the same threat of pneumonia as here. During August, September and October, typhoons may be expected. These are circular wind storms similar to our cyclones. They are very severe in their intensity and cause great damage to property that unfortunately happens to be directly in their path.

At the business session President Edward W. Jewett presided and Alfred G. Lillibridge was the song leader. An invitation from the Backus hospital auxiliary to attend a luncheon on Wednesday, May 15, at the Backus hospital was accepted.

The meeting closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

WEDDING

DAVID S. BALLOU WEDS MISS BROWN, OF SANDUSKY

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, May 1—Announcements have been received of the marriage of Helen Dudley Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Brown of Sandusky, Ohio, and David Sweet Ballou, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Ballou of Jewett City. Mr. and Mrs. Ballou and daughter returned Tuesday from Ohio, where they attended the wedding and its festivities.

The Sandusky Register gives the following account which will be of interest to the friends of the family:

One of the larger weddings of the season was that of Miss Helen Dudley Brown and David Sweet Ballou, Rev. Donald Wonders read the Episcopal marriage service at 6 o'clock Saturday, before the altar of Grace church, white with lilies and bright with cathedral candles. Rev. Warren Lincoln Rogers, of Cleveland, bishop coadjutor of the Diocese of Ohio, pronounced a blessing upon the bride and bridegroom. Before the appearance of the bridal party, Wesley R. Hartung played a program of organ music. The church was filled with friends. The ushers were Russell A. Ramsey, Richard Clark, Frederick Altstaetter, and James Parker. To the music of the Wedding March from Lohengrin, the four bridesmaids, Misses Louise Wilcox, Virginia Parker, Helen Tiffany of Toledo and Cynthia Kellogg of Buffalo, followed the ushers down the aisle. The young women were dressed in bouffant evening frocks of orchid taffeta, made alike, with big green bows. They wore green maline bandeaux and orchid slippers. Their flowers were yellow and purple iris. Miss Ruth Ballou of Jewett City, Conn., sister of the bridegroom was maid of honor. Her frock was made in the mode of that of the bridesmaids, but was of green taffeta with orchid bow. Miss Ballou carried yellow calla lilies tied with tulle. Her bandeaux was of orchid and her slippers were green. Frederick D. Ballou of Jewett City served his son as best man. The bride appeared with her father, Arthur Vernon Brown, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white georgette trimmed with orange blossoms and made bouffant style, having satin sleeves and court train. Her Madonna veil was caught with orange blossoms, forming a frame for her face, and across the back of the cap, was a bit of old lace, an heirloom. Her flowers were white calla lilies, and her white satin slippers were trimmed with orange blossoms.

Mrs. Brown was in a gown of heliotrope silk and wore a cream evening shawl. Mrs. Ballou, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue lace frock and evening wrap of metallic cloth.

A reception for the bridal party and a few intimate friends was held at the Business Women's club in the evening, before Mr. Ballou and his bride started on their honeymoon journey to Washington, D. C. From there they will motor to South Carolina. Mrs. Ballou's going away costume consisted of a grey crepe dress, dark blue coat and hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballou will live in Taylors, South Carolina, where Mr. Ballou is connected with the Piedmont Print Mills. He is a graduate of Norwich Free Academy and of Brown university, Providence, R. I., and a member of Pi Delta Phi fraternity. After graduating from Sandusky high school the bride completed her studies at Miss Wheelock's School for Girls, Boston.

MUSICAL REMINISCENCES MADE ENTERTAINING PROGRAM

The final meeting of the year of the music department of the Woman's City club was held Tuesday evening in the club room at the Wauregan hotel with a programme upon "Musicians We Have Known," which was given by Charles J. Dyer and Henry J. LaFontaine. This followed a short business meeting and the reading of a number of current musical events by Mrs. William F. Bailey.

Mr. Dyer first spoke of the necessity of appreciation in an audience for the full enjoyment of music, and the need of the singer to feel that appreciation. "If you are not moved by good music or fine performance," he said, "go home and study. Learn to appreciate the best." He once asked Nordica what she did when appearing before an audience and she replied: "I pick out a face that appeals to me and sing to it." When he asked Lehmann the same question, she said, "I try to teach them," and Ternina said, "I try to do my best."

Mr. Dyer spoke of his charming acquaintance with Madame Adelina Patti. He met her first as a small boy, again as a middle-aged man and once more in 1914. He spoke of her wonderful singing and equally wonderful loveliness, and read a letter from her which accompanied an autographed photograph.

The programme which followed is taken from works of composers whom Mr. Dyer knew. Mr. LaFontaine sang three songs by Tosti; 1, Quando Cadrau; 2, Ultima Canzone; 3, Mycoetis. Mr. Dyer sang "An die Music" by Schuman, and spoke of taking Mr. LaFontaine to call upon Schuman's daughters, Marie, who was then about 82, and Eugenie, about 76. Marie was the daughter to whom Schuman dedicated many of his songs. After tea with the two ladies, both Mr. Dyer and Mr. LaFontaine sang and the latter sang again "The Lotus Flower" and "When I Look Into Thy Eyes." Then came Schubert's "Du Bist die Ruh."

The story of Schubert's finding the poem written by Mueller, bringing it away secretly and bringing it back set to music was told by Mr. Dyer. It is called "The Song of the Miller."

Then followed the lovely song cycle, "Eilland," by Von Fielitz, of which Mr. LaFontaine sang three numbers and Mr. Dyer the "Love Songs."

The programme closed with "Passing By" of Purcell and "How Like a Queen" by Percy Atherton, sung by Mr. LaFontaine.

The club members expressed themselves as very grateful to Mr. Dyer for sharing the rich experiences of his most interesting life with them and to Mr. LaFontaine for the beautiful rendering of the songs in such an informal way, as he played his own accompaniments. It will be a privilege the club will appreciate to hear them both again.

GAVE MAY BASKET PARTY TO COUNTY HOME CHILDREN

Loyal Circle of the King's Daughters, Mrs. George E. Zimmerman leader, delighted the hearts of the 72 children at the county home, Smith avenue, by giving them a May basket party Wednesday evening. About twelve members visited the home, the committee in charge of the evening being Mrs. Harry B. Ford, Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler and Mrs. Herbert R. Kind. The dainty and gay baskets held candy and fruit.

With Mrs. W. H. Stebbins at the piano, the children were entertained with graceful dances by Helena Crandall, Elizabeth Arline McKeag and Elizabeth Ann McWilliams. Mrs. John McWilliams loaned her car to take the young dancers to the home and Mrs. Joseph S. Whelan generously donated a sum of money toward filling the baskets. The home family, always so well trained and so appreciative, under the supervision of the matron, Miss Jessie Gibson and her assistants expressed their gratitude for the evening of pleasure provided for them by the circle.

LaCROIX'S SINGLE WINS IN NINTH FOR N. F. A.; BUTSY WEISGRABER BRILLIANT

Buck LaCroix's line single over second base in the ninth inning with two out scored Butsy Weisgraber from third base and gave the Academy a 4 to 3 victory over West Hartford high Wednesday afternoon at the campus in another one of those thrilling battles. Weisgraber had walked to start the inning, reached second on Popowics' bad throw and scooted to third when Cummings bounced a hit off Hellyar's glove at short.

Tied In Ninth

The visitors had tied the score in the first of the ninth when, using three pinch hitters, Popowics was pushed around on two errors and a stolen base.

Butsy Weisgraber, making his first start of the year, pitched airtight ball for the Academy after the second inning. He got a shaky start, yielding five hits for two runs in the first two frames but from then on was well nigh invincible, allowing but one scratch hit for the remainder of the distance. Boisseau, opposing flinger, also was in fine form, being especially strong in the pinches. He was removed for a pinch hitter in the ninth and Nelson pitched the final and losing inning. Boisseau was touched for seven hits in eight innings, fanned eight and walked two while Weisgraber struck out 11, passed none, but hit one. Nelson passed one and fanned two.

Best Game Here This Year

This was the best game of the season at the local ball field. West Hartford had a two-run lead going into the last half of the second inning only to see the game knotted up and then have the Wildcats forge ahead with one run in the fourth. As related, the next scoring was in the ninth.

Hal Cummings led the hitters with three singles in five trips to the plate and Buck LaCroix had two in five. LaCroix furnished the fielding feature in the first inning when he came in at top speed to take Lane's bid for a Texas leaguer behind second.

The visitors, a bunch of free-swinging lanky youths, started off in business-like fashion. After two were out, Hellyar tripled to deep right field, the ball going through the fence out into the road and only a fine return by Anso Tombari held it from a circuit clout. Sheldon singled past third base and Hellyar scored. Bush doubled to the Manual Training building in right center, sending Sheldon to third but Weisgraber fanned Carey to end the inning. The Academy went out in order in their half and West Hartford continued their hitting in the second inning. Again with two out, they scored when Boisseau lined a single to left field. Lane was hit by a pitched ball and Hellyar got his second hit, a single scoring Boisseau. Sheldon fanned and then and there West Hartford's offense tactics were placed in the moth balls.

N. F. A. Starts In

The Academy came back with two in their half when LaCroix led off with a single into left field and stole second. Fagan doubled into right and LaCroix counted. Tombari fanned and Pepin fouled out but Bud Fontaine came through with a single into center field and Fagan tallied. The Academy put men on bases in every inning but the seventh thereafter but could not score until the ninth, when they really had to.

West Hartford put over their tying counter when, after Harris, batting for Mattson had fanned, Popowics, batting for Morander, laid a bunt down the third base line and when Cummings mussed it up, he was safe. Huntington, batting for Boisseau, fanned and Popowics stole second. Lane then hit a grounder to Pepin, who juggled it and then threw badly to first, Popowics scoring. The last half of the inning has been told above.

Second Garrison Finish In Week

It was the second close finish in less than a week for the state champions for last Saturday at Chapman Tech they were the victors in 11 innings by the same score as yesterday. The score:

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

Runs were scored as follows: N. F. A.—LaCroix, Fagan, Tombari, Weisgraber. West Hartford — Hellyar, Popowics, Boisseau.

Hellyar, West Hartford infielder, took a lot of good natured abuse from the third base gang, he was their victim yesterday.

The showers around noontime kept the attendance down to around 500 and many of these were children. Saturday, with good weather, should see the attendance somewhere up in four figures for Walter Linder and his Deep River team is a good drawing card.

The infield was neatly rolled but the rain that had fallen made the footing uncertain.

West Hartford made a neat appearance with blue jackets over their uniforms with the word "Hall" on the back. The real name of the school is William Hall high school but the "WH" on the shirts of the team can mean either that or West Hartford.

Hank Morin, behind the plate, and Luke Riley, on the bases, were the umpires.

Capt. Jack Marks of the Academy was in uniform again Wednesday after a two weeks absence due to a bad ankle. Jack will probably get into the lineup next week.

Hal Cummings had a little "off-day" in the field with two errors, something unusual for him, but his three hits show that his batting eye wasn't on vacation. However, Cummings made a couple of nice stops and throws so that it wasn't such a bad day for him, at that.

West Hartford lived up to their slugging reputation for two innings but once Weisgraber went to work they were helpless, Butsy turned in the best exhibition that an Academy pitcher has done this season.

Coach Brigham sent Louis Green, little southpaw, down to warm up with Les Crowell when things looked shaky in the first inning.

Weisgraber fanned Hellyar in the seventh and that gave the crowd quite a kick.

This was Butsy's second victory for he received credit for the Chapman Tech game last Saturday, in which he did such noble relief work.

Alec Arico saved his fellow infielders a couple of errors with sensational pickups at first.

Now for Mr. Linder and Deep River Saturday at the campus.

ATHLETICS HAVE FIELD DAY AT EXPENSE OF RED SOX

BOSTON, May 1—(AP)—The Athletics staged a mad May day party at the expense of the Red Sox here today. The Macks made a total of 23 hits, good for 44 bases, and won 24 to 6. They knocked Milton Caston out of the box in the second inning, after having made a total of eight runs.

In the sixth the Macks scored ten times at the expense of Ed Durham and Billy Bayne, who relieved him in mid-inning, the drive consisted of seven singles, a double by Dykes, a homer by Simmons, his fifth hit, two passes and a hit batsman. Simmons also got one of the sixth inning singles and Foxx and Miller got two each.

The two final Athletic drives were launched against Ed Carroll who was assaulted for two runs in the eighth and three more in the ninth. Jimmy Foxx also got five hits, including two homers, and Hale collected four. Simmons missed a chance to tie the modern major league record of six hits by gazing at a third strike as it floated past him in the eighth.

Bob Grove held the Red Sox all but helpless through five innings but Connie Mack substituted pinch hitters when the sixth-inning orgy was in progress. Ossie Orwoll got himself into trouble, and Bill Shores had to finish the game.

The Red Sox used 21 men in the game. The victory gave the Athletics an edge of two to one in the series, with the fourth game to be played tomorrow. Score:

PIRATES AND CARDS PLAY TIE GAME IN 13 INNINGS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 1—(AP)—A two-run rally in the ninth by Pittsburgh, forced the Cardinals and the Pirates to a 13-inning 4-4 tie here today. Sherdel went the route for the National league champions and was touched for 16 hits, including a triple and three doubles and two bases on balls as well as a balk. The Pirates used two pinch hitters to good advantage in the ninth, when both Stoner and Riconda connected, the latter driving in a run.

The Pirates opened by scoring a pair in the first while the Cards got to Hill for single runs in the second and third and drove him from the box in the fifth with two more runs. Score:

BROWNS BUNCH HITS IN FIFTH TO BEAT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, May 1—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns bunched five hits off Wes Ferrell in the fifth inning and scored three runs which gave them a four to three victory over Cleveland today.

It was the Browns fourth straight win and the Indians' fifth straight defeat.

Alvin Crowder, who hurled for the league leaders, hung up his fourth victory of the season.

Susie Says

Well, Well, the Academy did it again. More power to 'em.

It was one sweet little game between two evenly matched teams with the best team winning beyond a doubt.

What impressed most people was the brilliant pitching of Butsy Wiesgraber who turned in a neat afternoon's work. Butsy should help the Academy along a great deal this season.

Hartford has no mean ball club by any means and a victory over this team is quite a feather in the caps of the youngsters. But don't get cocky over it, boys, keep your feet on the ground and play ball.

The Academy has a nice fielding and hitting team but their base-running and sliding is woefully poor. Outside of Cummings there is not a man on the team that goes into a bag right.

Among the notables at the game were Sergeant Matt Delaney and Patrolman Scud. This pair are rabid baseball fans and two of the greatest kidders in the city.

If this pair can't get an opposing player's goat and lead it around the ball yard on a string nobody can. It was a treat to hear the confidential advice this pair were giving Georgie Hellyar, the Hartford third sacker.

It was a real sportsman-like team that Hartford sent down from the coach to the bat-boy. They were good-natured and sent back as good as was sent. They were also a nice fighting bunch, in the game for all they were worth.

One of the boys on the Hartford bench pulled a fast one on Scud. The Hartford man asked where Umpire Luke Riley learned to umpire and Scud went to great length to tell how Luke used to earn his living playing ball. "Well," said the Hartford lad, "he's stealing it now." Scud was nonplussed.

Speaking of umpiring, Luke did a mighty nice job of umpiring and although some of the fans were waiting for a chance to ride him he gave them no opportunity at all, it reminded us of old times.

To drop the subject of baseball, we hear that Patrolman Crary has been fishing again and that all he got was a brook sucker and wet feet. No, Matt Delaney did not tell us this one.

CUBS AND REDS BATTLE 13 INNINGS TO 4 TO 4 TIE

CINCINNATI, May 1.—(AP)—The Cubs and the Reds fought through 13 innings to a tie in the last game of their series here today halting only when it became time for the Chicago players to rush to the station to board a train for Philadelphia. The Cubs open their eastern invasion against the Phillies tomorrow.

The Bruins pounded Adolfo Luque for four runs in the third on four hits. Cuyler got a triple in this round when Allen fell in fielding the ball, and Hack Wilson got his fourth home run.

The Cubs failed thereafter to score and got no hits off Kenneth Ash and Enos Rixey, who succeeded Luque.

The Reds tied the score in the ninth on doubles by Red Lucas and Hughey Critz mixed with a bit batsman. Dixon opened the 13th with a double, and Zitzmann and Critz were purposely passed after Sukeforth had sacrificed Dixon to third, but Shaner popped out and Allen took a called third strike. HARDING AND NAUGATUCK HAVE FAST BALL TEAMS

Two of the leading high school nines of the state, which will appear here against the Academy this season, turned in impressive performances during the past few days.

Last Saturday at Bridgeport, Warren Harding, which is the Academy's opponent here Memorial Day, won from Stonington high, the Stonington of our Eastern Connecticut, by 23 to 3. The Presidents rattled off a total of 35 hits.

On the same day Naugatuck, which is scheduled to furnish the opposition for the Wildcats in their closing game, June 8, won a no-hit, no-run victory from New Britain high, 10 to 0. Naugy used three pitchers, Coach Pete Foley starting with Capt. Dick Finley for five innings, then using Joe Biernacki for two innings and Ray Murray the last three frames.

JOHNSON SAYS SENATORS NEED WARM WEATHER TO PLAY THIER BEST BASEBALL

By Brian Bell
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—Disappointed but not discouraged at the early failure of his Senators to live up to their glowing promise of the spring, Walter Johnson today hazarded a guess that Washington will soon move out of the American league cellar.

"We are upside down," said the great pitcher, who has been rudely initiated into the lodge of major league managers by seeing his club "freeze up" with the opening of the championship season.

"We are not only turned all around in the league standing but in our whole condition and play.

"But I am hopeful, for we are really a good ball club and we will soon get going. Of that I am sure. Of course I know the answer to that one about games won in April counting as much as those in September. Maybe they count more, but if you can't win 'em early then you'll have to win 'em late.

"You're only kidding yourself when you look for alibis, but I can say without fear of being misunderstood that our ball club has been hard hit by this weather we have had so far, and are still having," as he glanced through the hotel lobby to a steady drizzle of rain drops on the street.

"Of course all the clubs in the east have had the same weather break we have had but it seems to me we have suffered more than any of them. Our club is pretty well filled with southerners, either men who live in the south or players who came from the southern leagues. They went along at a fast clip until the cold weather struck us and it looks as though they can't get thawed out now."

The Big Train still is the idol of fans far and wide. He was asked just how he felt about the job of managing a major league baseball club after two weeks' trial under fire—and a brisk cannonading at that.

"I have a very decided feeling of responsibility," he said. "The letters from people all over wishing me success get under my skin. I feel just like I felt when I went in against the Giants to pitch my first world series game after I had waited so long for the chance.

"There were letters from everywhere, it seemed to me, saying 'Good luck Walter' and I felt like I was carrying quite a load out there with me. It's much the same now. My friends—and most of them are strangers to me—write and tell me how I have their best wishes. Some of them are the same ones who wrote me before that first world series game. Well, I'm certainly going to do the best I can to justify this confidence, and there's one thing certain—I have a great gang to help me after they get thawed out."

NICE CARD LINED UP FOR N. LONDON BOXING SHOW

That Promoter Ernie Fakourey of the New London Arena A. C. is to serve out a real nice dish to the boxing fans of eastern Connecticut next Tuesday is shown by a glance at the menu for that night. There are 38 rounds of boxing slated spread out over six bouts, there being a ten-round main bout, an eight-round semi-final, two six-rounders and two four-rounders.

Promoter Fakourey has arranged his card so that boys well known in this section will be on the card. For the first preliminary, Johnny Bedell of New London meets Young Tauff of the Coast Guards. Both boys are well known here. Then in the next bout Geno Pecheeni, local featherweight, clashes with Joey Duggan of New London. Norwich interest runs high as Geno has ever been popular here. Joe Russo of Westerly, known to local patrons of the amateurs as Young Sposato, meets Vic Morley of Hartford. The other appetizer is the Kid Wagner—K. O. Brown bout. The Kid is a former Norwich boy and has many friends here. This completes the preliminary card.

For the semi-final bout Sonny Suggs, the clever little colored lad from New Bedford, and brother to Cick Suggs, meets Mickey Genaro. Suggs is about the smoothest leather pusher in New England in his class.

The main bout is between Bobby Mays of New London and Frankie Curcio of Providence. This is a real attraction and should draw heavily.

THREE SHOW WAY TO WEST SCOTLAND AMATEURS

GLASGOW, May 1.—(AP)—Horton Smith, Joe Turnesa and Al Watrous played a three way tie for first honors in the medal competition between the American Ryder cup professionals and a team of West Scotland amateurs at White Craig links. They turned in cards of 72 for 18 holes.

The medal scores of the American team were: Walter Hagen 73, Johnny Farrell 75, Gene Sarazen 77, Leo Diegel 73, Joe Turnesa 72, Smith 72, Al Espinosa 75, Al Watrous 72, Ed Dudley 74, John Golden 75.

For Scotland: J. A. Lang of Erskie and S. McKinlay of Alexandra turned in cards of 76 to lead. The scores: W. Campbell of Cambusland 76, W. Tulloch of Cathkin Braes 78, Lang 75, R. NEKOLA HAS BETTER OF LOUD IN PITCHING DUEL

NEW HAVEN, May 1—(AP)—Behind one hit pitching of Frank Nekola, Holy Cross defeated Yale here today, 1 to 0, in the first game of the year's series.

Nekola was in the best of form, striking out 13 Yale batsmen and was never in danger. Butch Loud, likewise, turned in a fine exhibition of hurling, giving but four hits. His downfall, however, came about in the fifth inning, when Holy Cross took advantage of an error, a hit batsman and passed ball to score the only run of the game. Score by innings:

BILL O'BRIEN TO COACH AT BULKELEY NEXT YEAR

William F. O'Brien, athletic coach at Stonington high since the fall of 1925, is to leave that school at the close of the present school year, and in September will take up similar duties with Bulkeley high in New London, ancient rival of the Academy. He will be missed by the Stonington school, where he has turned out two league championship football teams.

Bill O'Brien is a graduate of Connecticut Agricultural college class of 1925, where he was a star athlete, especially featuring in baseball.

CUMMINGS LEADS ACADEMY BATTERS WITH MARK OF 520

Hal Cummings, the classy little Academy third sacker, is leading the team in batting after six scheduled games. He possesses the fine mark of .520 on 13 hits in 25 times at bat. Louie Green, pitcher, is next in line, but he has only appeared at the plate six times so that Bud Fontaine, catcher, would have to be reckoned as second hitter with a mark of .478 on nine hits in 19 times at bat. Buck LaCroix, clean-up batter and center fielder, follows Fontaine with .464.

HAL CUMMINGS.
Leads State Champs in Hitting

Cummings and LaCroix are tied for total hits, with 13 apiece and Cummings has hit for the most total bases with 19 to his credit. He leads in doubles with four, and Red Fagan leads in triples with two. Anso Tombari has the only home run by the Wildcats to date.

Buck LaCroix has batted in the most runs nine, followed by Tombari with eight, and Chubby Gibbs with seven. Gibbs leads in sacrifice hits, having five, and four are tied for the stolen base leadership with three apiece.

BULLS RULED THE STOCK MARKET, BUT WERE UNABLE TO SKYROCKET PRICES

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—Bulls began the new month today with such an outburst of activity as the stock market has not experienced since March, but handicapped by continued uncertainty over credit, were unable to move prices substantially higher save in spots.

Total sales of 4,638,000 were the largest in about five weeks and more than a score of issues were sent up from 3 to nearly 20 points, but there was a rush to take profits which cancelled many gains and depressed much of the list. The Associated Press index of 50 leading industrials recorded a gain of less than a point for the day.

The resumption of large scale operations for the advance were predicated upon the passing of the month-end money pinch, and favorable industrial news. But bankers were unable to foresee any prospect of really easy money in the near future. Call money renewed at 11 per cent against 14 yesterday, but not no lower than 10 per cent, the closing rate of Tuesday.

The New York federal reserve bank, in its monthly bulletin, issued today, indicates that there has been little improvement in the credit situation since the call money crisis of late March. It points out that the reduction in brokers' loans has been in part offset by loans on securities at the banks.

"There has been some demand reduction since March 20 in the total demand for credit though not sufficient to release any considerable amount of funds," the bulletin states. Pointing to the borrowings of the New York city banks as a barometer, it says, "in order to keep their reserves in balance the city banks continued to find it necessary to borrow about $200,000,000, or about 30 per cent. of their total reserves."

The weekly steel trade reviews were again unusually cheerful. Iron Age stating that despite record shipments, the inflow of business shows little reduction and promises a high rate of activity for the rest of the second quarter, adding "indications of seasonal curtailment are still almost entirely lacking." Several motor companies reported new peak shipments for April. Freight car loadings for the second week of April were announced as crossing the 1,000,000 mark for the first time this year.

Chemical, aviation, and motor parts and accessories shares were in the forefront of the advance. United Aircraft was sent up 15 points in still further punishment of shorts to a record price at 162, but fell back to 152 at the close. Union Carbide was bid up more than 13 points to a record price at 264 1-2 in buying said to be in expectation of large earnings from new products and processes. Electric Auto Lite was sent up 13 points on reports that current earnings are more than double what they were a year ago.

Stromberg Carburetor touched a new top at 101 in buying for the privileges of conversion into Bendix Aviation. American Bosch Magneto, Warner, Murray Corp., Weston Electrical Instrument and Wilcox Rich issues broke into new high ground. Motors were rather heavy, save for Marmon, which jumped more than 8 points to a new high for the year, and Willys Overland, which was bought on large current sales reports. General Motors made a moderate rain in response to April sales reports but lost it before the close.

Columbia Gas and Electric sold up about 3 points to a new high on rumors of a forthcoming issue of rights, and American Radiator & Standard Sanitary touched a new high at 50 on rumors of an association of interest with Johns Manville. Adams Express regained 25 of the 34 points lost yesterday. Ludlum Steel, Mathieson Alkali, Symington A. and Texas and Pacific broke into new high territory.

American Telephone lost about 5 points in selling on the good news of the granting of rights. U. S. Steel lost about a point indicating that the quarterly earnings report had already been discounted. A break in Advance Rumely was an unsettling influence. After touching a new top at 104 7-8, it broke to 95, and the preferred lost most of a 10-point rise.

In the commodity markets, cotton gained about $1 a bale on favorable weather reports. Wheat sagged on larger than expected May deliveries, but retained most of its loss.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and generally steady, save for the Spanish peseta, which dropped to a new 1929 low at 14.32 cents.

BULLS RULED THE STOCK MARKET, BUT WERE UNABLE TO SKYROCKET PRICES

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—Bulls began the new month today with such an outburst of activity as the stock market has not experienced since March, but handicapped by continued uncertainty over credit, were unable to move prices substantially higher save in spots.

Total sales of 4,688,000 were the largest in about five weeks, and more than a score of issues were sent up from 3 to nearly 20 points, but there was a rush to take profits which cancelled many gains and depressed much of the list. The Associated Press index of 50 leading industrials recorded a gain of less than a point for the day.

The resumption of large scale operations for the advance were predicated upon the passing of the month-end money pinch, and favorable industrial news. But bankers were unable to foresee any prospect of really easy money in the near future. Call money renewed at 11 per cent, against 14 yesterday, but got no lower than 10 per cent., the closing rate of Tuesday.

The New York federal reserve bank, in its monthly bulletin, issued today, indicates that there has been little improvement in the credit situation since the call money crisis of late March. It points out that the reduction in brokers' loans has been in part offset by loans on securities at the banks.

"There has been some demand reduction since March 20 in the total demand for credit though not sufficient to release any considerable amount of funds," the bulletin states. Pointing to the borrowings of the New York city banks as a barometer, it says, "in order to keep their reserves in balance the city banks continued to find it necessary to borrow about $200,000,000, or about 30 per cent. of their total reserves."

The weekly steel trade reviews were again unusually cheerful. Iron Age stating that despite record shipments, the inflow of business shows little reduction and promises a high rate of activity for the rest of the second quarter, adding "indications of seasonal curtailment are still almost entirely lacking." Several motor companies reported new peak shipments for April. Freight car loadings for the second week of April were announced as crossing the 1,000,000 mark for the first time this year.

Chemical, aviation, and motor parts and accessories shares were in the forefront of the advance. United Aircraft was sent up 15 points in still further punishment of shorts to a record price at 162, but fell back to 152 at the close. Union Carbide was bid up more than 19 points to a record price at 264 1-2 in buying said to be in expectation of large earnings from new products and processes. Electric Auto Lite was sent up 13 points on reports that current earnings are more than double what they were a year ago.

Stromberg Carburetor touched a new top at 101 in buying for the privileges of conversion into Bendix Aviation. American Bosch Magneto, Warner, Murray Corp., Weston Electrical Instrument and Wilcox Rich issues broke into new high ground. Motors were rather heavy, save for Marmon, which jumped more than 8 points to a new high for the year, and Willys Overland, which was bought on large current sales reports. General Motors made a moderate rain in response to April sales reports but lost it before the close.

Columbia Gas and Electric sold up about 3 points to a new high on rumors of a forthcoming issue of rights, and American Radiator & Standard Sanitary touched a new high at 50 on rumors of an association of interest with Johns Manville. Adams Express regained 25 of the 34 points lost yesterday. Ludlum Steel, Mathieson Alkali, Symington A. and Texas and Pacific broke into new high territory.

American Telephone lost about 5 points in selling on the good news of the granting of rights. U. S. Steel lost about a point indicating that the quarterly earnings report had already been discounted. A break in Advance Rumely was an unsettling influence. After touching a new ton at 104 7-8, it broke to 95, and the preferred lost most of a 10-point rise.

In the commodity markets, cotton gained about $1 a bale on favorable weather reports. Wheat sagged on larger than expected May deliveries, but regained most of its loss.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and generally steady, save for the Spanish peseta, which dropped to a new 1929 low at 14.32 cents.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of My Dear Father,
MICHAEL McDERMOTT
Who Passed Away May 2, 1928

No one knows the silent heartache
Only those that have lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one I loved so well.

His Daughter,
MRS. HENRY MONTIE, JR.

The senate adjourned at 11:05, standard time until 10:15 tomorrow.

SEARCH AT NEW LONDON FOR BOYS WHO PLACED SIGNALS ON R. R. TRACKS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 1—New London and railroad police made a fruitless search tonight for three youths who caused much annoyance to railroad officials by placing signals on the tracks of the New Haven railroad with the result that several New York and Boston bound trains were delayed several minutes. The boys all about 17, secured a number of railroad fusee and as a train approached a point between Waterford and Millstone, the signal was ignited and placed on the tracks, causing each train to come to a stop. The last seen of the boys they were headed toward New London by highway. One of the boys wore a lumberjacket and blue trousers. A description of the other youths was not obtained.

THREATENED LITTLE GIRL IF SHE LEFT HER CHAIR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 1—George Bates and Irving McLean, both colored, the latter a stranger in New London, were arrested tonight by Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Patrolman Clarence Wells charged with entering and searching and will be in the police court tomorrow. Bates, who has a long police record and McLean went to the residence of Antoinette New, also colored, of 135 North Bank street, late this afternoon, in the absence of the woman. Miss New's little sister was the only occupant of the house. After entering the house and finding the child alone, McLean threatened the child with bodily injury if she did not remain seated in a chair. Bates then made a search of the house, but so far as could be determined, he was not successful in finding loot. After the Negroes had left the house and Miss New returned, the child informed her sister of what had occurred. The latter made complaint to the police and Bates and McLean were arrested on Douglass street.

Sergeant John Courtney and Patrolmen John Sullivan, Carlos Stone and Walter O'Neill started today on their annual vacation of two weeks. Patrolmen Braxton Hill, Albert Iverson and Louis Wheeler resumed duty today after their vacation.

Several more violators of the city's parking laws were arrested this afternoon and tonight for parking overtime on State and Bank streets. They are William H. Perkins, submarine base; Joseph Amorel, Waterford; Henry O. Tyler, 143 Main street; Steve Ksengas, 48 State street; B. Bottinnelli, 195 Pequot avenue.

Miss Hattie B. DeBue of Springfield is the guest of Miss Mildred S. May of Montauk avenue for a few days before continuing on her way to Hollywood, Cal. The Misses DeBue and May are graduates of Lesley school, Cambridge.

Mrs. Harold C. Zieky of Hartford, formerly Miss Belle E. Shuman of 41 Spring street, and her daughter, are visiting Mrs. Zieky's parents here.

Clerical Speeder Gets Off

Rev. Elmer T. Thieves, of Hartford, was charged with speeding, but was discharged. He was arrested last night by Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey when the clergyman was detected driving 45 miles an hour on Broad street. Hilbert Hendel, charged with the same offense, going at the same rate of speed on Bank street by Officer Bailey, was discharged.

WOLFE, ELLISON, STEELE ADMIT A DOZEN ROBBERIES

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 1—The police today rounded up another bunch of crooks, a gang that has been robbing stores and gasoline stations. They have confessed to no less than a dozen robberies within a few weeks and two of them were apprehended while trying to gain entrance to the ice cream and confectionery store of A. J. Maloof, 340 Bank street early this morning.

The youths are Ralph Wolfe, 17, a roof worker, residing at 23 Golden street; Junior Ellison, 17, a clerk, residing at 53 Connecticut avenue and Jay Steele, 19, residing at Barrows court. The first named were given a hearing on a charge of attempted robbery, in the police court today, and were held in bail of $5,000 for trial the 8th inst. Steele, who was not arrested until this afternoon, will be in court tomorrow.

Patrolman George Laboue was making his rounds on Bank street about 4 o'clock and tried front and rear entrances of the stores. After making sure that the front entrance of the Maloof store was locked, the officer went to try the rear entrance and found Wolfe and Ellison lurking in the darkness. He questioned the youths but their answers did not satisfy the officer that the boys were telling the truth and when Laboue noticed one of the windows of the store and saw that the sash bore fresh marks of disfiguration, he arrested the pair. Placing handcuffs on the youths and covering the youths with his revolver, he ordered the crooks to precede him to headquarters. There the youths were searched and in their clothing was found implements used by crooks including a jimmie and pliers.

Detective Sergeants Nelson Smith and John Cavanaugh took charge of the youths and after a grilling of several hours the boys broke down and confessed to numerous breaks. These included a gasoline station on Willetts avenue extension, the Bridge Plaza garage and gasoline station, Groton; Empire theatre, Ideal Rooming house, pool room, Bank street; Burdick gasoline filling station, Phillips' gasoline station, Poquonoc road, Groton; Peerless Bowling Alleys, Golden street, four street; Siebler's cigar store, Bank street; Siebler's cigar store, Bank street, Lee Kee's laundry, Golden street; Jordan's restaurant, Bank street and Patsy Vito's pool room, Groton, twice.

The pair implicated Steele in the commission of some of the breaks and he was taken into custody this afternoon, Steele making admissions of the part he played in the wholesale burglarizing of the stores and gasoline stations.

This evening Raymond Brooks, 17, of 33 Washington street, was arrested for he was also implicated in some of the breaks. Brooks was locked up and will be in court tomorrow, together with Steele.

CHARLES A. WHITE ADDED TO SUPERNUMERARY LIST

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, May 1—Upon recommendation of Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney, City Manager William A. Hoit today appointed Charles A. White to the supernumerary force of the department, White being sworn in, to begin duty at once. Besides being assigned to police duty, White will be delegated to duty at the office of Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexander for the officer was also made a city sheriff and will devote much of his time in the collection of back taxes and serving tax warrants on delinquent taxpayers. White is one of 11 candidates for appointment as supernumerary officers who recently were given physical and mental examinations.

STATE CIVIL WAR VETERANS TO BE GUESTS OF HONOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 1—At the 62nd annual encampment of Connecticut Veterans of the Civil war which will be held in this city tomorrow and Friday, 45 veterans are expected to attend. They will be guests of the Rotary and Lions' club at a dinner to be held in Hotel Mohican tomorrow at 12:30. A splendid program of entertainment has been prepared for the visitors. Tomorrow night the annual campfire is to be held in the First Baptist church.

Today was the last day of grace for the registering of dogs. Figures show that 800 owners have taken out license. There are 1,000 in the city. All those who had not paid the required tax by 5 o'clock this afternoon will be fined one dollar.

The following patients were dismissed today from Lawrence Memorial hospital: Mrs. Everett N. Lyon, Waterford; Mrs. Marvin Smith, Addison street; Mrs. John Hughes and son, Pleasure beach; Mrs. Kenneth Monson and daughter, Groton; Mrs. Louise Pearson and son, 20 High street; Mrs. Harold Richardson, Starr street; Mrs. Joseph Smith and Miss Bertha Smith, Old Saybrook; Hugh Lloyd, Griswold court; J. Morgan Adams, Groton, Robert Wilcox of 21 Reed street.

Those dismissed at Home Memorial hospital were Mrs. Andrew O'Connor of Groton, Mrs. Ralph Harris and twin daughters, of 453 Bank street.

Reuben A. and Irene W. Patterson have sold a house and lot on Evergreen avenue to Silas and Zelma C. Maxson.

Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexander today ordered a release of tax warrant against John F. Sullivan and others. Recently a warrant was issued calling for the sale of real estate upon which taxes remained unpaid, but the tax has since been paid.

Joseph J. Chenigo has caused a release of attachment to be made against Harry and Fanny Weinstein and Barney Belgrad. Chenigo brought suit against the Weinsteins and Belgrad, but the action has been settled out of court.

Mrs. B. Weiner, 30 Home street, today made complaint to the police that three blankets were stolen last night from a clothesline in the yard of her home.

Patrolman Vigilant

Patrolman Edward Riordan in making his rounds on Brainard street early this morning discovered the John Winthrop club partially illuminated and one of the windows open. The officer climbed through the window and after inspecting the building and determining that crooks had not made the club a visit secured the place for the remainder of the night.

Mrs. Maurice E. Sherman, Mrs. Kate Holmes and Mrs. Ralph H. Keeler are among New Londoners visiting in New York this week.

A. & P. ACQUIRES LEASE OF GAGER-CRAWFORD STORE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 1—The Gager-Crawford company, who have long conducted a grocery store, 19 Main street, and who recently leased the building to the Atlantic & Pacific company, will discontinue business May 31. The premises have been leased to the chain store corporation for three years, dating from June 1. The aggregate rental will be $20,100, which amount, the lease stipulates, shall be paid in equal monthly payments to Thomas Crawford, president of the Gager-Crawford company. The lessees also are given the privilege of two renewals of lease of the building one for three years and the other for four years. The deed recording the lease was filed at the office of the city clerk today.

William R. Thompson Van Cleef, of New Haven, was arrested yesterday afternoon in Waterford by State Police Officer John Smith, charged with reckless driving and using improper markers. Van Cleef will be in Waterford town court Monday next.

Two Charges Against Clarkin

Edward M. Clarkin, Poquonoc road, Groton, was arrested last night by State Police Officer William McKenzie charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving while under the influence of liquor and breach of the peace. He furnished a surety on his bond and will be in Groton town court next Monday. Clarkin went to his home late yesterday and had been drinking. He abused his wife so that Mrs. Clarkin asked for her husband's arrest. When Officer McKenzie looked for Clarkin he could not be found. When he was located and arrested last night it also developed that Clarkin was guilty of having driven his auto while drunk.

HICKS' $1,000 BOND SAVED WHEN COURT RE-OPENS CASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 1—Solodious Hicks, 19, colored, residing at 102 Boswell avenue, Norwich, saved his bond of $1,000, declared forfeited in the police court yesterday when he failed to present himself and defend a charge of violation of the liquor law. The case was reopened today when Hicks' counsel, Thomas M. Shields, of Norwich, petioned the court to reopen the case and to grant a continuance until May 8th. Both requests were granted. Hicks was arrested on North Bank street Monday night, by Patrolman Dennis Murphy, when attempting to deliver a quantity of alcohol to a house reputed to be a place where liquor is dispensed.

Compo Struck Starter—Pays $10

Vito Compo, 22, a public service driver, was charged with breach of the peace and was fined $10. Compo is one of a score of independent drivers who solicit fares at the Union station. Last night he appeared upon the platform of the railroad station and sought patrons for his auto and in doing so incited the anger of Starter George Parker, employed by the Yellow Cab company, which cab company alone is allowed the privilege of soliciting upon the station platform. Heated words resulted in Compo striking Parker several blows on the face and head. Parker made complaint to Special Agent John Anderson of the New Haven railroad, who arrested Compo.

Driver Fined $25

Sebastian Muscarella, Bayonet street, employed as driver by the Eastern Dairies Inc., was charged, on continuance, with reckless driving and was fined $25 and costs. Muscarella was driving a five-ton truck on Broad street several weeks ago and at the corner of Ledyard street collided with a commercial auto driven by Benjamin Cottrell as the latter car emerged from Ledyard street. Cottrell's truck was practically demolished and the driver sustained severe injuries, which confined him at a hospital for several days.

Charles Blount, colored, of 80 Potter street, charged with intoxication and breach of the peace, was given suspension of judgment and placed on probation for six months. Blount was arrested several weeks ago when he struck a youth on Douglass street.

SURPRISED IN RAID, MEN HIDE UNDER BED

Seventeen cases of beer, several glass gallon jugs, one containing liquor, and one nearly full, labelled witch hazel, a pint bottle quarter full of what is said to be moonshine, a copper wash boiler, rubber pipe, several glasses, and a jug containing beer, were seized in a raid late Wednesday night at the house at No. 120 Talman street. Mary Sawrofarico was arrested by state and local police as proprietress of the house and charged with violation of the liquor laws. She was held in bonds of $1,000 for her appearance in the city court this (Thursday) morning.

The raid followed an alleged actual sale procured by a police aid, it is claimed by the police. When the police unexpectedly appeared in the house they found about 20 men there. Several, surprised by the appearance of the police, sought refuge under a bed. The raiding squad comprised State Police Officer Arthur Whitmarsh and Officers Elmer Allen, Patrick Shahan, Michael Dowire, Peter Driscoll, Charles McFudden and Michael Pounch.

SPEAKS FOR PUBLIC HEARING ON CHOOSING NEW COUNTY HOME SITE

Timothy C. Murphy, former mayor of the city of Norwich, expressed surprise, Wednesday evening in an interview that the county commissioners are planning to remove the New London County Home from Norwich. "I see no reason why the home should be taken from this city," said Mr. Murphy. "The home has always been located in Norwich, fully 40 years, and it seems to me that it should remain here," he continued.

"If the commissioners feel that the present home should be removed from its present location, there are other sites here in Norwich on which the new home could be erected. The finest drinking water in the state is available, and so are gas, electricity, and transportation, trolley and bus. The people of Norwich have always taken a keen interest in the welfare of the home and are ever eager to provide comforts and entertainment for the children.

"Another thing, the taxpayers of Norwich and nearby towns pay almost two-thirds of the unkeep expense of the home. It seems to me that locations in other towns, such as Sprague, Montville, or Waterford, are not as centrally located with regard to the county as Norwich. The majority of the children who make up the county home family come from Norwich and immediate vicinity.

"I sincerely hope that the county commissioners will not act too quickly on the proposed removal of the home and that a public hearing be held at which the citizens can voice their opinions."

Since the announcement of the vote of the county meeting, the feeling has been gaining ground in Norwich that the legislative representatives from the other towns of the county are disposed to seek a site for the new home outside of Norwich. When questioned Wednesday night, A. W. Lillibridge, one of the Norwich representatives in the legislature, said that he knew of no such effort on the part of his fellow legislators, and as for himself, if a good site in Norwich could be found, he thought that would be given favorable consideration. Representative Lillibridge said that the fault with the present location of the county home is that there is no room there and it is a hard place to get to. What is wanted in the new location, he said, is proximity to a trolley line, water and electric lights, with plenty of room for the grounds around the building.

REPORTS FROM CONTINENTAL CONGRESS TO D. A. R. MEETING

At the May meeting of Faith Trumbull chapter, Inc., D. A. R., Wednesday afternoon at the Wauregan hotel, Mrs. Albert M. Van Wagenen was nominated for election as regent for the ensuing year. NORWICH TOWN

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK TO BE NOTED AT FIRST CHURCH

Herbert L. Yerrington, organist at the First Congregational church, has arranged a special program for Sunday morning May 5th, in commemoration of National Music week, which begins that day. The numbers, all by American composers will be: Prelude, Andante by Harrison M. Wild; offertory, Reverie, I. Z. Fiegler; postlude by Horatio W. Parker. The choir is to sing for an anthem, Jesu Lover of My Soul, arranged by John S. Camp. At Organist Yerrington's recital Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at this church, for which a special program has been arranged, the same choir will assist that furnished the singing at the Easter service. The composer of the prelude to be used Sunday morning, Harrison M. Wilde, has been one of the most noted organists and teachers of music of Chicago for a number of years. Brother organists regret his sudden death March 1st, of the present year.

Cut Down Big Tree.

During this week, men in the employ of the American Telephone Co., under direction of David Kelsey, foreman of that gang, felled a huge tree which marked the dividing line of property of Allen Kinney and David M. Dean, on Town street. The tree which stood on the inside border of the sidewalk was dead, some of the limbs having previously been removed to allow a guy wire to be attached to the tree from a nearby telephone pole. The work which was commenced the latter part of last week, was skillfully accomplished by Foreman Kelsey and his men. The trunk of the tree was sawed into short lengths, then split into several sections, as well as the limbs and all were removed to the rear of the property. A mainstay for a new guy wire was constructed and all rubbish removed, leaving no trace of litter on the fresh green lawn between the homes of Mr. Kinney and Mr. Dean.

Mrs. Genie Evans, of Worcester, who has been the guest of her cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb, of Norwich, has left town to pass a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Briggs of Pomfret Center, before returning to the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Vander Pyl. While in Norwich, Mrs. Evans, who came to attend the state convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans, held on Monday and Tuesday of this week, at the Wauregan, was entertained in the homes of several former neighbors, also relatives and friends. When the Evans family resided in Norwich several years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Briggs' daughter, the former Miss Edith Briggs, made her home with them, while attending Norwich Art school.

To Demonstrate Pulmotor.

The Boy Scouts of Troop 2 connected with the Norwich Town Methodist Episcopal church at their meeting on Friday evening will hear an interesting speaker. Dr. R. R. Agnew, a member of the scout council will give a talk and demonstrate the use of the pulmotor. Dr. Agnew some time ago gave the scouts a most helpful and interesting talk on first aid and handcaring and at that time promised to give a second talk. The meeting is to begin at 7.15 and the doctor expects to begin his talk about 8 o'clock. All services and exercises in this church are on daylight time.

Yantic Rector to Preach.

Sunday evening next in Norwich Town Methodist Episcopal church at 7.15 Rev. Robert H. Parker, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Yantic, will preach. The service will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter.

A number of Boy Scouts from Troop 2 accompanied by Scoutmaster Potter will go on a hike for the purpose of passing tests this (Thursday) morning, starting at 8.30.

EXPLODING LAMP FIRES FRANKLIN FARM HOUSE

About 5 o'clock Wednesday morning a farm house in the town of Franklin and located on the Norwich-Willimantic highway, was burned to the ground when a gasoline lamp exploded in the house. The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bowers and family.

Mrs. Bowers, about 3 o'clock, lighted a gasoline lamp, intending to go to the medicine cabinet. The lamp exploded and in a short time the entire house was in flames. Due to the lack of fire-fighting facilities nothing could be done to save the building. The loss, estimated at several thousands of dollars, is understood to be covered by insurance.

WILL ARRIVE TO TAKE FIRST BAPTIST PASTORATE

Rev. Percy A. Kilmister is expected to arrive in Norwich Friday from Concord, N. H., to assume the pastorate of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Kilmister will accompany him here and they will reside at No. 54 Peck street.

Rev. Mr. Kilmister will conduct the services at the First Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. He succeeds Rev. Edward C. Dunbar, who resigned the local pastorate some months ago to accept a pastorate in New Jersey.

FRANKLIN STREET BARN FOUNDATIONS GAVE WAY

A group of men employed by Contractor Serafino Fidell of No. 595 West Main street, had a narrow escape from injury Wednesday morning when the foundation of a large barn on Franklin street gave way. The men were digging away a section of a bank in order to erect a retaining wall in preparation for the construction of a large garage for Krieger and St. Germaine, local automobile dealers.

A 15-foot section of the foundation suddenly caved in but several of the workmen directly in the path of the tumbling rocks and earth managed to jump to safety. The barn is near the First Evangelical Lutheran church.

APRIL RAINFALL WAS FAR ABOVE AVERAGE

The month of April closed with a rainfall that was far above the average, according to the measurements kept by the Norwich water department, and water is running to waste at all three of the Norwich reservoirs. The rainfall recorded a total of 6.34 inches as compared with the average of 3.63 inches for the month.

At the present time, the water at Stony Brook reservoir is four inches over the flashboards which is the highest ever recorded at this reservoir. Fairview reservoir is nine inches above full pond, and at the new Deep River reservoir the waste way gate is open in order to drain out the sediment at the bottom of the pond, while at the same time water is running over the spillway.

Suspect Incendiarism In Ledyard Fire.

State police from the Groton barracks are investigating the fire at the farm house known as the Old Quaker meeting house in Ledyard Tuesday morning as there is suspicion that it was of an incendiary nature. The owner, Edward Sinay, of New London, has told the police that there had been no fire burning in the house since Sunday.

EXPLAINS FORMATION OF INDUSTRIAL LOANS DEPT.

At a luncheon meeting of the Norwich Retail Credit Bureau at the rooms of the Norwich chamber of commerce Wednesday evening, John R. Tarrant, treasurer of the Bankers Trust Co., announced to the members that his bank has inaugurated an industrial loans department. This announcement is of considerable importance as the plan offers usual features and inducements. Mr Tarrant explained the plan in detail and the bureau voted to endorse it.

Mr. Tarrant told the bureau members that the bank's plan was to make loans up to $300 on two-name paper, charging a straight 6 per cent per year, with a $2 investigation charge. Each note would be made for one year with an agreement for its reduction in equal amounts over the 50 weeks.

CONTINUANCE IN SUIT OVER MECHANIC'S LIEN

After hearing nearly all the evidence in the suit of the Niantic Lumber Co. against Augusta E. Dorenbaum of Hartford and Crescent Beach to foreclose on a mechanic's lien, Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court at New London Wednesday continued the matter until after the short calendar session of the court there Friday.

The Niantic Lumber Co. claims that the plaintiffs are liable for a lumber and material bill of $1,655, furnished in connection with building their cottage at Crescent Beach.

The defendant claims that the house was started by A. Kristensen of Hartford and that he is liable for the lumber rather than the defendant.

The plaintiff maintains that Kristensen left the job and had no more to do with it and that the materials were charged to the defendant.

JUDGE SUSTAINS ASSESSMENT MADE IN NEW LONDON

Judge Charles B. Waller, in a decision handed down in the court of common pleas, finds that the assessment against Robert Tetrault, New London contractor, on his automobile was legal and that the tax of $42.94 on the 1926 levy, paid by Tetrault in New London, was a valid one.

Tetrault claimed that he bought the automobile on Oct. 2, and therefore should not have been assessed on the levy of 1926. He brought suit to recover the amount he paid and it was first heard before Attorney Max Boyer as a justice of the peace. He found against Tetrault, who then took an appeal to the court of common pleas.

TAFTVILLE

Mrs. Leo LePage of Norwich avenue who has been a patient at the William W. Backus hospital, has returned to her home.

When the members of St. Veronica's society held their meeting Wednesday evening at their rooms on Providence street, Miss Mary Nolan, the president, was in charge.

The final lesson in the course in home nursing and hygiene was given Monday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building. The members of the class presented the instructor with a beautiful May basket, in which was a gold piece. Miss Louise Sigrist who has been instructing the class, gave each of the members a jonquil May basket for a favor. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, coffee and candy were served at the close of the lesson period, the color scheme of yellow and white being carried out in the table decorations. The members completing the course are to receive official certificates. The members have been Miss Mary Martin, Miss Helen C. EXPORT DEBENTURE PLAN DEBATED IN THE SENATE

Chairman McNary of the Agricultural Committee Hopes to Have the Senate Vote on the Debenture Section of the Farm Relief Bill Today—Senators Norbeck and Connally Supported the Plan—Senator Wagner Described the Measure as an Unworkable Proposition.

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—With a vote in sight on the disputed export debenture plan, the senate today heard that proposal defended as the only avenue for higher farm prices and the farm relief bill in which it is included attacked as a "dressed-up scheme" to satisfy campaign slogans.

The debenture section was supported by Senators Norbeck, republican, South Dakota and Connally, democrat, Texas, while Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, described it as an unworkable proposition destined to involve the farmer in governmental red tape in assailing the whole farm bill.

The New York senator, asserting a right to discuss the farm problem because his state ranks first as a consumer and tax payer proposed a government board which would be charged directly with handling crop surpluses. He contended the charge has been made that cooperative associations have not been successful and that it would be folly to have these organizations attempt to handle the surplus situation.

Senator Norbeck held that the senate farm measure at best was "a moderate bill of even doubtful value." He said he had no fault to find with President Hoover, however, because he considered the president had done as much as could be expected from the farm relief plank incorporated into the republican platform at Kansas City.

"I am not complaining about the attitude of President Hoover as some senators do," declared the South Dakotan, who was one of the republicans who voted for the debenture plan in the agriculture committee.

"He has not been a disappointment to me. I expect great things from him especially in law enforcement, disarmament, efficient reorganization of government departments and in these things I am going to support him.

"His attitude on the farm problem is not what I wish it were, but after the Kansas City convention I had no right to hope for anything better."

Senator Connally, in his first speech since he became a senator, declared the senate farm bill without the debenture plan would be of no value. He argued that the opposition to making the tariff effective for agriculture by the use of debenture certificates could also be made to apply to tariff protection for industries.

"The tariff masters are in Washington asking for higher rates on manufactured goods," the Texan said, "they will get them. The farmer will pay the increased cost of such goods, bounties for the manufacturing few are sound. Bounties for the farmers who have been exploited for fifty years are unsound."

Senator Norbeck maintained that the last election could not be considered a mandate from the people on any particular farm relief plan. He asserted that Governor Smith as the democratic standard bearer substituted "the saloon for the equalization fee," and made the election of Mr. Hoover certain without regard for the farm question.

Chairman McNary, of the agriculture committee, hopes to have the senate vote on the debenture section tomorrow. This might be delayed in view of further discussion which is pending.

Although the house was not in session, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority leader placed a statement in the record in opposition to the debenture provision. He characterized it as a "direct subsidy" and a plan which would furnish food to foreigners at a cheaper rate and tend to stimulate overproduction of crops already having surpluses.

FUNERAL OF FORMER GOVERNOR ROBERTS TODAY

HARTFORD, May 2—(AP)—The state capitol will be closed from 1 o'clock on tomorrow afternoon and both houses of the legislature will adjourn prior to that time, if plans made today by the leaders are carried out, as a mark of respect to former Gov. Henry Roberts, for whom funeral services will be held at his home, 1110 Prospect avenue, at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter, dean of the Hartford Theological seminary and Rev. Dr. Charles S. Mills, acting pastor of the Center church, will officiate. Burial will be in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The honorary bearers will be Samuel G. Dunham, Edward M. Day, T. Belknap Beach, Charles A. Goodwin, George G. Williams, George H. Stoughton, Horace B. Clark, Samuel Ferguson, Col. Louis R. Cheney, Dr. Orin R. Witter, Leon P. Broadhurst and the following classmates in the class of 1877, Yale university, Arthur R. Kimball, James P. Andrews, Charles P. Dickinson, Charles Sumner Miller, and John K. Beach.

TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN CIGARETTE SMOKING

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—A tremendous increase in cigarette smoking in the United States during the first nine months of the 1929 fiscal year was indicated today in statistics made public by the internal revenue bureau.

The figures showed that over the nine month period cigarettes were taxed $247,160,930, an increase over the same period of the previous year of $23,632,682 in such revenue collected by the federal government.

Use of all other forms of tobacco decreased in the time covered, as measured by the tax figures.

All tobacco taxes totaled $315,936,381, an increase of $21,202,102 over the same period of the previous year. Stamp taxes aggregated $46,049,332 an increase of $12,109,115.

Of the stamp taxes more than half were paid in New York upon capital stock sales and transfers. Treasury officials attributed this to the great amount of speculation in the stock market during the nine months.

WOULD ESTABLISH FEDERAL COMMUNICATION COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—Leaders in the radio and telephone and telegraph industries soon will be called by the senate commerce commission for hearing on the bill of Chairman Cousens for the establishment of a federal communication commission.

The committee agreed today to a suggestion by Senator Couzens for hearings and a study of the radio and other communications industries is contemplated. Senator Couzens has little hope for action on his bill at this session but he wants to start considerations.

While the hearings will be directed at the proposed federal control, there are indications that full airing of conditions in the communications world is in prospect. No date has been set for the opening but Senator Couzens hopes to get started next week.

FATAL HEART ATTACK AT TABLE IN HOTEL

WILMINGTON, Del., May 2—(AP)—Arthur Chandler Lyon, a judge of the Iowa supreme court, died suddenly here tonight from a heart attack, his wife was at his bedside. Judge Lyon was 54 and lived in Grinnell, Iowa.

Judge and Mrs. Lyon were on their way home from a visit to relatives in Connecticut and stopped in this city last night for dinner. While seated at a table in a hotel Judge Lyon became ill and took a room at the hotel expecting the illness would abate in a few hours.

The body will be sent to Grinnell tomorrow.

FELL OFF THIRD STORY PIAZZA IN NEW BRITAIN

NEW BRITAIN, May 2—(AP)—A 30-foot fall off a third story piazza today caused critical injuries to Alfred Roy, 3, while he was playing alone. The child broke the picket railing around the piazza and landed on a concrete wall below, fracturing his skull.

BRITISH WOMEN WAGING A GREAT PEACE CRUSADE

LONDON, May 2—(AP)—Strong in the power of a voting majority of two and a half millions, British women are waging a great peace crusade throughout the country to make international peace an election issue.

"Make the Kellogg pact a reality!" is their slogan, and their two-fold object is to focus the attention of women voters on the question of international peace and to impress upon parliamentary candidates of all parties that those who represent women in the law-making body shall also be peacemakers.

Twenty-eight of the important women's organizations in Great Britain are co-operating with the women's peace crusade and a similar group of American Women's societies, headed by the conference on the cause and cure of British women support in their campaign, and the Y. W. C. A., is giving the campaign.

FRESH CONFLICT WITH GERMAN AUTHORITIES

BERLIN, May 3— (Friday)—(AP)—Reports of three more killed and 20 injured in a fresh conflict with the authorities in the suburb of Neukoelln growing out of May day were made by the police early today.

The same suburb was the scene of a pitched battle between police and alleged communists on Wednesday night. Seven persons were killed and 110 injured. Indignation continued high in the city all yesterday and led to stormy interruptions of the session of the reichstag and the city council.

As the night advanced trouble increased in the maze of small side streets in the district and spread eastward to the temple of Airdrome. The police had to call for reinforcements which, as on the preceding night, rushed to the scene with carbines, hand grenades, searchlights and armored cars.

MT. TOM SUMMIT HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

HOLYOKE, Mass., May 2—(AP)—The Mt. Tom Summit House, well known to all residents of western Massachusetts and to visitors to this part of the country, was totally destroyed by fire early tonight. The flames, which started in the observatory on the fourth floor, were fanned by a heavy gale sweeping through the entire frame structure. Dr. H. L. Hastings, treasurer of the Mt. Tom Railroad association, which owned the Summit House and also the cable railroad to the summit, said that a temporary structure for use this season would be started tomorrow.

Due to lack of water on the mountain, firemen were helpless before the flames which reduced the four story building to smouldering embers in a little more than two hours. Only the chimney was left standing. The four telescopes valued at $4,000 were salvaged.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY WOODMEN OF AMERICA

MIDDLETOWN, May 2—(AP)—Connecticut branch of Woodmen of America, held their quadrennial session today electing a list of officers and three delegates to the national convention at Denver, next June.

The officers elected were: Counsel, Samuel Cone, Hartford; advisor, Edward Bromage, Thompsonville; clerk, H. J. Eaupalaise, Wallingford; banker, A. J. Morgan, New Haven; escort, Joseph Lynch, New Haven; watchman, John Lynch, Montville; sentry, James Murphy, Unionville.

The delegates chosen to go to Denver were: Bertard Mulvey, Naugatuck; Romeo Pelrin, Meriden, and John F. McElroy, Bridgeport. The next session will be held in Hartford in 1933.

MAN INJURED BY BOMB EXPLOSION IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, May 2—(AP)—One man was injured seriously and half a dozen buildings were damaged late tonight by a bomb which exploded in front of a lunch room at 6th and Wylie avenues, in the "Hill district." Police who investigated said they knew of no reason for the bombing. No arrests were made. The injured man is John Anderson.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

BERLIN, May 2—(AP)—Two Berlin newspapers, the Tageblatt and the Tempo, tonight intimated the possibility that the Reichsbank would decide on a further rise in its discount rate tomorrow.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany May 2—(AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin landed safely at 6.10 p. m. after a trip to Vienna and back. Twenty two passengers were on board, Dr Hugo Eckener was in command.

LONDON, May 2—(AP)—The House of Lords after a brief debate rejected 26 to 19 a motion submitted by Viscount Cecil of Chilwood inviting the house to express the opinion that the time had arrived when Great Britain should sign the optional clause of the statute of the world court.

ROME, May 2—(AP)—The 250 Boston Pilgrims who reached Rome today for a visit to the Holy See in honor of the Pope's sacerdotal jubilee, were favored by real spring weather for their first afternoon in Rome. Many of them called on Cardinal O'Connell where they were welcomed in the big salon individually and in groups.

47 VETS IN NEW LONDON AT G. A. R. CONVENTION

NEW LONDON, May 2—(AP)—Forty-seven veterans from various parts of the state donned the regalia of Civil war days to answer the roll call at the opening session of the 60th annual department of Connecticut Grand Army of the Republic convention here today.

Commander George A. Tucker, of New Haven, presided at the meeting and greeted the veterans. Prayer was offered by Chaplain Henry W. Burrell of Hartford. In his report Commander Tucker spoke of the appreciation of the veterans for the Women's Relief corps; Daughters of Veterans; Ladies if the G. A. R., and the Sons of Union Veterans for the patriotic spirit shown and work they did during the past year for the veterans.

Assistant Adjutant E. T. Abbott, of Bridgeport, reported that 85 members died during the year leaving 362. Three posts of the 44 in the state he said, have only one Grand Army veteran living and two posts in Colchester and Thompsonville, are inactive.

Election of officers will be held tomorrow. The members today endorsed Commander Tucker for national commander in chief and elected delegates to the national encampment at Portland, Me., next September. They were Post Commander James M. Collins, Hartford; Comrade Homer F. Winthrop, Waterbury; Comrade Frank Cargill, Bridgeport and Comrade Charles F. Hart, New Haven.

Alternates elected were Post Commander Lyman Whitehead Danbury; Post Commander Charles H. Ruscoe New Canaan; Post Commander Geo. C. Crocker, Norwich; Post Commander John Crowther, New Haven, and Surgeon William H. Singleton, New Haven.

Post Commander J. H. Patterson, of South Norwalk, was elected delegate at large and Post Commander William P. Patrick of Stamford, was named alternate delegate at large to the national encampment.

The delegates were served dinner by the Rotary and Lions clubs and the chamber of commerce, after which they were taken on coast guard patrol boats for a cruise on the Thames river. Tonight the annual campfire was held with the principal address by Mayor Scott, of New London.

CHARGED WITH SLAYING FATHER OF HER INFANT

SOUTH PARIS, Me., May 2—(AP)—As her five months old babe rested in her arms and a daughter, five years of age stood beside her chair, Mrs. Anne Merrill Welch, 26, today was arrested on a warrant charging her with the murder of Elihu Turner, elderly Hartford farmer, alleged father of the infant.

This was the day when the young mother expected to be released from the Oxford county jail where she has remained voluntarily, but at the request of the authorities, since the charred body of the 75 year old farmer was found in the smouldering ruins of his farm home a week ago yesterday.

"I think it is a terrible thing that they should accuse me of killing the old man for he loved me and I loved him," Mrs. Welch said between sobs when Sheriff Harry O. Stinson read the warrant to her.

"He had been awfully good to me and I would not harm a hair of anybody's head," she continued in a broken voice.

NO ONE URGED STEINHARDT TO TAKE HIS OWN LIFE

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—The afternoon April federal grand jury, which today completed its part in the investigation of the suicide of David Steinhardt in Philadelphia, concluded that no one urged the fugitive receiver in brankruptcy to take his own life. Herbert Maris, a Philadelphia lawyer who was with Steinhardt when he died, had told officials that the fugitive had said he had been urged to commit suicide.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY TO ACCEPTANCE OF BRIBES

LOS ANGELES, May 2—(AP)—Donald MacKay, former deputy district attorney under Asa Keyes pleaded not guilty in superior court today to a grand jury indictment charging him with acceptance of bribes to dismiss embezzlement charges against A. I. Lasker, former automobile finance head convicted of grand theft. His trial was set for May 31.

FREEDOM FROM CUSTOMS INSPECTION CONDEMNED

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—Freedom from customs inspection commonly accorded officials on government business was condemned today by members of the federal morning grand jury that sat in April as leading to various abuses "and to the natural suspicion that the claimed privilege of free entry is really being used as a cover for the importation of contraband."

STOLE DIAMOND THROUGH HOLE IN STORE WINDOW

BOSTON, May 2—(AP)—A hole in a jewelry store window which was so small a watchman thought it not worth fixing was utilized by thieves today to steal a diamond ring valued at $675. The theft was committed at noon in the shopping district apparently by means of a hooked wire.

Spring Blizzard In Missouri and Illinois

The Worst Wintry Blast the Region Has Experienced in May For Fifty Years.

ST. LOUIS, May 2—(AP)—A spring spring blizzard whipped across Missouri and Illinois today and left behind it three to six inches of snow which weighted down foliaged trees, leveled telephone and telegraph lines, congested traffic and caused crop damage the extent of which was yet to be determined. No loss of life was reported.

Tonight the fruit and berry crops faced a new crisis—the threat of destructive frost which was forecast for the entire middle Mississippi valley by the United States weather bureau.

Should a heavy frost occur, it was regarded as virtually certain that most of the fruit belt would be laid to ruin with losses into millions of dollars.

The weird storm, the worst wintry blast this region had experienced in May for more than fifty years, came in the wake of a series of varied disturbances yesterday and last night in the middlewest, ranging from heavy rain and thunder storms to hail, wind and tornadoes. It sent the temperature down to the freezing point but because it did not go below freezing experts held out hopes that crops had not been ruined.

The snow was heaviest at Springfield, in southwestern Missouri, where a fall of six inches was reported. The storm laid a blanket of snow over south central and east central Missouri, southern Illinois and as far north as Springfield, Ill. Most of it had melted off tonight. Other sections of the middle west experienced severe hailstorms and rain that measured a smuch as two inches.

Cape Girardeau, Poplar Bluff and other communities in southeast Missouri were completely isolated for several hours this morning due to miles of telephone and telegraph wires being down. That district experienced a severe hail and wind storm last night. St Louis felt the full force of the blizzard. Snow began falling here shortly after 5 a. m. after an all night rain and heavy wind. In three hours nearly four inches fell. It broke down hundreds of trees in Forest Park and in the resident districts, in some places blockading streets. It also broke telephone poles and caused smashing of many plate glass windows in business establishments.

Telephone service throughout the city was paralyzed for most of the day, vehicular traffic was impeded and trains ran behind schedules.

The weather bureau reported it was the first time the temperature had reached freezing here in May since 1875, and that previous May snow fall since 1884 had been confined to flurries in 1909 and 1923.

COMMUNIST DEPUTIES DISORDERLY IN REICHSTAG

BERLIN, May 2—(AP)—Temporary disruption of the Reichstag and strikes in protest against "police brutality" kept alive in the public mind tonight the pitched battle waged between communist May day celebrators and the police late last night. Berlin's violent observance of the international labor day produced a few casualties even before the dawn of May 1 but the casualty list tonight stood at seven dead and 110 injured.

Communist deputies, one of whom was among the 900 persons arrested yesterday, today flung books at the social democrats in the Rechstag, shouting "blackguards" and "bloodhounds" when a communist was called to order for insulting the Berlin police chief.

The communists failed to pass a motion for adjournment of the house until Friday but their boisterous singing of the Internationale drove the other deputies and the president from the hall. The meeting was resumed after an intermission.

A DECREASE IN N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE MEMBER LOANS

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange announced today that the total loans to members against security collateral decreased $29,527,013 during April. The total as of April 30, was $6,774,930,395 against $6,804,457,408 at the end of March. On April 30, 1928, borrowings totalled $4,907,599.

The decrease of about $261,000,000 in the federal reserve weekly brokers loan figures from the peak reached March 20 to May 1, when federal reserve loans totalled $5,532,000,000.

The stock exchange monthly compilation always shows a larger total, as it includes loans made directly to brokers by corporations, individuals and private banks, while the reserve total includes only loans made by or through member banks.

INCREASE IN LOANS TO BANKERS AND DEALERS

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending, May 1, were announced by the Federal Reserve board today, as $5,532,000,000, representing an increase of $40,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

Small Biplane Sank In Lake Michigan

Plane is Believed to Have Carried One Passenger Besides the Pilot.

INDIAN HARBOR, Ind., May 2—(AP)—A small biplane, forced down in Lake Michigan, off here today during a storm, capsized, according to a report to local police. The plane is believed to have carried one passenger, besides the pilot.

According to witnesses the plane was traveling eastward and appeared to be having difficulty bucking head winds. It was maneuvered about considerably before settling down in the waters.

The plane landed about a mile off shore from the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company plant, and disappeared beneath the waves while employees of the company attempted to launch a rescue boat.

Heavy seas were running and the boat was beached a half dozen times. Coast guardsmen planned to go to the scene of the accident as soon as the choppy waters subsided.

Police were unable to identify the plane.

GEORGIANS OBJECT TO PATRONAGE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—Georgia republicans and democrats here protesting against the setting up of a new administration patronage committee their state decided today to attempt to place their case before President Hoover.

This decision was reached after they had failed to make appreciable headway at a conference with Postmaster General Brown, who personally saw to the organization of the new committee under the chairmanship of Lindsey Hopkins, of Atlanta.

Hopkins was a member of the original state committee brought into being under the direction of Horace A. Mann, a Washington lawyer, who have charge of the Hoover campaign in a number of the southern states.

The Georgians whose spokesman is H. G. Hastings, of Atlanta, also a member of the original Mann committee conferred late in the day with Mann and Howard E. Coffin, a close friend of the president, who made a special trip to Washington from his home at Sapelo Island, Ga., to see the president.

ANNE MORROW HOME FOR MARRIAGE ARRANGEMENTS

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 2—(AP)—Anne Morrow came home today to complete her briday arrangements for her approaching marriage to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The fiancee of the "Flying Colonel" lived up to her reputation for shyness. Slipping quietly into New York, after an overnight train trip from Cleveland where she had been visting her grandmother, she drove immediately to her father's home here, shutting herself away from the crowds of reporters and photographers who sought to interview her.

She was accompanied by her mother and sister, Elizabeth.

Colonel Lindbergh did not meet his bride-to-be in New York, nor was he in evidence at the Morrow estate. It was reported that he was expected there later in the day, but no definite time was given for his arrival.

The estate is one of the show places of Englewood—a great rambling white brick house set atop a series of terraces dotted with daffodils.

The Morrow party avoided the crowd which waited in Grand Central station to greet them, by leaving their train at the 125th Street station. They were met by J. J. Morrow, brother of the ambassador to Mexico, and his wife, and hurried to the auto which awaited them.

A crowd, held in check with difficulty by the police, pushed about the car as the party entered it, and a half dozen photographers' flashlights flared, while Miss Anne blushed and smiled.

"Where's Lindy?" was the cry heard from many of the watchers and when a tall young man was singled out as the flier, they surged about him, only to voice their disappointment as they discovered their mistake.

Another young man, whose name could not be obtained, greeted Miss Elizabeth, however.

The party was driven immediately to the 125th street ferry on the Hudson river and afterward motored to the family estate.

NO COMPLAINT AGAINST CREW OF THE VESTRIS

LONDON, May 2—(AP)—Chief Officer F. W. Johnson, senior officer surviving the sinking of the British steamship Vestris, today told the inquiry court of the board of trade that he had no complaint or criticism of any member of the crew although the firemen three times abandoned their posts and near the end of the fatal voyage the engineers themselves were stoking.

"That seems rather an excess of generosity," interposed counsel for the engineering officer after Mr. Johnson had told how he three times ordered the Negro firemen back to their posts, "to say there was nothing to complain of."

"Well, there was no panic," Johnson replied.

MANY DEATHS, HEAVY LOSS FROM SERIES OF TORNADOES

In the Village of Rye Cove, Va., 19 Children Were Killed and About 100 Injured When School House Was Demolished—Some of the Children Were Blown a Hundred Feet From the Building—At Morgantown, Va., 50 Persons Were Injured and Between 30 and 40 Houses Were Wrecked—Storms Caused Damage to Buildings and Crops in Eleven States.

(By the Associated Press)

Approximately two score persons were killed by storms which swept through the south and middle west today.

Accompanied by tornadic blasts which caused widespread damage to buildings and crops, storms swept scattered points in eleven states—Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Arkansas.

Upwards of 200 persons were reported injured.

A school house at Rye Cove, Va., was demolished, killing 19 children, injuring seven others seriously and nearly 100 less seriously.

A cell block in the city jail at Columbus, O., was demolished; two prisoners were killed and twenty injured.

The high school building at Woodville, Va., was blown down and one boy was killed. An undetermined number was injured.

Two persons were killed and more than ten injured in a wind storm which struck the outskirts of Jacksonville, Fla.

Several houses were destroyed at Morgantown, W. Va.

Crops were damaged and wires blown down in Missouri and Illinois where the storm was accompanied by sleet and snow.

The storm caused the death of five persons in Arkansas; two in Tennessee and one in Alabama, with more than a score injured.

Heavy rains and gales prevailed in the east and south and the weather bureau at Washington issued a storm warning for most of the Atlantic coast from Florida to Virginia.

19 SCHOOL CHILDREN KILLED, 100 INJURED

RYE COVE, Va., May 2—(AP)—Sweeping into the Nolichuckey valley, a tornado today levelled the Rye Cove Consolidated school, killed nineteen children, injured seven so critically that physicians did not expect them to recover, and left approximately 100 others less seriously hurt.

The tornado struck about a half a mile down the valley from the school, overturned several buildings and took the roofs from others before ripping the two story frame school asunder and strewing the wreckage over a distance of several hundred yards. Some of the children were blown a hundred feet from the building while others were buried in the debris.

Twelve dead had been identified tonight and seven other bodies were held. Ambulances summoned from Bristol and Kingsport assisted private automobiles and trucks in taking the seriously injured to Clinchport, ten miles away where a Southern railway train was converted into a hospitol to take the injured to Bristol for treatment.

The tornado struck the school building about one o'clock central time just after the children had entered it from the midday recess.

Newspapermen who went to the scene from Kingsport, Tenn., ten miles away found a scene of great confusion. Bodies of the dead had been removed from the wreckage to nearby houses and the injured were being carried to Clinchport. Parents and friends were running about frantically in search of missing children.

Several of the eight teachers at the school not seriously injured were attempting to assist with the injured.

The school was a seven room building situated on a high plateau in the rolling hills between the mountains. Its enrollment was 250 students and the teachers estimated that about 225 were in school when the tornado struck.

The wind lifted the building from its foundation, leaving the floors.

The upper stories disintegrated as the wind tore it asunder, pieces of the wreckage being blown in some instances more than 400 yards away. One empty house near the school was demolished and virtually every building in the vicinity of the school was damaged.

30 TO 40 HOUSES WRECKED AND 50 PERSONS INJURED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 2—(AP)—Between 30 and 40 houses were wrecked and about 50 persons injured, 15 seriously by a cyclone which struck Morgantown early tonight.

No deaths were reported.

The storm, which came in two sections from up and down the Monongahela river, converted on North Morgantown and ripped through the residential suburbs of Evansdale and Riverside and the industrial district where a number of large glass plants are located.

The Morgantown Country club's $200,000 clubhouse was partly wrecked. Several persons suffered minor injuries there. Others on the golf course escaped by seeking whatever shelter they could find.

Riverside, across the Monongahela river from Morgantown, apparently was hit hardest. Numerous homes there were demolished and in some instances the buildings were turned completely over.

Telephone and electric light service to the storm areas was disrupted and rescue workers were forced to proceed in semi-darkness. The American Red Cross was providing temporary shelter for the storm victims.

One thousand pigeons were either killed or escaped as a large coop of the Morgantown Squab company was wrecked.

PART OF JAIL WAS DEMOLISHED BY STORM

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 2—(AP)—A wind storm swept northeastward across the heart of Columbus late today and demolished a part of the city jail, killing two prisoners and injuring eight others, six of them seriously. One fireman and a police secretary also were injured in clearing away the debris at the prison.

Attaining its highest velocity about three quarters of a mile from the corner of High and Broad streets, the wind wrecked an oil filling station, unroofed one residence, shattered the east and the west walls of the city jail and then spent its force in the streets to the northwest.

The jail was the worst sufferer. Only a small part of the west wall was left standing. The lower end of the east war was ripped away and the north wall had to be torn down to prevent the danger of further injuries.

The dead prisoners were:

Deril Devore, 38, Columbus, put in jail this morning on a charge of intoxication.

Henry Washington, 47, Negro, Columbus.

STORM LEVELLED SEVERAL HUNDRED APPLE TREES

ARENDTSVILLE, Pa., May 3—(AP)—Two brick houses, a concrete garage and several hundred apple trees on the edge of this town were levelled by a windstorm which struck this section late this afternoon.

Extensive damage also was done to telephone and electric power lines. No one was injured.

HIGH SCHOOL AND CHURCH DEMOLISHED AT CULPEPPER

CULPEPPER, Va., May 2—(AP)—One boy was killed and an unknown number of persons injured when a storm demolished the high school building at Woodville, near here today. The Episcopal church of the town was said to have been blown from its foundations.

MAN KILLED BY TWISTER AT JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 2—(AP)—A small twister struck Jacksonville Heights late today, killing one man and injuring more than a dozen persons.

Matt Hoefter, 55, was killed when the tornado picked up his house and dropped it into a nearby field.

Property damage was estimated at about $75,000.

SPANISH ROYAL MAIL SHIP RAMMED FREIGHTER

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—The Christobal Colon of the Spanish Royal Mail, with 1,000 passengers for Spain, rammed an anchored freighter in the ship channel at quarantine today, plowing 15 feet into the smaller vessel's hold.

The freighter, the River Orontes of The American-Levant line inbound from Algeria with cargo, had dropped anchor in a gray haze for medical inspection when the passenger liner, more than twice her size, slid out of the midst and cut her open.

The River Orontes rapidly took water but the liner's prow was fast in her side and though she settled fast at the stern she stayed afloat while wireless messages brought coast guard, fire boats and harbor tugs to the rescue.

No effort was made in the deep waters of the lower harbro's ship channel to pull the locked craft apart, lest the freighter sink, but instead the Cristobal Colon nosed the River Orontes over into the shallows.

The passenger liner, with a great gash in her bow, returned under her own steam to her pier.

The ships separated shortly after most of the freighter's crew of 57 had been taken off. The 15 foot hole was above the waterline when the River Orontes came to an even keel on the mud bottom as she slipped free. Preparations were made to tow her to her pier.

The Cristobal Colon is of 16,832 tons displacement and the River Orontes of only 4,350.

REPORT REPARATIONS CONFERENCE STILL ALIVE

PARISH, May 2—(AP)—Negotiations for the settlement of German reparations at the second Dawes committee remained at a standstill tonight after a conversation between Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who had just returned from Berlin.

Neither Mr. Young nor Dr. Schacht and his colleagues would disclose the nature of their talk, further than that it got down to essentials. They would draw no conclusions from their conversations.

All that experts of the other delegations would say after they had been acquainted with the substance of Dr. Schacht's talk with Mr. Young, was that the conference still was alive.

Dr. Schacht himself intimated that a final decision would be reached within a couple of days, but declined to indicate whether he hoped that it would be favorable to an accord.

GENEVA CONFERENCE NOT TO DEAL WITH NAVAL PROBLEM

GENEVA, May 2—(AP)— Complete agreement has been reached by the big five naval powers to refrain from detailed examination of the naval problem at the present session of the preparatory commission for a disarmament conference it was learned tonight in responsible circles.

The American delegation declined to discuss the matter. From other sources it was learned also that the powers had agreed to refrain from appointing a naval sub-committee to work on the problem in the light of the recent American proposals.

WEATHER BUREAU WARNS OF A NORTHEAST STORM

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—The following advisory storm warning was issued at 9:30 o'clock tonight by the weather bureau:

"Southeast warning ordered north of New London, Conn., to Eastport, Maine, and warnings changed to northeast Jacksonville to New London. Storm of great intensity central over Lake Erie, moving northeastward."

DELEGATES REPORT EVENTS OF D. A. R. CONGRESS

Fanny Ledyard chapter, D. A. R., held their May meeting Wednesday afternoon in Masonic temple, Mrs. Estella B. Bailey, the regent, presiding. One application for membership was reported by the registrar. An invitation was received for the chapter to the May luncheon of Lucretia Shaw chapter, New London Monday next. Those planning to attend are, the regent, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs George S. Scott, ex-regent, Mrs. H. A. Sinclair, Mrs. A. O. Colby, Mrs. S. A. Boylen, Miss Julia Foote and S. A. Boylen, Miss Julia Foote and Miss M. Josephine Dickinson. Mrs. S. Z. Chesebro was chosen to represent the the chapter, with other organizations, in the meeting to select a person to tend to placing flags along the streets when occasion calls for it, instead of the work being done by volunteers, as formerly. It was planned to hold a food sale. The nominating committee chosen is Mrs. A. O. Colby, Mrs. G. A. Thompson and Miss M. Josephine Dickinson. The next meeting is to be June 11th and Mrs. Scott has invited the chapter to meet at her home. Following the business session, Mrs. Bailey, regent and Miss Dickinson, delegate, gave interesting reports of the 38th Continental Congress held in Washington, D. C., April 15 to 20, which they attended. Sandwiches, cake and tea were served by the committee.

Mrs. Nicholas Shepler of Greenport, L. I., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingram of Burnet's Corners.

Miss Agnes Austin and Mrs. James Stanton are visiting their aunt Mrs. Harry Wainwright in Stoneham, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bushnell and Howard Bushnell, of Occum, Mrs. John Lawrence, of Norwich and Mrs. William Wheeler of Groton Long Point visited Mrs. Joseph Austin, on Tuesday.

Mrs. F. C. Wheeler is ill at her home on High street.

The Light That Failed.

Most of the residents of Mystic and Old Mystic were "in the dark" early Wednesday evenin, electric lights not coming on until after 8 o'clock.

Miss Lois Kinney, a student at Froebel Kindergarten school, Bridgeport, is at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs. L. E. Kinney.

Fred Gledhill and family moved to Plymouth, Mass., Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Paige who have been spending the winter in Candler, Fla., have returned to Mystic and have opened their home on Church street.

Mrs. Lizzie D. Wilbur of Stonington attended the D. A. R. meeting here, Wednesday.

Moving to New York.

Walter Sheehan and family are to move to New York soon and have rented their place on West Main street to Mr. and Mrs. Halford Perry.

Maisie Wilcox, daughter of Henry Wilcox has measles.

Miss Antoinette Burdick, R. N., of Norwich spent Wednesday night with Miss Fay Johnson, of Old Mystic.

Wallace A. Phillips was in New London Thursday visiting his mother, who is very ill with pneumonia.

Sold at Auction.

The Edwin L. Houche property at Burnet's Corners, Mrs. Gladys L. Flint, administratrix, was sold at auction Wednesday, to Mrs. George W. Ingram.

METHODIST INTERESTS CONSIDERED AT MEETING

The first official board meeting of the year for Mystic Methodist church was held after the mid-week worship Wednesday evening. It was voted to hold the meetings every first Wednesday of the month from now on. The meeting considered the matter of moving the partition in the parsonage and installing a bath-tub and make other necessary changes in the bath room. The contemplated improvements for labor and material would cost at least one hundred dollars. G. W. Wallace has volunteered to give the labor of moving the partition and two other interested parties have promised fifty dollars toward the rest of the undertaking. The matter was unanimously referred to the trustees for favorable action. Certain other minor repairs at the parsonage were also referred to them.

It was voted to recommence the publication of the church calendars. Miss Gladys Barber has consented to assist the pastor in the preparation.

People who use Church and Willow streets, have ruined the church lawn by taking a short cut across the corner. It was decided to regrade and seed the lawn and erect a fence to prevent trespassing. G. W. Wallace, chosen a committee to look after the matter, needs the assistance of the men and volunteers were asked for.

At the morning service Sunday next there is to be a brief sermon and the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be observed, the first service of the kind during the present conference year. Mrs. Bertha Wythee is leader of the Epworth league next Sunday evening. The meeting will consider the question of summer institutes for training workers.

Tuesday evening, May 7, is a special meeting at the Mystic Methodist church, taking the place of the regular Wednesday meeting. This is a meeting held under the direction of the District World Service council and will have cooperating the Methodist churches of Old Mystic, Noank and Westerly. Dr. H. Reeves Calkins of India, is to be the principal speaker. He is a noted author and missionary. The pageant, "What World Service is Doing," will be provided by Mrs. Grace Bitgood of New London, with eighteen taking part. The meeting is open to the public.

At the official board meeting Mrs. Wallace was asked to be church correspondent providing news items for the several papers.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall or Liggett Drug Store.

ELKS APPOINT COMMITTEES TO HANDLE ANNUAL FAIR

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 3—Under the supervision of a general committee an organization of committees is being perfected by Willimantic lodge, No. 1311, B. P. O. Elks for completing the arrangements of the Elks' annual country fair which will be staged at the Elks' park, August 29, 30 and 31 and September 1 (Labor day). Preparations this year are getting into full swing some two months earlier than in previous years. This is partly due to the fact that the 1929 fair will in every detail assume gigantic proportions over even the great fairs previously staged.

General Chairman Aime J. Martineau has announced the personnel of the following sub-committees: Tickets, Nelson A. Daniels, chairman; Harry J. Gaucher, George W. Hickey, Albert J. Fournier, William P. Kelley; midway, Maurice S. Leonard, chairman, William B. Sweeney, R. W. Downer, N. A. Daniels, Thomas Donovan, Edgar W. Jacobs; advertising, Lester M. Shea, chairman; exhibition, Charles H. Palmer, chairman; refreshments, Gilbert P. Flynn, chairman; grounds, Aime J. Martineau, chairman; Paul L. Moran, Harry S. Gaucher, Roy W. Downer; entertainment, Harry S. Gaucher, chairman, Lester M. Shea, Maurice S. Leonard, Roy W. Downer, Gerard E. Loiselle; dancing, Robert Casey, chairman; finance, Aime J. Martineau, John H. Wilcox, George W. Hickey; publicity, R. W. Downer, chairman, Gilbert P. Flynn, G. E. Loiselle; purchasing, Aime J. Martineau, N. A. Daniels, W. B. Sweeney, W. H. Smith, M. S. Leonard and Paul L. Moran.

Albert J. Piche has been appointed superintendent of the grounds, a position which he held with credit last year. The members are already receiving the tickets from Secretary Louis J. Flynn. The 1929 ticket, superceding all others includes two airplanes, seven automobiles and a speed boat.

Announcement has been made by Ernest E. LaFleur, chairman of the athletic committee that the final bowling banquet would be held at Clearwater Inn, East Hampton on the evening of Tuesday, May 21. A movement is now underway to organize a golf team with the hope of engaging with other lodges during the season.

The absolute freedom of St. Paul's Episcopal church from indebtedness was celebrated with the sixth anniversary of the rectorate of Rev. Frederick C. Williams at a jubilee gathering of the parishioners in the church house Wednesday evening. A dinner was served in the Nathan Hale hotel to members of the vestry. The rector and Rt. Rev. E. Campion Acheson, bishop, were guests of honor. The erasure of any and all debts against the church was announced by Treasurer William E. Higgins. The final clearance was made possible through a generous response to the Easter offering in compliance with a request of the rector and the proceeds of a public entertainment, coupled with a generous check for the balance received from Bert C. Hallock.

The social program at the church house follows: Concert, St. Paul's band, Rev. Mr. Williams, director. Selections by a band sextet comprising Hadley Williams and Stanley Harris, cornet, Rev. Mr. Williams baritone, Wilbur Hill, basso, Norman Pulz, trombone and Carlyle Johnson, saxophone. Addresses: Rev. Mr. Williams, Dr. Louis I. Mason, senior warden; Mr. Higgins, treasurer and Bishop Acheson. Instrumental numbers by Joseph W. Bernet's Big Four Musical Troubadours. Impromptu farce entitled The Elephant Hunt. Refreshments. One-act play, Squaring It With the Boss with the following players: Kenneth Biggs, Miss Gladys Powell, Miss Edna Carpenter, Lloyd Williams, Miss Rosetta Albro and Lawrence Smith. Closing number by the band.

The fact that this section of Connecticut ranks second as the largest egg producing district and the proximity of Connecticut Agricultural college creates a general interest here in National Egg week which is now being observed. It is recalled that last year, under arrangement of the chamber of commerce, Willimantic entered physically into National Egg week with a city-wide display of eggs, brooders and chicks which were shown in various store windows along the street of the downtown district. Several civic and social organizations called for egg menus for dinners and luncheons held during the week.

In an intensive effort to put their organization on a sound financial footing the members of James J. Shea post, No. 19, American Legion will stage a whist and dance Friday evening. The committee headed by William M. Mann have received a large number of offers from merchants desiring to donate prizes for the whist and otherwise lend assistance to make the event a success. The result of this co-operation has been that unusually attractive prizes, including two tons of coal, a floor lamp, toaster, two smoking stands, etc., will be given away. The Peerless orchestra will play for the dance.

The quarterly Guernsey meeting will be held at the Baptist church here Monday, May 6, at 7 p. m., standard time, it was announced today by Frank T. Anderson of the Windham County Guernsey association. Supper will be served by the ladies of the Baptist church. The program will consist of a short business meeting followed by a talk by Mr. E. G. Woodward, superintendent of Grassland Farms, Taconic, Conn., and a short talk by A. R. Merrill, extension dairy specialist of Storrs. The committee in charge consists of Fred Rosebrooks, Frank T. Anderson and William C. Child, with County Agent R. E. Wing cooperating.

The 27 Windham high school seniors who made the educational trip to Washington, D. C., in company with similar delegations from Rockville, Manchester and Glastonbury, returned here Wednesday evening. Mrs. Cecelia Mahoney and Miss Isabelle Service, members of the faculty had acted as chaperones on the trip. The seniors were charmed with the beauty of the capitol and its neighboring points of interest including Mount Vernon. Many of them enjoyed their first aeroplane ride in Washington.

Ralph Arthur, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Mott of 406 Valley street, died at the home of his parents early this morning. He was born in this city, February 17, a son of Frank W. and Ida Knapp Mott. Besides his parents he leaves one brother, Myron, and a sister, Dorothy Mott.

Two scaffolds have been swung from the top of the 87 foot brick stack of the Windham Silk company and from these perilous perches half a dozen workmen are making much needed repairs to the stack, including repointing the mortar and cleaning the outside of the chimney. The stack was built 42 years ago at the same time the plant buildings were erected. At the crown of the chimney it was necessary to replace some 400 bricks that were in danger of falling off.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Florence Desrosiers of 37 Broad street at the home of her sister, Mrs. Paul Belanger of 38 Broad street, Wednesday night in honor of her approaching marriage to Eugene Noel of Hartford. The bride-elect received many beautiful gifts. The guests: The Misses Claudia Belanger, Blanche Morrissette, Blanche Ducharme, Rose and Mary Riguier, Loretta Lussier and Florence Desrosiers, Mrs. Alcide Cote, Mrs. Armand Bernard, Mrs. David Caya, Mrs. Louis Harvey, Mrs. Berth Rail, Sr., Mrs. Arthur Bosse, Mrs. Alfred Vertefeuille, Mrs. Arsene Vertefeuille, Mrs. Berth Rail, Jr., Mrs. Denis Vertefeuille, Mrs. Clement Lussier, Mrs. Joseph Vertefeuille, Mrs. Aimee Desrosiers, Mrs. Alfred Desrosiers, Mrs. Paul Belanger.

Airplanes coming from the Hartford field have been hovering over the city since Monday bearing cameramen who are photographing the town of Windham to establish a map that will be used in the revaluation of property. This photographic work is part of the contract for this work which was awarded by the selectmen pursuant to a town meeting vote last Friday. As soon as the aerial maps are completed a force of experts will come into the city to measure property and do other work leading to a revaluation.

Funeral services for William Brown were held at the grave in the new Willimantic cemetery at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Rev. H. H. Critchlow of the Methodist church officiated. Avery and VanZandt were in charge of arrangements.

The monthly meeting of the Young Women's Bible class of the Baptist church was held at the home of Miss Cecelia England in Chaplin Wednesday evening with about 35 in attendance. Miss England, the hostess, was assisted by Mrs. William Shippee, Mrs. J. Medbery and Miss Janice Southward. Mrs. J. Homer Hawkins and Mrs. Russell A. Andrews acted as a transportation committee.

The Jewish Passover closed at sunset today after an eight day duration. The final devotions were held from 5 to 6 o'clock at the synagogue with Rabbi Max Levine officiating.

A large increase in contagious diseases than for any other month in the past two years was shown in the returns of local physicians to City Health Officer Dr. P. W. Keating for the month of April. The total number of cases was 37 divided as follows: Whooping cough 8, chickenpox 12, bronchial pneumonia 3, German measles 3, scarlet fever 2, diphtheria 1, and lobar pneumonia 1.

COLCHESTER

FOURTEEN DOGS KILLED DURING RECENT WEEKS

According to the records kept by Town Clerk John Condren, out of a total of 292 dogs owned in the town of Colchester, 14 have been killed during the past few weeks by Dog Warden H. F. Brown. Two hundred and sixty-two have so far been registered for the new year starting May 1.

Leon Rathbun, of Hebron, and Timothy O'Connell, of East Haddam, were here Wednesday.

Colchester grange, No. 78, P. of H., held a well-attended meeting in Grange hall Wednesday evening, with Worthy Master Gerhardt presiding.

Mrs. Robert E. Greene is making several days' visit with relatives in Westerly, R. I.

Has Eleven Fine Horses

Fred O. Brown was a visitor Tuesday in Providence, where he purchased six pure-bred saddle horses. He now has a stable of 11 horses at his estate on South Main street.

L. H. Maples, of East Hampton, was a caller here Thursday.

Bradford Jones, of Lebanon, was visiting friends in the village Wednesday evening.

Work is progressing in shingling the big roof of the Congregational church.

Joaquim Gomez has returned from a number of months' visit with relatives in Spain.

Several local sportsmen were wading the brooks on the outskirts of the village Thursday in search of trout. No large catches were reported, so that Lloyd W. Brown still holds the record so far this season, with his recent string of 18-ounce beauties.

A school district in Hottbridge, England, is divided into two bitter factions over a move to place a shower bath in the schoolhouse. The opposition is led by a member of the school board who declares he has not had a bath in 10 years and dares the probathers to produce a healthier specimen than he is. The antis also use as an argument an old man of 90 who vows he has not had a bath since his mother quit washing him at 10.

HOUSE OVERRIDES COMMITTEE REPORT ON SCHOOL CHILDREN TRANSPORTATION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

HARTFORD, May 2—Among the bills passed today was one that repealed entirely chapter twenty-four of the general statutes which provides for home rule in towns. The bill annexing a part of the town of Ledyard to the town of Preston was passed.

The territory affected is described as: Beginning on the dividing line between the town of Preston and the town of Ledyard, a short distance easterly from the village of Poquetanuck, and where said line crosses the southwesterly side of the road leading from Poquetanuck village to Ledyard, and running thence south eighty degrees and ten minutes west, about seventeen hundred feet, to the center of a brook and at the dividing line between land of the state of Connecticut and the estate of Henry J. Gallup; thence northerly, northwesterly and westerly along the center of said brook and pond to the Poquetanuck cove; thence northerly and northwesterly along said cove to the present dividing line between the towns of Preston and Ledyard; thence southeasterly along the present dividing line to the place of beginning.

Sec. 2. All unpaid taxes due and to become due to the town of Ledyard, laid on the list of October, 1928, and upon all prior lists, shall remain due to and collectible by said town of Ledyard; and all tax liens outstanding shall remain valid in favor of said town in the same manner and to the same extent as if this act had not been passed. All tax liens in favor of the town of Ledyard may be continued upon any real estate situated in the territory hereby annexed by the recording in the land records in the town of Ledyard of the certificates provided for by the general statutes.

Sec. 3. All persons residing in the territory hereby annexed to the town of Preston, whose names appeared in the last voting lists of said town of Ledyard shall be added to the list of electors of the town of Preston, and such persons shall be entitled to vote at the annual town meeting in the town of Preston to be held on the first Monday of October, 1929.

House bill 742 was reported unfavorably in the house. The bill provided for an appropriation of $400,000 for the transportation of elementary school children. The house was circularized with an appeal printed in flaming red print, asking the house to support the bill. Chairman Clark of the appropriations committee defended the adverse report. In review of the amounts already allocated it was shown that at this time the budget and special appropriations amounted to $8,685,000. The bill for educational purposes if passed would assist those towns which need it least and would not assist those who need it most.

Money should be given to towns which need it and not to those which have no need of it.

Mrs. Lewis of Stratford, house chairman of the committee on education said that the committee had many times agreed to amend the bill by striking out the objectional features that the appropriations committee were opposed to. The bill will help the small towns of the state. There are towns at present that have no money to pay for transporting children from small schools to larger ones that are better adopted for the proper education of elementary children. There were some schools that had but four or five pupils. Money would be saved and the expense of maintaining a teacher could be used to defray the expense of education.

The bill is designed to assist and relieve the small towns and improve their school facilities. She asked that when the vote was taken the question be divided, that is, upon the acceptance of the report and passage of the bill. It was so voted. Mr. Reimer of Durham, the well known anti-vaccinationist, could see no reason why the appropriation should be rejected when it had passed bills that provided for a junket trip to Washington or a bill that allowed the squirting of poison into cows which it was claimed were tubercular had been approved. Mr. Markham of Hartford objected to the remarks of Mr. Reimer and Judge Hungerford of Watertown asked that the remarks be confined to the bill under discussion.

Rep. George A. Ross of Lisbon felt that the bill should be passed. Lisbon had been obliged to build a central school and some children had to be transported five miles. It was costing Lisbon from $3,000 to $4,000 to transport the children as it is impossible for them to get to school any other way, through the mud-holed road. House Leader Johnson supported the report of the committee against the bill. The bill if passed takes the money from the state and passes it back to the town and they in turn will have to pay it back to the state.

Mrs. Lewis said that was no compulsion in providing central schools. Mrs. Lewis was listened to with close attention. She was heartily applauded. She called for a roll call. It was so ordered by a large vote.

Mr. Wadsworth of Farmington opposed the bill. His town was transporting pupils. He quoted figures showing that some of the larger towns would receive large amounts and the small towns very little. Mr. Hungerford the East Haddam opposed the report of the committee.

The recommendation of the committee was rejected by a vote of 171 against and 74 for acceptance. The bill now goes to the senate under suspension of the rules and will be before that body on Thursday.

The vote by counties was as follows: Hartford county, 30 against acceptance of committee report, 14 for acceptance; New Haven county, 14 against, 24 for; New London county, 24 against, 6 for; Fairfield county, 14 against, 15 for; Windham county, 22 against, 1 for; Litchfield, 31 against, 8 for; Middlesex 16 against, 5 for; Tolland county, 19 against 2 for. The negative vote on the committee's recommendation constitutes the passage of the bill.

HOUSE

The house was called to order at 10:20 by the speaker and prayer was offered by the chaplain of the house.

The house concurred in senate action on bills from that body.

Under suspension of the rules, judges and deputy judges were elected for the newly created town courts in Orange and Watertown. The bill was offered by Mr. Bell of Old Lyme. Judge Peck questioned the division of the question. Miss Cheney called for the previous question. The speaker was called upon to make a ruling and that was, while the house had accepted the committee report, a vote now would be upon the acceptance of the recommendation. A defeat of that would not pass it. The recommendation if defeated would require that it be placed upon the calendar to be acted upon in regular order. At 12:06, House Leader Johnson moved that debate be closed at 12:15, take the roll call and then recess. Rev. Shields of Ridgefield favored the passage of the bill. Scott of Watertown opposed the bill. At 12:17, the roll call upon the roll call resulted in the defeat of the recommendation that the bill be rejected by a vote of 169 nays and 74 yeas. Leader Johnson asked for a suspension of the rules that immediate action might be taken.

A small amendment was offered by Mrs. Lewis that reduced the amount of the appropriation to $271,000. The bill then passed as amended.

At 12:48 a recess was taken till 1:45.

After recess, favorable reports were received on bills concerning the inspection and sale of seeds, and fees of tax collectors. An unfavorable report was made on bill providing for a trunk line from Middlebury Center to federal route No. 6 at Southbury. Among the bills passed from the calendar with A. W. Mitchell of Woodbury in the chair were:

Substitute for H. B. No. 275, an act concerning succession and transfer taxes.

Substitute for H. B. No. 849, an act concerning bake shops.

H. B. No. 969, an act validating acts and deeds valid except for certain irregularities and omissions.

Substitute for H. B. No. 701, an act concerning the licensing and supervision of corporations exercising fiduciary powers.

Substitute for H. B. No. 702, an act to amend chapter 193 of the Public Acts of 1919, increasing the amount which mortgage or guaranty companies may loan on real estate from 60 per cent to 75 per cent of its value.

H. B. No. 977, an act repealing certain obsolete statutes.

H. B. No. 979, an act concerning the purchase of land in the town of Groton to be used as an airport.

H. B. No. 980, an act concerning criminal procedure.

H. B. No. 981, an act authorizing the adjutant general to detail a firing squad to attend the funeral of a veteran.

H. B. No. 982, an act annexing a part of the town of Ledyard to the town of Preston.

S. B. No. 242, an act concerning the detention of persons affected with communicable disease.

Substitute for S. B. No. 337, an act amending the workmen's compensation act.

S. B. No. 520, an act repealing a chapter of the General Statutes relating to home rule by towns.

S. B. No. 519, an act creating a commission to investigate pension system for municipalities.

Adjournment was made to Friday at 10:15, standard time.

SENATE

The senate was called to order at 10:25, standard time, by Lieutenant-Governor Rogers. Chaplain Ayer offered prayer.

Favorable Reports

The following bills were reported favorably and tabled for the calendar:

S. B. No. 391, providing for a custodians and engineers retirement fund in Bridgeport.

S. B. No. 141, providing that in towns of over 10,000, applications for gasoline station permits are to be referred to board of appeals on zoning.

S. B. No. 402, taxing bank stocks no more than double their book value, was rejected in the senate.

The following bill was adopted from the calendar:

S. B. No. 524, appropriating $12,[illegible] to the state board of education [illegible]

NORWICH PROGRESS EXPOSITION.

Every community should have a healthy interest in the variety of goods that are produced within its limits. Frequently surprise is manifested over the fact that this or that thing is manufactured or built in Norwich. There is such a diversity that it is impossible to know about them all unless one is particularly active in getting about among the manufacturing plants and stores. Even then it is easy to skip some of them.

When they are assembled under one roof there is opportunity provided for seeing and appreciating in a comparatively short time what would require days to accomplish in any other way. It is this advantage which is offered by the Norwich Progress exposition sponsored by the Norwich chamber of commerce and in which there is close cooperation on the part of industries and merchants.

People today are concerned in what their own community produces. It is natural that they should be concerned in getting such goods for their own use when such a thing is possible. They appreciate the value of home support for home made goods.

At the same time advantage is taken of the opportunity of presenting various other exhibits of a commercial nature under the same roof for the enlightenment of residents in Norwich and vicinity who are interested in a long list of products which concerns every individual and every household.

Civic interest and pride cannot fail to be manifested in such an undertaking. It makes a particular appeal to those who are interested not only in particular lines of production but in the general manufacturing output of the city. It furnishes the means of stimulating interest which will last far beyond the short life of the exposition and which should be instrumental in developing industrial and business activity.

The exposition is by no means an experiment. It has been tried with signal success before and the manner in which the various exhibitors have entered into the effort bespeaks a repetition of previous results. There usually is no difficulty in getting Norwich interested in what Norwich produces.

INVESTIGATING MELLON.

The manner in which the senate committee is dragging over the question as to whether Secretary Mellon is eligible to be the head of the treasury department indicates that there are some among its members who are working hard to try to find something that will be unfavorable to the secretary. As yet they have not succeeded, however much they might like to.

They began work with the opinion of the attorney general that Mr. Mellon is eligible to hold the office, that he has not violated the law which requires anyone holding that place in the cabinet shall not be directly or indirectly concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce.

They have found out that Mr. Mellon has given up his directorships in corporations, and divorced himself from the various activities in which he was interested. They have been told that he has retained some of his stock in various organizations, and there is one member who has brought up the claim that Mr. Mellon made a trip to Canada in the interest of one large corporation although he admitted that the information concerning it was rather "vague". Since then the committee has been told that the "vague" feature of the information was correct for it was a brother of Mr. Mellon who made the trip and whose signature appears upon the papers which were signed at that time.

The committee is spending its time trying to determine if a person owning stock in a corporation is engaged in "carrying on the business of trade or commerce," when it must seem quite evident to many stockholders in corporations that such isn't and cannot be the case.

As previous investigations have shown, Mr. Mellon has taken strict care to see that he did not run counter to the long standing law. He has been devoting his time to the work of the government. It is quite evident that those who drew up the law had in mind not the stockholder but the person who was engaged in "carrying on" the business of trade or commerce, those actually involved in directing affairs of a business nature so they would have set forth that stockholders were barred instead of bearing down on the point that it mentioned those "carrying on the business."

THE NATIONAL ORIGINS FIGHT

The national origins method of restricting immigration will go into effect the first of July unless action is taken by the extra session of congress to delay it. Such action is urged but there is opposition to any interruption and some of the opponents are especially determined in their attitude. This gives indications that if the national origins plan is held up it will be after an interesting fight.

This plan has been brought forward for the purpose of further reducing immigration. At the present time immigration is restricted by quotas for the various nations so that about 164,000 are allowed to come in yearly. That represents a large reduction from other years but it is planned that it will be cut to 153,000 under the national origins plan.

It was obligatory that the president should sign the bill putting the national origins into effect the first of July but he followed up his action by urging that the date when it should go into effect should be delayed. The national origins plan has encountered opposition because it is believed that there will be insurmountable difficulty experienced in determining the national origins of the people of this country in order to carry out the requirements of the law.

Others have voiced their opposition to the plan because they believe that it will mean a restriction of those from the country whence they came. This is true of those from a number of countries in northern Europe. Claims have been made that the plan will mean a reduction in the number coming into the country from southern European countries but opponents of the plan insist otherwise.

As matters stand now the law is ready to go into effect. Whether the operation of the plan can be upset or delayed is a question. There are two months in which to act and while there was at one time a strong feeling that suspension would be authorized, it is apparent that the opponents of that course are making a hard fight to prevent it, and it is a matter which does not hinge at the present time upon partisanship. Whatever the outcome the difference in the number who can be admitted will amount to only about 11,000.

HENRY H. GALLUP.

In the death of Henry H. Gallup Norwich has suffered a distinct loss. He was one of the staunch and true citizens upon whom much reliance was placed and there was never any question as to how his influence would be shed.

In a long and active career, all of which has been spent in Norwich or its near vicinity, he has been an ardent worker for the community's welfare. He was ready at all times to lend his voice and assistance to the promotion of what he believed was for the best interests of the city and it was more often than otherwise that his counsel carried conviction.

For a long period of years he has worked for the upbuilding of the city and its industrial development. Through personal effort and through civic organizations he has been a leader. He was ever an optimist, a man of pleasing personality, easy to approach and kindly inclined but firm in his opinions.

He was particularly active and influential in having the Norwich state hospital located here and his interest in that institution has never abated. It was characteristic of him to give his best in every thing he undertook whether it involved organizations or municipal efforts. He was a strong republican and served for two terms as secretary of state but was otherwise not interested in holding public office.

The influence of such a citizen cannot fail to leave its impress upon a community for a long time to come. He was a man among men, a gentleman of the old school, such as any city can ill afford to lose, and in his passing the city has lost one of its leading citizens whose passing will be the cause for sincere regret.

TROLLEYS GIVE WAY TO BUSSES.

Another straw showing how the wind is blowing is furnished by the announcement coming from the public relations manager of the United Electric Railways company doing business extensively in Rhode Island to the effect that the trolley cars which have been doing business in the city of Woonsocket will be abandoned and henceforth the service which they have been giving will be rendered by busses. For the time being an express trolley service between Woonsocket and Providence will be continued but that, it is believed, is due to be replaced by motor vehicles.

This is a continuance of that change which has been going on for a number of years. Many are the suburban lines which have fallen before the busses. Some have even thrown up their hands without thought of giving service otherwise, but for the most part their passing has been followed by the establishment of bus lines which continue to thrive.

While lines outside of cities had been considered doomed to such a change, the feeling has been generally expressed that the trolleys would continue to maintain their hold in the cities for the accommodation of the class to which they particularly cater. But from the experience in Woonsocket there is no certainty as to that for it has evidently been found that better and less expensive service can be rendered by busses than by the running of electric cars with their large overhead. Woonsocket makes its change without any change in fares and there is no doubt but what the step that is being taken there will be watched with keen interest by operators of trolleys elsewhere. It is a move that has been forced because of the changed conditions.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Progress exposition is one thing in which Norwich should be especially interested.

The man on the corner says: Even May isn't able to completely shake off that April influence.

The new congress doesn't seem to have discovered that Washington is not the most enjoyable summer resort.

There is always something about housecleaning season that almost makes Home, Sweet Home unpopular.

MARIE MAKES A GRAND SLAM

Jim was hot, tired and hungry as he approached his home, and the one thing that bore him up was anticipation of the delicious dinner that Marie would have ready for him. Therefore when he cut through the alley, entered the kitchen of the apartment and found his wife hastily getting together a meal of cold ham and leftovers it was a terrible shock.

But he managed to hide his disappointment while he kissed her, and he even had the grace to inquire if she had had a good time at the club.

"Fine!" she answered gleefully. "I was second high and got a cute little towel as prize. I'll have dinner ready in a jiffy."

Jim really deserved a good deal of credit for taking the loss of that anticipated dinner so well. He had been on the point of registering a complaint, but he remembered in time how seldom Marie went out.

He managed to be passably attentive at dinner, while she told him of her splendid bridge hands and toward the end of the meal he took a part in the conversation himself.

"I got the bonds from the safety deposit box today," he announced.

"Oh, did you?" said Marie. "Where are they?"

"In my coat pocket hanging on the chair there."

"Why, Jim, you shouldn't leave those bonds around like that. Why don't you put them away?"

"Oh, they're all right," he said testily. "Nobody's going to break into the house while we're eating."

"Just the same, you'd better put them away. I don't see why you brought them home from the bank at all."

"I brought them home because I wanted to look them over," he replied with growing irritation. "I like to know something about the securities I own." Marie was silent. She was tactful enough to know when it was unwise to go further with certain subjects.

Jim was a little ashamed of himself for his ill humor and he resolved to be more agreeable for the balance of the evening. But no sooner had he settled down to his paper again than from the kitchen there came a terrible rumbling and groaning.

Jim leaped to his feet and strode to the kitchen.

"For heaven's sake," he cried. "How long am I going to listen to that? I thought you were going to have the plumber up today to fix that faucet."

"I was," said Marie gently, "but when I called him this morning the line was busy and later I forgot it in my hurry to get to the club."

"Well, it seems to me that holding the apartment together is as important as your darn club!" he exploded. He gazed angrily at the offending faucet, which looked much too innocent to cause the horrible clatter that came from it each time it was turned on.

"I'll get the plumber myself tomorrow," growled Jim. "If anything's to be done around here, I have to do it."

That was too much for Marie, and she replied sharply. Then the battle was on, to rage with scarcely an armistice until bedtime.

Jim and Marie were both heavy sleepers, and they were both tired, so that an ordinary noise would never have awakened them. But about midnight they sat bolt upright in bed, wide awake and startled. From the kitchen came that terrible rumbling and clanging.

"Jim!" gasped Marie. "Somebody's in the kitchen!"

He jumped out of bed, hurried to the bureau and took out his service pistol. Suddenly Marie uttered a cry.

"Jim! Your bonds! Did you leave them in your coat?"

With a shock he remembered that he had done just that. Followed by Marie's frightened whispers to be careful, he advanced stealthily but pugnaciously toward the kitchen.

The pistol was held ready as he quietly pushed open the door and flashed on the light. The kitchen was deserted, but the window above the sink was open and the screen had been removed.

He closed the window, locked it, and telephoned the police to tell them there was a housebreaker in the neighborhood. Then he took the bonds from his coat, still hanging over a dining room chair, and placed them carefully under his pillow.

"He must have hit that faucet as he climbed in the window," Jim said to Marie in a friendly tone, "and the horrible noise scared him away. And if it hadn't been for that darn noise, I'm afraid we'd have been pretty poor by morning."

"Yep. G'night, dear." Marie's voice was sleepy, and her pillow hid both her smile and the look of triumph in her eyes.—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Who Knows?

Mr. Editor: I enjoy, and find most interesting, your Eastern Connecticut information department.

Can you tell me who was Harriet Holt, wife of Henry Holt of Spring Garden, Rochdale, Lancashire, England, who died in Yantic Village July 15, 1852, aged 22, and is buried in the Old Norwich Town burying ground?

Meditations

Mr. Editor: Has the reader ever given a thought on the evolution of light and the different ways of lighting the homes? Do you recall when we used to have a regular Saturday job of making tallow "dips" or candles, if you will? I do not think I exaggerate when I say that in many old attics there is hidden away some old candle mould even today, dusty and forgotten. It will bring you recollections of one of the early methods of lighting. These candles were used for reading, and then your eyes were keener and stronger than they are today. Then came the kerosene lamps and these were fine examples of the brass workers art, for the lamps were made in many fanciful designs. Then we see the gas always carrying with them an element of danger through the leaking of pipes or gas jets.

Today we have the wonder electric lights with their brilliance almost turning night into day, with the different colored lamps making an effect like a fairy land.

Still your mind turns back to the days of candle light. With its soft and solemn glow with all its flickering shadows that are wavering to and fro. You light a candle and go up into the attic of your old home and in the dim light of the attic you search around. You look in many forgotten places and you unearth many boyish treasures that call forth many visions of other days. Perhaps a book, that you had read when a boy, and it filled your mind with the thoughts of those days. Here you find a copy of Robinson Crusoe with your name written on the margin of nearly every page. You recall that you had thought when you became a man you were going to take your old dog and go and live on an island just like Crusoe. You also find an old Valentine that you haven't seen for years and here is written a verse signed, Mary. This is written in a school girl hand and has an old couplet that is recalled as a memory of your school days. I have seen this self same jingle in many autograph albums even today

Roses are red, violets are blue
You are my beau, and I love you.

Say, you young old people, you remember writing that don't you? Sounds kinder familiar doesn't it? Many other boyish treasures come to light but some way or other that old valentine holds your attention, and you think as you look at it of the Mary who signed it for you. Remember when you heard your folks say that she had died more than 20 years ago. You see her once again in a mental picture as she looked to you in those school days, but you are told she contracted a cold and it turned into pneumonia. This is a memento of her and you can see her as she used to go coasting down the hill with you, or when you and she would go skating together. All these pictures pass in rapid succession before your eyes. And this is the same story of every one of us of some one whom we knew and loved, and now they have gone. Isn't it a wonderful thing when you return to your old home and, sometime when it is cold, raw, and disagreeable outside, go up in the attic and mooch around? You have a feeling of comfort, as you hear the rain splash against the window, and the wind as it howls around the house. You hear the patter of the rain on the roof and you feel drowsy. Is there any sweeter music that will sing you to sleep. You recline in some old arm chair banished to the attic—on account of one of the arms being broken, but what does that matter to you, for there are many boyish treasures to claim your attention. You sit there and dream and the thoughts of those days are with you and never leave you for they whisper to you and tell you the story that is divine and immortal. The rain as it beats upon the roof fills the deepening twilight with shadowy visions, for this is the music of nature.

It is slowly but surely getting dusk, and I go below with the rest of the family. I sit down before the open fire place and I see the lighted candle on the table. And here are all my old school mates sitting here and talking. The light from the candle sheds a soft rosy light over their faces and it looks like one of the pictures of the old masters. I join in and the time moves all too fast, for we have much to tell each other. It is many years since we met. The beams of light from the fire place cast a ruddy glow upon each one, and I think they have not changed so much in the years which seem only as yesteday. I sit there for everything seems so quiet, save the rattle of the window from a sudden gust of wind. I do not know how long I had been sitting there, but I heard a voice saying: "I really believe you have been sleeping," and they might have added dreaming. But was it a dream? or did I actually go back somewhere—somehow and really see my old pals? who knows? who can tell? Still I have lived life over again in silent meditation.

I read the Social Column very careful, and I wonder who they are. Who is Black-eyed Susan? Who is Thirty-two? All these letters are very interesting but I wonder who they all are. Would they care to tell me?

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—There has been a lot of federal legislation on cotton marketing problems during the last two decades.

It is a subject on which the cotton state contingent in senate or house can wax eloquent on very small provocation. But whatever is done and whatever is said about cotton growing or marketing, the last word seems almost always to rest with Senator Ellison DuRant Smith of South Carolina.

He is by way of being the recognized expert of congress on the subject, although some of his southern brethren now and then challenge him.

Sudden Rise

A glance at Senator Smith's political origin as disclosed in his self-contributed official biography more or less explains his unique standing.

Except for four years in the state legislature, he had no previous political background when he was nominated for the senate at the 1908 primary by the largest vote ever recorded in his state for that office.

He had other things in his record, however, probably of more vote-getting value to him than previous political jobs, for he was one of the prime movers in establishment of the Southern Cotton association in 1905 and was for three years agent and general organizer for that body.

So Senator Smith's study of cotton marketing conditions has been intensive for nearly three decades and founded on his personal experience as a cotton farmer.

Having sat through three months of the investigation he conducted last session into the 1927 cotton slump, the Bystander is prepared to admit that the genial South Carolinian knows a heap about the economics of cotton.

And both the senate and house seem to take the same view of him, for, including the cotton futures act, which he sponsored, there is not a bit of cotton legislation in 20 years that does not bear the Smith stamp upon it some place.

Favors Exchanges

All of which makes his position as to the place of the cotton speculator in the present scheme of things highly interesting.

Senator Smith is in complete disagreement with colleagues from cotton and wheat states who hold this "gambling" element in the marketing machinery primarily responsible for low prices to growers.

To destroy it in the wheat pit or cotton exchanges, the South Carolina senator has told the senate, would leave unorganized growers at the mercy of organized purchasing power.

"I do not believe in burning down the house to kill the rats," he said. "Until we get a system by which we can substitute a better plan for what we have, it is absolutely suicidal to destroy what we have."

YOUR HEALTH

"A Touch of the Flu."

By Charles F. Kuhn, M. D., Detroit, of the Gorgas Memorial Inst.

"A touch of the flu" is a phrase used commonly and lightly by the laiety; it is an almost universal byword on the street, in the office, school, shop and home.

There is a fear complex aroused with the word "flu." Thus it is believed to be the wrong psychology to alarm people with the careless suggestion "You have the flu."

Health authorities have warned the public regarding sanitation, hygiene and the preventive measures against contact and exposure, in connection with this disease. Hospitals have been cautious to allow only operations of necessity and emergencies during the prevalence of this epidemic.

It is of the utmost importance carefully to guard against undue exposure, and to stay in bed with the room at an even temperature. The food should consist of vegetables, fruit, cereals, milk and plenty of pure water. Medical attention is to be advised and the doctor's directions followed until cured.

Many complications follow neglect or self medication of upper respiratory infections, such as pharyngitis, laryngitis, sinusitis, mastoiditis or meningitis. The extension of this infection to the lower respiratory tract is responsible for bronchitis, pneumonia, lung abscess, asthma and heart complications. Then through the blood stream, kidney or gall bladder infections, appendicitis, and other intestinal disturbances are frequently precipitated.

From the above mere suggestions it is obvious that this infection is not a slight disturbance, referred to as "a touch of the flu," but one of the most serious afflictions which may be carried to any vital organ or remote part of the human body.

Whenever the people are aroused by the fear complex of the "flu," all sorts of striking advertising propaganda appear, offering numerous so-called remedies to prevent or to cure this life menacing infection.

Death, suffering or distressing complications together with great financial loss are frequently the result of this misdirected advice.

Consult a reliable physician if you have a cold in the head, cough, feel listless or indisposed.

Stories That Recall Others

Just a Little One

Janice, age five, was reminded to offer thanks at the dinner table. After looking at the food, she said: "Mother, I'll just say the little one tonight because we don't have very much anyway."

"Ten-shun!"

The following story is told by a veteran:

"During my service in the army I was one day corporal in charge of quarters. One of my duties was to escort the officer of the day on his tour of inspection, preceding him into the men's quarters and loudly calling them to attention.

"This day I preceded him up the stairs to the upper floor of our barracks and when half way up loudly shouted, 'Attention!'

"Upon reaching the top of the stairs I found the colonel and a dozen other officers of the regiment standing rigidly at attention. They had picked the place out as a quiet one to get some gas mask drill, and burst out with a wild shout of laughter when they saw me and the second 'dogey' in the rear."

IN THE DAYS NEWS

Uncle Sam's Nine Thousand Islands.

Acceptance by congress of the Samoan Islands as part of the United States' territory definitely adds six more bits of land to the thousands of islands the nation now owns.

"The United States has acquired some 9,000 islands outside the boundaries of the 48 states," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"This host of territorial islands is scattered from the South Pacific north across the Arctice circle. They sprinkle the seas of both hemispheres for a distance of 15,000 miles from St. John, in the Virgin Islands, to Balabac Island, on the outskirts of the Philippines.

"While 9,000 island are few, perhaps, beside the island collections of Great Britain, Holland and France, yet American territorial islands decorate the oceans like star galaxies ornament the heavens.

"The Philippines are the 'Milky Way' of the United States' island constellations. They alone comprise approximately eight thousand islands. Everyone knows about Luzon, the monster Philippine Island, as large as Ohio in area. Almost nothing is known of the seven thousand islets in the Archipelago having an area of one-tenth of a square mile or more.

"Then there is the scarf of Aleutians swung across the blue sea void toward Asia. The United States Coast and Geodetic Survey does not know for sure how many Aleutians there are but it is endeavoring to find out by airplane surveys. Then, down in the panhandle of Alaska lie many more islands behind whose protecting flanks steamers thread their way up the Inland Passage. Other islands fret the Alaskan coast including a famous little sandbar of an island behind which Wilkins and Eielson took off to fly across the top of the world.

"How large is Hawaii? That all depends upon how the territory is measured. By square miles of land the Hawaiian Islands have an area equal to Connecticut and Rhode Island. By their spread over the Pacific Ocean the islands occupy a region as long from east to west as the United States is long and as wide as the United States is wide. Wake Island, of the territory of Hawaii, an uninhabited atoll 18 feet above sea level, lies nearly 3,000 miles away from the Island of Hawaii.

"To American citizens who wish to be marooned on an uninhabited island with ten selected books, the United States offers endless opportunities. In the West Indies there are some very nice islands on which Nature, barring occasional lapses, maintains the quietness of a good library. Wake Island, previously mentioned, assures almost perfect privacy. The nearest bit of land is 300 miles away.

"Rose Island, in the Samoan group, has unusual advantages for the seeker of literary leisure. It is 80 miles east of its nearest neighbor; climate, equable; real estate, one island half a square mile in area comfortably situated within a coral breakwater; inhabitants, none; fishing, excellent although many species are poisonous. New packets of ten slected books could be obtained by the small boat which comes to Rose Island annually to deposit emergency stores of food and water for the use of saiolrs who might be shipwrecked.

"The Samoan Islands loom large in the history of the United States' foreign policy. The joint agreement of Great Britain, the United States and Germany to establish a protectorate over the islands, represented, it was said, the first departure from our nation's historic attitude toward alliances. The joint protectorate did not work out well, so, by treaties in 1900 and 1904, the United States took control over the eastern half of the islands containing Pago Pago harbor, the finest in all the South Seas. Congress, after all these years, has passed a resolution accepting the 29-year old gift of the islands from the Samoan chiefs.

"In the lists of American territorial possessions one group of islands seldom appears. The status of 70 guano islands scattered all over the Pacific is indefinite. Even the position and existence of some of them is indefinite. By a law passed in 1856 the United States extended temporary protection to American citizens exploiting guano on bird islands. While the United States is not obligated to maintain sovereignty over guano islands, neither has she surrended all rights. Over some islets and banks such as Navassa Island, between Jamaica and Haiti, Quita Sueno Bank, Roncador Cay, Serrana Bank, and Swan Islands, all in the western Caribbean, and Gente Hermosa or Swains Island near Samoa, the American flag flies without question."

Little Talks on Thrift

Patience in Upbuilding One of Necessary Elements of Thrift

One of the lessons which we all must learn, if we are to make progress, is the great value of patience. It is one of the essentials of thrift.

We must learn that we cannot always accomplish our purposes, no matter how laudable they may be, as quickly as we might desire. In the process of building up our personal resources we should never lose sight of the fact that safe investments and spectacular profits seldom if ever go hand in hand. Placing our funds where we know they are safe, even though the return may be considered small is far better than risking their loss in order to gain exorbitant profits.

In all matters of personal advancement we will do better in the long run if we exercise patience. Many a promising career has been ruined because of efforts to rise too rapidly. It is the old story of the house built on sand.

This is an age when the constant trend is toward speed in everything. We all want to get to the top too quickly; we all want to get rich overnight; we all want to compress a week's accomplishment into a day's time. This is the spirit of the age and is not to be condemned because it explains the tremendous strides now being made in every field of endeavor.

However, it places the individual in a position of strong and constant temptation. It is increasingly difficult to be patient and pursue sound and cautious policies of personal administration when stories are being told all about us of the meteoric advancement in wealth, position or influence of others. The point often lost sight of is that very much is made of every spectacular success, but we seldom hear of the failures.

Notwithstanding the spirit of the age, patience has a high place in the scheme of success and advancement. Sound policies will always accomplish more in the long run than spectacular ones. The man who arrives at his goal through patient effort can rest assured that his success is of the substantial type which will last.

Those who may feel that their progress is not as rapid as it should be may be assured that, while their upbuilding financially and otherwise may seem to be of slow growth, they will in the long run lose nothing by a continued exercise of patience.—By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

Although confined to bed by an attack of influenza, Carl Alverson, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y., a pupil in the seventh grade, tried three regents examinations and passed all of them. He was taken ill the week before examinations. And so, propped up in bed, he took examinations in arithmetic, spelling and geography, one each day for three days. In accordance with the regents regulations, a teacher from his school was in attendance during each examination.

GIRL ROLLED OVER IN SQUARE UNDER AUTOMOBILE

Struck by an automobile in front of the Lincoln store on Main street about 4.30 o'clock Thursday afternoon Sarah Miller, about nine years old, of No. 57 Fairmount street, was taken to the W. W. Backus hospital, where her condition was reported as poor. At the hospital X-ray pictures were taken of the injured child, but no evidence of fracture appeared She is suffering from shock.

The child was struck by a Chevrolet coach driven by Arthur Perry of 27 New London road, New London, on the south side of the street, as she was crossing it in company with a girl friend, it is understood The machine was being driven in an easterly direction at the time of the accident. The little girl went down between the front wheels and was rolled over as the front axle struck her and then by the rear axle. She was picked up back of the machine after it passed over her. She was given first aid attention by Dr. Charles Suplicki.

Officer Barney Keenan accompanied Mr. Perry to police headquarters when he drove there to report the accident.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS TO WATCH COUNTY HOME

A special committee to make necessary investigation and make recommendation in the matter of a new location for the county home site and building was named Thursday at noon at a special meeting of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce directors.

Those placed on the committee were State Attorney Arthur M. Brown, Judge Nelson J. Ayling, Timothy C. Murphy, an ex-mayor, Compensation Commissioner Albert J. Bailey, and First Selectman William S. Murray.

President Joseph C. Worth, who presided at the meeting, called attention to the desirability of keeping the county home in this city and addressed the directors as follows:

"We believe Norwich has several desirable sites where the necessary facilities, such as gas, electricity, water, etc., are available. At the present time, there is no particular site in view and the field is wide open. However, we see no reason to believe that the home would be located anywhere but Norwich or its immediate vicinity. Norwich is the geographical center of New London county. The majority of the children housed in the home are from Norwich.. Upon investigation, we find that there is no attempt to take it away from Norwich. However, the chamber is going to take definite action in recommending definite sites to the county commissioners for consideration and do all within its power to retain the institution, which has been located here so many years and in which the people of Norwich have such a keen interest."

FUNERALS

Herbert H. Brown

The funeral of Herbert H. Brown, a resident of the Falls section of the city for many years, was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 oclock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry C. NORWICH PROGRESS EXPOSITION DRAWS OPENING ATTENDANCE OF 1,000

With an estimated attendance of approximately 1,000, the second annual Norwich Progress Exposition was formally opened at the armory Thursday night by His Honor, Mayor Lee Roy Robbins. The doors of the exposition were thrown open to the public at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and during the afternoon hours there was a fair sized attendance. As twilight faded into darkness the large drill hall, where merchandise made and sold in Norwich is on display at 75 attractively decorated booths, began to fill rapidly.

The formal opening of the exposition took place at 8 o'clock when State's Attorney Arthur M. Brown introduced His Honor, Mayor Lee Roy Robbins. In introducing the mayor, Mr. Brown said:

"Ladies and gentlemen. The hour has arrived for the formal opening of this magnificent exposition. Within these walls are entertainment and education, both of a high order. The better we know Norwich the prouder we will be of Norwich. To the Norwich chamber of commerce, which is sponsoring this exposition, we owe our gratitude and also to the various committees who have worked so hard to make this a success." Mr. Brown then presented Mayor Robbins who was greeted with hearty applause. There is an old saying, Seeing is Believing, said Mayor Robbins and the man from Missouri shortened this to two words, Show Me. I want you to look this show over. Let the people who are not here tonight, know that we are making and selling all of the articles on display here. I now declare this exposition open."

Immediately after the mayor's remarks the style show, one of the big features of the evening, was staged, under the personal direction of Miss Kinnan of The Reid and Hughes Co. Five attractive young women, acting as models, displayed the numerous and beautiful gowns, provided by The Reid and Hughes Co. It was one of the most attractive style shows ever seen in Norwich and many were the favorable comments heard around the hall. The young women who acted as models were: Misses Nonie Nagle, Mary Gerard, Alice Gallup, Helen Barry and Catherine Delaney.

Silver Mask Tenor Appears

At 9.15 the Silver Mask Tenor, widely known radio artist, and a personal friend of Sheldon H. Fairbanks, the manager and director of the exposition, made his appearance, on the stage. Accompanied by Henry J. LaFontaine, the well known Norwich musician, the Silver Mask Tenor, sang in splendid voice, Our Sweet Mystery of Life, Mammie's Little Kinkyheaded Boy, Lonesome Little Pickanny Baby, I'm Just a Passing Fancy, Crossroads, Mother Machree, My Wild Irish Rose, and Roses of Picardy. Each of his numbers was enthusiastically received by the delighted audience who were liberal with hearty applause.

Throughout the evening Thumm's orchestra rendered a splendid concert programme. Many of those who attended the exposition Thursday evening took occasion to compliment Mr. Fairbanks, Mr. King, Charles S. Saxton, chairman of the chamber of commerce exposition committee and the committee members on the splendid show which far exceeds, in beauty and attractiveness, that of last year.

Announcement was made Thursday evening by Sheldon H. Fairbanks, manager and director of the exposition, that Miss Emily McKenzie, guest soloist of the General Motors' Oakland-Pontiac hour, and also soloist for six other commercial radio broadcasting programmes, will appear in person at the exposition Saturday night with a feature programme of well known song hits. Miss McKenzie, who last season played one of the leads in the musical comedy success, My Maryland, will be accompanied by D'Atri's Popular band.

Also Saturday night, Clarence B. Collins, the well known Radio Janitor, will stage his famous janitor's sketch, comprising popular and classic numbers.

Friday evening Lieut. William B. Tassilo of the Governor's Foot Guard band, will appear in person, leading his combined Hartford orchestra and his College Inn band. This will be the first appearance of his College Inn orchestra prior to his opening at College Inn, Mago Point, for the season.

Sang At Uncas-on-Thames

The Silver Mask Tenor paid a visit to Uncas-on-Thames Thursday afternoon where he sang for an half hour for the enjoyment of the staff and patients. "I am happy to come here this afternoon to sing to you," he said, "and I hope that the next time you hear my voice you will all be home tuning in on your radios." The Silver Mask Tenor was accompanied to the hospital by President Joseph C. Worth of the Norwich chamber of commerce, F. Russell Smith and Clarence F. King.

Sea Sled Racer Shown

In the Sea Sled exhibit of E. D. Steele, Inc., of Norwich and New London, a particular object of interest is the Bozo II, the Sled in which Albert H. Gebrath competed on April 26 in the New York to Albany race and finished tenth in the free-for-all class in a field of 142 starters. This was the first Connecticut boat to finish making the 136 miles in 4 hours, 15 minutes.

EXHIBITORS.

The exhibitors:

The Porteous & Mitchell Co.

An interesting and attractive exhibit will be found at booths Nos. 7 and 8, occupied by the Porteous & Mitchell Co. The background of the display is formed by hanging a domestic Oriental rug, the "Karaban" which has been the outstanding rug success of the year. Booth No. 7 is devoted to a Hoover exhibit featuring "Positive Agitation." "Positive Agitation" makes possible the removal of more dirt per minute because it reaches dirt that ordinary vacuum cleaning does not get—the deep buried, heavy grit; by means of swiftly repeated air cushioned tops. Booth No. 8 is devoted to display of modern window treatments, one of the high lights of the display is "Tontive" a remarkable new waterproof, washable shade, a product of du Pont, makers of the famous Duco finish, a shade cloth having many unique qualities. The difference is not on the surface alone. It goes straight through to the basic fabric, which is exceptionally close woven cloth. A truly remarkable substance, pyroxylin is then forced through and through the inspected fabric guarding the surface against wear, weather and time. Pyroxylin is virtually imperishable. It is the same substance which makes du Pont Duco, the permanent finish for motor cars and fine furniture. Tontive is furnished in 19 solid colors and six duotone combinations. As further helps color pictures are displayed, "Quaker" net curtain in new shades of craftone and pongee, a modern curtain material for every home. "Purtain" Doulton cretonnes with their unusual modernistic motifs exotic shades that are suggestive of beds of flowers, modern rendering of patterns that are charming. "Purtain" Doulton cretonnes are guaranteed nonfast and washable. Through the use of "Bluebird" and Kirsch curtain rocks the display shows how easily elaborate window treatments can be achieved as easily as single ones.

Reid & Hughes.

Reid & Hughes has an exhibit and demonstration of New Home Sewing machines in their booth directly on the right as one enters the hall. NORWICH ELKS HONOR EARLY PAST EXALTED RULER

Railroad men from Boston, about 50 in number and all Elks, who came here in a special train of two coaches manned by an Elks crew of engineer, fireman, conductor and two trainmen were in attendance Thursday night at the meeting of Norwich lodge of Elks when R. D. FitzMaurice, oldest living past exalted ruler of the lodge, was presented an honorary life membership card by the lodge. Other railroad men who are Elks came from New London and New Haven and the meeting had a record breaking attendance of between 300 and 400 which crowded the lodge room to capacity

Exalter Ruler Frank Donnelly presided and P. E. R. FitzMaurice had the seat of honor with him at the exalted ruler's station, where also was seated Exalted Ruler Thomas B. Conboy of New London lodge.

The presentation of the life membership was made on behalf of Norwich lodge by P. E. R. James P. Hayes and was followed by the presentation of a gold case to carry it in, which was a gift from railroad friends of Mr. FitzMaurice, who is now general superintendent of the N. Y., N. H. and H. R. R., with headquarters at the South Station, Boston. This presentation was made by E. E. Reagan of New Haven lodge, No. 25 who is superintendent of the New Haven lines west. Others to speak were R. M. Smith of New London lodge, No. 265 superintendent of New London lines, H. E. Ashbey of Taunton lodge, No. 150, superintendent of the Boston division, M. J. Scully of Taunton lodge, and Exalted Ruler Conboy of New London lodge.

Bro. FitzMaurice was the fourth exalted ruler of Norwich lodge, holding office about 1900, in the early days when the Elks were a weak and struggling organization in Norwich. His card in the lodge is No. 14

Preceding the presentation, five candidates were initiated and the evening closed with a social hour at which a luncheon was served and there was a vaudeville entertainment under the auspices of Kaye of Hartford.

KEROSENE LAMP WAS CAUSE OF FARM FIRE

The fire which destroyed the Bowers farm residence in the town of Franklin early Wednesday morning started from the explosion of a kerosene lamp, and not a gasoline lamp, according to Harold Bowers, who was carrying the lamp to go to a medicine closet, and was almost there when it exploded. When he came to, he found himself in the next room and the whole place on fire. There was no gasoline lamp in the house, Mr. Bowers said.

The house was owned by Lydia Gardner.

Escaped Sore Arm—But!

Not every small boy in Norwich can defer vaccination as will Goodwin Carney, son of Mr. and Mrs John H. Carney, of Church street. He is a pupil at St. Patrick's school where the vaccination rule has been strictly lived up to. However, when taken by his father Wednesday to Dr. W. T. Driscoll for the required ordeal the physician looked him over and said to his father, "Take him home and put him to bed! He's coming down with measles!"

Comfort Circle Meets.

When Comfort Circle of the King's Daughters met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Tourtellotte, of West Pearl street twelve members were in attendance. He will appear in city court this (Friday) morning to answer to this charge, upon which he was booked at police headquarters. The arresting officer was Hugh McAvoy.

MORE THAN 60,000 VOLUMES IN YALE PENNIMAN LIBRARY

The current Bulletin of Yale university, under the head of "Facilities for Study" has the following reference to a graduate of Norwich Free Academy, '80:

The department of education occupies Henry Barnard Hall, at 25 Hillhouse avenue, where are located the administrative offices, classrooms, laboratories, and a departmental library, supplied with such books, magazines, monographs, reports, and current literature of various kinds as are needed for constant use.

In 1920, following immediately on the establishment of the department of education, Dr. James H. Penniman, B. A. 1884, founded the Penniman Memorial Library of Education at Yale university in memory of his parents, James Lanman Penniman, B. A. 1853, and Maria Davis Hosmer. The large gifts and annual purchases under this foundation, added to the books and pamphlets already in the education section of the university library, have made available for the use of the department more than 60,000 volumes. Among them are numerous long and unusual sets of reports and magazines, American and foreign, and many first and other early editions of monographs of outstanding importance. Through the unfailing generosity of Dr. Penniman, all important new publications needed in the work of the department are supplied promptly. The university library has also rich collections in philosophy, psychology, and other fields of interest to students of education.

Eventually the Penniman library is to be located in the magnificent new Sterling building, at Yale.

TO FINISH NEW GARDNER LAKE ROAD BY JULY 1

Construction work on a new road at Gardner lake, which it is expected will be finished by July 1, has just begun this week and two steam shovels and a force of 60 men will push the work along. The road is to be built of macadam, running from the Norwich-Salem road at Dolbeare's corners southwest of Gardner lake to cross-road about two miles north.

The new road will run along the western side of Gardner lake and replace the present road which is used to gain entrance to Camp Wakenah, the Boy Scout camp, and Camp Tertrehegan, the Y. M. C. A. camp, both located on the west shore of the lake.

Preparatory to having work started on the new road, the selectmen of Salem, in which the road is located, obtained quitclaim deeds from property owners along the present road so that the new road could be made much wider and constructed so as to eliminate the many curves now in the road. The new road will begin at a point about 100 feet east of where the present road begins, running across property deeded to the town by Representative A. Chester Brown, who owns considerable land at the southwest end of the lake. It will follow a course which will border the present front of the Y. M. C. A. camp without requiring any of the Y property, but its course has been laid out so that a frontage of 150 feet of the Boy Scout camp will be cut into. For this purpose the New London council of Boy Scouts recently deeded to the town of Salem six one-hundredths of an acre of land. In return for this the town will construct a new entrance to the camp.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Dickson H. Leavens, who returned from China several months ago, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Frank W. Browning, of Williams street. At present Mr. Leavens is in Boston, with the Harvard School of Business Administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Young, of Broadway had as week end guests Mrs. Young's nephew, Robert T. Bogan, Mrs. Bogan and daughter Virginia, from Manila. They have motored to Sewaren, New Jersey to visit relatives.

In compliment to her house guest, Mrs. Robert H. Stevens, of Larchmont, N. Y., Mrs. Charles J Twist entertained with six tables of bridge on Thursday afternoon, the decorations being tints of pink and yellow. Mrs. Alfred M. Haring, Mrs. Robert Stevens, Mrs. Fred Sudlow and Mrs. Charles A. Saxton won the prizes.

Mrs. Louis T. Cassidy, of the Little Plain has returned, following several days' visit in Pelham, N. Y.

Mrs. Randolph Dickins, of Washington, widow of Colonel Dickens, U. S. Marine Corps, has been the guest of Admiral and Mrs. Clarence A. Carr, at The Pequot.

Thursday evening, Mrs. Arthur C. Boynton, of Division street announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Lillian C. Boynton, of Norwich Academy faculty to Max F. Wendt, of Newark, N. J. The announcement was made at a bridge of five tables given by Miss Boynton, when the decorations and favors were blue, pink and silver. A surprise of the evening was a shower gift for Miss Jeanne Theve, also of the Academy faculty, whose engagement to Joseph Portelance was announced recently. Miss Boynton's guests were Misses Helen Munz, Isabel Rodier, Nettie Holmes, Eunice Taft, Viola Levitsky, Victoria Maimer, Margaret M. Murphy, Florence Edwards, Mary Coughlin, Marion Kneeland, Alice Parsons, Isabel Mulcahy, Emily Gallup, Margaret Sheridan, Elizabeth Smith, Mary Sullivan, Elizabeth Boynton, also Mrs. Avery Gallup and Mrs. Raymond Gottschalk. The wedding will take place during the summer. Winners of the prizes at cards Thursday evening were Miss Helen Munz and Miss Victoria A. Maimer.

Miss Loretta Higgins has returned to her home on Broadway after spending several weeks in North Carolina as the guest of her brother, Lieut. Raymond T. J. Higgins. Miss Higgins was feted extensively at Fort Bragg, Raleigh, Southern Pines, and Pinehurst where she appeared in concerts, the critics writing enthusiastically of her wonderful voice and charming magnetic personality. Lieutenant Higgins accompanied his sister to Norwich by motor for a brief visit with his mother, Mrs M. C. Higgins.

WALTER LINDER OF DEEP RIVER HIGH HAS FANNED 55 IN LAST THREE GAMES

The Academy will face probably the greatest strikeout artist that Connecticut scholastic ball has ever known when they meet Walter Linder of the Deep River high outfit Saturday afternoon at the campus. In his last three starts this campaign for the undefeated Deep River nine, Linder has fanned 55 men. His most recent feat was that of retiring 22 men via this method against Branford high Tuesday and he only pitched 8 1-3 innings. His team won 5 to 3. Previously he had beaten Bulkeley of New London, 1 to 0, fanning 14 of the Whalers and afterwards beating Commercial high of New Haven, 4 to 3, striking out 17 batters. Linder is also some hitter as two trips in his last game will testify.

To Go With New Haven

The Deep River ace will graduate in June and immediately will go with the New Haven Profs, champions of the Eastern league. He had a tryout last summer but wished to finish out his high school education so he returned to school and will re-join Gene Martin's team as soon as he receives his diploma. Linder, also, it is said, has received offers from Holy Cross and may continue his studies there.

His work has attracted the attention of fans all over the state. He is of but medium build but has plenty of smoke, and an assortment of curves that is not seen even among league twirlers.

Linder comes here Saturday to avenge a defeat from the Wildcat state champions in 1928. That game, the opening one of the season for the locals, ended 6 to 5. It was a ten-inning affair and was one of the hardest of the year for Coach Brigham's boys. Linder fanned 14 that day and a few days after went down and beat Warren Harding 14 to 2.

The Academy had a rugged batting drill for the regulars Thursday at the campus, which lasted about two hours. Another session is scheduled for this afternoon.

N. F. A. Not Decided Yet

Coach Brigham has not yet decided on his pitching choice for Saturday. Louis Green, little southpaw, would seem to be the logical choice with Red Faxan in rightfield. Butsy Weisgraber's fine showing against the strong West Hartford team Wednesday has instilled confidence into the local team that the pitching department is finally rounding into shape. Weisgraber was in mid-season form, allowing but six hits and five of these were in the first two innings.

The largest crowd so far this season is expected for Saturday's game, which will attract fans from all sections of eastern Connecticut.

That 1928 Game

The following box score shows what a game the 1928 one was. The Academy was behind 5 to 3, going into the ninth inning and with the great Mr. Linder pitching, it looked anything but bright for them. But Hal Cummings led off with a single, Hamil walked, Goldblatt doubled, scoring Cummings and Jarvis singled scoring Hamil. In the tenth, Tirrell's single, his steal of second and Johnny Greene's double won the game. That game gave local fans many a thrill but those kind are bad for the heart.

Capt. Mace Goldblatt was the star hitter that day with three hits and Olson, Deep River outfielder, provided the fielding feature with a catch that robbed Lloyd Jarvis of a home run.

Jarvis and Linder, two of the greatest pitchers in the state, had some duel on that occasion.

Here is the score:

Barring heavy rains, the field should be in good shape for tomorrow's game. The infield is in good shape and fast play should be possible on it.

Linder Being Saved for N. F. A.

Wednesday, Deep River won another game but Linder played centerfield, he being saved for the pitching duties Saturday. They beat Old Saybrook, 5 to 2. Tourville was the hurler, allowing but two hits and fanning 14.

TOMMY DONOHUE REAPPOINTED STATE ATHLETIC COMSR.

STATE CAPITOL, HARTFORD, May 2—(AP)—Governor Trumbull this afternoon announced the reappointment of Thomas E. Donohue, of New London, as state athletic commissioner. Under the reappointment, he will begin his third term of four years in July. Mr. Donohue was the first commissioner to serve under the system of a one-man athletic commission.

Mr. Donohue achieved a national reputation in his present office and had been president of the National Boxing association. He was instrumental in putting through a bill in the general assembly this session placing all amateur boxers and wrestlers, except in educational institutions, under his control.

Mr. Donohue recently announced that more than 800 professional boxers and wrestlers have registered with him for the fiscal year ending July, 1929, a record for the state which will be even greater when the period terminates. He has not yet been able to make public figures on amateur boxers and wrestlers who must, under the new law, register with him also. Registration for this class of athlete began April 15.

Choate Outrows Hun Crew

WALLINGFORD, May 2—(AP)—Rowing in slow time, Choate Prep school's varsity four-oared crew defeated the Hun school oarsmen, of Princeton, N. J., by one third of a length over the five eights mile course on Community lake here this afternoon. Choate's time was 3:27 2-5; Hun school 3:29 1-5.

In the preliminary event, Hun's junior varsity four finished one and a half lengths ahead of the Choate crew. Time: Hun 3:42 4-5; Choate 3:50 1-5.

GROVE WINS HIS THIRD VICTORY OF THE SEASON

BOSTON, May 2—(AP)—Lefty Bob Grove boosted his total victories for the season to three and won his second game in two days here this afternoon by pitching the Athletics to a 5 to 1 triumph over the recumbent Red Sox. The victory gave the Mackmen three out of the series of four.

Grove pitched the first five innings of yesterday's 24 to 6 rout of the Red Sox, but quit the game at Connie Mack's orders at the height of the big sixth inning rally. The Baltimore southpaw went the route in fine style today and might have had a shut-out but for his own awkwardness in interfering with Flagstead on the third-base line in the fourth.

Flagstead had doubled and rounded third on a wild throw by Haas. Grove gazed admiringly at the efforts of the veteran outfielder to churn his way around the paths, but neglected to remove himself to a sufficient distance as Flagstead tore toward the plate. Umpire Van Graflan allowed the home runner to score.

Grove allowed only six hits and fanned nine. He walked two of the Red Sox.

Jimmy Dykes played a brilliant game at shortstop, and joined the other two members of the lowest one-third of the Philadelphia batting order in making life miserable for Jack Russell and Danny MacFayden. These three men, Miller, Dykes and Grove, got six of the eleven Athletic hits and scored four of the five runs. Score:

"TAD" DORGAN, CARTOONIST AND SPORTS WRITER IS DEAD

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—Many a veteran sports writer from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic will have little heart for his work tonight. "Tad" Dorgan, one of the most famous and best liked members of the craft, died today.

An invalid because of a heart ailment for the past nine years, "Tad" drew from a sick bed at his home in Great Neck, Long Island, the cartoons that were devoured by sport fans from coast to coast. By means of a radio close to his bed, he kept in touch with present day fisticuffs and fighters and wrote entertainingly of the battlers of the past.

A career that added many new chapters to the history of sports writing and created descriptive phrases and characters that amounted almost to a new language of sports, began when Thomas Aloysius Dorgan joined the staff of the San Francisco Bulletin over 35 years ago. He came to New York in 1901 as a cartoonist and boxing writer for the Evening Journal. His cartoons and comment were syndicated through the Hearst service and published with translations in several foreign countries.

"Tad" was one of the most popular figures in sports writing, recognized as a wit, entertainer, and sponsor of youngsters seeking a foothold in the profession. The late Charles E. Van Loan, originally a contributor to his columns, became a nationally known sports and short story writer through "Tad's" assistance and encouragement.

"Tad" popularized slang in writings and cartoons that covered every great boxing contest over a period of 35 years. He nicknamed many boxers, first naming Jack Johnson "Lil' Artha" and Joe Gans "the Old Master." Anecdotes of his experiences, wanderings and practical jokes, are a part of the lore of the profession.

Just after starting his career as a cartoonist, the fingers of Tad's right hand were crushed in an accident. He learned to draw all over again, using his left hand and sometimes the two fingers still useful on his right.

His last big sports assignment was Jack Dempsey's title defense against Billy Miske in Benton Harbor, Mich., in 1920. He was forced to withdraw to his home shortly afterward and never was able to resume active reporting. The chief diversion allowed him was the radio and an occasional trip to New York where he could look down from a suite in a Broadway hotel on the crowds below.

"Tad" died in his sleep from heart failure surrounded by members of his family. He is survived by his widow and his mother, Mrs. Anna Dorgan, four brothers and four sisters. The funeral will be held at Great Neck.

HARDING A GANG OF SLUGGERS? WELL—LOOK AT THIS SCORE

Scoring its second lop-sided victory in less than a week, Warren Harding high of Bridgeport smothered the Roxbury prep school nine, 31 to 2, Tuesday at Bridgeport. Last Saturday the Presidents walloped Stonington 23 to 3. Tuesday Harding scored 17 in the third inning and because of a late start and the many runs the game went but five innings. This is a record score for state baseball.

Dizenzo, little Cuban pitcher, allowed but two hits, whereas Stonington could only gather three in nine innings. It would seem that Dizenzo and Harding are to be in for a big year and they should be in top form by the time they play the Academy in the annual Memorial day game.

Schrieber, first baseman; Cholko, center fielder; Catednalla, right fielder, Lukachik, catcher, and Dizenzo were the leading hitters with five, four, three, three and two bingles respectively.

Harvard 5, New Hampshire 1

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 2—(AP)—The Harvard baseball team defeated New Hampshire State here, today, by a 5 to 1 score. Harvard opened the runmaking in the first inning by counting three times on three hits.

New Hampshire's lone run came with two out in the third, on a single and a double.

Consider the street corner "sheik."

He is always with us and probably always will be but to what purpose neither God nor man can say.

He is a fixture on every street corner in every city in the country and he is just as much use as the old-fashioned hitching post in front of the general store in this day of automobiles.

What he thinks about nobody knows and nobody cares but what he talks about is not fit for publication. If, when Clean Up Week comes along, the garbage collectors miss him they should be called upon the carpet.

I stood on a street corner in our beloved city of a Saturday night waiting for friend husband to make a purchase in a nearby store and near me were a number of the sheiks.

Not aware of my presence they conversed among themselves, and what they conversed about didn't have the weight of a feather. It was without rhyme or reason, it was simply the foolish prattle of an undeveloped mind.

They were youths of a tender age, so tender, in fact, that if Norwich had a curfew law they would be snugly tucked in bed about sundown. Yet they thought they were the last word in masculine attraction.

When women passed their comment was far from edifying or complimentary to the passers-by, yet they failed to realize that they were more absurd than anything outside the circus.

They told of their wild experiences; of what they had done and said; of their affairs with the opposite sex; their tastes in clothes and what the well-dressed man should wear.

They made eyes at every young girl that passed and made some remark either about taking in a dance or going to a picture show. Hot Stuff, when probably you couldn't raise the price of a ham sandwich between them.

It made one feel as if they wanted to take these young squirts and put them across one's knee and massage them with a hairbrush.

To end it all one looked at the clock and remarked, "Gosh, I gotta go home or mama will wonder where I am." The trio broke up. And that's your corner sheik, dumb and harmless.

HOWARD KNOCKS OUT BERTRAM IN FIRST ROUND

NEW HAVEN, May 2—(AP)—Buddy Howard returned to the ring for the first time since he won the national amateur heavyweight championship and knocked out Johnnie Bertram, Orange, in the first round tonight. Howard's punches were too much for Bertram to assimilate and the uneven contest was stopped. Johnnie Thomas, New Haven, and Patsy Smith, New York, produced the best fighting of the evening to win their matches.

Summaries:

126-pound class, Casey Antelik, New Haven, defeated Al Rossi, New Haven, 3.

Dan Wallace, New Haven, defeated Stanley Pulaski, New Haven, 3-138.

Joe Oliver, New Haven, knocked out Morris Kaplan, New York, 3-135.

SALO CUTS 20 MINUTES OFF LEAD OF GAVUZZI

MIAMI, Okla., May 2—(AP)—Two Legionnaires from neighboring states, John Salo of Passaic, N. J., and Sam Richman of New York, tied for first place in today's lap of C. C. Pyle's bunion derby. They ran the 36.7 miles from Joplin, Mo., to Miami, Okla., in 4:55:50.

Salo, second in elapsed time, cut 20 minutes and 20 seconds from the lead of Pete Gavuzzi of England and now is trailing by 2:53:25. Richman is sixth in elapsed time.

Gavuzzi finished third today in 4:57:10; Paul Simpson of Burlington, N. C., was fourth; Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., Negro, fifth; Giusto Umek of Italy, sixth; Herbert Hedeman of New York, seventh, and M. B. McNamara of Australia, eighth.

The runners crossed their 12th state line today during the run after covering 1,442 miles since March 81.

The five leaders and their elapsed time for the race follows:

1.—Pete Gavuzzi, England, 209:-24:57.

2.—John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 212:-13:22.

3.—Ed Gardner, Seattle, Washington, 220:54:20.

4.—Giusto Umek, Italy, 226:50:46.

5.—Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., 233:32:08.

AL KOZIOL HAS AN INFECTED RIGHT HAND

Al Koziol, local knockout artist, is nursing an infected right hand but expects to be in shape again in a few days. The infection came from a cut and cropped out last Tuesday just before he went on with Charlie Mitchell at Providence. Rather than disappoint in his second professional bout, Koziol went out and proceeded to put Mitchell to sleep in the first round. If Al had lost he would have had a good alibi for the old mitt is pretty sore right now.

Koziol's next bout is slated for the 15th of this month with Johnny Scully of Boston.

Giants Recall Johnston

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 2—(AP)—Pitcher Floyd Johnston, young left-hander sent to the Springfield Eastern league club on option a few weeks ago, has been recalled by the New York Giants. Johnston left here for New York today. He worked part of one game for Springfield.

Scott Beats Haymann

LONDON, May 2—(AP)—Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, decisively defeated Ludwig Haymann, German titleholder, in a 15 round match at Albert hall tonight. Scott was far too clever for the German and piled up a big lead on points.

BOOSTERS CLUB BEING ORGANIZED FOR PROMOTION OF AMATEUR SPORTS

Booster club, to be comprised of local residents interested in the welfare of amateur athletics, will be organized within the city during the coming few weeks according to an announcement by officials of the Duwell club last night. The purpose of the organization of the new club is to secure funds with which to sponsor athletics of community benefit that do not yield any financial revenue.

There are several of the Duwell projects, which are presented at considerable expense but fail to yield any return. The most prominent of these events is the annual Duwell road race, conducted here Memorial day (May 30.) The cost of staging the road race, the most prominent of its kind presented anywhere in the state, is about $500. The race is run through the principal streets of the city and no attempt whatsoever is made to collect any charges or admissions. The only possible way of financing the affairs is to secure funds through popular subscription. According to the proposed plan of the Duwells a representative of that organization will visit individuals and organizations about the city and secure donations that will in turn be used towards financing the annual road race and any other non-paying sports that may be presented during the summer season. The contributors will be enrolled as members of the Booster club and in turn will be presented with a card, suitably inscribed, which may be posted at some conspicuous place.

The Booster club plan was tried here a year ago and proved highly successful, local sports contributing enough cash to enable the Duwells to put on a splendid road race in addition to other projects during the summer and fall.

The race this year, the date of which is less than a month away, promises to be the most successful of any ever conducted by the local athletic organization. Every day the committee on entrys is receiving requests from prominent athletes in the east for information regarding the affair and at this early date there is every indication that the starting field will number close to 100 distance runners. Entry blanks for the run will be sent out during the coming week.

A new plan, which it is expected will stimulate considerable interest is to be inaugurated this year. A contest, through which residents will be given an opportunity to pick the winners of the race will be started next week. Contest blanks will be distributed and on each of the blanks will be a space in which persons shall fill in the numbers of the runners whom they figure will finish first, second and third. Numbers will not be allotted to runners until just a few days before the race, after the contest has closed, so that no one will know who will carry the different numbers until they are listed.

The contest will be purely a guessing proposition and should create no little interest, as the contestants will not know until the day of the race just whom they have picked to place in the first three positions. Suitable prizes are to be awarded to the winners of the contest.

Information regarding the Fourth through the communication with through communication with "Sports" Duwell A. A.

OVER 300 BOWLERS ENTERED IN STATE MATCHES

WATERBURY, May 2—(AP)—More than 300 bowlers will participate in the first Connecticut duckpin bowling tournament opening Monday, May 6, at Genlot's recreation alleys, here and continuing until Saturday, May 11. The entry list which closed tonight showed that 334 bowlers from 14 cities in the state will take part in 57 five-man, 103 doublen and 186 singles events, which will supply 2,570 games for the week.

Waterbury heads the list with 11 teams, New Haven second, with 10. Other cities entered are: Hartford, Bridgeport, New Britain, Norwich, New London, Ansonia, Derby, Stamford, Norwalk, Torrington, Meriden, and Wallingford. Every known duckpin bowler in the state is seeking the official championship. The tournament, the first of its kind, is sponsored by the Connecticut Bowling Alley Owners' association.

JARRETT KAYOES BABY DOLL IN THE TENTH

WATERBURY, May 2—(AP)—Irish Tommy Jarrett, New Haven, 133, scored a technical knockout over Emil "Baby" Doll, 137, of this city in the tenth and final round of the main Waterbury A. C. bout staged at Buckingham hall here tonight. Jarrett, substituting for Andy Sackowitz, of Scranton, Pa., who was unable to appear due to an injury outpointed the local lightweight throughout most of the bout but tore in with a flurry of blows in the final heat to open a deep gash over the right eye of Doll, which ended his fighting. Summary:

Mickey Genaro, Waterbury, defeated Jose Martinez, Spain, 8-135.

Vic Carlson, Terryville, knocked out Adam Alexander, Long Island, 4-180.

Izzy Kaplan, Meriden, scored technical knockout over Young Frankie, Jamaica, L. I., 3-145 1-2.

Louie Murelli, Torrington, knocked out Lou Melito, Lynbrook, L. I., 2-134.

GENO PECHEENI IN GREAT SHAPE FOR BOUT WITH DUGGAN

Geno Pecheeni, local featherweight, who has been in training for the past few weeks in preparation for his coming bout next week with Joey Duggan of New London at the Hamilton street arena in New London looks to be in great shape. Pecheeni after a long layoff from the boxing game appears much stronger and faster than when he quit the ring last fall. Geno is stepping around daily at a fast clip and the local boys are much pleased with his work.

He is fast and has developed his left hand so that he hits with equal steam with his right. Geno has always lacked a real good left but seems to be getting onto the hang of letting loose with this most potent weapon. Geno and Duggan will open the show at which Bobby Mays and Frankie Curcio are starred as the main attraction, along with Sonny Suggs and Mickey Genaro in the semi-final.

AGGIES TO CLASH WITH COLBY AT STORRS TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, May 2—After recovering from the unexpected defeat by Clark on Wednesday, the Connecicut Aggie nine will tackle the fast traveling Colby team Friday in the third home game of the season. Colby recently defeated Maine, and the latter team showed some good playing while on the local diamond.

The team to date has one victory in three starts, that being won over Maine. The offensive has been lacking, perhaps due to the cold weather that has prevailed throughout the whole of the spring. On the defense the whole squad has shown improvement over the last season, with the infield playing heads-up ball at all times.

Kolb will be the choice on the mound for the Aggies. He started against Providence, and did well up to the seventh inning, being relieved by McCombe. The Colby aggregation has a strong array of veteran material to throw into the game and the assignment for Kolb is no easy one. The Aggies barely nosed out the Waterville boys last year, winning 9-8 after nine hard innings of real baseball. Ryan will be behind the bat for the home team. His work throwing out baserunners in the last game stood out as one of the features of the contest.

HEARS FIGHT HELD IN LONDON VIA RADIO

Terrence Buckley of 2 South C street, Taftville, was able to give The Bulletin the result of the Stewart-Webster fight in London several hours before it was known in the news dispatches. Webster won from Stewart on a decision. Mr. Buckley who operates a short wave Bremer-Tully set picked up Chelmsford, England, shortly before seven o'clock last evening and heard the closing rounds of the bout.

VILLA DISQUALIFIED IN BOUT WITH EDDIE LORD

HARTFORD, May 2—(AP)—Pancho Villa, 130, of New Bedford, was disqualified in the eighth round of a scheduled ten round bout with Eddie Lord, 130, Waterbury tonight for refusal to continue after his claim of being fouled had been disallowed by Referee Jack Watson. Lord outclassed Villa in every round.

Eddie Reed, Hartford, outpointed Jimmie Picardi, of Boston, in the eight round semi-final. They are bantamweights.

Wesleyan Beats Bowdoin

MIDDLETOWN, May 2—(AP)—Wesleyan defeated Bowdoin, 9 to 2 here today in a five inning game stopped by rain. Wesleyan hit Stile hard from the beginning, Van Cott leading with a home run.

Lizzies Defeat Red Rovers

The Elizabeth Street school team defeated the Red Rovers Thursday at the Uncas diamond, 18 to 8. Hoffman for the winners struck out 12 men. Segal for the losers fanned six men. Doubles were hit by M. Segal, H. Handleman, I. Sadinsky, A. Kirstein and Louis Hoffman. The leading hitters for the winners were L. Hoffman, A. Kirstein, and Alexander.

VELVETMEN TO HAVE STRONG BALL CLUB

The Velvetmen, the team representing the J. B. Martin Co., will be a strong baseball aggregation this season according to Manager Fred Erlbeck following a meeting of the club on Thursday evening. Erlbeck enters his sixth year as manager of the J. B. Martin club and expects to have another successful season. Erlbeck is to be the business manager while on the shoulders of Jimmy Murphy will rest the field manager's duties. Joseph Nevins is to be the treasurer of the club.

According to tentative plans outlined at the meeting last night the Velvetmen will open their season the latter part of this month and will put in the field one of the strongest teams ever to represent that section of Taftville known as "Fancy Corner." Games are now being booked with the fastest clubs in New England, the Philadelphia Colored Giants and the House of David already having been given tentative dates.

Around four veterans will be built the J. B. Martin team of 1929. These veterans are Jimmy Murphy, catcher, Eddie Murphy, first baseman, Charlie Kraus, shortstop, and Omer "Pep" Pepin, pitcher. Manager Erlbeck is already dickering with ball tossers in various parts of the state relative to playing with the Velvetmen and he states that he has some well known ball players under consideration.

The J. B. Martin diamond which has been more or less damaged by the ravages of the inclement weather during the past six weeks will be put in shape during the next two weeks and made ready for the opening game. New uniforms have been ordered and the team is to make a very snappy appearance as it takes the field for the opening game. The J. B. Martin team has always given the public good baseball and this year expects to put out a brand of ball that cannot be equalled in Eastern Connecticut.

CUBA'S SOUTH AMERICAN IMPORTS EXCEED EXPORTS

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba is a better customer than exporter in her trade relations with the rest of Latin America. An official survey of the last four and a half years shows that Chile, Paraguay, Bolivia and Panama were the only countries whose purchases in Cuba exceeded their sales to Cuba.

Mexico is listed in the statistical report as second only to the United States in the volume of exports to Cuba.

Gentlemen:

We hereby certify that we have conducted and audited a series of public tests of the 4 leading cigarette brands in various parts of New York City.

These tests were open to the general public. Every person who entered one of the "testing shops" was asked to smoke the four cigarettes with brand names concealed and to designate, by number, which one his taste liked best.

We further certify that the following table correctly summarizes the total results of these tests:

"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

THE PRODUCT OF WASTE MATERIAL

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

One day last week the Salvation Army of Newark, N. J., dedicated its new building.

The property is conservatively valued at over $386,000.

It was paid for wholly from old newspapers, rags and other waste collected by the army.

The army began to gather this sort of junk in 1898. Most of the money derived from its sale has been used immediately to carry on the work of the social service department. Yet, after caring for that service, enough has remained to erect a $300,000 building on a valuable city lot. All, land and building, is fully paid for.

The point which seems to me especially penetrating in this matter is that this property was acquired through the saving by one organization of what other people and organizations threw away as useless.

I'm not at all interested in the details of the collection and renovation and sale of the waste. The impressive fact about the whole matter is that the people of Newark and vicinity threw it away as worthless, whereupon the Salvation Army picked it up and found it worth $386,000.

This doesn't necessarily mean that the canny lads and lassies of the Salvation Army are any shrewder business men and woman than their unregenerate fellows.

Nor does it mean that they are any more miserly. They didn't save the old waste to enrich themselves, but to aid them in helping others.

In plain English, it means just that they were more thrifty than the half million or so inhabitants of Newark and vicinity, who threw into the gutter the $386,000 they dished out and saved.

Which suggests another thought. How many of those who threw the waste away, with its inherent value of $386,000, complain that they can't make both ends meet, and must have either higher wages or public relief to maintain themselves and their families? Undoubtedly some of the waste came from homes where the income is big enough to take care, not only of essential demands, but of luxuries. Such homes would not miss the few dimes which the contents of a ragbag might bring in. But, unless Newark's population is unlike that of places I know better, much of the waste came from tenements where the residents have to think twice before they buy a second quart of milk.

The very small saving which the utilization of the waste would have made for any individual family might, however trifling, have spelt the difference between the pinch of poverty and the merely snug fit of economy.

Looking at it from the viewpoint of a man up a tree, it certainly seems a bit round-a-bout and topsy-turvyish for some hard-pressed Newark housekeeper to go to the Salvation Army for help from the usufruct of what she had thought not worth while to save.

They used to talk about the foolishness of saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung. In fact, the literature, as well as the folk-lore of the language is full of wise sayings about economy and thrift and saving. Poor Richard's homely philosophy of everyday life was based firmly on the idea of gratitude for small savings. It is really the little things which make up life, for the simple reason that practically all really big things are composed of aggregations of little ones. "Many a mickle mak's a muckle," say the thrifty Scots. "A stitch in time saves nine;" "For want of a nail the shoe was lost, for want of a shoe the horse was lost;" "Save the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves;" "See a pin and pick it up," etc. These are just samples of the proverbs and rhymes with which our older literature is laden.

But the present generation has small regard for what it considers the somewhat musty old fogyism of its predecessors. It is more concerned with getting than with saving what it gets. It cares nothing for reservoirs, if so be it can tap the big river with constantly enlarging pipes. "Shucks; the river'll never run dry" is its reaction to advice not to waste the water.

The old-time idea that one should take advantage of the fair weather to lay by something against a coming rainy day is no longer popular or practiced.

Thrift is a word still to be found in the dictionaries, but seldom heard in actual life. It won't be long, if things keep on as at present, before it will be marked, even in the lexicons, with that abbreviation "obs," meaning that it's no longer used.

Except, we'll have to hope, by some old spoil-sports whom the age regards as anxious to take all the fun out of life, and some old-fashioned organizations like the Salvation Army, whose members are still willing to be all things to all men if thereby they may save some.

I don't want to talk about myself too much. And by no means do I propose to set myself up as any shining example. But, as one's personal experiences are always clearer and more definite than those he hears from others, perhaps you'll pardon me for briefly telling just two little tales of John Farmer's essays in thrift.

Thirty years ago a young tornado swept over the western hill, behind his farm. Among other items of damage it blew down some score of pine trees—uprooted them and left them lying prone on the ground. It is the habit of white pine, lying thus, promptly to accumulate to itself huge colonies of borers and other worms who speedily destroy all its timber value. So the very next winter John Farmer, with his one-man crosscut saw, cut the fallen trunks into logs and, with his farm team, hauled them to the sawmill. When the lumber had been drawn home and seasoned, he called in a couple o' carpenters, bought some shingles and a few windows, and had erected a small but roomy and handy farm shop. It contained a forge and anvil, a carpenter's bench, a small, foot-driven lathe, racks for numerous tools and a cabinet to hold nails, screws, rivets, bolts, and scores of other useful articles.

You will please observe that, with the exception of shingles, windows and carpenters' wages, the shop was a salvage of waste. The blown-over pine would have gone to waste had John not saved it; the time he put in at his salvage task was the winter when even his time would else have been wasted waiting for spring—it might be noted that he paid the sawyer's bill from the excess lumber which he sold.

Every working farmer who reads this will know how often it happens, when he is busiest at his most pressing tasks, that something breaks about the tool he is using. This, ordinarily, necessitates the unhitching of the team, the re-harnessing of one horse to the buggy and a trip to the nearest blacksmith or carpenter shop for repairs. This, as he also well knows, means the loss of perhaps half a day's time, when it is most valuable, to say nothing of the shop bill for the repairs. Three out of four of such jobs could be done by the farmer himself, if he only had the tools and the shop to do them.

John Farmer, anyway, found it so. For two years he kept, on a convenient shingle, a record of the time and money he saved in just this way. At the end of two years he found he had saved enough to pay all the cost of building the shop, and something over. That is, he came into unincumbered possession of a substantial, useful and not bad looking farm building, with unlimited possibilities of future convenience, all from the saving of some otherwise waste stuff.

That's one story. The second may be told in even less words. One rainy day John sorted over some old harnesses to see if there were any parts worth saving. In one he found the entirley go-busted saddle of what once had been a swell single rig. The leather was cracked, the padding was all gone, even the terret-rings were broken. You will doubtless agree with me that there are few things on earth more apparently worthless than a broken terret-ring. But these were of brass, and the nuts and threads were still good. So John tore them out and tossed them into the scrap-metal box. The very next winter a bolt gave way in the heaver-stove which compelled John to put the fire out and to contemplate a long, cold drive to a stove-store to get a newbolt. On his way to the horse barn the thought that he might have something among those metal scraps which would make a temropary repair led him to the box and to this broken old terret-ring. A test showed that the thread exactly fitted into that on the heater. Two minutes' work with a hacksaw cutting off the broken ring-ends, two minutes more with a bit of emery cloth shining up the discolered old brass, two minutes more fitting it into the stove, and John had not a temporary but a permanent repair, every whit as good as the original and decidedly more ornamental.

Waste? There is really very little material, used or unused, which is utter waste. There are very few things, even among those we disdainfully throw away, which couldn't, with really efficient management and some exercise of gumption, be made to serve a useful purpose.

I understand that, in some communities, the question of how to get rid of old automobiles is worrying people. I have a neighbor who is making a fair if not luxurious living out of those same old boats. When Harry Honkthehorn runs his car into a telegraph pole or into the river, this neighbor buys it of him as old junk, hauls it home, dismantles it and usually sells enough perfectly good parts to pay him wages for his work and trouble.

Did you ever stop to think that Nature hasn't any junk-pile?

She finds use for every last, little thing.

THE FARMER.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN EASTERN CONN.

During the last week in April there were 15 building permits issued by Fire Marshal Henry R. Taft for new buildings within the city limits. The total estimated cost of the new buildings is $19,308. This brings the total for the month to 35 permits and an estimated cost of $48,368 a fixure far above the usual for the month of April.

With the prospects of good weather there is every indication that considerable building will be done in Norwich and vicinity during the summer and local contractors feel assured of a good building year. Much progress has been made on local building projects during April, especially on buildings where interior work could be done. The cold and rainy weather hampered some of the exterior work to a great extent during the past month.

The permits issued by Fire Marshal Taft are as follows:

To Walter U. Forschler to extend the present garage at 120 Williams street two feet and to move the garage seven feet eastward to the boundary line of the property. The addition is to be of frame construction. The estimated cost is $15.

To Charles W. Pearson to erect a one-story and a half frame building at 617 North Main street. The building will have a concrete basement with concrete floor. The building will be 28x32 feet. The estimated cost is $1,693.

To Robert J. Cochrane to erect a frame three-car garage for himself on Crowe street. The garage will be 22x26 feet and the estimated cost is $600.

To John T. Boynton to erect a one-car garage, 9x19 on Elmwood avenue. The garage will have concrete foundation and floor. The estimated cost is $300.

To Anthony Zdunizyk to raise the roof of the present frame house at 12 Hickory street, making the house two stories high when completed. An addition will be built in the rear of the house to enlarge one room. The estimated cost is $100.

To August Bergman to build a one-story bungalow on Albert street. The bungalow will be 22x30 feet and will be of frame construction. There will be four rooms and bath. The exterior will be furnished in clapboards and slated surfaced shingles while the interior will be in hardwood and plaster. The estimated cost is $1,800.

To Lewis J. Montv to build a two-story house on Newton street for himself. The house will have a cement foundation and the superstructure will be of frame. The exterior will be finished in clapboards and shingles. The interior will be in hardwood and plaster. The estimated cost is $4,000.

To Michele and Maria Amodeo to erect a frame two-story house on Fowler avenue. The house will be 26x28 feet and will have a concrete foundation and cellar. The exterior finish will be in clapboards and shingles, the first story being in ten-inch clapboards with the second story in stained shingles. The interior will be in hardwood and hard finish plaster with oak floors. There will be six rooms and bath. The estimated cost is $5,300.

To Joseph Grelly to build a frame garage 8x11 feet at 21 Avery street. The estimated cost is $75.

To Otilla McInnes to build an addition to the present frame barn in the rear of 45 Union street. The addition will be of cement blocks and will be 16x18 feet. When completed the garage will accommodate four cars. The estimated cost is $400.

To a local contractor to make alterations to the brick building at 42 Shetucket street for Amen Abraham. Several partitions will be removed and a toilet will be put in. On the top floor the partitions will be removed and a kitchen built in. The estimated cost is $75.

To Roger O. Jensen to erect a bungalow on Carver avenue for himself. The bungalow will be 26x36 feet and will have five rooms and bath. The foundation will be of stone and cement. The exterior will be finished in red cedar shingles while the interior will be in hardwood and hard plaster. The estimated cost is $3,600.

To Samuel Loshin to build an addition to the present frame garage at 79 Mt. Pleasant street. When completed there will be accommodations for three cars. The estimated cost is $50.

To a local builder to erect for Mrs. Anna Francis a frame four-car garage at 57 Ward street. The garage will be 20x40 feet and the estimated cost is $300.

To Albert C. Heber to erect a two-car frame garage, 20x20 feet on Roath street. The estimated cost is $200.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

During the past week there were 12 sales of real estate in Norwich, an increase of five sales over the corresponding week in 1928. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $88,600 and $16,900.

In New London during the past week there were 14 sales of real estate, an increase of 10 sales over the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $60,110 and $30,100.

Building Permits in State

The record of building permits issued during the past week in the leading Connecticut building centers shows a sharp decrease in construction activity as compared with the corresponding week in 1928. The week's total of 469 permits, calling for construction work estimated to cost $2,406,976, is compared with 504 permits a year ago, when estimated building costs amounted to $2,739,664.

New London

From private plans, William H. Lincoln, 24 Granite street, will build a frame residence on Cedar Grove avenue. The house will be two stories high, 24x28 feet, with a sun porch 6x16 feet. The estimated cost is $8,000.

Plans are being drawn for a police sub-station to be erected by the city under the east corner of Rudd's bathing pavilion at Ocean Beach. The substation will contain at least two cells and a lounging room for policemen.

The contract has been awarded for a dwelling to be built on Niles Hill road for Silas Maxson, Jr., 713 Montauk avenue. From private plans, the house will be 25x27 feet, of frame construction, arranged for one family.

Meyer H. and Perry J. Hollandersky, 154 State street, have completed plans for an addition to the building at 121 Bank street. The enlargement will be of brick, steel and cement construction, 74x63 feet.

Charles W. Novitch, who has taken over the house started by Fred L. Vatrous at 151 Thames street, has the dwelling framed. The house will be 24x28 feet, arranged for one family. The estimated cost is $9,000.

An appropriation for a new six-room school to be erected in the Great Neck district for Waterford was voted last week at a special town meeting. The estimated cost is $60,000.

The permit has been issued to E. J. Grandin for the erection of a store and tenement building at 8-10 Stewart street. From private plans, the building will be of frame construction, 29x36 feet, arranged for a store on the first floor, with two tenements on the upper floors. Julian Burke has the contract for the construction work.

In Praise of a Sneer

I like to be told, in language that's bold,
The things that are pleasant to hear—
That these rhymes I write are better, a sight,
Than Riley could write, were he here.

I simper with joy when man, girl or boy
Speaks well of my corn and my wheat—
Or says that my sow, or old brindle cow,
In all the wide world can't be beat.

I like it, it's grand to get a glad hand,
Flattery's sweet to my ear—
But this little lay I'm writing today
Is written in praise of a sneer.

For I have learned this—a good healthy hiss
Quite often will fill me with zip—
That my danger days are those filled with praise,
It's then that I'm likely to slip.

I've proven by test that I'm far from my best
When lulled by a feeling of bliss
But I will dig in and work hard to win
When somebody hands me a hiss.

—Tramp Starr in Farm Life.

The hints of Herodotus that the ancient Egyptians and the Abyssinians were somehow connected have received unexpected corroboration from botany. According to investigations of the Russian botanist, E. Flaxenburg, a striking likeness is now established between the old Egyptian grain found in the sarcophagus of the priests of the twelfth dynasty and the Abyssinian samples collected by the Vavilloff expedition in 1927. The Egyptian specimens differ strongly from other forms of emmer and especially from the Persian form, in which some scientists found some likeness with the Egyptian grain. From Abyssinia the emmer is believed to have spread to Arabia, India and Egypt. Persia forms arose which are alien to the Abyssinian ones. In Serbia other forms differentiated which approach the Abyssinian types. The Russian emmer originated from the Serbian forms.

WESTMINISTER

PLANS BEING MADE TO OBSERVE MOTHER'S DAY

Arrangements are being made for the observance of Mother's day the second Sunday in May. At the Congregational church the pastor, Rev. Harry E. Small, is to speak on the subject One of God's Greatest Gifts to Mankind, motherhood and mother love and its influence during childhood and in later years. The flowers in honor of living mothers and in memory of those dear mothers who have passed on will be a contribution. An invitation to attend has been extended visitors, especially to those whose mothers are buried in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Pupils Win Prizes

In the speaking and spelling contests at Westminster Hill school Friday, the prize in the speaking contest was awarded Louise Soderburg, with Victor Macleod second. In spelling the first prize went to Addie Robbins. Mr. Merritt House and Mrs. Walter Sears were the judges.

"WHISKERS" ON RED CLOVER DUE TO LEAF-HOPPER WORK

Red clover in the United States grows "whiskers" that stand straight out from the stems of the plants, while in England the ancestral form of the American type is still comparatively free from hairiness.

In attempting an explanation of the change from the smooth to the hairy form, Dr. A. J. Pieters of the United States department of agriculture says it is "necessary to turn to the wild red clover" to which all clovers are related and which shows a tendency toward hairiness. The possibility of producing hairy plants was therefore "in the blood" of the relatively smooth type brought from England more than 200 years ago, he says. Furthermore, a few rough hairy plants may have occurred in fields seeded with the English clovers.

When this English clover was brought to America it encountered new conditions, among them a little insect not known in Europe and called the potato leaf hopper. This insect damages red clover, especially the smooth forms, doing the most injury to the second, or seed, crop, Doctor Pieters says. It always keeps down the growth of the smooth plants of European clovers grown in the United States so they will not seed well. The hairy American type is little affected, especially when there are smooth plants on which the leaf hopper can feed.

A reasonable inference, says Doctor Pieters, may be drawn from what is known to happen today, and from the known facts the most reasonable answer to the question of why American clover is hairy is that the constant attacks of the leaf hopper carried on for more than 100 years gradually eliminated the smooth form by keeping down the production of seed, while the rough hairy form produced more seed than the other, and so constantly increased.

RESISTANT STRAINS OF CORN SOUGHT IN CORN-BORER FIGHT

The contribution of the bureau of plant industry of the United States department of agriculture to the 1929 research program in corn-borer control will have several different aspects. The effort to find or breed strains of corn which will be productive under corn-borer conditions are being continued. The most effective cultural and fertilizer practices for the infested area are being determined. The fundamental causes of variation in productiveness and in corn-borer damage resulting from the use of different strains and different cultural and fertilizer practices are being sought. Varietal trials and breeding experiments in non-infested areas are designed to provide data on the yields of different varieties planted at different rates and dates, and grown under different management, and also to develop corn that will be productive when planted at an abnormal date.

Studies of the cold resistance of corn have shown that some strains may be injured by temperatures above those at which frost occurs. Although the plants may not be killed, their maturing may be slowed down sufficiently to reduce the quality of the grain. Other strains may be less susceptible to the influence of cold. Strains able to resist temperatures around 30 degrees F. in the fall usually would have an additional two to three weeks in which to mature, according to weather records for the past 25 years. In case corn growers are forced to plant late in order to escape heavy infestations, there would be great economic advantage in using strains having a much higher resistance to cold than varieties now grown. It appears possible to develop such strains having other desirable qualities also, and the bureau is now working on this feature.

Experiments in pasture management are looked to for data to convince Corn Belt farmers they can afford to devote a larger proportion of their farms to pasture. In this way corn acreage may possibly be reduced so it will be easier to control the borer by the cultural methods recommended by entomologists.

BATTERY BROODER HELPS POULTRYMAN

CLAY CENTER, Kas., (AP)—With the aid of a battery brooder such as he estimates any farmer can build for $25, William Bauer is raising 1,350 baby chicks in a 12x14-foot room of his basement.

The battery is built with one tier above the other and the chicks are kept on a half-inch mesh hail screen. Bauer starts 125 chicks in each tray and at the end of the first week reduced the number to 100, placing the overflow in other brooders. After three weeks the chicks are moved to portable brooder houses on the range.

Heat is supplied by a coal stove. An electric light is kept burning day and night, the light encouraging the chicks to eat as often and long as they can. They are fed, cafeteria style, on an all-mash feed and water.

An electric fan keeps the temperature of the air constant—about 95 degrees—and insures that it is fresh. Bauer has lost only 30 chicks, all weaklings when they were hatched. His process has speeded up the forces of nature as related to growth.

FARM HAZARDS ON FARMS MAKE PREVENTION ESSENTIAL

Every farm owner is his own building inspector and is responsible for any construction that constitutes a fire hazard, say the authors of Farmers' Bulletin 1590-F., Fire-Protective Construction on the Farm, just published by the United States department of agriculture and available for free distribution.

Three bureaus of the department—chemistry and soils, agricultural economics and public roads—co-operated with the National Fire Protection association to provide a simple and practical discussion of fire hazards on farms, the most feasible and economical methods of avoiding or minimizing fires, and the planning of the farmstead to minimize the hazards which cannot be avoided.

Location of farm buildings is a matter of primary concern on farms. The authors discuss the comparative desirability of having farm buildings close together for convenience in doing chores, and at considerable distance from each other for safety in case of fire. The greater part of the bulletin is devoted to the more important features of construction which make for safety from fire in the farm home, and these suggestions are no less valuable for home builders in towns and villages not regulated by urban building codes. Special attention is directed to the common danger points in construction, the cellar, the roofing, the stairways, the chimney and its connections, and the heating and lighting equipment. The bulletin suggests the safe method of meeting the problems and emphasizes the importance of using fire stopping in the framework of the building and also the desirability of fire-resistant construction in the floors of the first story above the basement.

"Statistics published each year on the annual loss of life and property in farm fires," say the authors in the introductory paragraph, "should cause the owner of farm property to stop and think and then proceed to provide, as far as is practicable, against the possibility of his own loss being included in the annual report of the state fire marshal. But the average farm owner is like the average man in other walks of life, in that such figures mean little to him, and he has a sublime faith in his own immunity from disaster. His neighbors' buildings may go up in smoke, there may be a fire somewhere in the country every few minutes, but 'it won't happen to him.' If fire were possible only through his own acts, this attitude of mind might be justifiable, but he should remember that when driving an automobile he has every confidence in his own ability as a driver but he is not nearly so sure of the other fellow. Likewise, with respect to the possibility of fire, he may be careful himself but he should not put too much confidence in the other fellow, who may be the hired man, with little responsibility; a tramp, with less; or a member of his own family, particularly a child. Nor should he count too much upon immunity from fire caused by lightning, high wind carrying embers from a brush or other fire, spontaneous ignition, or by some other agency."

HINTS FOR THE FARM

A good general purpose fungicide to control fungous diseases in the flower garden is a dust containing copper sulphate and lime in finely ground form. It should be applied with a hand duster when the plants are moist with dew and the air is still.

It is very difficult to cure sheep which are infested with grubs in the head, but it is easy to keep the grubs off by smearing the sheep's nostrils with pine tar. It should be applied liberally to the edges of the nostrils and renewed when necessary.

Barley should be more widely grown in the northern and western states. It is an excellent grain feed for stock and produces more pounds to the acre than oats. The best lands for barley are well-drained soils that are not sandy.

The rotary hoe has proved to be a useful implement for cultivating corn during the early stages of growth. It generally is used just before the corn comes up, especially if a crust has been formed on the soil, and may be used until the corn is several inches high.

Addition of an egg mash to the turkey hen's ration will hasten and improve egg production. The same mash used for chickens may be used for turkeys. Oyster shells and limestone grit should be provided.

If alfalfa is pastured by stock care should be taken to avoid overgrazing. A good stand easily is injured by too much grazing. Alfalfa never should be pastured the first year and only lightly the second. Hogs are less injurious to it than other livestock.

EASTERN VOLUNTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dawley of Eastern Voluntown were in Norwich recently on business.

Charles Barber is sawing shingles for William Bitgood.

Callers at Mrs. Dawley's Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bitgood and daughter of Pachaug, George Washington Green and Herbert August and Thomas Lewis of Eastern Voluntown. Mr. Dawley is clapboarding and shingling his house.

Mrs. Emma Melbourn of Sterling visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Remington and family of Oneco.

The Eastern Voluntown correspondent was sorry to learn that the correspondent of North Sterling was in a hospital. They hope to hear of his recovery soon.

The shower of Sunday night made the roads very bad. They were bad before the rain and now it is much worse.

Charles Barber, Joel Barber and Thomas Lewis shingled William Bitgood's house. When they got through they took down the staging and when Mr. Lewis went to lift a plank he slipped and fell striking on his elbow. He was hurt quite badly. He can't use his arm. He hurt it last fall. It hadn't hardly got well when he fell and hurt it again.

Mr. Dawley is drawing logs from Mount Misery to Mr. Bitgood's mill in Eastern Voluntown.

Harold Bitgood and Maurice Harrington went trout fishing and caught a nice mess. They had four that would weigh 1 1-2 pounds apiece.

George Remington of Oneco, Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood's grandson, went fishing and caught ten handsome trout. His little brother, Woodrow, went and caught five. He is seven years old. Mr. Remington went out slipping and got over one bushel.

Mr. and Mrs. Bitgood had for callers Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bitgood and daughter of Pachaug, and Maurice Harrington of Eastern Voluntown. Saturday they had Mrs. Charles Barber and granddaughter and Joel Barber and Mr. Sweet. Mr. Sweet whitened three rooms for Mrs. Bitgood.

What is going to be done with the deer as they are eating up the new meadows for the farmers. There were three on Mr. Bitgood's new meadow a few days ago. They ate that about up and now they are getting ready for the garden when it comes up. I would think there could be something done with the deer and stop them from going in the garden. When you have a nice garden up and go out and see what the deer have done, it will make you sick. I don't see why they want to keep the deer for. They destroy everything. I think the rain is bad enough without having the deer.

CENTER GROTON

Much rain in this section has hindered farmers from getting in their early crops for market garden.

Much property has changed ownership in and near the village.

James Clark has erected a new house on a plot of land purchased from Mrs. William Hempstead.

J. F. Raymond, of Groton, has built a small cottage on his new property near the old Toll Gate house.

A sale of 20 acres of land was recently made from the estate of the late William Hempstead to Mr. Crouch, a contractor, of New London. A garage has been built on the property. Mr. Crouch plans to build several bungalows on his land.

Mr. Crook, of New London, has purchased the place formerly owned by Ellis Gray. Many improvements have been made on the property.

Harold Whipple, son of Alan Whipple, of Quaker Town, will build a new home on a lot on the North road, recently purchased from John R. Haley. Mr. Whipple is a radio expert.

The Ladies' Aid society is to meet Thursday. Luncheon will be served and a tied quilt will be completed. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Lydia and Jackson Gray, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Danks, of Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bailey, Gladys and Arthur Bailey, were recent callers at the home of Mr. Bailey's father, Giles W. Bailey, at Glenbrook farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lester and family, of Westerly, have moved to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Colver. Mr. Lester is but slightly improved after a serious illness.

UNION

The speaking and spelling contest of the local schools which was to have been held at the town hall Monday evening, April 29, was postponed to Tuesday evening, May 7, because of Supervisor Robertson's inability to attend on the earlier date.

Mrs. M. B. Dakin, state nutrition specialist, carried out an interesting and helpful program for the Union Home Economic club Tuesday. In the morning she demonstrated the preparation of ten-minute dishes. After the club and guests had enjoyed a covered-dish dinner, Mrs. Dakin instructed in "Happy Ways of Doing Things."

Major John Buckley was one of the four trustees of Connecticut Agricultural college reappointed April 24, by Gov. John H. Trumbull for a four-year term, beginning July 1, 1929.

Miss Evangeline Lawson returned to New York last Monday evening after spending a few days at her home.

The mercury stood at 32 degrees Tuesday at sunrise, the last day of April.

Raymond Skupek, president of the Rock Meadow Cackling club, attended the 4-H club round-up at Hartford Friday evening, April 27, and Saturday, April 28. The local club leader, Edwin Heck, accompanied him to Hartford and attended the 4-H club banquet at the Hotel Garde, Friday evening.

Selling ice at a profit of 100 per cent is certainly a cold man.

GENEVA, Ill. —(AP)— Roy Smith, the deputy sheriff who shot and killed Mrs. Lillian De King during a prohibition enforcement raid in her home was exonerated by the Kane county grand jury.

Cocoa and cookies were served.

Mrs. Byron A. Maynard, of Anthony, R. I., accompanied her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burgess, on a motor trip to this section Monday afternoon and called on her cousin, Mrs. F. L. Norman, at Allyn's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rounds, of Windsor, Vt., who had been guests of their relatives, Mrs. Charles F. Bartlett and Mr. and Mrs. R. Irving Huributt, for a few days, left here Monday.

Energy Foods Demonstrated

The third in the series of demonstrations on Square Meals for Health, prepared by Mrs. Marion Evans Dakin, nutrition specialist for the State Agricultural college extension service, was given Wednesday by Miss Ruth T. Russell, of Norwich, home demonstration agent for the County Farm bureau, at the home of Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham. Twelve were in attendance, the demonstration being on energy foods. Whole wheat yeast muffins, rye rolls, Chinese rice, steamed raisin pudding with foamy sauce, mayonnaise dressing and potato cocoanut candy were made and used for the noon luncheon, with salad, sandwiches and tea.

Mrs. R. Irving Huributt, Mrs. Henry W. Huributt and Mrs. Lucy A. Huributt motored to Mystic to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mary J. Williams, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Williams, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James E. Whipple, in the Lester district Sunday, was one of the oldest residents of the town of Ledyard and would have celebrated her 93rd birthday had she lived until May 17.

Percy Norman, an engineer on steamer Richard Peck, spent a day's vacation the first of the week at his home at Allyn's Point.

The village school changed from standard to daylight time Wednesday.

Burgess Bedtime Story

The Secret of the Dead Tree
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

When all is said and all is done
Slight knowledge may be worse than none.
—Beauty the Wood Duck.

Peter Rabbit couldn't keep away from a certain big dead tree in the Green Forest, not far from the pond of Paddy the Beaver. He didn't tell anybody what he had seen there, for he couldn't yet believe that he really had seen what he thought he had seen. So he went back every little while to sit under the hemlock tree and watch a hole quite high up in that dead tree. The hole was of good size. Peter could remember when Bobby Coon had lived in there, so you see it hole had to be of good size.

At last Peter's persistence and patience were rewarded. He got over there just at daybreak. He had been sitting under that little hemlock tree only a few minutes when he heard a whistle. It was unlike any other whistle, so Peter knew at once what made it. He knew that that whistle was made by a pair of wings—the wings of a Duck. And then almost before he had time to realize what had made that whistling, something happened right before his eyes. A bird alighted at that hole in the tall dead tree and disappeared inside. This wasn't altogether surprising. Peter had seen many birds do this same thing. But never in his life before had he seen this particular kind of a bird disappear in a hole in a tree. It was a Duck. Yes, sir, it was a Duck!

That was Mrs. Wood Duck," thought Peter. "So I wasn't mistaken in what I saw the other day. It must be that she is living in that hole. I wish she would come out, so I could talk to her."

Mrs. Wood Duck didn't come out. She didn't even look out. So finally Peter started over to the pond as fast as he could go, lippertyippertyip. As he hoped would be the case, he found Beauty the Wood Duck, handsomest of all the Duck family, feeding close in shore. Peter hurried over to right near him. "I've found it!" cried Peter.

"Have I a secret?" Beauty asked in a tone of surprise

"That's nice" replied Beauty. "What is it?"

"What is what?" asked Peter, looking a little blank.

"What is it you have found?" replied Beauty.

"Your secret," declared Peter.

"Have I a secret?" Beauty asked in a tone of surprise.

"You did have, but you haven't now," replied Peter with a grin. "It's over in the hollow in the big dead tree."

"I suppose it must be if you say so," retorted Beauty, "but really I should like to know what it is."

Peter grinned. "I don't want to know what it is, but how many it is," said he. "What is the use of pretending, Beauty? You know that I know where Mrs. Wood Duck is this very minute. I won't tell. Honestly, I won't tell. That is, I won't, if you'll tell me what I want to know."

"And just what is that?" asked Beauty.

"How many eggs Mrs. Wood Duck is sitting on over in that hollow tree," replied Peter. "I saw her go in, so it is useless for you to pretend that she isn't there. Now, how many eggs has she?"

"Twelve," replied Beauty promptly.

"Yes, sir, there are twelve eggs. That is going to be a family to be proud of when those eggs hatch. But, for goodness sake, Peter, don't tell anybody!" he added anxiously.

"I won't," replied Peter. "I promise you I won't. I won't tell anybody. I'll keep your secret in the hollow tree."

DANIELSON

LARGE DANIELSON DELEGATION TO BE AT RELIEF CORPS MEET

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 2—Representatives of Danielson and other nearby communities will figure prominently in the annual encampment of the department of Connecticut, Woman's Relief corps, that opened at New London today and will continue through Friday. Miss Lillian E. Polley is the department president and Miss Annie L. Page, both of Danielson, are respectively department president and department secretary. The delegation from McGregor corps, of Danielson, includes Mrs. Mat Sayles, Mrs. Flora Kennedy, Mrs. Fred Burnett, Mrs. Mary Page, Mrs. Nellie Moran, Mrs. Milch Jordan, Mrs. Ida Thomas, Mrs. Thomas O. Talbot, Mrs. Lettie James, Mrs. Mary A. Bedard, Mrs. Ella M. Mills, Mrs. Susan W. Mower, Miss Eva Shealds.

Tonight at the 52nd annual camp fire of the department of Connecticut G. A. R., the presentation in behalf of the state department, Woman's Relief corps, was made by Miss Polley, who also presented her department report in the Grand Army of the Republic. Leach's orchestra of Wauregan played during tonight's program.

A feature of the program was the acceptance of a silk flag on behalf of the department following the presentation ceremony by Rev. Chester L. Armstrong, pastor of the Danielson Baptist church. A patriotic reading and a humorous reading were two numbers on the program by Mrs. Nora L. Frink, of Brooklyn.

The report of Miss Page, as secretary, contains much detail relative to the activities of the W. R. C. in Connecticut during the past year.

Announcement was made today of the newly appointed committee chairwomen of the Killingly Woman's club for the ensuing year: Civics, Mrs. Arthur L. Cundall; education, Miss Priscilla Brooks; home making, Mrs. Harding W. Gaylord; literature and art, Mrs. Thomas Ralph; music, Mrs. William Levin; service, Mrs. Eric Johnson; social, Miss Mae L. Young; hospital, Mrs. Richard D. Bangan; friendly service, Miss Marion Boomhower.

The club has elected as delegates to the State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Willimantic and at the Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs on May 14, 15 and 16, Mrs. J. Arthur Atwood, Miss Ada F. King, Mrs. A. H. Armington, Miss Emma F. Pilling and Mrs. James A. Paine. Some of the sessions of the convention are to be held at Storrs, others in Willimantic. Miss Pilling is now receiving the notifications of those who intend to be at the meeting at Storrs in order that arrangements may be made for features of their entertainment.

It was also announced today that the Killingly Woman's club will again this year provide an award of $30 to some graduate of Killingly High school toward paying the expense of a college course.

At yesterday's meeting of the club, Mrs. Lucy Marks Morrison, chairman of the committee on music of the Connecticut State Federation of Women's clubs, came from Norwich to attend. Mrs. Morrison directed the chorus singing, which was declared to be enthusiastic and very enjoyable.

The downpours and the near floods of April were not sufficient it appears to furnish real insurance against grass or forest fires. An illustration of this was the breaking out of a grass fire south of here on the Wauregan state highway this afternoon and some smart work was necessary to subdue it. The fire started near one of the driveway entrances to the power-house property of the Connecticut company and was burning briskly at one time and threatening to get out of control. It is possible that the fire was started by some lighted match or cigarette being tossed from a passing automobile.

There are 18 blind people in the town of Killingly and a total of 95 who are blind within the limits of Windham county, it is made known today by the state board of education of the blind, which has arranged an exhibit to be held in the town hall here next week, and which will be introduced with a meeting at the auditorium of Killingly High school Sunday afternoon. Of the 95 blind in the county, Ashford has three, Brooklyn four, Canterbury two, Chaplin and Eastford one each, Plainfield three, Pomfret two, Putnam 22, Sterling four, Thompson six, Windham 24 and Woodstock three.

Two of the home teachers of the state board of education of the blind will be at the town hall during the week of the blind. They are Miss Lorraine Berger, of Bridgeport and Miss Corinne Delesderniers of New Haven. These teachers go about the state, with a guide, and teach blind people in their homes to make useful articles. These articles are sold at sales and the full price that is paid for an article is given to the blind person who made it, because of these home workers will be on display at the town hall the coming week.

The opening of the Norwich fairgrounds as the home of exhibitions and horse-racing, recalls that Danielson had a similar institution that went the same way, and that Putnam also moved in a like change with the passing years. Nearly 40 years have flitted on since a number of lovers of horses and horse-racing conceived the idea of having a race track here, and the Riverside driving park, on upper Maple street, was the outcome. It was a pretty park, ideally located and had one of the fastest half-mile tracks in New England. Some noted horses showed their speed over it during the few years that racing was carried on there but the enterprise cost its promoters money and it had to be abandoned. Little trace of the track and no traces of the buildings are left today. The land was sold to a real estate concern, cut up into house lots and disposed of to various buyers. A considerable number of people now live along the streets opened up on the grounds. Almost the identical thing happened in Putnam but less than a score of years ago. There, too, the grandstand, stables and other structures have disappeared, streets have been opened up and homes built. In eastern Windham county the only remaining race track is at the Brooklyn fairgrounds, and up in the northern section of the county is another track, a third of a mile one, on the Woodstock fairgrounds.

Beginning of curtain manufacturing at the Connecticut village plant of Powdrell & Alexander within the next few weeks will mean the transfer of several hundred girls from the Main street plant of the company. Among other things that have been done at the plant at the north of the borough to prepare shipping facilities suitable to the concern that is to use it.

This afternoon at the A. F. Wood funeral home here services were conducted for Mrs. Lucy E. Shippee of East Killingly by Rev. Albert Abbott of the Methodist Episcopal church, with many relatives and friends attending. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. The bearers were Robert E. Smith, Edward Aldrich, Bertram Bassett and Ernest R. Chase, Jr. There were many beautiful floral pieces.

In Foster this afternoon a funeral service for Mrs. Abbie A. Hillary was conducted by Rev. Fred M. Buker of Anthony, R. I. During the service Mrs. Buker sang I Love to Tell the Story, and No Night There. Burial was in the Line store cemetery. The bearers were Olney A. Knight, at whose home Mrs. Hillary died; L. Munroe Card of Pawtucket, formerly of Danielson, Frank Gilbert and Aden A. Tillinghast. A. F. Wood was in charge of the arrangements.

When Mrs. L. E. Kennedy entertained at bridge at her home on Furnace street yesterday afternoon the honors were all won by Willimantic guests, Mrs. Roderick Godreau winning first honors, Mrs. F. E. Cyr second and Mrs. Albert Fournier third.

Rev. Carlos C. Rowlinson of Hartford is to preach at the Sunday services at the Congregational church in Brooklyn.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Henry D. Crosby will have the members of the Civic federation at her home for a meeting.

Miss Emma F. Pilling and Miss Marion D. Chollar have been named to represent the Killingly Woman's Club at the biennial council of the National Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at Swampscott, Mass., May 27 to June 1.

As soon as certain minor repairs are made to the roof of the Exchange block the name Danielson, as a guide to aviators, will be painted. G. Rene Caron of the Chamber of Commerce said this afternoon. So much rainy weather is responsible for holding up the repairing of the roof.

On the West Side many employes of the Quinebaug company are making ready to plant their gardens on land set aside for this purpose each year by the mill company, without charge. Usually there are several acres of these gardens.

Mrs. Clementine Lussier, 73, widow of Charles Lussier, is dead at the home in Wauregan.

Immediately following the state department convention, now in session in New London, members of McGregor post, W. R. C., will proceed with that organization's part of the preparations for Memorial day.

The state fish and game commission yesterday sent another shipment of brown trout into this territory for release in designated waters. Several thousand of this species of trout were released several years ago in the upper reaches of the Assawaga river, but none have been reported caught, though some of them should weigh as much as five or six pounds by this time if they are living.

Rainfall here during April is reported to have been 6.29 inches, practically double the amount that usually falls in the same period.

State Officer James Carmody, injured in an accident at Jewett City last Saturday, has returned from the Day Kimball hospital and is now at his home here and showing gradual improvement.

Harry A. Benson of Lowell is here to spend the week-end with friends in Danielson and vicinity.

First and second degrees are to be conferred on candidates when Killingly grange holds its meeting Monday evening. On the 20th, when the second meeting of May is held, the third and fourth degrees are to be conferred.

Broken places in the surface of borough streets have been repaired preparatory to the oiling that is to be done a little later in the month.

PUTNAM

SUPERIOR COURT MAY SIT ONLY ONCE A YEAR HERE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 2—The eyes of men and women in business circles together with all members of the legal profession in this city are focused on the action of the state legislature—which draws to a close this week—regarding the bill pertaining to the holding of superior court in Windham county. There is a bill now before the legislature which will in some way effect the sittings of superior courts in every county in the state, but the portion of the bill demanding the attention of those interested in eastern and northern Windham county reads as follows: "Superior court shall sit in the county of Windham at Windham (Willimantic) on the 4th Tuesday of September and the 1st Tuesday of December and February and at Putnam on the 1st Tuesday of May". The clause means that in the event the document is passed by both houses of the legislature three terms of superior court will be held in Willimantic, while Putnam will have but one, the usual May session.

Sentiment in this city has been aroused against the passage of the bill and efforts in the way of resolutions are now being made to prevent its going through the house and senate. The opinion of lawyers is unanimously pitched against the bill and the same is true of the business men of the city. The bill is known as "an act providing for civil and criminal sessions of the superior court".

According to Stetson K. Ryan, secretary of the state board of education of the blind, there are twenty-two blind persons residing in Putnam, the largest number of blind people in any town of Windham county. Mr. Ryan stated that the board of education of the blind has on record a total of 95 blind persons in the entire county, and the only community in the county not having any blind living within its limits is the town of Scotland.

The annual inspection by the grand lodge officers of the Order of Eastern Star Jessamine chapter, was held last evening at the Masonic temple on Grove street, with a large attendance present. Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Abbie Y. Bergman, Order of Eastern Star of Connecticut and her associate staff of grand lodge officers conducted the ceremonies. Preceding the inspection a lamb supper was served to the guests in the grill rooms of the Masonic club rooms on South Main street. Visiting delegations from several state chapters were present last night.

A crowd of several persons gathered on Bugbee's corner this morning to watch truckmen remove a large safe from the offices of Searls Russell and Bradford in the Central Block, condemned, recently vacated by the firm of lawyers. The huge steel casing was towered to a truck on Main street and removed to the new offices of the lawyers on Front street with amazing ease.

THREE NEW TEACHERS ADDED TO TEACHING STAFF

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 2—Three new teachers were added to the faculties of the Israel Putnam and the Smith street schools last evening by a vote of the town school committee passed at its monthly meeting held in the law offices of Torrey and Geissler on Main street. The application of Miss Eleanor Murphy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard P. Murphy of this city, now teaching in Bristol, was accepted. Miss Murphy is a graduate of Putnam high school class of 1920 and has several years credit as a teacher. The application of Miss Margaret McConnell of Grove street for a position as a member of the teaching staff of the Israel Putnam school was also accepted. Miss McConnell is now teaching in the school of Ballouville. Her experience as an educator consists of 14 years as a teacher in Connecticut schools. Miss A. B. Charbonneau, now a member of the staff of teachers in the Pomfret educational department has resigned her position there and has been accepted to teach in Putnam, commencing next fall. Miss Charbonneau is a graduate of the Worcester normal school and comes to Putnam exceptionally well recommended as a teacher.

There are three vacancies in the 1929-30 teaching staffs of the Putnam public schools and it was left with Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin to appoint the newly selected teachers to their positions at the opening of the fall term next September.

Miss Belinda Snow, head of the Latin department of Putnam high school tendered her resignation to the school board at last night's meeting. Miss Snow gave as her reason for resigning the fact that she has obtained a scholarship at a finishing school Bryn Mawr, N. Y. Miss Snow's resignations was accepted as read. Another vacancy was created in the rural schools of the town last evening when Mrs. Gibson of the East Putnam school tendered her resignation. The document was also accepted. No action was taken at this meeting in filling these two positions on the teaching staffs of the town.

John H. Bulger, chairman of the committee on buildings of the Putnam town school committee said this afternoon that an investigation has revealed residents in the vicinity of the Putnam high school grounds have commenced to dump garbage and other undesired debris and rubbish on the portion of the high school athletic field bordering on the property of the New Haven railroad. Mr. Bulger intimated that prosecution will be brought against those responsible for this offensive act if the practice is not discontinued at once. The chairman of the committee stated that the school committee has granted permission to several parties to dump gravel and other filling waste of a clean nature on these premises, with a view of filling the hole and grading the land off, thereby extending the athletic field.

Miss Elizabeth Bennett, a member of the class of 1929 Putnam high school and one of the three honor students to obtain recognition for her record established as a student during the past four years has written a number of poems which have appeared in the current issue of the Blue and White Banner, the school periodical.

Mrs. Jacob Rosenwald of Main street was operated upon at the Memorial hospital in Worcester yesterday. Her condition today was reported as being critical.

Walter A. Wheaton, Sr., of Bradley street was in Lynn, Mass., today where he visited with friends.

The condition of Rev. Joseph D. Casey, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church was regarded as favorable today, following an operation which he underwent in St. Francis hospital in Hartford.

Earl C. Rogers, president of the Northeastern Fish and Game club of this city in behalf of the membership of the sportsmen's association announced today that the club would reward any person convicting a hunter or fisherman who has destroyed a farmer's property within the towns of Putnam, Thompson, Woodstock, Pomfret, Eastford and Ashford, with a purse of $10. Mr. Rogers stated that this action was taken by the club at a recent meeting to protect the rights of fair playing hunters and anglers who wish to enjoy the occasional field trips in the quest of fish and game.

Michael J. O'Neill for many years a resident of Pomfret died last evening at his home in that town at the age of 80 years. Mr. O'Neill is a native of Ireland. He came to this country, when driven from his native home with thousands of others of his race during the famine in that country During his life in Pomfret Mr. O'Neill had been employed as a gardener and caretaker of one of the estates there. He is survived by his wife and two sons and three sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Payne of Pawtucket, formerly of this city, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Ruby Payne were in this city Wednesday, where they attended the inspection of the Jessamine chapter of Order of Eastern Star.

JEWETT CITY

RESERVOIR ENDS APRIL IN PRIME CONDITION

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, May 2—No month of April since the building of the Jewett City water company's reservoir has showed a rainfall of six and thirty-eight hundredths inches, that being the official measurement for April 1929. The waste gates were opened every few days, the pond being full, thus purifying the lake by hours of bottom draft. Any person visiting the reservoir will notice the evidence, as spring approaches, of the continued activity of Patrick Weaver, who is in charge of the company's and the consumers' interests. The entire growth of trees and shrubbery has been cut and cleaned back 100 feet from the water.

Fish have been successfully eliminated, and a strict watch is kept over all the great water-shed to guard against trespass or nuisances of any kind. Mr. Weaver receives the commendation of the water company's superintendent, A. A. Young, Jr., who declares, that the water analyses themselves are the best evidence of successful sanitary methods at the sources of supply.

TROUT, WATER SNAKE, BULLFROG—SPRING IS HERE

Everything is going along in normal fashion at Tadpole. Mr. Roundeau caught 16 horn pout May day evening. May 2nd a bus driver during the 72 degree temperature at noon, saw a four foot water-snake wiggling across the state highway between the ponds.

Further proof that all is well, was seen when a small barefooted boy came down the railroad tracks, carrying a whopper of a green bull frog by means of a string knotted about the croaker's neck. Some thought the frog would weight nothing under 2 pounds. Another witness asked, "Where was that gent when the pond was covered with a foot of ice, last January?"

Mrs. S. R. Waters entertained the G. L. P. club at her home this week. As it was the birthday of one of the members, a birthday cake was a feature of the refreshments. The table decorations were in spring colors, with daffodils.

At Putnam Meeting

Mrs. S. H. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. P. Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Cornel, Mrs. H. E. Paul, W. E. Truesdell, Mrs. J. T Stewart, Mrs Carl Benjamin, Mrs. Lucy Davis and W. J. Robertson were in Putnam Wednesday evening to attend the ceremonies in connection with the visitation of the O. E. S. grand officers at Jessamine chapter.

Kouri Bros., of Worcester have vacated the Elias Anthony store in the block of the same name. The senior Kouri, says he did a fine business here, "discovering," he said, "Jewett City isn't much of a town for auctions." The store is soon to be occupied by the new lessee, Mr. Florman.

HANOVER

FRIENDS SORROW FOR DEATH OF PROF. CHAS. A. McMURRAY

Those Hanover people who had become acquainted with Prof. Charles A. McMurray, who was given a year's leave of absence from Peabody college in order that he might complete a certain amount of literary work and spent a large part of the time at Fullertown where he had purchased a summer home, were greatly shocked to learn of his sudden death at his home in Nashville, Tenn., March 23d. Prof. McMurray had expected to be in Hanover again early next summer, and before long to retire from the active duties of his professorship and make Fullertown his permanent home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones and their daughter Hazel of Allenton, R. I., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Hazen.

Hanover was well represented at Norwich Sunday night at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. which was addressed by Miss Margaret Slattery of the United church.

At New Haven Meeting.

Hanover was represented at New Haven Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Council of Congregational Women of Connecticut by Mrs. Henry A. Adams, Mrs. Frank Crombie, Mrs. Myron Allen, Miss Helen Eadie, Mrs. Allison B. Ladd, Mrs. William Storrs Lee, Mrs. Frederick W. Lebourveau, Mrs. William G. Park, Mrs. Roger W. Peck, Mrs. Dwight C. Stone and Mrs. George Westland. The cars in which they made the trip were driven by Mrs. Lebourveau and Mrs. Park.

There is to be a preparatory service in the Congregational church this (Thursday) evening at 7.30 at the close of which the standing committee of the church will meet a number of young people who desire to unite with the church upon the following Sunday morning at the communion service.

Apparently, the change to daylight saving time Sunday affected slightly if at all the attendance at either of the local churches, neither did the threatening weather of the afternoon, nor the terrific downpour of the evening interfere with plans previously made.

Mrs. Jane Abelard, after spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Tucker, has returned to South Windham, to be with another daughter, Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Herbert Grant of Quaker Hill has been a visitors at the home of Mrs. Webster Standish.

DULUTH'S AERIAL FERRY SOON TO BE REPLACED

DULUTH, Minn.—(AP)—Duluth's famous suspended car ferry across the United States ship canal will be replaced soon by a $50,000 lift-type structure. Work already has started and the new bridge probably will be ready at the close of navigation on Lake Superior next December.

The unique aerial ferry bridge, a steel structure that cost $120,000 when built in 1904, connects Duluth with Minnesota Point, suburban community of about 4,000 persons. Row-boat ferry was maintained in the early days, and when it was decided to build a bridge, all plans were rejected as unsatisfactory until an engineer recommended a span on the same basic principle as the famous bridge at Rouen, France.

Removal was sought by Minnesota Point citizens on the ground that it was inadequate for present day traffic and "dangerous." Six automobiles and more than 350 pedestrians can be carried on the suspended car, and the average time for crossing the canal by the aerial ferry is three minutes.

'Gator Office Pet.

LINCOLN, Neb.—(AP)—G. W. Gillespie keeps a 5-foot a ligator in his office for a pet. He raised it from a baby 'gator secured in Louisiana 11 years ago. Fed on raw beef, it rarely gives trouble and molests neither the office force nor a pet dog. During winter the amphibian is kept warmly wraped and near a stove.

WESTERLY

THIRTY-TWO PETIT JURORS QUALIFY ON THURSDAY

The trial calendar of civil cases was taken up Thursday noon in the Westerly adjournment of the April term of superior court for Washington county by Associate Justice Charles A. Walsh of Providence, after jurors, attorneys and court officers had waited since 10:30. Judge Walsh qualified thirty-two petit jurors and they were sworn for duty by W. Herbert Caswell as follows:

South Kingstown—Leon A. Barden, Archie L. Holland, Frederick A. Lane, Henry A. Pearce, Christopher H. Rose, Henry Smith.

North Kingstown—Hector A. Lafreniere, David J. Marble, Earl H. Place, Albert W. Rogers, Leander B. Spencer.

Westerly—Raymond U. Crandall, Ulysses E. Crandall, Isaac Graeves, Henry Lepper, James Maxwell, Americo E. Monti.

Hopkinton — John W. Burdick, James L. G. Charnley, Julian T. Crandall, David K. Hoxsie, Henry E. Jeffrey, LeRoy Sherman.

Richmond — Gilbert H. Barber, Henry H. Thayer.

Exeter—Horace J. Arnold, Albert G. C. Brewer, Harry D. Lewis.

Charlestown—John Beresford, Benjamin C. Gavitt.

Narragansett—William S. Northup, William L. Taylor.

Requests to be excused were made by Harry A. Pearce, contractor of South Kingstown, who stated that men in his employ would be unable to get along without him and the judge let him go until Monday. Albert W. Rogers, of North Kingstown was excused upon a doctor's certificate. John Beresford of Charlestown, said that he would be unable to serve but a few days at a time without injuring his business; he was allowed a temporary suspension.

The trial calendar was called and cases were disposed of as follows: Francis A. Kenyon vs. United Electric Railway Co., passed; Standard Oil company vs. Guy W. Holmes, passed; Robert H. Farnham vs. Munro, Inc., passed; Clarence E. Roche vs. William M. Champlin ready; Sippo Majuri vs. Thomas H. Barber, ready; Joseph Ferraro, et ux vs. John M. Greenwood, passed process of settlement; Edwin D. Vennard vs. Harold Lihme, ready; Lloyd Chesebrough vs. A. Matarese, trial; John Gabrielle vs. Frank Brocato, trial; Fulton Factories, Inc., vs. The P. H. Ople Company, trial; Fred T. Baker vs. John R. Armstrong, trial; Joseph Pickering vs. J. Edward Stenhouse, ready; George E. Money, administrator vs. Thomas H. Barber, ready; Annunziato Uono vs. Frank Capalbo, ready; Edith M. Barber vs. Thomas H. Barber, ready; Henry E. Brown vs. Diadema F. Sherman, passed; Thomas Iverson vs. William R. Tillinghast, continued to September session. John Gabrielle vs. Fred Brocatto, passed; Henry E. Brown vs. Henry Joslin, passed.

Tax cases: Angelo Jos vs. John R. Champlin and Slattery vs. John R. Champlin; marked ready.

As no cases were ready, Judge Walsh excused the jurymen to report Monday morning next at 10:45 (daylight saving time) when he declared that Judge Capotosto would be in Westerly to hold court.

Attorney Ferguson stated that according to a talk which he had with the presiding justice, a qualified judge would be sent to Westerly at this term of the court to again hear the Carpenter will case, which has found its way back to the superior court from a full bench consideration.

Wife Granted Divorce

Judge Walsh heard the uncontested divorce petition Louise M. Carr of Tower Hill road, Shunderstown, in the town of North Kingstown, vs Willis A. Carr. Judge Walsh granted the divorce on the grounds of continued intoxication. Married on Nov. 16, 1910, the wife was given the right to resume her maiden name of Atkison.

Heirs of Richard J. Butler sold to Rosario Vito and wife, Louise, land off the Westerly-Bradford road, on the south side of Batterson avenue.

Clarke-Mitchell

Wednesday Miss Eleanor F. Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Clark of Wells street. They were united in marriage at 4 o'clock, at Christ Episcopal church by the rector, Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, the double ring service being used. They were attended by Mr and Mrs. Ralph Champlin. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. Charles Larkin. The bride was attractive in a silver gray ensemble with shoulder corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley, while the matron of honor wore a blue ensemble, also with shoulder corsage of sweet peas. Following the wedding a reception was held at Peckham's Inn. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke left on a wedding trip to Atlantic City, and Washington and on their return, May 10, will reside at 21 Greenman avenue. The bride received many gifts.

OBITUARY

William Wheeler

William Wheeler, 78, died suddenly Wednesday at his home, 17 Lester avenue, Pawcatuck. He had been in failing health for some time. Mr. Wheeler was born in England, but came to this country when a child. For 52 years he was employed at C. B. Cottrell & Sons Co., as a machinist, advancing to foreman. He retired from active work about three years ago. He had served several terms as a member of the republican town committee, also was a member of the board of engineers of P. S. Barber Hose Co. He was a member of Christ Episcopal church and of Narragansett Lodge of Odd Fellows. Besides his wife, Margaret Black Wheeler, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. O. F. Hummell of Mystic, and a son, Arthur C. Wheeler of Brooklyn, N. Y.

FUNERALS

John Moosey

Thursday morning the funeral of John Moosey, 43, a former resident of Westerly, who died Monday in White Plains, N. Y., was held at 7:45 o'clock from the home of his brother, Chickory Moosey on Farley avenue. High mass of requiem was celebrated at 8 o'clock at St. Michael's Church by Rev. Leo Weston. Burial was in St. Michael's New cemetery, where the committal service was by Fr. Weston. The bearers were: Joseph and David Abdallah, Abraham Howard, George Joseph, Ernest Paul and Elias Paul.

Walter W. Lewis

The funeral of Walter W. Lewis, former Westerly resident who died Monday at Groton, Conn., were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at 46 Granite street, Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, rector of Christ Episcopal church, read the service. Burial was in Union cemetery, North Stonington, where the committal was by Rev. Mr. Tobin. The bearers were George Keeney, Clyde Batty, Charles Holdredge, Edward Ives, Lyle Chapman and Charles Crandall.

Auto Mishaps Thursday

Thursday about 7:30 a. m., a Chevrolet car was being driven up Elm street and a Ford truck operated by Colby Crandall was proceeding down John street. They came together with such force that the truck was jammed against a stone hitching post on the west side of Elm street and the Chevrolet overturned in the highway with the glass on one side shattered and the side of the auto badly stove in. Crandall claimed that he had come almost to a stop as he came out of John into Elm street, while the Chevrolet was proceeding at such a rate of speed that it was unable to stop. He said when he saw the crash coming he set his brakes and leaped from the car. Officer George L. Madison investigated the accident.

The Ford truck of the Sullivan Granite company frequently driven by John F. Sullivan, whenever transportation is needed by local Boy Scouts, was bumped Thursday at 9:30 a. m. corner of Greenman avenue and Beach street by an automobile with an express body owned by John Sutcliffe of Prospect street, and driven by Fred R. Richards. Instead of Richards sticking close to the right hand side of the road on seeing the approach of the Sullivan car, he swerved to the left, with the result that he hit the Sullivan machine. The police say the Sullivan car had the right of way, and no responsibility should be placed on it. However, both machines carry insurance, and the trouble will be straightened out between the two drivers. The Sullivan truck had an old Ford body, on the inside of which were seated half a dozen boys and as many dogs, taking a tour around the town during the school holidays.

"I am going through the Change of Life. At times I would cry for hours. I got tired of going to the doctor so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken the first bottle I began to get better. I have taken eight bottles now. I feel that it has saved my life, also doctor's bills. I work for a family of six, washing, cooking and do all my own work. People say I look like 25."—Mrs. Cora Calahan.

MRS. F. C. HELMING

"Lydia E. Pinkham did for me what doctors failed to do. When the Change of Life began I was very poorly. Now at 55 I do all my own work, attend two dances a week and it is hard to make people believe I am over 40. I never see a woman in ill health but I advocate your medicine because I know its value. Every woman should take it, not just for a month or two but until they have passed the critical period."—Mrs. F. C. Helming.

HENRY F. ULMER'S WILL DISPOSES OF ESTATE

The will of the late Henry F. Ulmer of Harland road who committed suicide in a New Haven hospital last week, was offered for probate in the Norwich probate court Thursday before Judge Nelson J. Ayling and showed that it was drawn Aug. 2, 1927 with a codicil dated Nov. 21, 1928. The Thames National bank is named as executor. The will was witnessed by Attorneys William H. Shields and William H. Shields, Jr., and by Miss Julia Kslaszek.

Provision is made for payment of funeral expenses and just debts as well as placing a suitable marker over the grave in Yantic cemetery and further provision for disposing of his estate is made as follows:

To his wife, Hazel Brunn Smith Ulmer, "so that she may have something that I have prized highly, namely, my gold oval stickpin with garnet in center. Also my white onyx shirt studs and cuff links which my wife always expressed a fondness for."

To a son, Frank Wyman Frickman Ulmer, $100.

To another son, John Wyman Ulmer, and if he be not living, then to his legal child or legal children, if any there be, and if there be no legal child or legal children of his, then to his legal widow, if any there be, and if there be no legal widow, then to my wife, all the rest and residue of my jewelry, which would include watches, rings, scarf pins, cuff links and various other articles not enumerated, which would be jewelry, but in no event shall the jewelry include any other of my jewelry that might be enumerated in other bequests in this, my will. Also my flat table silverware made by Gorham, about 202 pieces, which was Mrs. Eccles and I think marked N. M. E. Also my Knights Templar regalia, which is at the Masonic temple, Norwich.

To Alida Codd Ulmer, now located at 1816 Des Moines Avenue, Portsmouth, Va., who married my son, Frank, whether she be married to him at the time of my death, or not, $500.

To cousins, Elsa Daudey and Anna F. Daudey, both of Rockville, $1,000 outright.

"In order to provide for the contingency of any child or children born to me hereafter, either before I die or after I die, I hereby give and bequeath to each and every such child the sum of $1."

Two-thirds of the residue of the estate goes to his wife, Hazel Brunn Smith Ulmer, to be hers absolutely and forever, while the other one-third to son, "John Wyman Ulmer, and if he be not living, then to his legal child or legal children, of any there be, and if there be no legal child or legal children then to his legal widow, if any there be and if there be no legal widow then to my wife, Hazel Brunn Smith Ulmer."

In the codicil the $500 left to Alida Codd Ulmer goes to the residue of the estate as she has since died.

The codicil also sets out the following additions to the will:

To his wife, is given the real estate in the town of Narragansett, R. I., known as lots Nos. 45 and 46 on the Point Judith park plot and located at the corner of Louise and Calef avenues. The widow is also given such autos or automobiles which he may own at the time of his death and also all household furnishings, but should there be any of the personal property that his wife does not wish to have, he sets out that it is his wish that the same go to his son, John Wyman Ulmer.

AN EARLY END OF HORSE OWNERS' STRIKE FORECAST

AURORA, Ill., May 2—(AP)—Slight concessions by both sides tonight indicated an early end of the horse owners' strike which has caused a three day postponement of the spring program at the Aurora race track.

Clifford R. Trimble, general manager of the track, said he was very certain that the inaugural card would be run Saturday. Several turf men notified Trimble they were not in sympathy with the strike and would enter their horses for Saturday if others would follow their lead. This, coupled with reports that minimum purses would be increased from $800 to $900 by redistributing the money guaranteed for the postponed dates, indicated an agreement would be reached tomorrow.

Tomorrow's program was called off after horsemen failed to file sufficient entries to fill the card. However, the number of entries was increased over Wednesday's showing.

L. D. Jones, representative of the Thoroughbred Horsemen's association, which is behind the strike said his organization would not yield in its demand for larger purses, nor back down in its fight to force the track management to deduct for the association, one per cent. of all winning purses.

Trimble today withdrew his ultimatum to turf owners, which demanded they race or take their horses from the track stalls.

"While they should do so, I am not going to demand it for humane reasons," he explained. "I do not think they have a place for their horses."

SAYS RADIO SINGERS BUNGLE COWBOY SONGS

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(AP)—Most radio entertainers do not know how to sing cowboy songs, says Prof. Newton Baines of Texas Christian university, president of the Texas folklore society and an authority on cowboy songs.

"If the cowboy sang his songs as most radio entertainers sing them, he'd get the breath knocked out of him," he declares. "Most so-called cowboy poets never rode a cow horse.

"Rhythms of cowboy songs correspond to the three gaits of the ordinary Texas cowpony—the walk, trot and lope."

STOCK MARKET WAS CONFUSED AS THE BULLS STRUGGLED TO REGAIN CONTROL

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—The stock market floundered about in confusion today, as bulls struggled to retain control of the market against a tide of selling inspired by fears of large increase in federal reserve broker loans and swelled by sharp breaks in a few recent favorites. Gains and losses were about evenly balanced at the close.

The increase in brokers loans, as disclosed in the weekly compilation issued after the close, was but $40,000,000, in contrast to predictions running as high as $100,000,000. This brought the total to $5,522,000,000 dollars, or $261,000,000 below the peak established on March 20. Withdrawals of about $40,000,000 by corporations, presumably to meet May 1 dividend and interest requirements, were more than offset by the banks, the New York institutions alone putting $55,000,000 into the market.

While this showing was somewhat more favorable than had been generally expected, the stock exchange released its monthly compilation of total member borrowings which was distinctly disappointing, showing a reduction during April of only $29,527,013 from the record established at the end of March of $6,804,457,408.

The stock exchange total includes loans made directly to brokers by corporations, private banks and individuals, while the federal reserve's shows only funds placed through member banks.

A somewhat reassuring development in the loan situation was the announcement of the secretary of commerce that foreign loans at the end of 1928 totalled only $207,000,000. This item had been estimated in many quarters as much larger, giving rise to fears that the market might be suddenly upset at any time by large withdrawals resulting from developments abroad.

The day's industrial news was largely favorable, including the cutting of a $30,000,000 melon by Columbia Gas and Electric through offerings of rights, and another assortment of pleasing earnings statements. Schulte Retail Stores, however, passed the dividend due on the common at this time, the management explaining that the cigaret price cutting war necessitates conservation of funds.

Call money renewed at 6½ per cent, in contrast to 11 yesterday, but failed to go below the renewal rate all day. Some ease in the situation is expected with the clearing of the month end settlement checks at the banks.

An unsettling development early in the session was a drop of 8 points in the United Aircraft, which touched 144 1-2, in contrast to the peak of 162 reached yesterday. This was attributed to a withdrawal of pool support after the driving of a short interest. Columbia Graphophone, another recent favorite, dropped 4 points to 77, in contrast to its recent peak of 83 3-4. A large block was understood to have been liquidated in disappointment over the lack of merger developments. Union Carbide, which was sent up nearly 2 points yesterday, dropped 7 on realizing. The Advance Rumely issues, a point of contention between opposing speculative forces, again broke sharply, selling off about 6 and 10 points.

General Electric was the most conspicuous bull favorite of the session, rising about 14 points to 258 1-2, within 4 points of its high record. Radio was heavily bought to the accompaniment of rumors of extraordinary success in the development of talking motion picture apparatus, mounting more than 5 points to a new peak at 112 3-4. The so-called Morgan stocks were generally strong, Johns Manville, in addition to General Electric, making a wide gain, and International Harvester mounting about 6 points to a new top at 118 1-2.

Postum mounted about 3 points to a new peak in buying inspired by merger rumors. Borg Warner again broke into new high ground and Wilcox Rich issues reached new highs. The movement in the latter was promoted by predictions of high earnings from its special aviation motor valves. Air Reduction, American Radiator & Standard Sanitary, Hershey Chocolate issues, and Ludlum Steel also reached new peaks. R. H. Macy was sent up 10 points, while Hahn Department Stores sagged to a new 1929 low at 40.

In the commodity markets, cotton made substantial gains in response to strength at Liverpool and unfavorable weather. Wheat made a small gain, bullish weather reports offsetting bearish private estimates of the winter wheat yield.

The foreign exchanges were dull and fairly steady, although francs and marks were quoted a shade lower.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Directors of Continental Can, Inc., have approved an offering of about 50,000 shares of common stock to employes at $60 a share. Employes' holdings represent about 10 per cent. of the outstanding common and have a market value of approximately $10,000,000. The company has more than 10,000 workers eligible to participate.

Structural steel orders in the week ended April 30 totaled 43,500 tons compared with 34,000 tons in the preceding week.

Stockholders of the J. C. Penney company are to receive rights to buy new stock at $7 a share in the ratio of two shares for each now held. The stock thus to be issued was authorized last December when the stockholders authorized an increase in the capitalization to 2,000,000 shares from 1,250,000. The proceeds are to be used for the company's store expansion program. The rights, to be issued May 13 to holders of record May 16, expire July 12.

Railway Age reports that 58 locomotives were ordered in April against 143 in March, making the total for the first quarter 238. Freight cars ordered in April totaled 6,983 compared with 11,068 in March, and making a total of 27,913 for the first three months of the year.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

Tom Mix at his best—in a role that gives him and his famed horse, Tony, every opportunity for the hard riding, dramatic action and spectacular stunts that have brought world-wide renown to that inseparable pair of film stars.

This is the offering at the Breed theatre today and Saturday where the popular favorite is presented in "Son of the Golden West," an FBO special production that has been acclaimed throughout the country as the greatest Mix picture yet brought to the screen.

Colorful and picturesque to a high degree, the photoplay is laid in that period of our history when what is now known as "the old West" was being reclaimed from the wilderness by pioneers and government agencies that pushed civilization along the overland trail which later became the first railroad line. Tom is seen in the role of a pony express rider— one of that intrepid band who carried the mails on horseback through dangerous country infested with hostile Indians and outlaws.

COLORADO CONFERENCE TO HEAR LORE OF WEST

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—History of the trans-Mississippi west will be reviewed at a conference of historians at the University of Colorado June 18 to 21. Leading authorities on the historic lore of western half of the United States will contribute talks and papers.

Among them will be Dr. Frederick Jackson Turner, retired Harvard professor; Prof. Herbert E. Bolton and Prof. Carl Sauer, University of California; Dr. Solon J. Buck, superintendent of the Minnesota Historical society; Prof. W. P. Webb, University of Texas; Prof. Frederick L. Paxson, University of Wisconsin; Dr. Joseph Schafer, superintendent of the Wisconsin State Historical society.

Also Prof. Colin B. Goodykoontz, University of Colorado; Prof. G. J. Garraghan, S. J.; St. Louis university; Prof. Archer B. Hulbert, Colorado college; Prof. Louis Pelzer, University of Iowa; Dr. LeRoy Hafen, historian and curator of the Colorado State Historical society; Prof. John C. Parish, University of California at Los Angeles, and Prof. Lucy L. Howard, Mills college, Oakland, Cal.

INVISIBLE FUNGI FOIL TREE SURGERY

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—The cause of some failures of tree surgery is being studied at Cornell university.

It is in the invisible roots of fungous growths which remain alive and destructive after the surgeon has cut away the visible portions of the decay. With a microscope and stains, Dr. D. S. Welch, assistant professor of plant pathology, is learning how far these roots penetrate.

They penetrate farther than had been supposed, making a deep network in wood of entirely sound appearance. Dr. Welch says that strictly they are not roots, but the entire vegetative structure of the fungus, called mycelium.

Fungi formerly were of interest only to botanists. But with American forests dwindling, their ravages have become of commercial importance. Fungi are so numerous that not all have been even identified. Dr. Welch says that the different varieties number hundreds, and may be found ultimately to run into thousands.

COPPER CARBONATE KILLS SMUT IN SORGHUM SEED

MANHATTAN, Kas. —(AP)— Insurance for sorghum seed, costing approximately a cent an acre is advocated by C. E. Graves, extension plant pathologist of Kansas State Agricultural college.

Copper carbonate properly applied to sorghum seed will control 99 per cent of smut in badly contaminated seed, he says and 100 per cent in moderately smutted seed.

Graves estimates that kernel smut of sorghums takes an average annual toll of more than 10 per cent of the crop where untreated seed has been planted. In Kansas last year there were 20 times as many acres of grain sorghums planted with treated seed as in 1925.

MORE HELIUM FOUND NEAR FIRST DISCOVERY

LAWRENCE, Kas.—(AP)—New fields of helium-bearing natural gas have been found within 200 miles of the point where helium first was discovered as a constituent of natural gas 23 years ago.

It was near Dexter in southern Kansas where gas containing helium was drilled late in 1905. Well owners puzzled because the gas would not burn, sent samples to the University of Kansas for analysis. Part of the apparatus used in running those original tests still is preserved by the university of chemistry.

On Making Whoopee

The slang phrase is always in dispute among good writers and speakers, but sometimes slang makes its way into more respectable circles. There is a phrase current today which is widely used, in the newspapers, in the movies, over the radio; and that phrase is "to make whoopee."

"Whoop," is a good old English word; it has also been spelled "hoop" and it is still pronounced as though it were spelled without the initial "w." Of particular interest in the phrase which grew out of this word, "to whoop it up" or "to whoop her up," which Webster's Dictionary defines as follows:

"To raise a disturbance with or as if with whoops, or shouts; hence, in general, to urge matters on in an excited obstreperous manner; as, a drunken cowboy whooped it up in town." This phrase is marked "slang" in the dictionary.

The unprofessional etymologist can relate the phrase "to make whoopee" to that earlier slang expression.

Horse Eats Less, Man More

NEW YORK (AP)—Use of gasoline power instead of corn and oats translated into old fashioned horsepower is estimated by Dr. William Crocker of the Boyce Thompson institute, to release 500,000,000 bushels of grain annually for human food.

NASH "400"

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Delivered, Fully Equipped, Nothing More to Buy!

Compare

delivered, fully-equipped prices

See why Nash is lower!

ON the basis of quality, the Nash "400" should cost more than other cars in its competitive field. It actually costs less!

Nash engineers—one of the industry's outstanding engineering organizations—have created a finer motor car. They have developed the high-compression, 7-bearing motor to its highest point of perfection and power. The exclusive Nash outboard mounting of hydraulic shock absorbers doubles their effectiveness and creates supreme riding ease. And here is the "world's easiest driving control," in this new and finer motor car.

These are but a few of many "400" features of superiority.

Why then, is the Nash "400" lower priced?

Here is the explanation. Every Nash "400" is now factory-equipped with the accessories, purchased at factory savings and included in the factory price of the car. Bumpers, shock absorbers, spare tire lock and tire cover come with the car and are not added later as "extras," at retail prices.

You will find some dealers (not Nash dealers) charging as much as $50 or $60 extra for bumpers alone.

Compare the delivered, fully equipped price of any Nash "400" with the delivered, fully equipped prices of competitive cars. You'll see the saving!

GOVERNMENT TO RESTORE OLD IOWA INDIANS' FORT

FORT ATKINSON, Iowa—(AP)—Old Fort Atkinson, the only fort ever built by the government for protection of an Indian tribe, will be stored as a national monument by the United States.

Some 90 years ago the Sioux Indians of lower Minnesota and the Sacs and Foxes of upper Iowa harbored an often sanguinary feeling toward each other.

To prevent frequent clashes, Uncle Sam drew a 40-mile neutral strip between them, and on this territory in 1840 placed the peaceful Winnebagoes from western Wisconsin.

The Winnebagoes suffered depredations from the belligerents on both sides, and out of the martial atmosphere grew Fort Atkinson, named for Gen. Henry Atkinson of North Carolina, who had distinguished himself in Indian wars.

The fort was abandoned in 1849 and sold at auction in 1856. It was acquired by the state a few years ago, and now has been conveyed to the government.

Bought for a Lifetime!

That fine white enamel gas range for your new home should be selected with as much thought as you give to the choice of your silver. For it, too, is bought for a lifetime. Like "Sterling" on silver, the Blue Star Seal is the hall mark of quality on a Gas Range. It signifies the recommendation and approval of a century-old industry.

Brides! Look for the Blue Star Seal

when you buy your gas range. It is not a manufacturer's trade mark, but the approval mark of the gas industry's Testing Laboratory.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

Whereas it was voted at the Annual City Meeting held June 11, 1929, to appropriate $3,000 for the construction of a sewer on Summer Street, and whereas the construction of said sewer necessitates the purchase of a right of way over private property, which right of way and the construction of said sewer will involve considerable expense and whereas the owners of the property to be benefited will be assessed in proportion to such expense.

Now therefore a public hearing upon the advisability of constructing said sewer will be held in the Council Chamber at eight o'clock, standard time, on the evening of May 6, 1929, when the Court of Common Council will be in regular session to hear all persons interested in the subject.

CHAPLAIN'S COLORS ONLY A. E. F. FLAG

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A battlefield tour retracing the path of the only American flag carried in the front ranks of the A. E. F. during the World war is planned here.

Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Dickson, senior chaplain of the 1st division, has been detailed by the historical section of the war college to repeat the course of the flag Colonel Dickson carried overseas for use in burial services.

Flags were barred from the war zone, and despite exhaustive research, no record has been found of other color having been carried into action.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS HOLDING ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 2—At the opening session of the 62nd annual encampment of Connecticut Veterans of the Civil war, held at the Hotel Mohican this morning at ten o'clock, 42 members answered the roll. Commander George A. Tucker of New Haven presided and extended a hearty greeting to the veterans. The morning was spent in a business session at which reports were read. This afternoon they enjoyed a sail up the Thames which was arranged by the chamber of commerce and the local coast guard. Tonight the annual camp fire will be held at the First Baptist church. Delegates from forty-eight branches of the Woman's Relief corps of Connecticut gathered in this city today for a two day convention over 400 members of different branches were present. The affair is being held at the First Baptist church and the assemblage was welcomed by Rev. C. H. Howe, pastor of the church. This morning was largely occupied by the reading of reports. This afternoon at 4 o'clock a memorial service was held.

Jail For Negligent Husband

Arthur Perry, Waterford, charged with non-support, was ordered by the court to pay his wife $10 weekly. He was also ordered to furnish a bond of $500 as assurance that he would comply with the court's order, but this he was unable to do, so was committed to jail. Perry was arrested a week ago when he returned to New London after an absence of several months, during which time a warrant for his arrest had been issued because he had failed to contribute towards his wife's support.

Forfeit Bonds

Many automobile drivers were charged with parking overtime on State and Bank streets. None of them, however, presented themselves in court and their bonds of $2 were forfeited. They were Harry Einhorn, 21 Morgan street; James W. Booth, Jr., Chapel Hill, N. J.; John Morrow, Westerly; Max Lipps, 322 Huntington street; Harold E. Dernstein, 73 Montauk avenue; Clyde Burrell, 67 Main street, White Rock, R. I.; William H. Perkins, submarine base; Joseph Amorel, Waterford; Henry O. Tyler, 143 Main street, Westerly; B. Bottinelli, 195 Pequot avenue and Steve Ksengas, 48 State street. Irving Snitkin, 50 State street, presented on the same charge and for the second time within three weeks, was fined $5, but he, also, failed to appear in court and forfeited his bond. The only other case presented was that of a fellow who has frequently been arrested. He was charged with intoxication again and was sentenced to 60 days in jail.

Improper Use of Markers

Holton Messick, 6 Cosgrove place, this city, was arrested in Waterford yesterday charged with improper use of markers. Messick, who was arrested a week ago when detected with a revolver in his possession and without having obtained a permit to carry the weapon, was arrested yesterday by State Police Officer Bernard Kenerson when found driving with markers on a machine which were issued for use on a car other than that which Messick was driving. He will face the two charges in the Waterford court Monday next.

INCOME TAX ABATEMENT FOR MEYER HOLLANDERSKY

Meyer H. Hollandersky, local real estate owner, was today notified by the federal government that a discharge of lien against his property, which was ordered because of the alleged failure of Hollandersky to pay a full amount of his 1919 income tax, had been ordered and that Mr. Hollandersky had also been granted an abatement of income tax in the sum of $3,064.14. The action of the government was also received at the office of the city clerk for a record of the discharge of lien and abatement of taxes.

April was one of the wettest months this vicinity has experienced in many years, but although the downfall was excessively heavier, the rainfall was not as great as most residents anticipated it would be. It is revealed by the records of the city's water department that the total rainfall for the month was 5.64 inches and that of this amount 1.19 inches was the result of the deluge Sunday night last.

The police records show that during April 266 arrests were made, which number exceeds those arrested in March by 120. Of the arrests last month, 95 were charged with intoxication.

A May day supper and entertainment held at the Y. W. C. A. last night brought out a large attendance. After the dinner a play was put on.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Cleary of 108 Thames street returned yesterday from Plainfield, N. J., where they attended the wedding Tuesday of their niece, Theresa Catherine Kiely and Russel H. Coe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Coe of Huntington street.

A dance and social is to be held at the Hebrew institute in Huntington street by members of the Hebrew Boys' association.

At the meeting of Hiawatha barnyard, Dairymaids' association held last night, an interesting report of the activities at the state convention recently held in Hartford was read by Mrs. Marion Brewster, delegate from the local organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas P. Rogers, 33 Ocean avenue, were surprised by a group of friends last night on their second wedding anniversary. After the presentation of many beautiful gifts there was a social time.

Blank-Booth

Mrs. Nora Booth of 65 Chapel street was married yesterday in New Britain to Dr. Eric H. Blank of Bank street. They will make their home at 65 Chapel street.

About thirty members of Minnehaha council, Degree of Pocohantas, had a New England supper, following the meeting last night in Odd Fellows hall. A whist and pinochle party was planned.

Damaged Transformers

Two youths, aged 14, residing in East New London, were arrested yesterday afternoon by the local police for causing damage of from $1500 to $2,000 to the property of the Connecticut Power company at the Williams street sub-station. The boys damaged a number of transformers. They have been placed in the custody of Assistant Probation Officer George L. McDougall pending their presentation in the juvenile court. The lads claimed they were after wire and slugs to sell to secure money with which they could go to the moving picture shows of the town.

When the city council meets Monday next, several drastic changes in the zoning ordinance will be presented and recommended. The chief kick on the ordinance is that apartment houses cannot be erected in a manner to supply the wants of small families who are desirous of having but two rooms and a bath. The 640 square foot plank in the ordinance makes it impossible, it is claimed, for anyone to construct an apartment house that would pay.

Two trivial blazes today were the cause of still alarms. At 8.15 this morning an auto owned by John Chonisky of Harrison street caught fire and this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock a slight blaze was discovered in the kitchen of the dwelling of Joseph Pruaasiki, 87 Winthrop street.

Grace L. Coit has sold a building lot on Niles Hill road to Dr. E. Oliver Winship.

Ann Thornton, 81 Namasaug avenue; Robert, Mitchell and Marian Herbert, Haynes avenue, Groton; Robert Navin, 33 Williams street; William Ebersole, 34 Lester street; Albert Ledyard, Maynard, Mass.; Mrs. Alexander Fairbanks, and infant daughter, 26 Center street; Mrs. Maude Cleveland, 410 Williams street; John Coon, Westerly and Daniel Dombrowski, 185 North Bank street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Dolores Morsetti, aged one year, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo Morsetti, died this morning at the residence of her parents after an illness of a few days with pneumonia.

Miss Hattie Brooks

Miss Hattie Brooks of 25 Washington street, died today at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, where she had been a patient but a short time.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins M. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the drivers' licenses of Albert J. Richard, 13 Squire street; Bryan Risen, submarine base; Edgar Sando, 174 Jefferson avenue; J. H. Stanley, U. S. Coast Guard academy and D. R. Engelgau, U. S. Coast Guard. Commissioner Stoeckel also ordered the return of the license of Fred Morris, 1000 Ocean avenue.

A truck owned by the Stonington Lobster company and driven by James J. Riley, struck a traffic beacon, corner of Howard and Shaw street last night. The beacon was damaged; the driver stated that the company would bear the cost of repairs.

An automobile driven by William A. Reynolds, 219 Montauk avenue, struck a child named Brax, residing at 214 Huntington street, on that street and near Stony Hill last evening. The child was knocked down but escaped injury beyond bruises.

YOUTHFUL BANDITS HELD IN BAIL OF $5,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 2—Raymond Brooks, 18, of 33 Washington street and Jay Steele, 19, of Barrows court, two additional youths arrested late yesterday in connection with the entering and robbing of 17 stores in this city within a few weeks, together with Ralph Wolfe, 19, of 28 Golden street and Junior Ellison, 17, of 53 Connecticut avenue, who were arrested at 4 o'clock yesterday morning when detected attempting to force a rear window of the A. J. Maloof ice cream and confectionery store, 279 Bank street, were in the police court this morning, charged with breaking and entering and robbery. The quartette, through counsel, demurred to the complaint but the gang was held in bail of $5,000 each, for arraignment at the next term of the superior court. In default of bail the young men were committed to jail to await trial.

The boys, declare, that they devoted their entire attention and operations to stores and did not rob houses or attempt to gain admission to private residences.

Fine For Bates

George Bates and Irving McLean, both colored, the former with a long police record, were presented on charges of entering and searching. Bates was fined 10 and costs and McLean, a stranger here, was discharged.

WEDDING

Connell-Chappel

Miss Elizabeth M. Chappell, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Chappell, and Owen Connell of Washington, D. C., were married last night at the home of Mrs. Lucius A. Parsons of Manwaring street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of the Groton Heights Baptist church. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of Mrs. Parsons. Mr. and Mrs. Connell will reside in Forrest street, Groton.

Tax Collector Henry E. Marquardt of Groton, today launched his campaign to collect all back taxes of the borough when he advertised for sale property belonging to Beale Peroni at Groveland park. Taxes due on the property amount to $42.42.

Major Joseph M. Ganey has been named grand marshal of the memorial day parade this year.

OTHER DRIVERS TAGGED FOR LAW VIOLATIONS

Another batch of auto drivers will contribute $2 each into the city treasury tomorrow for a score of motorists furnished cash bonds for appearance in court because of their carelessness in allowing their cars to park longer than is permitted by ordinance. Although cash bonds were deposited it is safe to presume that none of the drivers will go to court and defend the charge against them. Those arrested were: Allen Lambkin, Connecticut College for Women; Constance Hunt, Nameaug avenue; Elisha A. Deaton, Quaker Hill; William Z. White, 802 Ocean avenue; H. W. Perry, East Lyme; Mrs. Elizabeth W. Gadbois, Niantic; Alfred E. Doerson, 122 Sumtner street, Providence, R. I.; Thomas T. Welmore, 73 Lower boulevard; Samuel C. Hoops, 26 Tilley street; Albert E. St. Germain, Broad street extension, Waterford; Curtis A. Baescher, 190 South High street, New Britain; Joseph Katone, Submarine base; Sol Charlop, 291 Huntington street, and Morris Mallove, 111 Bank street.

DOUBLE-COST THURSDAY FOR RUSSELL A. CLAPP, JR.

Another driver, Russell A. Clapp, Jr., 715 Ocean avenue, recently of Norwich, was arrested twice during the afternoon, so he will pay $4 for his thoughtlessness. Still another driver, Samuel Traystmen, Bank street, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving on Williams street, having been arrested by Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey. He was ordered into court.

Jens Jensen was committed to the Norwich State hospital this afternoon for observation and was taken to the hospital by Capt. of Police Charles A. Pinney and Sergt. Patrick Murphy.

One of the busses operating between New London and the Submarine base was disabled last night, causing congestion of traffic on State street. The bus was on its way to the base when, at the corner of State and Main streets, the steering shaft was disabled. Traffic was held up until the bus had been moved to a location beside the curb.

BOYS WHO STOPPED TRAINS IDENTIFIED THURS. NIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 2—The identity of the three youths who caused much annoyance and inconvenience to railroad officials in this city last night when their pranks resulted in several New Haven railroad express trains being stopped between Millstone and Waterford by placing fuses on the rails, was revealed tonight. The boys are all minors and will be turned over to Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield tomorrow for a hearing in the juvenile court within a few days. The boys were apprehended by Detective Sergt. John Cavanaugh, who followed up a clue obtained tonight, which resulted in the arrest of one of the boys, and he informed the officer as to the names of the others.

The boys went to a railroad shanty near Waterford where they stole numerous fuses and then going to the tracks awaited the approach of an express. The fuses were placed on the tracks and resulted in these trains being stopped. The train crew quickly discovered that there was no danger, but that the signals were given by the mischievous youths. The boys succeeded in keeping their identity a secret until tonight, but the clue obtained by Sergeant Cavanaugh resulted in the quick apprehension of the three concerned in the commission of acts, which would receive drastic treatment if the offenders were of age, instead of being minors.

Some men waste power trying to get wealth and then waste wealth trying to get power.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

A show to rave about is what you hear from those who attended the two shows at the Palace theatre yesterday, and a show to rave about is right, opening with that great big girl act which is a show in itself, Thomas and Frederick Sisters, a smashing song and dance revue, set in several beautiful changes, with talented, pretty girls who know their stuff.

Bassett and Bailey in speed and thrills certainly thrilled everyone and continued to thrill long after they had left the stage. This act is something new in Norwich and was the cause of many favorable comments. Joe Humby, 'the aristocrat of the dance," offers dance numbers that startle and that are entirely new in these parts.

Niblo Spencer & Co. in 1,000 miles from nowhere kept the two large crowds in fine humor for the balance of the day. They offer comedy that is unique and new and set you pretty for the worry that is yours. The electrical effects in this act are worthy of a Broadway production.

Hamilton & Harlan in "The Spice of Life" have an act of their own and kept everyone holding their sides with their new line of hokum—a fast one every minute they are on the stage.

Charles Rogers and Marian Nixon make a youthful and refreshing costarring pair in "Red Lips," the ultra-modern Universal picture of young people and college life which opened at the Palace theatre yesterday to a thrilled audience.

"Red Lips" is well told. An excellent youthful cast of players portray their roles with cleverness. In the company are Stanley Taylor, Hugh Trevor, Hayden Stevenson, Andy Devine, Fobert Seiter and Earl McCarthy and a bevy of Hollywood beauties.

Broadway Theatre

One of the greatest character actors of the screen, Wallace Beery, has his greatest role in the swift-moving action, mystery drama, "Chinatown Nights," which opened a three-day run at the Broadway theatre last night. It is a role demanding an infinite amount of power and resource and Beery brings to it all the force and skill which has led him step by step up the ladder to screen success.

"Chinatown Nights," which is an all-talking picture, deals with the love of a scintillating woman of society for a coarse, brutal, cynical white man who rules a million Chinese through the national tong association. This love drags the woman down to the gutter of Chinatown's underground world until, finally, her pitiable condition arouses a responsive chord in the white boss of Chinatown. Together they seek regeneration.

In this setting of intrigue, mystery and absorbing suspense, Florence Vidor performs one of her most dramatic parts. She is superb in the difficult role which turns her from a bright society butterfly into an abject creature, too depraved for pity or scorn. Opposite Beery, she has the oportunity for a great triumph and those who see 'Chinatown Nights" at the Broadway theatre will long remember her surprising portrayal.

An excellent group of screen artists, including Warner Oland and Jack Oakie, are in the cast, and William A. Wellman, the man who made "Wings," directed the picture.

Rochester Fashion Clothes

Mr. Albert Spinosa, well-known expert tailor has entered employ as salesman and manager of Rochester Fashion Clothes, chain store, 13 Broadway, Wauregan hotel block, where he will be pleased to meet his former patrons and friends. All kinds of tailoring neatly done at very low price.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The disturbance that was central over Arkansas Wednesday night has moved northeastward and is now central as a severe storm over western Pennsylvania and western New York. This storm has been attended by widespread precipitation from the Mississippi valley eastward and by strong shifting winds and gales over a considerable part of this area. High pressure prevails southeast of New Foundland.

There will be rain in the north Atlantic states Friday.

Otherwise generally fair weather will prevail Friday and Saturday east of the Mississippi river.

The temperature will be lower Friday in the Atlantic states, but it will rise throughout the Washington forecast district, except New England during Saturday.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Jacksonville, Florida, to Eastport, Maine.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Southeast and south shifting to west gales and overcast thick weather with rain Friday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: West and north west gales and clearing weather Friday preceded by rain Friday morning.

Forecast

For southern New England: Rain and colder in morning, possibly clearing in afternoon Friday; Saturday fair.

NORWICH TOWN

Dr. and Mrs. Frank D. Coles, of 169 Harland road, motored Wednesday to New Haven, where Dr. Coles attended the meeting of the Connecticut Veterinary Medical association.

There was a good attendance at the May meeting of Dorcas Home Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Thursday afternoon, at the home of the president, Mrs. William Weaver, Huntington Green. The meeting opened with the hymn, Saviour, More Than Life to Me. Those present repeated the 23rd Psalm in unison, after which prayer was offered by Mrs. Annie Randall. Another hymn, Come Thou Almighty King, closed the devotional period. Mrs. Randall accompanied at the organ for the singing. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Stanton W. Brown, that report was submitted by the treasurer, Mrs. George Manning, who also read her own report. Mrs. Weaver appointed as a nominating committee to choose officers for the new conference year: Mrs. Arthur Fulton, Mrs. Annie Randall and Mrs. George Manning. During the afternoon, members sewed on patchwork. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. It is gratifying to the society that with all bills paid the new conference year opens with a substantial sum in the treasury.

Given Birthday Surprise

A birthday surprise party was given Monday evening in honor of Miss Florence Firth at her home, 102 Main Street, Baltic.

Mrs. Firth, assisted by Mrs. Grant Bush and Mrs. Leonard Firth, served sandwiches, cake, cookies, soda and ice cream on a table adorned with a huge birthday cake with 19 candles. The color scheme was blue. Piano selections were rendered by Harold Sargent and Florence Barnes, vocal selections by George Bell, Jr., and a dancing exhibition by William Wilcox and Dora Sargent. Games were also enjoyed.

Miss Firth was presented with a pair of beautiful brocaded satin boudoir slippers and a pair of silk stockings.

Those present were: Henry Froemel, William Wilcox, Benton Ridgeway, Carl Ellison, George Orme, William Austin, John Benker, Walter Macht, Arthur Heap, Harold Sargent, George Bell, Jr., Fred Whitehead, Elwin Chase, Dora Sargent, Florence Barnes, Florence Firth, Marie Heibel, Mildred Massey, Esther Erickson, Beatrice Ashworth, Esther Firth, Annie Wilcox, Frieda Froemel, Lillian Almquist, Marion Chase and Edith Hinchliffe.

HUSBAND CLAIMS WIFE DESERTED IN MONTH

Alleging desertion since April 12, 1926 after they were married in New London on March 24 of the same year, John H. Streuber of New London has brought suit in the superior court for divorce from Julia Lamphere Streuber, now of New York. Papers in the suit have been filed at the office of the court clerk, John H. Walker.

BOSTON COLLEGE HONOR FOR GEORGE GILMAN

George Gilman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gilman, of Bozrah, has been made editor of "Brief," the school's year book, at Boston college school of law, where he is a student. This is looked upon as one of the highest undergraduate honors for which literary ability and scholastic standing are requisites.

Colchester Woman Seeks Divorce

Ina Hitchcock Griswold of Colchester has brought suit in the superior court for divorce from Charles J. Griswold and custody of a minor child. The defendant was formerly of Hartford, but is now of parts unknown. Plaintiff and defendant were married May 29, 1920 and Mrs. Griswold claims she was deserted June 29, 1925.

The suit has been filed with Clerk John H. Walker of the superior court.

PROGRAM FOR STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

President Kimball of the Connecticut chamber of commerce announced Thursday the program for the 30th annual meeting at the Hotel Bond in Hartford on Thursday, May 23, with eight speakers of national importance.

Heading the program for the banquet is Rear Admiral William S. Sims, who was commander of American naval operations in European waters during the World war. His subject will be "The Freedom of the Seas."

Another important topic will be "Problems of Prosperity," by Francis H. Sisson, who is president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York and who, before becoming a banker, had a wide experience in the newspaper and magazine field.

At 12.30 a lunch will be held in the ballroom. The first speaker will be Louis T. McFadden, who is house chairman of the committee of banking and currency of congress and who is the author of the "McFadden Act," under which all national banks operate. Mr. McFadden will discuss a subject of vital importance before the business men of the country today—"The Credit Situation." Another interesting subject to be discussed at the afternoon session will be "The Radio Situation—Past, Present, Future." O. H. Caldwell of New York, former member of the federal radio commission for the eastern zone, will be the speaker. The fascinating story of the many changes which are taking place in our industrial and economic structure will be outlined by B. C. Forbes, the editor of "Forbes Magazine," whose subject will be "Industrial Evolution—Whither?"

The morning session will start in the ballroom of the Bond at 10.30 with the election of 11 new directors in the state chamber, with action on various resolutions presented at the annual meeting and with the annual reports of President Kimball and Executive Vice President Belden. Following these business matters there will be two addresses. These will be by W. J. Barrett, who is director of the manufacturers' service bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and whose topic will be "The Shifting of Industries." The second address at the morning session will be upon "The Thirteenth-Month Calendar," which will be discussed by Paul H. Wilson, who is secretary of the Graton and Knight company of Worcester, which concern has used the new calendar system for several years.

DOCTORS AND NURSES WERE GUESTS OF LIONS

Local physicians, nurses from the W. W. Backus hospital and public health department nurses were among the guests at the weekly noon luncheon meeting of the Norwich Lions club Thursday at the Wauregan hotel. Dr. Kopland K. Markoff presided and Louis M. Crandall asked the blessing. Mr. Crandall also acted as song leader and Nicholas J. Spellman presided at the piano.

The Lions roar was given in honor of the ladies after which the meeting was turned over to Frank Eggleton, who had charge of the entertainment. Henry I. Schrever of the Parke, Davis & Co., of Detroit, Mich., assisted by E. Ichhorn and A. N. Roy, gave a very interesting lecture on the manufacture of serums and anti-toxins used to control diphtheria and to immunize persons against the disease. A moving picture, Biological Film Publicity, showed the process of manufacture in the Parke, Davis & Co., for the instructive pictures.

CONTINUANCE FOR WOMAN IN LIQUOR LAW CASE

Mrs. Mary Ferraco of No. 120 Talman street was presented in the city court Thursday morning on a charge of violation of the liquor laws. At the request of her counsel, Thomas M. Shields, the case was continued until May 9 in order to give the accused time to arrange for the care of her family, in the event that she received a jail sentence. Her husband is out of town. Mr. Shields informed the court. She was arrested late Wednesday night by the state and local police after a police aid had secured evidence of an actual sale, according to the charge made. A large quantity of beer and some liquor were seized in the raid.

Spring Finance Field Day.

The call to the annual spring finance field day of the Connecticut League of Women Voters has just been sent out by Mrs. Emerson R. Newell of Greenwich, a vice president of the league and its finance chairman. Local and county league "financiers" are called to meet at the home of Deaconess Harriet C. Hyde and Miss Anne M. Hyde in Middle Haddam on Thursday, May 23 at 11.30 a. m., to report on local money raising activities and to hear reports on budget receipts and expenditures from the state treasurer, Mrs. William R. Valentine of Pomfret and Hartford.

HARLAND ROAD RESIDENCE OF DR. AND MRS. DONOHUE

The early summer issue of Country Homes, published in Baltimore, has discovered the attractions of the new residence of Dr. and Mrs. James J. Donohue, on Harland road, Norwich, to which has been given the unusual name, "Glendalough." With ten artistic illustrations the Baltimore writer shows up the fine points of the house and its charming surroundings, in the following entertaining way:

Glendalough—Lake of the Glen—has the poetic sound of the old Gaelic tongue. The house is located in what is known as the original settlement of Norwich. It stands on a prominent hill some 200 feet above sea level and from the south and west a magnificent view carries across mile upon mile of the ever varied and lovely landscapes of Connecticut.

Acre of Trout Pond

The estate consists of five acres, one acre of which is covered by a trout pond fed by three cold springs. The front of the house is lined by fine old maples, while surrounding the sides and rear is a wall of native stone built on the order of what is known as the old-balanced wall.

The dwelling, which was completed during 1928, is modern in all its appurtenances. The lower portion, the porches and porte cochere are all constructed of native field stone. The upper stories are finished in colonial shingles stained a harmonious grey to blend with the masonry. The house contains nine rooms, all of ample dimensions. In the living room is a large old-fashioned fireplace which lends a delightfully cheery touch.

Precautions For Comfort

In the erection of the house the greatest precaution was used to seal it so as to prevent the escape of heat—which is furnished by a gas furnace. There is an air space in the first story between the stone and plaster and in the upper story under the eaves and roof is a lining of cork board two inches thick that prevents a too rapid cooling of the atmosphere by radiation. And all of which is admirably adapted to fend off the bitter cold of New England winters.

On the Italian Idea

The dwelling was erected by an Italian who has followed this line in the construction of Italian villas in his native land.

The grounds surrounding the house have been liberally planted with fruit trees now in process of growth, while a various assortment of shrubbery lends an attractive setting to Glendalough.

The estate is under the constant vigil of "Garry Owen," a huge Irish wolfhound, the inseparable companion of Dr. and Mrs. Donohue's little son.

New Bus on Hallville Line

Patrons of the Norwich-Hallville bus line are enjoying the comfort of riding in a new Yellow Coach bus which Michael Falcone has just purchased and put into service on the line. It is of 21 passenger capacity, the seats upholstered in leather and the interior finish of the bus in mahogany. The bus is powered with an eight cylinder Cadillac motor.

Driving Car Without License

Charged with operating an automobile without a license, Richard Carrier, North Franklin, was arrested in Montville Wednesday afternoon by Trooper John H. Smith of the Groton barracks. Carrier was ordered to appear in the justice court at Montville.

ASKS COURT'S AID TO CONSTRUE MELCER WILL

The superior court is asked to construe certain paragraphs and to give its legal opinion on the last will and testament of Ralph H. Melcer of New London, who died on July 13, 1928, leaving an estate of $388,451.47, according to a petition brought in court by the executor of the estate, William H. Reeves, of New London.

Party defendants are: Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes Melcer, New London, whose present address is 104 Ebury street, London, England; Miss Elizabeth Hughes Melcer of Paris, as she is conservator of Mrs. Melcer; Alfred Melcer of Berkeley, Cal.; Alice Hughes of London, Arthur Morris Collens, Jr., of Hartford, C. C. Tibbetts of Jersey City, James Hughes, Fairbury, Neb.; Miss Elizabeth H. Melcer, Paris; individually: Theodora Palmer and Virginia Palmer, both of New London; Grace Palmer Melcer, Montville, and the National Bank of Commerce of New London, as it is trustee of a trust created in the will of Mr. Melcer for the benefit of Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes Melcer.

The complaint recites that the executor is advised by counsel that he can not with safety to himself and rights and interest of others proceed with the execution of the will without the advice and protection of the court, in giving a construction to the several clauses and provisions of said will in respect to which have arisen various claims and questions.

119 Arrests in April

The Norwich police department made 119 arrests in the month of April, of which more than half the number were for intoxication.

The following were the number and causes of arrest:

Intoxication 67, breach of peace 10, theft 2, non-support 3, violation of liquor law 6, fortune telling 2, injury to private property 3, violating motor vehicle law 14, violating city traffic ordinance 11.

Will Talk on Dairying

For an open meeting to be held Friday evening at 8:30, d. s. t., at North Stonington grange in the Road district, Stonington, the speaker is to be A. R. Merrill, professor of dairy husbandry at Connecticut Agricultural college, who will talk on Dairying. This will present an excelleht opportunity for dairymen in this section to receive practical instruction in their trade.

TAFTVILLE

About 100 people enjoyed the supper given under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Taftville Congregational church in the church vestry, Thursday evening. The centerpieces for the long tables were attractive May baskets filled with daffodils and flanked by tall lighted candles. The menu included beans, salad, boiled ham, beef loaf, rolls, relishes and home-made cakes. The waitresses were Miss Flossie M. Meyer, Miss Elsie Heap, Miss Louise Sigrist and Mrs. Elsie K. Pingree, and Mrs. Charles T. Webster was supervisor of the dining room. The supper committee consisted of Mrs. Clarence J. Nagle, chairman; Mrs. John W. Seddon, Mrs. Walter S. Grant, Mrs. John Seidel, Mrs. Adolph Leupold, Mrs. Thomas Perkins Sears and Mrs. James Graham.

After supper those who remained were entertained by William C. Kendall of Norwich, formerly of Taftville, who gave descriptions of his three motor trips across the continent to Vallejo, California, where he visited his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Goodrum and family. On one of his trips, Mr. Kendall was accompanied by Lee Heap of Second avenue; on another by his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Meyer of Bilissville, and on the last trip by George W. Meyer of Bilissville. The entire trip was made by automobile with side trips to interesting spots en route.

Mr. Kendall illustrated his talk with lantern slides made from photographs which he took while on the trips. Especially interesting were the views of San Juan Capastrano mission, built by early Spanish missionaries in California. The bell tower and the solid gold altar were shown. There were also views of the petrified forests in Arizona and California; pictures of the ruins of the homes of the early American cliff dwellers; forests of redwood trees, the largest and oldest in the world; views of life among the Navajo Indians who supply tourists with blankets, rugs and baskets; several extraordinary slides showing the Grand Canyon and the Yosemite Valley; falls and highways along the Columbia river; and fine views of the mountains El Capitan, the Three Brothers and Mount Tamalpais, which may be ascended by railroad.

The trip west of the Mississippi was described in detail by Mr. Kendall, who showed views of the various highways, some of them practically impassable because of wash-outs or sand storms. Pictures taken at the end of the trip showed views in Los Angeles and San Francisco and the government navy yard at Mare Island.

The Basketry club held its weekly meeting Thursday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

A business meeting of the members of Council Gagnon, No. 208, Union St. Jean Baptiste, was held Thursday evening.

John Thoma of Bilissville has been a recent visitor in Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott and family, of North Third avenue, have moved to the house on Providence street vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Godere, who moved to the house recently purchased by them on the Old Canterbury turnpike.

81 INDICTMENTS FOR "DRY" LAW CHARGES IN CHICAGO

Postmaster and Former Police Officials Among the Men Indicted For Conspiracy to Violate the Prohibition Law —Alleged Syndicate is Said to Have Distributed Upward of 3,000,000 Gallons of Alcohol Since January, 1925—Thomas D'Amico, Millionaire Sugar Dealer, is Said to Have Provided Sugar.

CHICAGO, May 3—(AP)—Eighty-one men including the postmaster and former police officials of Chicago Heights, were named in indictments charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, returned in federal court here today.

The indictments resulted from an investigation of an alleged alcohol syndicate said to have operated in the Chicago suburb since anuary, 1925, and to have distributed upwards of 3,000,000 gallons of the contraband.

The investigation was conducted under direction of Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson.

Among those indicted are: Thomas D'Amico, millionaire sugar dealer said to have provided sugar for manufacture of the liquor.

Bahne Carnilsen, former chief of police and at present postmaster and Edward Cassidy, former chief of police.

Others indicted were: John Castabile, former acting chief of police; William Wickman, a policeman; John Giannoni, alleged payoff man of the syndicate; William Witchinsky, a deputy sheriff; Paul Fredianelli of Calumet City alleged collector for the syndicate; Mike Picci, alleged gunman.

The former police officials and other officers are alleged to have permitted the syndicate to operate and to have furnished "protection".

The violations are alleged to have occurred over the period between January 1, 1925 and March 1, 1929.

A total of 72 overt acts are charged.

The others indicted were described by officials as lesser cogs in the machine which was said to have produced $36,000,000 worth of illicit alcohol during the period under investigation.

A score of murders that resulted in a reign of terror in the turbulent suburb, was attributed to the syndicate by federal agents whose investigation has been in progress for more than a year.

Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the district's trustees, headed the list which included six incumbent trustees.

Returned before Chief Justice John J. Sullivan, the indictments charged conspiracy, embezzlement and illegal diversions of public funds. Some of the charges were based on the allegation that the district mis-spent more than $250,000.

The outstanding picture presented to the grand jury during the investigation was that of the trustees and their friends making a "flood control" junket to Washington at public expense a year ago. Evidence was presented to show that after leaving Washington, the trustees and their friends went to New York for the alleged party at the Waldorf-Astoria.

This party, it was charged, resulted in broken furniture, bric-a-brac and other appointments for which the hotel presented and collected a bill of $6,900. The bill was paid out of sanitary district funds, but none admitted authorizing it.

Wholesale patronage resulting in many names on the payroll of the district—names of persons whose services could not be determined, also figured in the allegations as did huge sums spent for minor contracts.

The Chicago sanitary district was formed by the city and the state to care for sewage disposal of Chicago and surrounding towns. Trustees are elected to operate the district, expenses of which are paid by taxation.

Among those indicted were:

Timothy J. Crowe, democratic former president of the district.

James M. Whalen, democratic trustee, reelected last November.

Frank J. Link, republican trustee, John J. Touhy, democratic trustee, August W. Miller, republican trustee, Lawrence F. Klug, republican trustee, John K. Lawler, republican trustee, all held over from old board; and Martin J. O'Brien, chief clerk of the district under Crowe and chairman of the managing committee of the democratic party in Cook county.

Henry E. Wallace, chief deputy clerk under Crowe, held over by present board and termed "Major Domo" of alleged "whoopee" party in New York.

The indictments followed six months of investigation.

SCANDAL OF CHICAGO SANITARY DISTRICT

CHICAGO, May 3—(AP)— Alleged waste, pay roll padding and Bachanalian "whoopee," which blossomed once in a reported gay party at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York, today resulted in indictments against 15 former and incumbent officials of the Chicago sanitary district.

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY TO CONCEAL $100,000 ASSETS

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Six individuals and a corporation of Middletown Springs, Vt., and New York were named in an indictment returned by a federal grand jury today, charging conspiracy to conceal $100,000 in assets from the trustees and receiver in bankruptcy and the actual concealment of assets valued at $25,000.

Those named in the indictment were: James S. Miller and Philip Landers, Benjamin D. Jaffe, John Marshall, Max Schatz and A. W. Ray's Sons corporation.

The indictment charged that an old concern, A. W. Gray's Sons, Inc., was purchased in February, 1928 from a Mr. Spalholtz, president of the First National bank of Poultney, Vt., after negotiations between him and James S. Landers. The price paid was given as $5,000 in cash and $30,000 in notes.

I. R. T. CO. FAILS TO ASK RE-HEARING ON 7 CENT FARE

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—The Interborough Rapid Transit company permitted the time allowed it under the rules of the supreme court to ask for a re-hearing in the seven-cent fare case to expire today without taking action.

The mandate carrying into effect the supreme court decision will be issued early next week unless stayed by order of a justice of the supreme court.

It is expected that after the mandate is received by the statutory three-judge federal court in New York city a motion will be made to dismiss the case. This is said to be the only action open in view of the instructions issued by the supreme court in its decision.

FIGURES BEING STUDIED BY REPARATIONS EXPERTS

PARIS, May 3—(AP)—Reparations figures which the American experts at the second Dawes committee have proved and which are being examined with interest by the German experts, have formed the subject of conversations Dr. Hjalmar Schacht has had with Owen D. Young and other experts since his return from Berlin.

It was said in authoritative circles tonight that there was good reason to suppose that the figures in question had found some favor in the eyes of the German delegation. What the figures actually were could only be guessed, since they were withheld until the creditor nations should have passed upon them.

They were reported to be higher than the German offer, however, and were even described to be not even half way between that offer and the allied demands, which would imply that the Germans must meet the allies more than half way if they accept any arrangement based on them.

20 CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY TO VIOLATE THE DRY LAW

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 3—(AP)—Twenty defendants, including Carroll Bates, a former Texas ranger and San Angelo police chief, drew prison sentences today of 90 days to eighteen months, with fines in some cases, after their conviction for conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws.

The government alleged that Bates, while chief of police entered into an agreement with the other defendants to protect bootlegging activities in turn for a portion of the proceeds from the sale of liquor. Six women were among those convicted.

Bates was sentenced to 18 months and fined $7,500.

HOUSE VOTES $104,500 IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE NORWICH STATE HOSPITAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

HARTFORD, May 3—Appropriations were passed in the house today that provide for improvements at the Norwich state hospital as follows: $104,500 is appropriated for the following purposes: For sewage disposal system, $65,000; for improvements to ground $20,000; for improvements to barn buildings, $19,500.

The Mansfield state training school is awarded $410,500 for the following purposes: For power plant and equipment, $150,000; for laundry building $20,000; for laundry machinery, $20,500; for construction and equipment of dormitory for boys, $170,000; for construction and equipment of dormitory for girls $110,000.

A long debate was precipitated in the house this morning when the unfavorable report made on the bill that would repeal the law passed in the closing days of the 1927 assembly. The bill was rejected by a standing vote. The so-called "deer bill" came back to the house with an amendment passed in the senate. Instead of being allowed to be shot on a farm or field it will be lawful when deer have destroyed crops within thirty days.

When the bill concerning the sale of motor oils was reached on the calendar, the chairman of the committee on motor vehicles made a lengthy explanation of the bill. An amendment was offered by Mr. Johnson of Manchester that would strike out Sections 4, 5, 6, 7 as they were, in the opinion of the attorney general, unconstitutional. He felt that it was his duty as leader of the house, to point this out. It was the duty of this assembly to pass legislation only that would stand the test. The bill if passed will not. The house persisted in passing the bill.

In the senate the bill concerning transportation of elementary school children, which was passed over the appropriation committee in the house yesterday, was indefinitely postponed and to clinch the action a reconsideration was refused.

This ends the matter for this session.

HOUSE.

The house was called to order at 11.21 by the speaker and prayer was offered by the chaplain of the house.

An unfavorable report was made by the constitutional amendments committee on the resolution providing that for an amendment that the general assembly shall have power to provide by law that the verdict of a jury in a civil action may be rendered by not less than nine members of the jury. The resolution was rejected. The bill repealing the law relating to games of chance at Savin Rock in the town of West Haven, provoked

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

BUCHAREST, May 3—(AP)—The Rumanian National bank today raised its discount rate from six to eight per cent.

CARACAS, Venezuela, May 3—(AP)—General Juan Vicente Gomez was reelected president of Venezuela today by unanimous vote of congress. His term will expire in 1936.

BERLIN, May 3—(AP)—H Prince Louis Ferdinand, second son of the former crown prince, intends to marry Lily Damita, motion picture actress, as has been reported from Los Angeles, his relatives here know nothing about it.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 3—(AP)—The two Salvadorean aviators who had been missing since they began a flight to Costa Rica on Tuesday were reported to have been found. Their airplane crashed on the shore of the Gulf of Fonseca. The men, Lieutenant Herman Baron and Belisario Salabar, were not injured.

PETITION FOR CLEMENCY FOR FREDERICK H. KNOWLTON

BOSTON, May 3—(AP)— The wife and foster mother of Frederick Hinman Knowlton, Jr., of Framingham, now awaiting electrocution for the murder of Marguerite I. Stewart, Beverly teacher, today appeared before Gov. Frank G. Allen at a hearing on Knowlton's petition for clemency. Knowlton was removed to the death house in the state prison earlier in the day. His execution is set for the week of May 12.

The two women were with the governor ten minutes. No announcement was made concerning their plea nor did the governor indicate what his decision might be.

Knowlton's sister, Mrs. Janie Bryant, and two ministers, Rev. L. H. Blackburn, of Ashland and Rev. W. B. Richards, of Framingham, pastors of churches attended by members of the Knowlton family, were present at the hearing. They made no direct plea to the governor.

Three lawyers presented Knowlton's petition to the governor.

PROTESTS BEING "FRAMED" ON CHARGE OF MURDER

SOUTH PARIS, Me., May 3—(AP)—Protesting that she was being "framed" and that she "never hurt anything," Mrs. Anne Merrill Welch, of Lisbon Falls, today was held without bail for the grand jury, charged with the murder of Elihu Turner, aged Hartford farmer, whom she termed her "first and best friend."

Until action is taken by the grand jury, which convenes at Rumford on May 14, Mrs. Welch will remain in the county jail here. She has lodged there voluntarily since the fire until yesterday when she was arrested on a murder warrant.

Her two children, Glorianna, aged five years and five months' old Doris, will remain with her. They were with her when she visited the well-to-do farmer overnight in an effort to secure a money settlement on the claim that the 75-year-old man was the father of the younger child. The birth certificate gave the name of her second husband, Sydney Welch, now serving a term for bigamy in New York state as the parent.

COMMITTEE DIVIDED IN STATUS OF SEC'Y MELLON

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—Submission to the senate of several conflicting reports by the judiciary committee on the right of Secretary Mellon to hold office appeared likely tonight with a vote on this much discussed proposition in sight for tomorrow.

Sufficient votes were claimed for defeat of the report of Chairman Norris declaring that Mr. Mellon as a stockholder is violating the statute forbidding the secretary of the treasury to be interested in carying trade or commerce.

The committee seemed widely divided on what construction to place of this 100 year old statute. No decision was reached today after two more hours of discussion on a course of procedure for the committee. But the prospect of a vote tomorrow on a report made it appear likely that no open investigation of Mr. Mellon and his relations to the companies in which he is a stockholder would be ordered.

BOSTON PILGRIMS ARE SIGHT-SEEING IN ROME

ROME, May 3—(AP)— The Boston pilgrims brought to Rome by Cardinal O'Connell today, trod the ancient highway of the Caesars in the course of seeing the catacombs, St. Calixius church, of Quovadis and the tombs of the Scipios. Motoring out the ancient Appian way on which the Roman armies marched to the provinces, the visitors were guided through the catacombs in which 2,000,000 Christians are buried.

The pilgrims also were escorted through the church of St. Clement, titular church of their cardinal, which is credited with containing more details of primitive ecclesiastical architecture than any other but one church in Rome. The church has three levels marking the surface of the city at various periods of its long history. The pilgrims passed under a bust of Cardinal O'Connell commemorating his work of restoration of the sublevels.

LUTHERANS TO HAVE CHURCH FOR HARVARD MEN

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—The Lutheran Synod of New York and New England today announced the purchase of property in Cambridge, Mass., as a site for a $200,000 church to be directed by and for Harvard university students.

Of the $18,600 purchase price, students raised $4,000; and New York contributed $2,000. The remainder was raised by the student pastor, Rev. Norman D. Goehring, M. A., and Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, president of the synod.

The student congregation is known as the University association of Greater Boston.

HINDUS AND MOSLEMS RENEW THEIR FIGHTING

BOMBAY, India, May 3—(AP)—Six persons were dead and 60 injured late tonight after a day long renewal of fighting between Hinbus and Moslem isolated assaults still were being reported at midnight although the city for the most part was quiet. The police were rounding up unruly elements throughout Bombay.

Last February 145 persons were killed and 743 injured here during a similar reign of terror growing out of religious differences.

No Cessation Of Disorders In Berlin

Since Trouble Began 17 Persons Have Been Killed and 110 Seriously Injured.

BERLIN, May 3—(AP)—Rifle shots exchanged by hidden snipers and the police tonight peppered houses in the Neukoelln sections as the officers moved to carry out the determination to quell the communist forces that have defied them through three days and nights of rioting. Airplanes were used today to locate the enemy positions in the beleaguered suburb.

The district of Wedding on the opposite fringe of town apparently had quieted down except for the excitement of the house to house visits of the police searching for weapons.

All fighting centered in Neukoelln where the number of victims today was given as four killed and seven gravely wounded. This made the total since the disorders began on May 1, seventeen dead with 110 seriously injured now lying in various hospitals of the city. The number of less seriously injured could not be even approximately estimated for no records were made.

Three women, who imprudently ventured out on the balconies of their apartments, were among those killed today and one man was slain by a stray bullet at a street crossing. Three of the injured were laborers on a new subway who got into the line of fire.

Both areas tonight were proclaimed in state of siege and citizens were warned that they risked their lives by venturing on the streets between 9:00 p. m. and 4:00 a. m.

The police stormed a barricade in Wedding early today and then at point of revolvers forced the 17 youthful defenders to demolish the obstruction. This drew fire from the house tops until the prisoners shouted "don't fire, boys, we are captured and have to work here." In the same district an ironmonger's store was plundered and the defenders, including women, armed themselves with butcher knives.

About 1,500 Berlin workers went on sympathetic strike today over the alleged harsh measures of the police against communists. The strikers were scattered over half a dozen plants in various industries and there was no interruption of work at the large plants.

In the Reichstag today communists started a row over the police suspension for three weeks of the communist newspaper Die Rote Fahne. They argued that communists were justified in taking retaliatory steps but the excitement soon died and the house adjourned until May 13.

DEADLY WORK OF WIND IN SEVEN SOUTHERN STATES

(By The Associated Press)

Death stalked through Dixie today in the swirling wake of tornadoes that crushed buildings, including one Virginia schoolhouse full of children, killed almost half a hundred persons and injured twice that number.

Of seven southern states that felt the twisters deadly might Virginia was the hardest hit. In that state alone there were 22 known fatalities. At Rye Cove, Va., where the schoolhouse was blown down, 13 children and one teacher were killed and five other children were missing.

The storm was centered in the south but extended far afield, extending to such widely separated points as Mexico and the Great Lakes. Traffic on Lake Michigan and Lake Erie was at a standstill and craft caught away from port were seriously endangered.

PERU AND CHILE SETTLE TACNA AND ARICA DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—The ambassadors of Peru and Chile, today presented to the state department for transmission to President Hoover the agreement entered into between their countries for the peaceful division of the provinces of Tacna and Arica.

Ambassador Velarde, of Peru, and Davila, of Chile, issued a joint statement at the time of their visit, which said:

"We wish to inform the state department of the present situation of direct negotiations between the governments of Peru and Chile for the solution of the Tacna-Arica problem, expressing the desire that this information be transmitted to President Hoover."

MAY REPRESENT CONN. AT 4-H ENCAMPMENT

NEW HAVEN, May 3—(AP)—Alice Healey, 16 year old Seymour 4-H club girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Healey, was appointed as one of four outstanding rural boys and girls to represent Connecticut at the national 4-H club encampment at Washington, D. C., in June.

This is a ten day camp made up of four outstanding 4-H club boys and girls from each state in the union and the appointment as a member is the highest honor of the service.

Miss Healey is a member of the Bungay Service club, of Seymour, which has a record of four consecutive years with each member carrying out of her program completely making it a 100 per cent. club.

Waters Released By Breaking Of A Dam

Village of Colebrook, N. H., Was Virtually Wiped Out —No Loss of Life Reported.

COLEBROOK, N. H., May 3—(AP)—The village of Kidderville, was virtually wiped out and houses and barns here were carried away by a flood which swept through the Mohawk valley tonight after Balsams dam, 13 miles above here had broken. Pressed by water from the heavy rains of last night, the dam broke at 6:30. No loss of life was reported.

It was reported the inhabitants had been warned of the impending danger in the late afternoon.

Fifty residents of Kidderville took to the highlands and watched their homes swept away. Fifteen houses and barns in the lower part of this town were carried away while several other structures were torn from their foundations.

The flood followed the line of the Mohawk river and spent itself in the larger Connecticut river, a stream already swollen by the rains.

Balsam dam was built to regulate the overflow from Cliorette lake into the Mohawk river. As soon as the danger was realized at 5 o'clock, the residents of the territory were notified by telephone to seek the highlands. Again at 5:30 o'clock the fire signals were sounded to warn those without telephones. The warning was sufficient to allow the removal of valuables from homes before the dam broke at 6:30 o'clock.

The water was several feet deep at the height of the flood but by 8:30 o'clock the force of the flood had diminished.

Colebrook was flooded by the Mohawk river in November, 1927, the time of the Vermont flood.

A conservative estimate of the damage to Colebrook from the flood today was set at $550,000. About thirty houses were washed away. At least ten of these had disappeared. A 40 foot steel bridge was carried a distance of 500 feet by the rushing waters. Tons of debris were piled up in different sections of the town in some instances to a height of 10 feet.

The flow of water from Lake Abenaki where the dam gave way had subsided, leaving pools of water throughout the town. Some of these were ankle deep and some two or three feet deep.

All of the territory 10 miles east of here was flooded.

It was at first believed that the flood would not reach here. When it arrived the residents had to flee to higher land with what little belongings they could carry.

Many persons from neighboring communities came here in their automobiles as spectators. Some of these were forced to abandon their machines and seek safety from the flood.

TARIFF REVISION BILL SENT TO THE PRINTER

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—After nearly two months at their task, the 15 republican members of the house ways and means committee completed the tariff revision measure today and sent it to the printer. Chairman Hawley announced it would be introduced next Tuesday, probably late in the day. No inkling was given as to the contents of the measure.

It was generally believed however, that the bill contains scores of increased rates, not only on agricultural commodities, but on many important articles and goods in the industrial schedules, and that many items now on the free list have been made dutiable.

Wool and cotton textiles are understood to have been given especially attention in the revision. The sugar duty is known to have been raised but the amount finally agreed upon remained a closely guarded secret.

While no information, either official or unofficial, was available as to how the bill deals with farm products, there was an indication among members from the agricultural states who have been closely following the evolution of the measure that the proposed legislation might not come up to their expectations.

SENATE DEBENTURE VOTE IS EXPECTED TO BE CLOSE

Administration Group Has Been Set Back by the Announcement of Senator Nye That He Will Vote For the Debenture Plan—Because of the Close Division Vice President Curtis May Be Called Upon to Break a Tie Vote.

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)— Senate leaders came to the conclusion today that the success or failure of the effort to include the export debenture plan in the farm relief bill hinges on the number of senators who will be physically able to be in their seats when the vote is taken.

Checks made of the senate membership by them have indicated that the outcome might be so close as to have one or two votes prove the deciding ballots on the proposal opposed by President Hoover.

The latest check by administration leaders disclosed twelve republicans certain to vote for the debenture plan, with two doubtful. They expect seven democrats to vote against the plan but this is denied by debenture advocates who also have been checking their support carefully.

Supporters of the debenture proposal are manifesting some concern over the fact that two senators whom they believe would vote with them will be unable to be present in the senate when the vote is taken. The two are Shipstead of Minnesota, the only farmer-labor member of the senate, and Kendrick of Wyoming, a democrat, both of whom are ill in hospitals.

The debenture leaders are seeking to obtain "pairs" for those men so that their vote will make no differences in the result, but since all senators opposed to the plan are being cautioned to be in their seats, the effort so far has not been successful.

Senator Shipstead has never taken the oath of office since his reelection and therefore would not be entitled to vote but leaders of the debenture group obtained an agreement today to have the oath administered at his bedside. Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, a leading advocate of the debenture plan, sponsored this move.

Because of the close division, Vice President Curtis may be called upon to break a tie vote, although administration leaders are hopeful that before a vote is taken tomorrow or Monday they will be assured of a majority in favor of eliminating the debenture plan.

The administration group sustained a set-back today when Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, announced in the senate that he would vote for the debenture plan. Nye had been claimed by the opponents of the plan after he made known last week following a visit at the white house that he saw no reason at that time for voting in favor of the debenture section.

HOOVER'S ATTITUDE ON FED. DEPT. OF EDUCATION

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—The first inkling of the attitude of the Hoover administration toward the proposed federal department of education was given today by Secretary Wilbur, who informed the annual meeting of the American Council of Education that an adequate position for education within a department and with sufficient financial support was all that was needed.

The address marked Mr. Wilbur's first public discussion since he became interior secretary of the administration policy toward education. He is himself an educator, having made it his life work and having resigned as president of Stanford university to enter the cabinet.

"The place of the national government," he said, "is not that of supplying large amounts for carrying on the administrative functions of education in the communities, but to develop methods, ideals and procedures, and to present them, to be taken on their merits. The national government, too, can give widespread information on procedures, can report on what is actually going on in different parts of the country and in the world, and can unify to some extent the objects of those in the field of education, insofar as unification is desirable.

"There is a distinct place for this sort of thing in the administrative side of the national government, but it should not be recognized as an administrative position with large funds at its disposal. A department of education similar to the other departments of the government is not required."

AWARDED $5,911.20 DAMAGES FOR AUTO ACCIDENT HURTS

NEW HAVEN, May 3—(AP)—Raymond R. Newell, of Cleveland, manager of the Roebling Wire Rope company, of Trenton, N. J., was awarded damages of $5,911.20 against the Adaskin Furniture Company, Inc., for injuries he suffered in an automobile accident today by Judge Arthur F. Ellis, of superior court. His wife, who also figured in the accident which occurred last June, was given $2,000 damages.

Newell and his wife were riding in their machine, driven by a chauffeur when they ran into a truck owned by the defendant company. It was charged that George Rice, driver of the truck cut off suddenly from the main highway without warning that he was going to turn down a side street.

AMERICAN SILVER DOLLARS IN FLOOR HAVANA BAR ROOM

HAVANA, May 3—(AP)—Use of American silver dollars as floor tiling in a recently opened Havana bar room, is expected to bring formal protest from the United States embassy here.

World war veterans in Havana today asked the embassy to protest to the Cuban government and to request that the floor be either dug up or the dollars inlaid and surfaced with glass. The bar is owned by an Englishman, H. H. Stanley.

FAILED TO AGREE ON LIMITATION OF ARMS

GENEVA, May 3—(AP)—Publicity was all that could be hoped for tonight for limitation of land armaments at the preliminary commission for a disarmament conference. Direct limitation or indirect limitation by a budgetary system had both failed to receive approval.

Moved by an intense desire to achieve something, a dozen or more delegations had tentatively agreed to introduce a resolution tomorrow for adoption of a system of publicity for armament costs. This does not necessarily call for limitation or reduction but apparently is the best step available in the present state of the conference which is split on the question of how to limit land armaments.

The soviet delegation today blocked the necessary unanimity on the publicity idea when Chairman Politis of Greece introduced it as a last resort. Maxim Litvinoff insisted that general publicity already was the keynote of the draft treaty and that it was useless to apply it concretely to land armaments.

He argued that it would be treating the public more fairly to admit frankly inability to reach agreement on limitations. The chairman withdrew his resolution but many delegations, including the American, decided tonight to revive it. It will be submitted tomorrow under belief that the problem of limitation has temporarily been found insolvable.

ELEVEN PERSONS KILLED AS RESULT OF EARTHQUAKE

ASHABAD, Russian Turkestan, May 3—(AP)—Eleven persons were killed and more than 40 injured today when four successive earthquakes shook the surrounding country bringing down houses in many villages. One person was killed and 26 injured here where 90 houses were demolished. The village of Germab was entirely destroyed and the other casualties were recorded there.

Considerable destruction was done in the summer resort of Firoza and a number of villages along the Persian border suffered also.

Unconfirmed reports received here were that 1,000 persons had perished in three Persian towns shaken by the earthquake. The Russian-Turkestan government, on request of Persian officials, rushed aid across the border to the stricken Persians.

PASSENGER BOAT WAS IN DANGER IN LAKE ERIE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 3—(AP)—After drifting helplessly on Lake Erie from noon today until 8:30 o'clock tonight, most of the time in danger of disaster, the steamer "City of Buffalo," a Cleveland-Buffalo Transit company passenger boat, was reported by the captain to be out of danger.

A radio message to P. J. Scheerer, general manager of the company here said: "We are not going to Ashtabula. Got engines working and are headed for Fairport (Ohio). If tugs are immediate send them back.

"We are about five miles east of Fairport. (Signed) "Captain Allen Strachan."

PROHIBITION QUESTION DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF THE STATE BAR ASS'N.

HARTFORD, May 3—(AP)—Chief Justice George W. Wheeler, of Bridgeport and Lucius F. Robinson, of Hartford, engaged in a pitched battle on the prohibition question at the afternoon meeting of the State Bar association, in Hartford today when Mr. Robinson proposed that the members of the association ballot by mail on a resolution favoring the repeal of the 18th amendment.

After a vigorous championship of the amendment and a plea for law enforcement Chief Justice Wheeler carried the day over what was tantamount to a majority sentiment of 21 to 19 in favor of the proposal. Mr. Robinson withdrew the resolution after the seconder, William Brosmith, general counsel of the Travelers Insurance company gave his permission with the terse remark, "with regret."

The meeting of the association was proceeding to a placid close when Mr. Robinson slowly rose and presented his resolution.

"It may be a bombshell," he announced with a chuckle. "If I am right in thinking the adoption of the 18th amendment was a grave blunder, carrying a grave menace to the integrity of the Union, the only ultimate remedy is repeal. I expect that even our present and future chief justice would vote for it."

The future chief justice, William Maltbie, had left the meeting. But Chief Justice Wheeler was present and accepted the challenge after a stormy attack on the resolution by other lawyers.

He charged Mr. Robinson with doing violence to his customary fairness in bringing up the subject without any notice whatever. He said that he had been won over to the enforcement of prohibition because it had brought such great benefits to the poor people of Bridgeport.

COLCHESTER

DOG UNDER SUSPICION IS FINALLY DISPATCHED

Dog Warden H. F. Brown has fin-ally succeeded in catching and killing the stray dog which was roaming about door-yards on Upper North Main street last week and which was suspected of having rabies. Warden Brown had chased the animal through the nearby swamps and wood-lots but was unable to catch it. A few days ago, the dog apparently became hungry and returned to the center of the village in search of food. It was taken in charge by Warden Brown a few days ago, when it appeared in the vicinity of the R. R. station. Although it was then found that the dog was not affected with rabies, the warden killed the animal because it had no license tag and had been roaming about the town in violation of the state quarantine restrictions.

DANIELSON

WEEK FOR THE BLIND OPENS SUNDAY AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 3—Edward B. Wilbur, president of the chamber of commerce, has been named as chairman of the general committee of the Week of the Blind and will preside at the opening event of the week Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in the auditorium of the high school. Supt. Gordon Hicks of the Connecticut School for the Blind will bring about 30 children by motor bus, and they will sing at the opening event. There will be no admission charge, nor will any offering be taken. The children will sing anthems and a cantata. The Village Blacksmith. There also will be vocal and instrumental numbers by the children. Perry Hale, famous Yale football star of bygone days, now totally blind, will come here from Portland, where he is the tax collector and will speak at the meeting. His subject will be Battling Through. Rev. Edward P. Ayer of Branford, blind chaplain of the state senate, will be on the platform.

Beginning next Monday, Danielson will start its annual clean-up effort. Inasmuch as Clean-up week is arranged in the interest of making Danielson a spotless town, insofar as that may be done, the co-operation of all property owners is necessary if the success desired is achieved. The chamber of commerce, sponsor of the effort, is inviting the citizens of the community to enter into the spirit of the event and trusts the response will be very general. Taking time by the forelock, some enterprising citizens are to begin cleaning up their premises this week Saturday afternoon. A great amount of waste material that has accumulated about grounds during the winter season will be raked up and burned. The removal of ashes and other such heavy material represents a different problem and in most cases will be carted away. As the borough is without any special committee or set of committees to go about directing the work of Clean-up week, it is the hope of those who would see it work out successful that all will do their bit without further urging. Danielson is one of the really pretty towns of southern New England and it will be good advertising for it through the summer season, with its thousands of tourists passing through or stopping off here, to have it look its best.

Don't forget the One Cent sale today (Sat.) at Mose the Druggist's.—Adv.

While near Narragansett Pier yesterday afternoon Cadet H. Hand witnessed the unusual sight of fish being washed out of the ocean and tossed on to the beach, to be eagerly picked up by men and boys who were about. A heavy southerly gale kicked up a tremendous sea. Fish feeding near the shore were caught in the giant rollers and, unable to control themselves were hurled onto the beach. Mr. Hand saw one boy with a black fish weighing four and a half pounds. Several varieties of fish were among those washed ashore. Clams and quohaugs by the bushel were thrown up by the sea and were being garnered by many persons having pails and baskets.

Robert G. Smith, postmaster at East Killingly, has announced that a United States civil service examination is to be held in Danielson for applicants for appointment as fourth class postmaster at East Killingly. Those who would take the examination have until May 31, to file applications. The compensation for the postmaster at East Killingly is $882 a year, at least it was for the last fiscal year. Applicants for the position must have reached their 21st birthday and be under sixty-five years of age, and they must live within the territory supplied by the East Killingly postoffice.

Mrs. Rena Frechette, 24, wife of Edward Frechette, died this morning at the home on Oak street. Earlier this week a few days' old child of Mr. and Mrs. Frechette died and was buried. Mrs. Frechette was born here, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bourque, of the West Side, and had lived her life in this community. She leaves her husband, four children, her parents and several brothers and sisters.

Newly elected officers of the Minnitexit Hook and Ladder company are: Captain, Harry W. Clarke; lieutenant, Vincent Gartland; secretary, Venerand Bernier; treasurer, Harry W. Clarke; sick committee, William Lafamme, Edward Cloutier, Howard Withey; entertainment committee, V. Bernier, Henry Briere, Arthur Barnard. Captain Clarke and Secretary Bernier were named respectively as delegate and alternate to represent the company at the annual convention of the Connecticut State Firemen's Association in East Hartford, August 16-17. The company plans a social evening to be held at the central fire station on the evening of May 16.

State Officer Elton Nolan of the Danielson barracks took one Arthur Martin into custody in Worcester to answer in the town of Thompson, to charges preferred against him by a young woman of that town. Martin was presented before Justice Tourtellotte in Thompson this afternoon and the case continued until next week. Since last September, when he was given a sentence of a year in jail after being presented before the superior court for Windham county, he has been out under suspended sentence and on probation. The charge he is now facing is similar to the one on which he was sentenced. Though only a young man, Martin has had three wives.

Adam Stachura, resident here, was before Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court this morning to answer to a charge of breach of the peace, this growing out of the man's actions in his home. Judge Woodward imposed a sentence of 90 days in jail, but suspended execution of it because of the fact that Stachura has several children and they require his support.

Saturday and Sunday two pints of Fro-Joy brick ice cream, two pints 9 cents at Mose the Druggist.—Adv.

Deposit now in the savings department of the Windham County National bank and receive interest from May 1.—Adv.

Mrs. Homer Browne has been at New London attending the state department convention of the W. R. C.

This town will be represented at the Grange Sunday services to be held at Storrs with Rev. J. H. Hoyt, state chaplain, officiating at a service scheduled for 9:45, standard time. After the lunch period there is to be a musical program at the church.

A party of officers and members of Danielson chapter, O. E. S., will be in Woodstock next Thursday evening to visit Betty Putnam chapter, which is to receive an annual visitation from Worthy Grand Matron Abby Y. Bergman and associate grand officers.

Such a terrific downpour of rain came in one shower over Danielson during the early hours of this morning as to awaken many people by beating on roofs and against window panes.

Elwood Spencer has passed his entrance examinations and is to enter Pratt institute in September.

Schools of the town of Killingly closed through the present week, the final vacation of the present school year, will reopen Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Danielson and daughter are en route from Haines City, Fla., where they have been living, to Danielson, traveling with a motor car. They are to live at Elmville.

Colonel Henry W. Babson has returned to Danielson from Winter Haven, Fla., where he has been living since last fall.

Miss Aurise Lafamme of Fall River is spending the week-end visiting with friends in Danielson and in Putnam.

Mrs. William Martin of Mechanic street is to have the members of the Ladies' Prayer circle at her home for a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The Danielson Federation of Churches has arranged a service to be held in the Westfield Congregational church Sunday evening, with a special program of music, in observance of the opening of Music Week.

There was a large attendance this evening at the whist and dance given by the Danielson Girls' club at their rooms here.

Rent need be no great problem in this town, it being noted that tenements are being offered in one pretty section of Killingly for as low as $2 per week.

Mrs. C. G. Lawton of Brooklyn is visiting in New Haven and in Hartford, where she has relatives.

Harold E. Clarke, son of Rev. and George W. Clarke, formerly of Brooklyn, has been appointed assistant librarian at Colby college.

The selectmen have called a special town meeting for the coming week to see if the town will make an appropriation for removing trees in Reynolds street between Main and Broad streets.

Real estate for sale: I have several attractive properties for sale at the present time located in and around the Boro. For description apply to J. C. Witter. I will buy a cottage house near the center with about 3 acres of land.—Adv.

EPISCOPAL GIRLS' F. S. TO NOTE 15TH BIRTHDAY

Chester E. Demick, of Gales Ferry, diocesan president will attend when the local Girls' Friendly society branch of St. Paul's Episcopal church holds a birthday party in the parish hall, Monday evening, at 7 o'clock, (D. S. T.). Invitations have been sent to a number of girl members in recent years and now living elsewhere. The branch was organized fifteen years ago.

FUNERAL

Deacon Charles Barstow

Funeral services for Deacon Charles Barstow, of Westminster, were held Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Harry E. Small. Burial was in Carey cemetery, Canterbury. A number of years ago, Deacon Barstow married Miss Maria Rollinson, who survives him. One child born to them died in infancy. He leaves a brother, George, who lives near the old place and a brother Frank, of Worcester.

Mrs. Nathan Exley is entertaining this week her grandchildren, Francis and Josephine Bailey, of Danielson.

Mrs. Mary Phillips, Mrs. Everett Dwley and Mrs. John Kingsley were in Norwich, Thursday.

Local residents will attend the exercises in Jewett City, Sunday, when Bishop Nilan, of Hartford, will bless the new St. Mary's school.

At the First Congregational church, Sunday night, the motion picture will be the four-reel film, "Johnny Ring and the Captain's Sword." The picture features a stirring incident in the life of Russell Conwell, author of the lecture, "Acres of Diamonds."

When the W. C. T. U. meets Tuesday with Mrs. Evelyn Hall, the roll call word will be "Mother."

PENDLETON HILL

Mrs. Clifford B. Thompson attended the State 4-H club convention at the Hotel Bond in Hartford, Friday and Saturday of last week. The chamber of commerce and the state grange were hosts at the convention. Mrs. Thompson reports one very inspiring and enlightening occasion regarding this great meeting, of nearly 600 delegates. The Hill has two 4-H clubs, one for girls and one for boys.

Mrs. Clifford Thompson entertained the girls' 4-H club Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Whaples, state club leaders, were present, and showed many interesting slides in connection with club work.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks are spending some time in Dorchester, guests of Mrs. Brooks' sister, Mrs. Robert Bruce Milne. Mrs. Milne is ill with bronchitis.

Miss Amelia Palmer is spending the spring vacation at her home here. Miss Palmer accompanied her father to Hartford Tuesday. Mr. Palmer's son, Richard, was his guest Wednesday in Hartford.

Mrs. Vernon Thompson and infant daughter, Mary Margaret, made the trip to Meriden Wednesday to visit the former's son, Calvin Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cottrell and family entertained on Sunday Herbert Billings and party, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Billings and daughters Lucy and Mary, and Mrs. Hattie Billings, all of Natick, R. I. The entire family with their guests, twelve in number, attended morning service at the church.

Charles Cottrell, who cultivated record making fields of grass last year, has already top-dressed his land.

Mrs. Mildred Johnson returned Saturday from a week's vacation spent with her aunts, Mrs. George Pierce and Mrs. Arthur Frink, in Bradford, R. I.

Mrs. Mabel Leginor and daughter Marie, spent the school vacation in New York.

Paul Koestinen is owner of Wells' Outlines of the World's History.

PUTNAM

CIVIL SIDE OF SUPERIOR COURT OPENS NEXT WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 3—The Civil term of superior court will open in this city on Tuesday morning, May 7, at o'clock, Judge H. P. Walsh presiding. Three days will be preside at the hearings. Three cases are on the assignment list and were slated to go to a jury but in two of the major suits settlements have been reached and the third is a suit claiming damages to the extent of $1,25 and it is believed terms of settlement will be reached before jurors are summoned for duty by the sheriffs. Only one civil case for the court has been entered in the assignment list for Tuesday's hearing, that of Irene Boucher vs. Peter St. Rock, both of Killingly.

The one case that was to have attracted considerable interest was the jury case of Elizabeth E. Graves of Killingly vs. The W. T. Grant Co., of Massachusetts, operating Stores in this state. On Nov. 16, 1928, while engaged in making a purchase in the store operated by the defendant, Mrs. Graves lost her balance over an unguarded stairway and tumbled to the lower floor, sustaining a nervous shock, fracturing her arm and wrist in addition to receiving several bruises about the body from which she has not as yet fully recovered.

She named the concern defendant in a $5,000 damage suit, engaging the services of Attorney Harry E. Back of Danielson as her attorney. Mr. Back intimated this afternoon that a settlement has been agreed upon by the parties involved and there would be no court action. Mr. Back declined to make known the amount of settlement.

The scenes have been set for the opening of the Week of the Blind which will take place at the Putnam high school auditorium on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mayor Charles A. Richard will preside at the formal opening exercises. The state authorities have prepared an interesting programme and expect a capacity audience. The feature speaker of the afternoon will be Perry T. Hale, one-time All-American football center of Yale, and now a victim of blindness. Mr. Hale in various ways has overcome this serious handicap and is now tax collector in the town of Portland, Conn. The subject of his address will be "Battling Through." The cantata, "The Village Blacksmith," one of the best known of romantic musical compositions, will be sung by 30 children of the state school for the education of the blind. The blind singers will be under the direction of Supt. Gordon Hicks of the state school. The name of Rev. Edwin P. Ayer, blind chaplain of the state senate, appears upon the programme but just what part he will have has not been made known.

Stetson K. Ryan, secretary for the state board of education of the blind, said this afternoon that a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the exercises. No admission fee and no offering will be charged or asked for.

Aliens desiring to take out naturalization papers before the new immigration laws become effective on July 1, should bear in mind the fact that a special session of naturalization will be held in the superior court offices this (Saturday) afternoon from the hours of 1 until 5 o'clock. Miss Marjorie C. Bradford, assistant clerk of superior courts of Windham county, will preside, and will issue the desired papers. Additional blanks and forms for naturalization have been received from the department of labor by the local court authorities, enabling them to accommodate a larger number of applicants than was at first expected.

Those who are contemplating taking out second and final papers, making them citizens of the United States, are requested to come prepared for the formalities required by the law.

There was no great alarm today in local law circles regarding the change of superior court sessions as proposed by a bill which has already passed the lower house of the state legislature purporting to change the sitting of superior court in Windham county from the present two sessions, in this city, and two, in Willimantic, to three in the Thread City and one in Putnam. The situation in Putnam today was to the effect that the bill would be amended to conform to the present sittings of two in each county seat, before it would be acted upon in the senate of the legislature.

An electrical storm of great intensity hit Putnam early last evening, accompanied by severe rain storms that deluged the streets at intervals throughout the night until the final shower burst at 4 o'clock this morning. Several flashes of lightning quickly followed by cracks of thunder shook homes in several places in the city. Inquiries into the rural districts surrounding the city were made today but there were no confirmed reports of lightning doing any damage. The gales of wind and heavy rain did considerable damage to orchards and other trees along the wayside, but no harm was caused to homes or barns situated in the country districts.

Lighting service of the Eastern Connecticut Power company was not hampered in the Putnam district according to reports today. The local telephone exchange suffered many interruptions because of the storm which disabled over 130 stations in the Danielson, Putnam and Moosup exchanges. Augmented line gangs were summoned early this morning, repairing the grounded lines and clearing the highways of trees which had fallen across the lines. At a late hour this afternoon Joseph Beebe, manager of the exchange, stated that repairs had been made throughout the day and nearly all stations were functioning. The storm interrupted the May day moving of telephone orders, [illegible] report from Mr. Beebe, [illegible] to the effect that the condition of Rev. Joseph D. Casey, rector at St. Mary's church, continued to improve. Father Casey is a patient at St. Francis hospital in Hartford where he underwent a major operation.

Sargty George Liard of the local police was acting in the absence of Capt. William Jarvis today.

JEWETT CITY

GRAMMAR SCHOOL PUPILS VISITED PLAINFIELD H. S.

Friday for Riverside grammar school was sub-freshmen's day. Seventy of the higher grade pupils were transported by Connecticut buses to Central Village, where they were given opportunity to visit Plainfield high school. The superintendent and principal of the town high school addressed the pupils setting forth the importance of high school training. The objective of the visit was to stimulate in the minds of the grammar school pupils, the desire to attain such excellency in the present term examinations, as would qualify them for advancement to a high school training. Superintendent F. H. P. Clement of the schools of Griswold and Mrs. Demick accompanied the Riverside pupils.

HANOVER CONFERENCE PROGRAM RECEIVED

The program for the May meeting of the Six Church conference to be held Wednesday, May 8th, at the Hanover Congregational church, has been received here. Rev. Dwight C. Stone, minister of the Hanover church, will be the moderator of the sessions. The music will be led by the Lotus Male Quartette of Boston. Miss Jennie G. Gallup is the organist. The order of exercises will be:

Morning session at 11 (d. s. t.) Organ prelude, Miss Gallup; invocation, Rev. Harold Arnold, Griswold; Lord's Prayer, Quartet; responsive reading No. 65, Rev. Giles F. Goodenough, Jewett City; hymn—"Praise to God, Immortal Praise", No. 101; scripture lesson, Rev. William J. Reynolds, Lisbon; anthem, Quartet; prayer, Rev. Wm. C. Prentiss, Plainfield; response, Quartet; offertory; Doxology; notices; hymn—"My Dear Redeemer, and My Lord", No. 145; sermon—"A Revaluation of Christ", Rev. Lyman G. Horton, D. D., pastor of Asbury M. E. church, Providence, R. I.; anthem, Quartet; hymn—"O Holy Saviour, Friend Unseen", No. 283; benediction.

Afternoon session at 2:30—Devotional service, led by Rev. George W. Clark, Preston City; minutes of the last meeting of the conference, Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, secretary; business; anthem, Quartet; address—"Indian Homes and Future Home Makers", Miss Clara G. Labaree; anthem, Quartet; questions from the audience; hymn—"Blest Be the Tie That Binds", No. 396; benediction.

A man crossing one of the lots on the eastern boundary of Tadpole pond Friday, noted within the space covered by a square foot, blue violets, houstonia and cinquefoil, all in full bloom.

Arthur St. John was exhibiting a trout which he caught Thursday, 22 inches in length.

Workmen are putting in place the big platform at St. Mary's school in readiness for the Sunday ceremonies when Bishop Nilan will bless the new school.

Miss Delphine Beauregard has purchased a building lot from Mrs. Mary E. Kinney on the Plainfield road, and plans to build soon.

Triple Electrical Storm

Beginning with a brisk thunder shower just before 10 o'clock Thursday evening, a southwest storm of marked intensity kept going until daylight Friday.

There were three distinct electrical disturbances during the night, with a high wind and an inch of rain.

Trout fishermen who tried the lower waters of Green Brook Friday, had to quit on account of too much flooding of the ordering meadow land.

Friday evening the mercury dropped to 46. Furnace fires all about the borough were relighted.

Mrs. F. E. Robinson entertained the Harmony club Friday afternoon.

Special turkey dinner $1, every Sunday, Jewett City hotel.—Adv.

An Interesting Chapter

In one of the chapters of Daniel L. Phillips' History of Griswold, just off the press, its many readers are not only interested and entertained by the remarkable tale about Daniel Heffin. Some have wondered if the Heffin told about in the history could possibly be a relative of the southern senator of that name. If one will turn to page 160 in the history, and read the tale, a possible analogy may be discovered. Mr. Phillips prefaces the story with these words:

"The fairy tales of good hunting told by some of a former generation, were doubtless based on this abundance of game and a nucleus of truth." Earlier in the chapter, facts concerning the abundance of fish and small game have been told.

GURLEYVILLE

Edward A. Walker has returned home after spending a few weeks with relatives in Syracuse and Mexico, N. Y.

George Taylor and family of South Coventry called on Arthur Wood and family the first of the week.

Mrs. Samuel Morse and daughter, Wilma, visited friends in Mansfield City Monday.

Rev. E. D. Pase of New London supplied the pulpit here Sunday preaching an excellent sermon. Next Sunday it is expected the newly appointed pastor, Rev. Robert Clark will commence his labors here. Sunday school and preaching at the usual time 2 o'clock. (daylight time).

Although the schools are having a vacation this week, Gurleyville school is in session making up lost time.

A STATE FAIR.

We are not surprised that astonishment and regret are being expressed about the state over the fact that there are to be no more state fairs at the Charter Oak park at Hartford. Yet the directors of that fair are fully conversant with conditions which surround it and they have not rushed into their decision without a careful study of patronage in recent years and the prospects for the future.

In deploring the closing of the Charter Oak park the feeling seems to be more against the abandonment of a state fair than the decision to sell that particular fair ground. There are those who think a state fair should be maintained and they urge the Connecticut chamber of commerce or some other organization to see that it is not allowed to lapse.

In this connection the Waterbury American makes the suggestion that the state fair might be continued at Danbury. It refers to the fact that the Danbury fair "is and has been for many years more widely renowned and more popular than the annual exhibit at Charter Oak park ever was." Through the Connecticut Agricultural society and the state chamber it believes that the Danbury fair could be elevated to the status of the state's official fair. The Ansonia Sentinel reminds us that there was a time when the state fair was held at Meriden.

Fairs are not what they used to be. Perhaps they will never be again and yet if a state fair is to be maintained isn't there a possibility that it could be made to reach all sections of the state on a circuit. If such is attempted it will have to be undertaken before fair grounds which are available are devoted to other purposes. It is a time of easy and quick transportation but a state fair that would revolve about the state from year to year might get a sustained interest which would not be possible in one locality where the edge wears off because of the difficulty of holding interest and attention from year to year. The prospects cannot be said to be alluring for it is believed that a state fair like a county fair has seen its best days.

THE RIGHT ANSWER.

When the state senate turned down the proposition that there be an abandonment of the pay-as-you-go plan in the meeting of state expenditures and a return be made to the issuance of bonds it did a good job. It acted in accord with what is believed to be the sentiment of the state and so declared at the recent and previous elections.

When Senator Parsons recalled the effect of the bonding policy that was put into operation under the last democratic administration he brought up ancient history but it was an effective illustration of what not to do. Bond issues simply mean that additional expense must be borne by the state, and give encouragement to a lot of outlays which can be delayed without detriment. It is an easy way of promoting expansions which are not actually needed.

Connecticut has given a test to the pay-as-you-go policy which is convincing. It is able to take care of its needs and to do so without overburdening the taxpayers or putting a burden on the future. The people of the state have had a chance to see how the respective measures operate and there is no wonder that the democratic front was broken when it came to standing by present methods or returning to the practice of issuing bonds. Norwich and this district appreciate the good judgment that was displayed by Senator Lillibridge in voting upon this question when he placed the interests of the state above an issue of his party.

It is an easy matter to get far into debt by adopting a plan which will pile up the expense over a long term of years but it is a different proposition when it comes to removing that debt along with the additional bill of expense for interest, and especially when no provision is made for the amortization of such indebtedness as is too often the case. The senate gave the right answer.

THE SMOKE SCREEN MENACE.

Because of the manner in which gangsters have employed machine guns for the purpose of carrying on their work and killing rivals, it has been found necessary in certain states to adopt legislation restricting the sale of such weapons and prohibiting their use. They were never intended for use other than in case of war or in the maintenance of peace. Used as they have been in some of the large cities they are a great public menace and action taken to stop their use is justified.

It would seem as if the time had come for the adoption of similar measures against the use of smoke screens in the public highway. Here again we find a war machine employed to give protection to those who are engaged in unlawful pursuits. The purpose is to so handicap the authorities that they cannot properly carry out their duty, and yet there is no end to the seriousness of the situation that is created when lawbreakers so fill the highways with smoke that other highway users are confused and endangered.

In the District of Columbia and vicinity this practice has come in for much attention. Automobiles are equipped to befog the road and no matter how many others than those engaged in the pursuit may be concerned, or whether any official is involved, the traffic is liable to pile up in all kinds of wrecks. In one instance a man on a pleasure trip with his family was mistaken by a bootlegger for a police car, the smoke screen was employed, the innocent driver lost control of his car and a smash followed. Such is liable to happen to anyone who happens to be so unfortunate as to be in the vicinity of a bootlegger, or a criminal, whose car is equipped with a smoke screen outfit.

The need of legislating against such outfits as was done in the case of machine guns is perfectly apparent. It is needed where such methods are now employed but it is likewise needed elsewhere in anticipation of such a device being put into general use. The dangers of our highways are already serious enough without having the traveling public subjected to such an additional menace. A car equipped with such a device should be sufficient evidence of the owner's or operator's intent.

WHEN ALL DO NOT AGREE.

What results, or is likely to result when some but not all of the nations agree to a course of action is illustrated by the manner in which the agreement placing an embargo on armament shipments to China has worked out.

For ten years there has been what has been termed an international agreement that such shipments would not be made to that country. It was adopted in the belief that it would help to prevent wars in that country and reduce the amount of bloodshed. It was a desirable object and it would have worked out better than it did if all the large nations had been a party to the agreement. They were not. Germany and Russia did not sign it and after a decade's trial the results not being what was expected the agreement has been called off.

The folly of having part of the countries refuse to send armaments to China while the others are doing that very thing is apparent. It simply gives those who did not participate in the agreement a monopoly on such business. They get what might otherwise be distributed among all of them. It is not because of the loss of such business, as the most of the nations jointly shut off, but because others have insisted upon doing what they were trying to prevent that the agreement has been terminated. The whole affair failed to accomplish what was intended and while China may not have been loaded up with all the arms that might be collected indiscriminately throughout the world it got plenty.

The United States has taken the position that arms should be sent only to established governments and if it continues that practice regardless of the end of the agreement it will be living up to its policies. With no agreement the respective countries may do as they please, but that doesn't necessarily mean that China is going to be kept in a constant state of upheaval because of the willingness of other countries to sell and send to all trouble makers there all the firearms that can be gathered together at bargain prices. There is no evidence that the ending of the agreement will greatly change the situation that has prevailed.

STOPPING THE WASTE.

We as a people are looked upon as extravagant and wasteful. In various ways it is possible to point to the huge wastes that take place every year, wastes that pile up the expense and wastes that in some instances prove a heavy tax on natural resources. We are reminded of this frequently from the money that is made through reclamation efforts, the wealth that is piled up by the junkman and the savings that are effected through the prevention of waste or the utilization of materials that have long been regarded as useless.

But waste prevails everywhere, it is more or less general though it may depend upon conditions as to its extent. From Moscow comes the interesting statement that through the work of junkmen going over the dumps of that city sufficient material was obtained and sold to the government junk and rag yards to recover $5,000,000 worth of material which was shipped to this country, Germany and England. There seems nothing fanciful about the claim that two or three times as much is obtainable under proper organization.

The work of reclamation has grown extensively in recent years. There is no greater exponent of waste prevention than Henry Ford who through his activities in various lines of production has proved to his own satisfaction that it pays. Prevention of waste is important but there can by no means be overlooked the economic value of utilizing much of the material which is daily thrown away.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Why is it that everybody, good, bad and indifferent, likes a good detective story? Of course it must be well told and keep one guessing from beginning to end. It must be a real thriller without being overdrawn. It may enter the realm of the uncanny; it may bring us into the world of the weird to the point of making us shiver and still holding our attention. Of course we make up our minds that it is highly improbable but we can stand that if it produces a pleasant mental excitement and makes us wonder how it is coming out. If the author, however, makes the mistake of bringing in the impossible element we are inclined to throw down the book with disgust, because it makes us feel that the author looks upon his readers at immature children or plumb idiots. But he can set before us the strangest of scenes that will make us sit up and take notice if the impression is made that it all could have happened, and perhaps has happened.

Dr. A. Conan Doyle was a prince at this species of writing. We are interested in any author who can tie a hard knot skillfully. Then play with us for a while in showing that the knot is so hard that it is humanly impossible to untie it. Now while we are holding our breath, wondering what the next "turn of the wrist" is going to be, he smilingly and with the utmost deliberation sets to work with scientific instruments to untie, easily and naturally, the tangle he has set before us. He holds our attention almost breathlessly from the first sentence to the very last when all the threads that entered into the tangle are placed before us in straight, parallel lines. It is simply a matter of untieing what has been tied up. Of course to do what seems so simple takes a consummate master to do.

There seems to be a very general indorsement of the views expressed by President Hoover in his recent New York address on law enforcement. It rather touched the pride of the nation to be told that we were the greatest law-breaking people of all the so-called civilized nations of the earth. And none of the leading periodicals—as far as I have observed—have criticised the charge adversely. One wonders if the reckless use of firearms has not something to do with it. Temperamentally we are no worse than any of the other civilized countries, but for some reason—not as yet fully explained—the ratio of homicides to the number of people is far and away the greatest. Is it beyond the power of our laws to greatly restrict the use of firearms? There is no reason whatever why every thug in the country finds it easy to get firearms.

The intelligent part of the United States is becoming very much concerned over the rapid increase of slayings on the part of prohibition enforcement officials. As a matter of fact, the people are justified in insisting that the laws—that is, all laws, prohibition or otherwise—shall be obeyed. At the same time they have a right to inquire if there is an adequate justification, especially on the part of prohibition officials, when armed with a search warrant, to make such a ready use of their revolvers as they are so alarmingly doing at the present time. If this alarm should be found to have some justification, it will do more than any other single agency to give an increased activity to the anti-prohibition forces. As a free people we have always believed in fair play, for that reason all these complaints about unnecessary use of firearms ought to be most rigidly investigated.

As a people we are morally bound to make a careful, scientific research into the causes of the present tendencies to crime. It is a duty we owe to ourselves and to all other civilized peoples. And we should do it fearlessly and with an eye single to causes that can be, and, for that reason, ought to be, eliminated. We should carefully determine whether or not crime per thousand inhabitants is greater today than years ago when we were a more homogeneous people. If we find that this is pronounced then it will be easier to apply the remedy. We have a right to inquire if nationality is a factor in the problem, and, if so, then take stringent measures to remove the cause. We are very apt to jump to conclusions that may appear in print that have no basis in fact. It is only rigid inquiry into the facts that will give us a fair basis for inquiry.

In view of the many things that are said about the degeneration of the lads of today, it may be well to listen to what an expert has to say. The following is taken from the April number of The Review of Reviews, by the president of a large boys' club: "A normal boy is never a bad boy. He is only a good boy doing the wrong thing. Give him a simple club for the activities of his leisure hours—between school time and bed time—and he is taken off the streets, away from the dangers of association with morons and criminals. Through supervised games he learns to play fair; and the boy who learns to play fair develops an alertness, honesty and truthfulness that makes a man of him. That is the net of it." It is very easy to draw conclusions from inadequate data. If a few boys in a given district are terrors, it is very easy for the unthinking mind to say that all boys are headed for destruction.

Probably the vast majority of our people do not believe that disturbances in the natural world are the expression of the divine wrath. The Almighty never acts like a weak man who is never able to control his temper. He certainly does not take his cue from Zeus or any member of the Greek fraternity of gods. Whatever may be the explanation of the disorders of the natural world, no intelligent person today attempts to link them with the anger of a Being whose chief characteristic is love. Notwithstanding we wonder why the elemental forces are allowed to burst through the arms of law and commit such disasters. Possibly they are not transgressing the limits of law but are working in a dominion which the human mind has not yet explored. Considering what man has already discovered, we may reasonably expect that many of these perplexing problems will yet yield to human research.

The rank and file of our people living in the central and mid-western portions of our great continent just at present are not very much impressed with the mildness and gentleness that are generally associated with the coming of the May season. Judging from the long past we have some reason for associating this season with singing birds, gentle breezes and mild temperature. In Missouri and adjoining states with tornadoes of almost unprecedented fury; in cities partly buried under a raging Mississippi, and in mountain states like Idaho and Montana buried under awful avalanches of snow of such severity as to utterly disrupt traffic for days at a time, they are not very much impressed with the lambkin qualities of spring. All this is another line of tangible evidence that our country along territorial phases is vast. It also makes us think that all told New England is not the worst place to live in.

Henceforth there will be no skating in the Fairfield, Tex., courthouse. The county commissioners ordered a ban on the use of the courthouse halls for roller skating rinks by the children of the town, and the sheriff was ordered to guard the floors.

REMINISCENSUS OF THE "GOOD OLD DAYS" OF NEW ENGLAND.

As I think back to old-fashioned New England customs and habits, nothing impresses me more than the constant presence of Fear. Homes were happy enough; there was the constant succession of the seasons, that vast pageant of winter, spring, summer and autumn with again the first, few flakes of November snow; the well-stored cellar; the round-hog on the hook, with his white, fatty side bulging out over his pink shaven sides, and the Thanksgiving following the corn-huskings, writes A. G. Staples of the Lewiston Journal.

But there was worry—every present fear of omen and of prediction, that seemed to rest like a cloud over all too many homes.

We idealize the old fashioned lavender and lace of stately dames who walked up hollyhock bordered country gardens when the winds rioted their dignity and added the rustle of the blossoms to the rustle of silks and satins. But those were few. The average home was hard-pressed. The egg-money eked out the store of provisions in the cellar with the few things needed at the village store. The mother knit; the father carpentered, the boys studied and worked and all was serene enough; but there was hail and storm; and frost; and bitter omen.

Signs.

This was perhaps a reaction from Puritan counsels. Perhaps it was also a fruitage of the Ben Franklin teachings of thrift that old McGuffey's readers always published. Perhaps it was gained from the tale of the squirrel that stored his edibles and the butterfly that wandered in the sunlight and died with the first touch of the cold.

A cuckoo sat on the house-top—it was a bad sign. The soot burned in the chimney, it was a sign. The poplar leaves turned up their white and furry under-leaves and it was a wailing of the household predicting storms. The wind moaned in the chimney. It was a sign of illness. The crows were noisy; it was a sign of cold winter.

I shot a cuckoo out of an apple tree, once. My weapon was a common boy's catapult, made of a crotched stick with heavy elastic on it and carrying a number three shot. The leaden missile struck the poor bird in the eye and he fell "flop" at my feet. Alarmed, astonished I ran for the house crying "I have killed a cuckoo. What kind of a bad sign is it?" Alas too true. It WAS a bad sign. I have no record of how it operated, except for the poor little bird, who was pinked in the eye. A thousand times had I shot at birds—this was the only one I ever killed. It was a bad sign. Grandmother fussed a good deal over it. The butter did not come; the best cow went dry, we had a heavy thunder shower—all because of my innocent accidental shooting of the cuckoo out of the apple tree.

Complexes of Fear.

Fear of thunder-storms—that was a cloud over our home.

What needless worry; what complexes of fear; what sad psychological reactions came out of that strange dread, we had.

I recall sitting in darkness, of a terrible evening when I was about twelve years old. The west was inky. The lightnings streaked the stretch of highway leading "up street." The thunders rolled. A group of about seven women and I, sat in a room with low windows and wide exposure. Every window was closed. At each flash of lightning and each bellow of thunder someone shrieked. One woman fainted. Neighbors had come in to be with us for protection and company and each of them added to the confusion and the fear.

In the calmer periods they told awful things about tempests and thunderbolts. There was the day when Job Gray's barn was burned by a lightning bolt. That was a tempest. Water stood two feet deep in the barnyard when grandmother led out the cattle. Bolts of lightning came down in the vicinity and "cr-r-inkled." During that evening a house in town was struck and the bolt and flash were so quickly synchronized that modern talkies would give a good deal for the recipe. What a night. They all told about thunderstorms returning; or meeting, or lasting all night.

Nobody was hurt, but everyone was damaged — psychologically. Nobody was as good after that as he or she was before. I certainly was damaged. For years, I feared. For years I watched the skies for thunderstorms and asked every summer day if we were likely to have a shower.

Fear of the Poorhouse

Those old New Englanders feared the poorhouse. O! how they feared the poorhouse. When a child I heard so often about going to the poorhouse. It was always before our eyes. Any lack of saving, or any undue expense, was to "land us all in the poorhouse."

If mother bought a bonnet—we were all so much nearer the poorhouse. If it became essential for me to have some cotton flannel underclothes, all furry inside—for a time—we were one step nearer the poorhouse.

They feared mortgages. How they did fear the day when the heartless moneylender would fore close on a mortgage and put them off the place. I do not recall any such instance. But a mortgage was something to be feared, and stalked off. The man who had mortgaged his place was a marked man. He went around with bended head.

They feared the hereafter. Some Universalists who were not afraid of public reprobation on account of their folly, professed to believe that all people went to heaven, as to a sort of graded school—yet a heaven and that hell did not exist. But they did not seem to be especially cheerful about it. In my opinion, as a Universalist our folk leaned backward in morals lest some Methodist or Baptist might say that on account of their fearlessness as to a permanent and highly heated hell, they were "drifting toward Sodom." One walks straight when any shortcoming might be laid to a lack of grace.

They feared public comment exceedingly—far more than today, when people do not seem to care at all. A church-mauling was the last word in disgrace and other people's morals were particularly in the care of everybody else's opinion, especially the church-deacons. It was not uncommon for very excellent people to be misunderstood and for very mean and wicked people to be overesteemed because of their prayer-meeting protestations.

Today and Then

So—in many ways we are better off. And in some ways not so well off. The "speech of people" was a restraint and oft a galling one but the self-discipline was greater. Life was not happier than now. Nor as I have said was there a greater happiness.

If we err today in too great license we then erred in too great repression. We saw less of nature and we see too little of it now. We knew the outdoors but little and here and there the sole wanderer by the woods and streams with his hunting dogs and his fishing pole, was an idler. Today he is perchance a poet.

They saw too little of the beauty; we see too much of the pleasure. Inside the home, however, where man and wife toiled faithfully for the upbringing of the family in discipline and in love and fear of the Lord, life had its compensations in the old New England household—save only that dark cloud of worry and apprehension that delayed the coming of heaven on earth, and sought its fulfillment only in a happier hereafter, provided they did the will of the Lord.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Their Mother and My Mother

Mr. Editor: I have read the true to life stories by Dad Shaw and have often thought about him and waited with patience for him to tell something about himself. In his letter Just a Mother, he told of his many duties and as I read the way he spent his time I thought what a man! In one of his letters he spoke about the boys getting apples from some unknown place. I liked the fine way he told about it and his doing the same. In my case the other fellow had more than I could ever get. In his last letter he spoke about the corned beef and cabbage and hard cider how good it tasted.

I remember when Fletcher Boynton had a place on Franklin square, he sold a short steak about two inches thick with bread and coffee for 25 cents. I used to stop the pair of horses and put the feed bags on and they would eat their oats while I would tackle one of those steaks. It would cost you one dollar to get the same today. Does Dad remember Jimmy Ellis? He used to serve roast pork or roast beef with potatoes and bread and I think coffee, for 10 cents. It was enough for me and I could eat those days. I like to think about it.

I wonder if Dad ever reads the Eastern Voluntown news. I look for it each week and I like to hear about Moses Mrs. Bitgood's rooster. In her last correspondence he went to the door and saluted. He is a fighter too. I read a letter in the Social Corner in the Norwich Bulletin signed Thirty Two: she said she was reading what Dad Shaw wrote and cried over it. I think it must have been the letter entitled, Just a Mother, but she said in her letter it is not such a bad world after all with such people in it and what a loved and worth while life his must be. I fully endorse his last remark about attention shown to your mother, for as he says when she is gone there is no come back and you have lost the most glorious gift, your mother.

Twenty-five years ago I used to sell farm produce from house to house. At one home over the Economy grocery store Franklin street, there lived a German couple. Every week I would call and they were good customers. Every time I went there the lady would give me a cup of coffee. Often I did not want it but her husband would say to take it. They were always together for they were old. One morning I went to the door and a young man answered the rap. I asked him if the lady wanted anything today and he said "Mother is dead," and asked me if I would like to see her. As I knelt beside the casket with her son I could see the mother's ways in him. I have often thought about them and there is an old saying like father like son, but in this case it was like mother like son. It is the same with a great many daughters, like mother like daughter.

I always loved my mother and after my day's work was done I would go to see her every night no matter what the weather, snow, rain or cold or how tired I was. I would have a talk with her and help her by splitting wood and what else I could do. When God saw fit to take her I was very sad and missed her. I used to visit her grave often. It was a long walk and made me too tired as the years went by. I visit the grave only once a year for I feel her near me all the time. If Dad Shaw reads this letter he will know that there are many that pay attention to their mothers.

ADMIRER OF DAD SHAW.

Sunday Morning Talk

How Christ Stills the Storms of Life

They that go down to the sea in ships; that do business in great waters; these see the works of the Lord and his wonder in the deep

For He commandeth and raiseth the stormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof. They mount up to heaven, they go down again to the depths, then their soul is melted because of trouble.

They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and are at their wit's end.

Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and He bringeth them out of their distress.

He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.

Then are they glad because they be quiet; so He bringeth them unt their desired haven.

Oh! that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men: Psalm 107:23-31.

Life's storms are as inevitable and as necessary as its sunshine. We may grumble at the sight of gathering clouds, but it would be worse for us if the spring and summer passed without a drop of rain. The March gales have a mission and so have the thunder bolt and the beating hail in the storm that shakes the deep-rooted oak, and in the calm that follows. Just because the clouds rather and we cannot see His face, we must not think He has left us to ourselves.

In the time of storm human hearts turn instinctively to God. Fair weather makes us self-confident. Just as long as the sun shines and the breezes in our favor, we have a satisfied consciousness that we are able to take care of our selves. But when the awful clouds gather, which at one time or another cast their deep shadow across every human life, how small our strength seems; what homeless, helpless, despairing creatures we are, except as we can put our trembling fingers into the grasp of the Almighty Hand, always held down to those in trouble.

Temptation sometimes comes upon us like a storm, overwhelming in its force. The soul staggers under the mighty blasts against which our strength is as nothing. We know there is a harbor, but how to reach it when the waves are running mountain high? This is a time when only One can save us. He who quieted the storms of Galilee with His "Peace be still." Not all temptations are of this kind. We need the development which comes from enduring and resisting.

No life is without its troubles. Fathers and mothers sometimes try to shield their boys and girls from everything that can hurt or grieve them. They build barriers between their dear ones and the world out side and they set as sentries to guard the approaches, love and wealth and foresight. Yet somehow sorrow slips past, and trouble comes into these guarded lives and works its havoc.

Only Christ can still these storms, which at some time breaks over each soul; can quiet that agony of despairing grief for a sorrow beyond remedy. Pity those who face loss of health or the disloyalty of friends or see the hands of Death's messenger laid on some dead one without the consciousness that Christ is near, able and ready to help.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3 — The drastic nature of the Jones law, designed to increase prohibition violation penalties, has had a number of unexpected reactions in Washington.

It seems, for instance, to have made it more difficult for so-called "wet-drinking-dry-voting" legislators to find enjoyable thirst quenchers in diplomatic quarters.

Gossip has it that at luncheons and dinners under embassy or legation auspices there is a tendency not to embarrass dry voting senators or house members who happen to be among the guests by even offering them alcoholic stimulants.

It is only natural that some observers should see in this custom, if it can be called that, an ironical desire by diplomatic hosts to impose penalties of their own on personally wet but politically dry legislators.

What is far more likely to explain greater safeguarding of the use of diplomatic liquors is fear that servants who are Americans or subject to American law might get into difficulties under the rigid application of the Jones act.

That would be mighty embarrassing to the diplomats themselves, and they seem to have taken warning from the rather fruitless raid on the Siamese legation liquor truck.

Very Dry Functions

At least, the Bystander understands that there has been much conversation among diplomats of the desirability of keeping drinks off the table at embassy and legation functions where American officials are present.

The dinner given by Ambassador Davila of Chile and around which turned much of the story of the social precedence to be given Mrs. Gann as hostess for her brother, Vice President Curtis, was a case in point.

It was totally and completely dry and there are apt to be a lot of similarly arid diplomatic functions in Washington from now on.

Another strata in Washington life—unofficial this time—reported to have moved since the Jones law went through toward greater dryness, is the country club fraternity.

There are numerous such organizations in and near Washington and some of them, like the Congressional and the Army, Navy and Marine corps club still in the making, have a sort of semi-official status.

Within the last few weeks some of these clubs frequented by Washington golfers have posted notices that drink "set-ups" to service private locker liquor stocks no longer will be in order.

Motive Unknown

Whether club managements were moved by hints of impending police raids the Bystander does not know.

The Siamese legation incident and one or two other local happenings may have been taken as signs of the times.

In talking with members of some of these clubs, however, the Bystander learns that they feel that an actual movement for better observance of the dry laws in Washington social circles has something to do with it.

The five-ton griffins that watched over the old Chicago board of trade have lost their jobs. There is no place for griffins at the new building.

Never Lie Down When Sitting Up.

By John Harvey Kellogg, M. D., Battle Creek, Mich. Prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute.

Parents and teachers should admonish the children under the care to "sit tall," to reach their heads up as high as possible; also, they should take the advice to themselves.

In sitting, the seat should be of the proper height, so that the feet may be placed squarely upon the floor and supported without undue pressure upon the upper side of the leg. When the legs hang over the edge of the chair, the blood circulation is interfered with, the nerves are pressed upon and the limbs become numb and cold or "go to sleep." To avoid this discomfort, the occupant of a seat that is too high slips forward and reclines in his seat. This is an exceedingly bad position, resulting in relaxation of all the muscles of the trunk and extreme flattening of the chest.

It is well to bear in mind that one should never lie down when sitting up but should remain in an erect position. The chest should be well raised forward, and the abdominal muscles well drawn in. To do this will require attention and effort at first. One must, every few minutes, correct one's position. After a while the habit of correct sitting will be acquired, and great advantages healthwise will thereby be gained.

One of the obstacles to assuming and maintaining a correct position in sitting is a weak, over-stretched condition of the muscles of the back. Correct sitting is a splendid exercise for these muscles, and other general exercises will greatly aid in developing them. It is worse than useless to say to a round-shouldered person, "Put your shoulders back." The proper thing to say to him is "Put your chest forward." His shoulders will then naturally fall back in his effort to balance his body. The shoulders may be put back without in the slightest degree correcting the deformity.

Position, or posture, is a matter of the highest importance, especially to invalids. In sitting, care should be taken to select a seat with a back of such form that it will maintain the natural curves of the trunk when the muscles are relaxed.

Most chairs require the use of a cushion at the hollow of the back to accomplish this. Even when in bed, the average person may with great profit make use of sand bags or cushions as a support for the back when lying in a dorsal position.

HARTFORD PAPER PAYS TRIBUTE TO H. H. GALLUP

Henry H. Gallup, a former state treasurer of Connecticut, has passed away in Norwich at the age of 82. Mr. Gallup held the treasurership in 1901-3, when former Senator George P. McLean was governor, Norwalk's Edwin O. Keeler was lieutenant-governor, and Charles G. R. Vinal, of Middletown, secretary. This fine-mannered and impressively-appearing gentleman had great prestige in his home city for a long lifetime. He had come there from the ancient Gallup family seats in Ledyard and Preston as a boy with only a common-school education; began his business career as a clerk, and forged ahead until he had established and became president of the Norwich Belt Manufacturing company, was a director in banks and firearms companies, a street railway and other local enterprises; was a pillar of his church, his fraternities and his political party, commanding much influence and a respect which was state-wide. His last years were afflicted by poor health. He is remembered with esteem by many.—Hartford Times.

HUSBAND FINDS WIFE AT CHATEAU WITH PARAMOUR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 3—Mrs. Lena Carrollo, 33, of 10 Hobron street, wife of Joseph Carrollo, of 457 Bank street, and Charles Waterhouse, 34, of 62 Jay street, employed as a marine engineer, were in the city court this morning on a charge of adultery. The case was continued to tomorrow. Carrollo and his wife have been estranged a long time and last night he obtained information that his wife was with Waterhouse at the "Chateau," a rooming house at 96 Green street. Carrollo made complaint at police headquarters and Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray went to the house where Waterhouse and the woman were found occupying the same room.

MAYOR ROBBINS TO BE N. Y. NORWICH CLUB GUEST

Mayor Lee Roy Robbins is to be one of the guests of honor when the Norwich society of New York holds its annual spring dinner on the evening of Monday, May 20, at the new $6,000,000, club house of the New York Athletic club, Seventh avenue and 59th street. Another guest at the dinner is expected to be Vishnu Nimbkar a high caste Hindu who received his American education at New York university. He was an associate of Indian princes in his boyhood and also has been associated with Mahatma Gandhi, the native Indian leader who has made such a profound impression on the world.

Mayor Robbins will be expected to tell the club members in New York something of the Norwich of today and other prominent Norwich men are on the invitation list.

The club obtains the use of the magnificent new club house through Howard C. Russ, who is a member of the New York Athletic club. The building is one of the finest in the country and has been in use only since the first of the year when it was formally opened.

WILL INVVESTIGATE CONDITIONS AT MASON MONUMENT

The Mason Monument association at a meeting Friday afternoon at the court house, elected Mayor Lee Roy Robbins president of the association for the ensuing year. One purpose of the meeting was to discuss conditions relative to the monument, erected at Norwich Town, in memory of Major John Mason. A special committee, Henry H. Pettis, Selectman William S. Muray and Arthur L. Peale was appointed to investigate the condition of the monument. The directors of the association are E. A. Tracy, G. S. Raymond, Arthur L. Peale, B. P. Bishop, Mrs. E. E. Rogers, Mrs. William H. Dawley and Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, Selectman W. S. Murray, Alderman Richard P. Gregson and Alderman Harold C. Dahl.

APPEALS FROM ASSESSMENT BY MONTVILLE OFFICIALS

Aggrieved by the board of relief for the town of Montville, which refused to reduce his assessment to what he claims is the true market value, James C. O'Connor of Groton has taken an appeal to the superior court, naming the town of Montville defendant, according to papers filed with Clerk John H. Walker.

O'Connor claims that he placed in the tax list in Montville certain mill machinery which he valued at $1,000. The board of assessors, it is claimed, assessed him for the machinery at $27,208. An appeal to the board of relief resulted in that body on Feb. 28, 1929, reducing the assessment to $16,320.80. O'Connor still maintains, according to his appeal, that the machinery is valued far above its true market value and asks for further relief from the superior court.

COUNTY BAR APPROVES THREE STUDENT APPLICATIONS

Three applications to take examinations for admission to the bar of the state were approved when presented before the New London County Bar association at its meeting in the New London court house Friday morning.

In the absence of the president and secretary of the association, Clerk John H. Walker was elected to act as chairman pro tem and Attorney Henry L. McGuire to act as secretary.

The applications were from Moses Blumenthal of this city, New Jersey Law school, 1929; Robert P. Anderson of Groton and Harold E. O'Neill of New London, both Yale Law school, 1929.

LIGHTNING STRUCK HOUSE OF LISBON CONSTABLE

The residence occupied by Constable Aubrey L. Potter and family located on the Norwich-Jewett City river road in the town of Lisbon, was struck by lightning about 10 o'clock Thursday evening. The lightning did not enter the house, but merely hit and damaged the chimney and tore off a number of shingles from the roof. The house is situated near the J. B. Martin company mill.

GRAND LAKE BUILDINGS BURNED AT WILLIAMS PARK

(Special to The Bulletin)

COLCHESTER, May 3—Fire of undetermined origin burned to the ground two two-story building at the Grand Lake summer hotel property adjacent to Williams park, about five miles northeast of Colchester, about 5 o'clock Friday evening.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor who was driving by the property and who aroused the family to action. As the telephones in that section were out of order following Thursday night's storm there was considerable delay in getting help to the scene of the fire.

The Colchester fire chief, Gilbert J. Murray, with the fire engine and squad of firemen, was called. Upon their arrival the two-story twelve-room house, dining hall and an adjoining two-story building used for sleeping quarters were burned to the ground. However, by quickly laying a line of hose to the nearby park, they were enabled to save a large three-story building and a large dance hall, only a few yards distant.

The burned buildings were part of a group of four large up-to-date mansions erected only a few years ago at the summer hotel resort, catering to Jewish vacation people from New York city. The property was owned by Liebman and Salant. One of the burned buildings was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Liebman and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Liebman. The loss is estimated at about $20,000 and is partially covered by insurance.

The buildings contained a large amount of valuable furniture, practically all of which was destroyed. Colchester firemen deserve much credit for their work in saving the two adjoining buildings for if these had burned, the loss would have been tripled.

RAN OFF NEWENT ROAD IN HEAVY RAIN STORM

Evidently not acquainted with the sharp curve on the Taftville-Newent highway near the Blissville pond in the town of Lisbon a machine driven by a man, whose name could not be learned, went off the road Friday morning, and came to a stop in a meadow at the edge of the pond. Riding along in one of the heaviest downpours of rain, about 2 o'clock in the morning, the driver failed to make the curve, which is a right angle one, crashed through the state highway fence and continued for about 25 feet through the meadow. Unable to move the machine, the driver notified John B. Paradis' garage in Taftville of the accident and a wrecker was used to bring it back onto the highway. The driver, who was alone, was not hurt nor did the machine sustain a great amount of damage.

FAREWELL PARTY WITH PRESENTATION OF GIFT

Miss Esther Erickson was given a farewell surprise party at the home of Miss Marie Heibel of High street, Baltic, on Wednesday evening. Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, cake, fruit punch, ice cream and candy were served by Mrs. John Heibel assisted by Miss Marie Heibel and Miss Nellie Wilcox.

Musical entertainment and games were enjoyed, followed by a presentation speech by George Orme, who presented Miss Erickson a beautiful traveling bag. Miss Erickson, is about to leave Baltic to reside on Long Island.

Those present were, the Misses Mildred Massey, Lillian Almquist, Marion Chase, Edith Hinchliffe, Florence Barnes, Florence Firth, Doris Sargent, C. Imelda Charon, Annie and Nellie Wilcox, Esther Erickson, Marie Heibel, and Emile Gaigneault, of Willimantic, Walter Macht, Bernard Wilder, John and Carl Banker, Willie Wilcox, Herbert Richards, George Orme, Elwin Chase, Henry Fromel, and Fred Whitehead.

The party was arranged by Miss Mildred Massey and Miss Marie Heibel.

Farewell Surprise Party

A delightful farewell party was given Friday evening in honor of Miss Esther Erickson at the home of Miss Mildred Massey of Main street, Baltic, by the Eveready club of which Miss Erickson is a member.

A delightful luncheon was served by Mrs. Massey, assisted by Miss Massey and Miss Heibek Miss Bertha Froemel presented Miss Erickson a beautiful birthday book in behalf of the club.

Those present were the Misses Esther Erickson, Mildred Massey, Lillie Almquist, Beatrice Ashworth, Marion Chase, Bertha Froemel, Marie Heibel, Mrs. Massey and Charles Massey.

FIREMEN SEE DEMONSTRATION OF HAND EXTINGUISHER

A highly successful and interesting demonstration of the Fyre-Freez hand extinguisher given by F. M. Armstrong of Pawtucket, R. I., district representative of the Fyre-Freez corporation of New York amazed a large audience at the Central Fire station Friday afternoon. The demonstration was given through the courtesy of Joseph Kelly of the Combination Ladder company of Providence, dealers in equipment.

Among those who viewed the demonstration were His Honor, Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, Chief Howard L. Stanton of the fire department, Paul M. Zahn and Charles A. Hagberg, fire commissioners, Acting Chief Henry R. Taft, Acting Deputy Chief Dennis J. Brennan, Scout Executive Frederick J. Bielefield, First Selectman William S. Murray, members of the fire department and others.

One reel of moving pictures shown by Mr. Armstrong proved the effectiveness of the extinguisher on various types of fires, after which there followed a demonstration in the Central station yard, where gasoline, alcohol and lacquer fires were quickly smothered by the extinguisher, to the astonishment of those present. The extinguishing effect of Fyre-Freez is three-fold, it was explained, the blanketing effect of the carbonic gas, the intense chilling effect of the carbonic snow and, most important of all, the extinguishing of fires without spoilage.

Assisting Mr. Armstrong with the demonstration, which made a favorable impression upon the audience, were Lieut. Robert Woodmansee, Firemen John Moody, Adam Ensling, Charles Tetreault and Charles Culver.

DR. SOHN FINDS VIENNA SLOW IN READJUSTMENT

Dr. Boris J. Sohn of this city, who is spending some time in Vienna, has written The Bulletin from there, giving some of his impressions of the Austrian capital. He writes as follows:

Vienna, which, for years has been considered a world of gayiety and beauty, is, as in the past, still true to its name.

It is today, as ever, the goal of those who wish to come in contact with a giant of a two thousand year old civilization, to feel the rhythmic pulse of a great city and see the charm of an uncomparable beauty.

One can not, however, fail to notice the difference between this and other European cities, Berlin for instance, in the manner of recuperation from the disastrous blows of the great world war.

It is now over ten years since the World war came to an end and Vienna is still showing the stigma of that terrible nightmare. Austria, unlike Germany, is slower in readjusting itself to the pre-war conditions, lacking in a great measure that high spirit of enterprise and will-power, which is so characteristic of the latter.

One is, nevertheless, impressed by the beauty of the city, which has now become one of the picturesque points attracting visitors from all over the world, particularly, America—for study and observation.

As a medical center for post-graduate teaching purposes, Vienna is undoubtedly unparalleled. Here, with its numerous hospitals and clinics, one has the opportunity to come in contact with material which is unusually abundant as well as coming in touch with teachers of international fame.

In the field of the eye, ear, nose and throat, in which I am interested, the opportunity to do good work is unexcelled—as this specialty is undoubtedly the best organized one in Vienna for teaching purposes.

SIX NORWICH GIRLS IN POPULARITY CONTEST AT PROGRESS EXPOSITION

Six Norwich girls are entered in the popularity contest being held in connection with the Norwich Progress exposition which entered its second day riday. The entrants in the popularity contest are the Misses Alice Gallup, Susan McNeely, Marie Gerard, Katherine Daley, Mary Bundy and Nonie Nagle. At last reports Miss Gallup was leading the other entrants with a comfortable margin. The contest is being held by the Norwich chamber of commerce and the prize winner will be announced in Monday's Bulletin. Voting slips are distributed at the chamber of commerce headquarters in the hall, near the entrance. All patrons of the exposition are entitled to one vote.

Another large crowd thronged the exposition hall Friday evening, the estimated attendance being approximately 1,000. The feature event of the evening's entertainment program was the appearance of Lieut. William B. Tassilo of the Governor's Foot Guard band, with his combined Hartford orchestra and College Inn band. This is the first appearance of the College Inn band, prior to their opening night at College Inn, Mazo Point. The orchestra made a most favorable impression in the rendition of their attractive and varied program of popular and classical numbers. The exposition management are to be complimented on providing such a pleasing entertainment for the patrons.

Among the out of town visitors at the exposition Friday evening was Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the Willimantic chamber of commerce, formerly of the Norwich chamber of commerce, and Secretary Albert Smith of the Willimantic Y. M. C. A.

One of the features of the evening, Friday, was the style show which was staged by five attractive models under the personal direction of Miss Kinnan of The Reid & Hughes Co. The numerous beautiful gowns shown are provided by The Reid & Hughes Co. The style show will be repeated Saturday night.

The exposition will come to a close this (Saturday) evening with an unusual feature program. Miss Emily McKenzie, widely known guest soloist of the General Motors Oakland-Pontiac hour, soloist for six other commercial radio broadcasting programs and who played one of the leads last season in the musical comedy success, My Maryland, will entertain with a selected program of vocal solos. Miss McKenzie will be accompanied by D'Atri's popular band which will provide the concert for the evening.

Another big feautre number will be the appearance of Clarence B. Collins, the well known Radio Janitor, who will stage his famous Radio Janitor's sketch. The appearance of these artists should draw a capacity crowd for the final night of the three day exposition. President Joseph C. Worth of the chamber and General Chairman Charles A. Saxton of the exposition committee, expressed their appreciation of the splendid patronage, and of the success of the exposition, which is far ahead of the exposition held last year.

Probably the greatest strikeout artist Connecticut has ever known in its high school ranks faces one of the heaviest hitting teams in this state of ours and the state champions, when

AIME (BUCK) LACROIX
N. F. A. Centerfielder and Cleanup Hitter

Walter Linder, stalwart son of Deep River high, faces the bats of the Academy this afternoon at the campus. The game starts at 3 o'clock and a record-breaking crowd is in prospect.

Both Teams Undefeated

Both teams are undefeated to date and are leading contenders for the state title. The Academy is in the role of defender, for the banner has rested in Norwich for the last two years. Last year one of the Academy's biggest claims to the title was its victory over Linder and Deep River, scored in the opening tilt of the year, a ten-inning affair, 6 to 5. That was Deep River's only defeat and as they went on to win from some of the leaders of the state, including Warren Harding, it turned out that this loss robbed them of the state title. Therefore, they will be very anxious to avenge it today.

Has Remarkable Record

The Wildcats are ready for Mr. Linder, who goes with the New Haven Eastern league club in June after his graduation. Linder comes here with the remarkable record of 55 strikeouts in his last three games, which were victories over Bulkeley of New London, ancient rival of the Academy, New Haven Commercial high and Branford high. Either Red Fagan or Louie Green will be pitted against Linder this afternoon. Coach Earle E. Brigham of the state champs was not ready to divulge his starting lineup after practice Friday, leaving three positions undecided, pitcher, second base and right field.

The Academy found Linder for 13 hits but he fanned 14 and was especially strong in the pinches. He had pitched two days before that game but today will have had four days' rest, his last pitching having been done against Branford high Tuesday, when he struck out 22 men, pitching 8 1-3 innings. Fagan or Green, likewise, have not pitched in the last few days and will have the advantage of being rested, Fagan having pitched last Saturday and Green a week ago Wednesday.

Field Should Be in Top Shape

It should be a great spectacle today, a pitcher of Linder's ability facing the bats of the slugging Wildcat outfit. The field was drying rapidly with the heavy wind late Friday and should be in perfect shape.

A. A. U. WILLING TO TAKE HOWARD CASE TO COURT

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—If Elmer "Buddy" Howard, deposed national amateur heavyweight boxing champion, wants to take his grievance against the Amateur Athletic union into court, the A. A. U. will be glad to accommodate him, Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer, said today.

Ferris said the organization was prepared to show that Howard obtained a registration card in Philadelphia by making untrue statements as to his residence after he had been denied a card by the Connecticut association because of participation in professional bouts in and around New Haven.

Ferris was surprised to learn that Howard, who boxed last night as an amateur, has a manager, Roy McLean.

"I didn't know amateurs had managers," he remarked. "This threat of legal action sounds a little like a bid for publicity."

Essare Shows Speed

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Essare, a promising three-year-old colt from the Jacques stable, placed himself in the select group of Kentucky Derby contenders today, as he defeated Royal Stranger and two other starters to win the Flatbush handicap at Jamaica.

PLAINFIELD HIGH TO PLAY ALUMNI TEAM TODAY

This (Saturday) afternoon at the Carpet grounds, Moosup, Plainfield High will tackle the strong P. H. S. Alumni team. This game is expected to be one of the hardest on the schoolboys' schedule, as the Alumni have an exceptionally strong team this year.

"Red" Allard, who played with Meriden last year; Brown, who played with Bristol; "Pop" French and "Lefty" Whitford, of last year's Bryant and Stratton team; Belknap and Gallup, of the Sterling team; "Joe" and "Bill" Eaton, who have played with several local amateur teams, and Stevens, of the Moosup team, will be seen in the lineup. Most of these players are now playing with Sterling team and have shown up well so far this season.

As the baseball team includes all of the Alumni basketball team, which was defeated twice the past season by the schoolboys by narrow margins, the Alumni boys are out after blood and intend to get revenge on the baseball diamond.

"Lefty" Whitford is expected to be on the mound for the Alumni and should be able to stop the schoolboys. On the reserve list will be Belknap, "Bill" Williams, "Long Bill" Baker and Brown, pitchers; Burton, infielder, and S. Williams, West and Gauthier, outfielders. The Alumni has a bunch of sluggers and from the lead-off man straight down through the batting order, any man is liable to break up a ball game at any moment and therefore should give the high school boys a busy afternoon.

Coach Dystart's choice for mound duty will be either Derda or Babcock, a promising freshman. After defeating Killingly High last week, the schoolboys are eager to remain in the victory column and will be fighting their hardest to win.

The game will start at 2:30 p. m. The probable batting order:

Alumni: Stevens, 3b; Brown, 2b; W. Eaton, cf; French, ss; Allard, c; J. Eaton, lf; Gallup, 1b; Belknap, rf; Whitford, p.

Plainfield H. S.: Shippee, c; Bakanowsky, 3b; Burby, 2b; Derda or Babcock, p; Poliwaczik, ss; Koss, 1b; Burdick, lf; Poquist, rf; E. Babcock, cf.

UMEK LEADS BUNION BOYS IN CHELSEA, OKLA.

CHELSEA, Okla., May 3—(AP)—Giusto Umek, of Trieste, Italy, led C. C. Pyle's bunioneers into Chelsea today, running the 54.7 miles from Miami, Okla., in 7.03.45. Johnny Salo, Passaic, N. J., policeman was second in 7.41.10 and Pete Gavuzzi, of Southampton, England, leader in elapsed time, third in 7.47.05. Philip Granville, of Hamilton, Ont., was fourth in today and M. B. McNamara of Australia fifth.

By his victory, Umek advanced to third place in elapsed time. At the start of the lap he was six hours behind Ed Gardner, Seattle, Negro, who has been handicapped during the last week by trouble with his legs.

Gardner pulled a tendon today and had to travel 17 miles before he could get treatment. He had not checked in at the control point late tonight.

The pavement pounders travel 79 miles to Muskogee tomorrow.

Today's lap was the thirty-fourth, marking the completion of 1,500.7 miles.

The first five in elapsed time at the conclusion of today's run, exclusive of Gardner, are:

Pete Gavuzzi, England, 217.12.02.
John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 219.59.32.
Giusto Umek, Italy, 233.54.31.
Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C. 242.05.23.
Sam Richman, New York, 243.25.55.

PIRATES WIN EXHIBITION GAME FROM YANKEES

PITTSBURGH, May 3—(AP)—Early attacks against Gordon Rhodes at Forbes field today netted the Pirates an 8 to 2 victory over their ancient exhibition game rivals, the New York Yankees. Inclement weather reduced the attendance to about 2,000. After piling up a lead against Rhodes, the Pirates continued to batter Henry Johnson, who relieved him. Lee Meadows and Fred Russell held the Yankees at a safe distance. Ruth got one single and a pass out of five trips to the plate, but Gehrig had only a base on balls to show for his offensive efforts. The score:

New York (AL) .... 000 000 010—2
Pittsburgh (NL) ... 032 102 00x—8

Rhodes, Johnson and Dickey, Jorgens; Meadows, Russell and Linton.

Susie Says

Welcome, Mr. Linder.

All Norwich greets you, especially nine youngsters who make up the Academy baseball team—and how.

You come to Norwich with a grand and dazzling reputation, but, like the pitcher that went to the well too often, you may be the pitcher that goes to the mound once too many times.

Norwich has followed your record very closely during the past few weeks and up to now we have all been with you but from three o'clock this afternoon until dusk we are agin you.

If you beat us today we take off our hats to you and if you lose we will sympathize with you in the spoiling of a brilliant season's record. And we're going to spoil it if we can, you wouldn't have it otherwise.

Take a little tip from one who knows. Don't go near that third base bleacher gang, they're the champion goat-getters of the state. And what's more you won't know their getting your goat till it's gone.

They'll talk to you like a father but don't pay any attention to them, they don't mean it. Perhaps it might be well to tip you off to who they are so you'll be prepared.

There is Scud, Matt, Sidney, Charlie, Fred, Pop, Luke and several others, but those I've named are the ring-leaders, they're all good boys but they do love to see the home team win.

I'll be at the game and I'll wear a red hat so if you want any more dope try and find me. God luck and may we beat you.

Now, just a tip to you Academy lads Remember the old saying the bigger they are the harder they fall. Remember that even Dazzy Vance gets his bumps now and then. You hit this man Linder for 13 safe blows last year, double it today.

Keep the old head up and be in that ball game every minute. Don't try to knock the cover off the old apple but just bang it back at 'em and you'll get runs.

One swallow don't make a summer and neither does one Linder make a ball club. Go get 'em Academy, we're all with you.

SOUTHWORTH ENCOURAGED AT PROSPECTS OF CARDS

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Billy Southworth, "boy manager" of the St. Louis Cardinals, likes his job and believes he will grow even fonder of it before the baseball season closes.

"I am very much encouraged over our prospects," the 35 year old leader said today as he bought two large packages of chewing tobacco. As a result of the postponement of today's game he will not need them until tomorrow. He chews during the game but off the field is a total abstainer.

"Before the season started," Manager Southworth recalled, "the experts said we had a team that could make trouble if we got the pitching. Well we have the pitching and I think we will cause the other clubs plenty of trouble before we are through.

"Pete, (Alexander), Haines, Sherdel and Mitchell are in great shape. Johnson, Haid, Hallahan, Frankhouse, Doak and Bell can jump in any time.

"Old Bill Doak has a lot of good pitching left, he has had to be relieved a couple of times but at that in one of the games there was only one earned run made off him. Herman Bell is a much better pitcher than he was when he was with the Cards before and this left hander, Hallahan, is going to make a star.

"Alexander, of course, is just Alexander, there's nobody in baseball like him. He has won one and lost two. But we didn't hit for him in the games he lost. In one of them we didn't make a run which gave him no chance and in the other he was behind 3 to 2 when he wate taken out. Pete is as good as ever."

Manager Southworth was asked if he would play as well as manage when the weather warms up. "I'm not waiting for warm weather," he said. "I would have played today if there had been a game and the Giants had used a right hand pitcher. If a left hander had been in, Holm would have played in right field. Two of our outfielders are not in the best of shape, Orsatti hurt his arm and Roettger is still favoring the leg he broke last season.

"Our infield is fine, we have three good third basemen and all of them will get a chance. Fred Haney and Andy High have been playing and Eddie Delker, the boy we got from Topeka, will play, too. He was a sensation in the south. Selph, the infielder we got from Houston, has had an operation for removal of his tonsils and will have an operation on his nose too when his throat gets well."

Southworth is in his second season as a manager but his first as a major league pilot. His Rochester Red Wings won the International league championship last year.

"I don't say we will win the pendant," he went on, "but I think we are good enough to win. I have seen only the western clubs in our league and they looked good.

He was asked if there are any rules of behavior on the Cardinals.

"Rules? You bet."

"We have no regulations that will prove a hardship on the players but we have rules.

"We are all in at midnight. That gives time enough to go out to dinner or a show, or if one of the fellows wants to visit friends and can't get back by midnight, all he has to do is get permission. There is no trouble with our players.

"As for getting to work, they are all at the ball park before they are due."

"Yes, I think we'll do well."

The interview was terminated as the dapper, young manager went away to pack up his two packages of tobacco for use the first day there is no rain and cold.

And when a woman feels her superiority she never overlooks an opportunity to show it.

BOBBY MAYS-FRANKIE CURCIO BOUT AT NEW LONDON TUESDAY A SELLOUT

With tickets being reserved in batches of from two to twenty there is no doubt that the splendid card arranged by Matchmaker Fakourey for his opening show next Tuesday night at the Hamilton street arena will be a complete sellout. Sticking to his policy of last summer of using only fighters that fight, Matchmaker Fakourey has gotten together twelve boys that are well known for their fistic ability and paired them off in six bouts for a total of thirty-eight rounds.

Heading the card are two of the best lightweights in the country, Bobby Mays, Connecticut's lightweight champion and Frankie Curcio of Providence, holder of the lightweight championship of Rhode Island. These boys are booked for ten rounds but both boys have expressed a determination the bout will end as quickly as possible by the K. O. route. Curcio is favored by many of the boys who are classed as experts, owing to the fact that like Mays he is a fast and shifty boxer but is a much harder hitter than Mays, who as a rule, wins his bouts on decisions while Curcio has put more than half of his opponents to sleep with his right hand.

The semi-final of eight rounds will introduce a new face in Sonny Suggs of Newport, R. I., who will be opposed by Mickey Genaro of Waterbury. Suggs in his workouts with Babby Mays has been a revelation. Fast and aggressive, he carries a terrific punch in both hands and is a veritable black streak in action. In Genaro, Suggs will be meeting a boy who loves to get in a mixup and as Suggs' one idea is to punch until something goes, this bout should provide plenty of fire works.

Joe Russo, Westerly's fast rising welterweight, meets a tartar when he clashes with Vic Morley of Hartford. Morley is out to reverse a decision that Russo holds over him and is confident that this time he will put Russo away before the bell rings for the final round. Russo has nothing to say, being willing to let his actions that night speak for him, but his friends say that Morley will be lucky to last half of the distance. But whoever wins will know that he has been in a battle as both boys are tough two handed sluggers capable of giving and taking plenty of punishment.

Matchmaker Fakourey has arranged another slam-bang six rounder, bringing together two of the toughest featherweights in New England in Ralph "Kid" Wagner of New London and K. O. Brown of New Bedford. This will be Wagner's first bout since hanging up the gloves a year ago and the promoter has done him no favor in matching him with Brown who has fought and defeated some of the best boys around Providence, Boston, Fall River and New Bedford.

Opening the show in a four round bout will be two old rivals in Gene Pecheeni of Norwich and Joey Duggan of New London.

Another four brings together Johnny Bedell of New London and Young Tauff of the Coast Guard rounding out thirty-eight rounds of sure fire action.

UHLE PITCHES TIGERS TO WIN OVER WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, May 3—(AP)—George Uhle, veteran right hander who was shoved across the lake to Detroit last winter by the Indians, registered his fourth victory of the season here today, taming Lena Blackburne's White Sox by the score of 6 to 1. It was the first defeat for the Pale Hose in five games.

Uhle limited his opponents to five blows, and prevented the home forces from bunching so many as two of these in any round but the fifth. After that inning, the White Sox went hitless as Uhle ran his strikeout total to five.

Led by Gehringer who accounted for three runs with a homer and a triple, the Tigers pounded Alphonse Thomas for nine hits. Bill Cissell helped the Tigers along with three artistic misplays. Heinie Schuble, Detroit shortfielder, maintained a corner on Tiger errors with two. These bobbles, following Clancy's single in the first, gave the Sox their only run.

Dale Alexander's double and a single by Schuble got this one back for the Bengals in the second. Gehringer's triple and Hellmann's single sent home the ultimate winning marker in the sixth, but one more was added in the seventh and three more were sent home in the ninth just for good measure. PLAINFIELD AND BRADFORD PLAY FOR CUP SUNDAY

The final game for The Bulletin cup and also the final soccer game of the season will be played Sunday afternoon at J. B. Martin field, Taftville, starting at 3 o'clock when the Plainfield and Bradford teams get together. A fast tilt is expected for interest is running high in this clash, which will climax a successful season for soccer in eastern Connecticut.

Plainfield will use Holland, Beetham, Alexander, Lyons, Bodo, Hirsh, C. Hays, E. Hays, Mettem Lang and Baldwin and Bradford will have Spencer, Reay, W. Weall, Hatfield, Hopwood, C. Weall, Hinkle Yates, E Weall, Young, Willis and Kilduff.

LOUGHRAN MACHED WITH SCHAAF FOR MAY 24TH

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion from Philadelphia, will open his New England heavyweight campaign against Ernie Schaaf, Boston sailor in the Boston Madison Square Garden, May 24. Eddie Mack, matchmaker, of the Garden, completed negotiations for the match today.

Although Loughran expects to scale 185 pounds, he will concede Schaaf, a rugged promising youngster, almost ten pounds.

Schaaf is the strongest opponent Loughran yet has tackled in his campaign for heavyweight recognition.

JONES GIVES MELLO A THOROUGH LACING

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Gorilla Jones, thumping Akron Negro, gave Al Mello, Boston welterweight, a thorough beating tonight in the feature ten round bout at Madison Square Garden. Mello, who holds two overweight decisions over Champion Joe Dundee, was floored for counts of nine in both the third and seventh rounds.

Making his garden debut and heralded as the outstanding title challenger, Mello rarely was able to evade the Negro's heavy right hand. Jones won seven rounds, Mello two, with one even.

A right uppercut to the chin dazed the Boston southpaw in the second round and apparently spoiled his form for the evening. Mello went down for nine in the third, had a bad time in the seventh and eighth rounds, and was weak and dizzy at the close.

Mello sported occasionally rocking Jones once in the fourth, eighth and ninth rounds. He seemed to fight through a daze after the second round, however, and his rallies were short lived.

A crowd of 8,881 saw the match. Mello weighed 154, Jones 157 1-2.

TOURVILLE ELECTED CAPTAIN OF AGGIE FRESHMAN NINE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, May 3—At a meeting of the members of the freshman baseball team at the Connecticut Agricultural college, Kenneth H. Tourville, of Deep River was elected to lead the 1929 team on the diamond. The meeting was held after the frosh had won their first game against the Westminster nine in the first start of the season for the yearlings.

Tourville has aspired for three sports at the Aggies but has been handicapped with a bad knee which he injured last fall in football. He was regular backstopper for the Deep River high school last year, catching Linder all the season. He is a member of the Eta Lambda Sigma fraternity.

Aggies at Springfield Today

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, May 3—The Connecticut Aggie varsity baseball nine will play its second game away from home Saturday when it meets the heavy hitting Springfield team at Springfield. The Red and White have met some stiff opponents to date and have as their victims, Mass. Aggie and Vermont in games that were decidedly one-sided.

BOXING FANS PAY TRIBUTE TO DORGAN

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Boxing paid solemn tribute tonight to the late "Tad" Dorgan, nationally known boxing writer and cartoonist, who died yesterday. A crowd of 10,000 stood for several minutes in silent prayer while a spotlight in the balcony of hardened Madison Square garden played a beam of light on a wreath of flowers set up in a neutral corner of the ring.

While Joe Humphreys, veteran announcer, delivered a eulogy, a bugle played taps. The ceremony preceded the main bout between Al Mello and Gorilla Jones.

If some people only knew how little they know they wouldn't talk so much.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Little but of the ordinary occurred in Norwich 50 years ago this week. It was an unusually quiet week locally. One of the outstanding social events of the week was a fair held at Breed hall by the women of Christ Episcopal church.

Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of 1879 are as follows:

Monday, April 28, 1879—The marriage of Miss Elizabeth McGinness, daughter of Mr. John McGinness of this city, to Mr. Hugh Ryan was celebrated at St. Mary's church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Mary A. Swan, a sister to Mr. Lucius Swan of this city, died very suddenly Friday at the residence of Mr. Samuel Burdick in North Stonington. She arose in her usual health in the morning, but about noon was taken with convulsions and died in a few hours. She was 53 years of age.

The Rev. Hugh Montgomery began his third year of service as pastor of the Central Methodist church yesterday. He preached two enthusiastic discourses and broadcast the labor he anticipates doing the coming year.

Tuesday, April 29, 1879—A cargo of cedar ties from Norfolk, Va., for the Norwich & Worcester Railroad Co. reached this port yesterday. They are more durable than the chestnut ties, and their first cost about the same. The new enterprise will probably have the effect of reducing the price on the home-made article on the lines of our New England roads.

Wanted—A large number of young men to stand around church doors Sunday evenings and remark upon the dress and appearance of the ladies as they pass out; also 600 to decorate the street corners and compete in the art of expectorating tobacco juice on the pavement and blowing rings of smoke across the walk while ladies are passing. A brigade for the above service is wanted at once.

The entertainment to be given tonight and tomorrow evening by the ladies of Christ church should be well patronized.

The party who left a $2.50 gold piece in place of one cent at Hislop, Porteous & Mitchell's Saturday evening can have it returned by calling at their store.

Wednesday, April 30, 1879—Seed oysters have been selling as low as seven cents a bushel south, and oyster dealers would probably bed them in the Thames were it not for the sewerage from the city and manufactories north which affect the water and make the business unprofitable. The coal tar from the gas works is found on the bottom of the Thames as far south as Allyn's Point.

John W. Edmonds, electro-metallist, of Greeneville, died suddenly Tuesday morning. He did not feel sufficiently indisposed to call a physician until Monday and died in his chair early the next morning. He leaves a wife and two children.

The fire alarm telegraph has a circuit of 18 miles of wire and strikes nine gongs. The Hill battery, by which it is worked, has 50 cells and is kept in splendid working condition by the superintendent.

It is quite probable that the steamer G. R. Kelsey will not ply the Thames the coming season. She is advertised as subject to charter for a part or all of the coming season.

The steamer Ella arrived at her wharf yesterday. There is a prospect of her running between this place and Long Island during the strawberry season.

Thursday, May 1, 1879—Mr. A. P. Burbank read a large number of selections at the parlors of the Norwich Literary society last evening before a select audience. Mr. Burbank is a master elocutionist in the rendition of serio-comic selections and his efforts last evening won constant applause.

The fair held in Breed hall by the ladies of Christ church closed last night after two days of unprecedented success. The Delmonico lunch was liberally patronized and highly extolled for its excellence.

While Mrs. Anna Tyler, an aged lady, was riding out with her daughter, Mrs. Lucy A. Forbes, yesterday afternoon, near the residence of William Elting, Norwich Town, a runaway horse attached to a dump-cart overtook them and collided with their vehicle, throwing both ladies out. Mrs. Tyler was somewhat bruised and excited by the shock, but no bones were broken.

Friday, May 2, 1879—At a meeting of the Central M. E. church last evening the following gentlemen were elected as tithingmen for the ensuing year: James Allen, B. E. Wells, C. T. Popple, H. W. Leach, W. W. Ives and Moses Lewis.

We regret to learn that Mr. C. R. Burdick, route agent on the Norwich and Worcester road, was notified last week of another reduction in his salary. He is the hardest worked government official we know of.—Windham County Transcript.

The lawn mowers were doing duty on Broadway yesterday for the first time this season. The growth was already a little heavy for them.

Saturday, May 3, 1879—The recent reduction of wages in the postoffice department affected the whole force of the country. Postmaster Bidwell has been reduced one-third in his salary since the advent of the economical ideas, as well as his clerks.

WESTERLY

APPEAL FROM JUDGMENT IN ARCHITECT'S SUIT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., May 3—In the Third district court before Judge Oliver H. Williams Friday, while the court was waiting for witnesses in criminal cases, a civil case was heard, James Naccarata vs. Mary Uzzi. The suit was brought to collect for architect's fees and plans made for a house on Vincent Carr Hill, known as the Watts house. Plaintiff testified that the house was built in the fall of 1926, that his bill was $535 on which there had been paid $214, leaving a balance due, $321. Judgment was given for the defendant, with costs. Notice of an appeal was given.

Charles H. Wheeler, 28, of Hope Valley, Hopkinton, presented in court by Trooper Robert P. Butler, of the Hope Valley state police barracks, pleaded guilty to the operation of an automobile April 29 on Nooseneck Hill highway when the car was not equipped with at least two powerful brakes. He was fined $25 and costs.

Drove Illegally

Joseph Girard, having previously pleaded not guilty to driving an auto when his Rhode Island license had been suspended, was before the court on an arrest made by Trooper Butler, of the state police. Judge Williams found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

Money in Cellar Wall

Tracy Willard Kenyon, 26, employed in the washer room of the Henry D. Bailey mill, Hope Valley, was charged with the larceny of $153, the property of William Hopkins, of the same mill in Hope Valley, Feb. 22. As a result of investigation by state police, three $50 bills were found in the cellar wall of the house in which Kenyon resided, where he obtained them for the state police. He declared that he picked up the money on the floor of the mill room and did not feel sure as to whom it belonged. Inasmuch as the defendant had a family of three children, Judge Williams declared the case continued for sentence for 60 days and required Kenyon to enter into $500 recognizance.

It was late in the afternoon when trial was begun of the larceny case of State, Thomas E. Brown, complainant, vs. Anna Gabrielle, for larceny of $4 from the person of Mrs. Agnes Fraser, at a furniture auction.

ORDER OF RAINBOW—FIFTY GIRLS INITIATED

About 50 Westerly girls were initiated Friday evening in the Westerly Masonic hall by Providence assembly, No. 1, Order of Rainbow for Girls, the work being done by the assembly officers, headed by Mrs. Blanche Burlingame, mother advisor of Cranston, R. I., assembly. Mrs. Alta May Pierpont, of Providence, is engaged in the Rhode Island Grand chapter work of the Order of Eastern Star.

A second meeting is to be held several weeks later, when Westerly chapter, No. 7, will be formally instituted and installation of officers will take place in Masonic hall. Future meetings of the Westerly assembly will be held in Odd Fellows' hall.

The visitation of the Providence assembly was requested by Deborah chapter, No. 9, Order of Eastern Star, of Westerly, Mrs. Myrtle Campbell, worthy matron, and Andrew E. Ralston, worthy patron. The chapter advisory council for Westerly assembly includes Mrs. Maud Larkin, mother advisor; Mrs. Agnes M. Williams, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth D. Mayne, treasurer; Mrs. Susan R. Wells, William D. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, and ex-officio members, Mrs. Myrtle P. Campbell and Andrew E. Ralston and wife.

The Providence assembly officers came to Westerly by automobile and, upon their arrival about 6 p. m., 60 sat down for dinner at a U-shaped table in the armory banquet hall of Narragansett commandery, K. T., the advisory committee being in charge.

At 7:30 o'clock the Providence assembly officers exemplified the degree work, the officers being assisted by a brilliantly costumed choir of girl members of Providence assembly. The Masonic rooms were filled with members of the Eastern Star and the Masonic bodies of Westerly.

WEDDING

Hart-Brennan

On Thursday, Miss Honora Brennan, daughter of John and Catherine Connors Brennan, and David Ballantyne Hart, of Ashaway, were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. J. F. Vincent, S. M., pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Mr. and Mrs. Hart left for a short trip to New York. The bride is proprietress of a Westerly beauty shop and the groom of a men's clothing store, both located in the Washington Trust building. On their return they will reside in a newly-built house in Ashaway.

In the campaign to eliminate overtime parking, Westerly police officers have passed three very busy days this month. Attendance on Third district court Friday cut down somewhat the number of autos tagged for that day. Some 25 were tagged Thursday for violation of the parking rules, bringing the total up to 50 for the first two days in May.

Pawcatuck police are also engaged in enforcing similar restrictions, street poles displaying signs to indicate the restricted areas.

Fractured Leg at Quarry

Michael Matson, 59, a laborer at the Sullivan granite quarries, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg just above the ankle. Matson was working with a gang moving a two-ton granite block. As the block moved he stepped back; his heel caught in a crack and the granite block slid over on him, pinning his leg to the ground.

The Girls' Friendly "Blues" was greeted Thursday night by a large and appreciative audience, that being the title of the minstrel show given by the Girls' Friendly society of Christ Episcopal church. Miss Dorothy Kreba was in charge with Miss Marion Schwenk at the piano and Miss Mildred McKenzie interlocutor. A chorus of 20 supported the end men.

M. Cathcart, Joseph Steadman, Mrs. Edwin Hall.

An illustrated talk on Old Westerly was given by Courtland B. Bliven. Stereopticon pictures of scenes here in the early 60's were shown and described by the speaker.

FUNERAL

Charles H. Merritt

Funeral services for Charles H. Merritt were held at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at 46 Granite street, Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, rector of Christ Episcopal church, reading the services. Burial was in River Bend cemetery.

Mr. Merritt spent the greater part of his life in Stamford, Conn., where he was a contractor. He came to Westerly about a year ago with his wife, who was Miss Jennie Larkin, of this town.

Besides his wife, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Ward Kinkle, of Boston, and two brothers, James O. and Madison B. Merritt, of Stamford, Conn.

MYSTIC

MISS MARTHA KALMS TO BE HEARD IN RECITAL

Miss Martha Kalms plans to give a song recital in the Congregational church, of which she is a member, at an early date. Miss Kalms has studied at Frank Damrosch's Institute of Musical Arts and is now studying with Warren Shaw of New York and Philadelphia. She has just received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Musical Education from the University of Pennsylvania. She has a lyric soprano voice of unusual range and quality. She will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Kahl, a teacher of music, who has studied with Prof. Paul Stoez of Leipzig and London, specializing in accompanying and chamber music. The entire program is one of great merit.

NOANK

WHIRLWINDS PREPARE FOR ACTIVE SEASON

The Whirlwinds' team has purchased several new mitts, a chest protector, not to mention new bats. "Clate" Buddington will be on the mound while Butson will be behind the bat. Lanky Clarke will cover his old position at first and Marks at second. Third and short stop will be covered by Chesebro and "Swift" Robertson, respectively. The outfield will be strong, with Jimmy McCellan, Harry Wheeler and John Bates. These boys are all heavy hitters. The first game will be played soon with another local team, but most of the games are expected to be played out of town owing to the fact that Noank lacks a good baseball diamond.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lamb of Main street are soon to move to West Mystic, where they will reside with Mr. Lamb's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Eldridge and daughter Leona are visiting relatives in Wells, Maine, for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Walker of New York are expected here today (Saturday) for a stay at their summer home on Spring street.

Mrs. George Banks and son Charles have returned after a short visit in Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell have returned to their home in Somerville, after spending several days with Mrs. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Jane Banks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Judd of Holyoke, Mass., are at their summer home at Groton Long Point for a few days.

Alex Cuthbert has commleted his duties at the Noank shipyard.

Earl Crossman has measles.

Mrs. Edna Thompson was a recent caller on friends in Hartford.

Scouts to Parade the 30th.

The Boy Scouts met in the Legion quarters on Main street Wednesday evening, with Scoutmaster Walter Palmer and Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Whittaker in charge. The Scouts had work in drill and first aid including bandaging. Plans were talked over for the parade Memorial day. The scouts all have their new uniforms for that day. The boys went on a hike Thursday morning and remained all day and cooked their lunch in the woods. At the next meeting the scouts will be drilled in signaling.

Walter Palmer has completed his duties on the boat Harmony and is now fish and game warden.

Mrs. Lucien Sheffield of Savbrook visited relatives in the village Thursday.

Mrs. William Tourjee and Mrs. Charles Rogers were callers in Norwich Thursday.

POISONS TAKE TERRIBLE TOLL

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Relieves Constipation

There are thousands suffering today because of constipation's deadly poisons. Men's hopes have been blighted. Women's beauty and charm have been stolen. Gone are their youthful vigor and happiness.

Yet Kellogg's ALL-BRAN can bring relief to such sufferers. Because it is a bulk food it sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes. And since it is 100% bran, it does its work more effectively than part-bran products.

Start eating ALL-BRAN at the first signs of constipation. These are headaches, unpleasant breath, fatigue. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief—to prevent constipation. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Ready-to-serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking. Recipes on the package. You'll like its delicious flavor. Sold by all grocers. Served by hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Now a Bread, Mother Baked For Your Children

That Fosters Family Health Amazingly

It offers proteins, calories, vitamins, to build them up and build new vigor. Won't you start with it today?

By Alice Adams Proctor

MADAM: No matter how firmly you may swear by your present brand, please be good enough to give this bread a trial.

It has won, in two short years, the approval of the highest dietetic authorities. Its flavor knows no equal. Millions, sceptical at first, today will buy no other kind.

To get it you ask for Wonder Bread. Do this today. But note first, if you will, all it has to offer.

For toast it knows no equal. And eaten plain it amazes with its delicate flavor.

It's splendid, too, from the housekeeper's point of view. It slices without crumbling. And keeps its freshness for days.

If eaten daily, it promotes family health to a marked degree. It restores burned-up energy and fosters growth. This because of its high calorific value. Also its remarkable protein content.

To maintain its quality day after day, we go to great lengths. We specify specially milled short patent flour. Only the heart of the wheat berry is used.

We use double the usual amount of milk. We employ, too, a special method of baking. Slo-baking, it is called. A method that seals in the dietetic value of our ingredients and improves their flavor.

So please try it at once. Simply to prove what it offers you. Note its dainty flavor. See how evenly it toasts. How easily it slices.

But remember! Ordinary breads are not like this. Avoid them. Insist on Wonder Bread always.

SEVEN QUICK FACTS

About Wonder Bread

1. Slo-baked to seal in delicate flavor and keep fresh.
2. Toasts quickly to an even, golden brown.
3. Rich in vital food elements for growth and energy.
4. Made of specially milled short patent flour. Heart of wheat berry.
5. Double the usual quantity of milk. Pasteurized.
6. Ingredients are tested for quality, nutritive value.
7. At your grocer's, oven-fresh, morning and afternoon.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY
BILL'S IN TROUBLE.

I've got a letter, parson, from my son away out west
An' my ol' heart is heavy as an anvil in my breast
To think the boy whose futur' I had once produly planned,
Should wander from the path o' right
an' come to sich an end.
I told him when he left us only three short years ago,
He'd find himself a-plowin' in a mighty crooked row
But he said the farm was hateful and he guessed he'd have to go.

I know there's big temptations for a youngster in the west,
But I believed our Billy had the courage to resist.
And when he left I warned him o' the ever waitin' snares
That lie like hidden serpents in life's pathway everywheres.
But Bill he promised—faithful to be keerful an' allowed
He'd build a reputation that'd make us mighty proud.
But it seemed as how my counsel sort
o' faded from his mind,
An' now the boy's in trouble o' the very wildest kind.

His letters come so seldom that I somehow sort o' knowed
That Billy was a-tramp'n' on a mighty rocky road.
But I never once imagined he would bow my head inn shame
And in the dust'd waller of his ol' dad-dy's honored name.
He writes from out in Denver an' the story's mighty short.
I just won't tell his mother—it'll crush her poor ol' heart.
An' so I reckon, parson, you might break the news to her—
Bill's in the legislatur' but he doesn't say what fur.

Etiquette

The wise raccoon, with forest lore
imbued,
Before he dines must always wash
his food;
Your household cat esteems it more refined
To clean one's whiskers after one has dined.

We shake each other's hands, and yet
'tis known
That gentlemen in China shake their own,
While Frenchmen kiss upon the public street.
New Zealanders rub noses when they meet.

Beside the right-hand curb we roll along;
In London, driving on the right is wrong;
Though frogs bedeck the boards of western inns,
Are choppicks barred at feasts of mandarins?

In town the caller knocks or rings the bell;
The hillman hails afar and gives a yell.
The redman deftly skalps his foeman's head;
We took the helmet off, instead.

In every region, morning, noon, and night,
Whatever fashion sanctifies is right.
At home let native custom give the cue,
In Rome we'll do as well-bred
Romans do.

The Lineman

They wave no banners embroidered in gold,
In Latin nobody can read;
They don't do any bragging of deeds that are bold—
Their motto is "Service and Speed."

Their armor is nothing but slickers and boots,
Their weapons are climbers and
pliers,
Their battles are fought up where high tension shoots
And death lurks unseen on the wires.

They're fighting the gales and the blizzards and ice,
Protecting the towers and span;
With effort not measured in hours or price,
For one cause—just service to man.

Folks forget when baby gets sick in the night,
And a storm's raging fiercely outside,
What they owe to the fellow who's making a fight
That the service shall not be denied.

So here's to the lineman, the son-of-a-gun
That can go without sleep for a week;
That sticks to the job till it's every bit
done,
And the feeders can carry the peak.

For his is the knighthood that's noblest by far,
The highest and mightiest clan,
That's fighting the battles of things-
as-you-go,
In the cause of service to man.

GOD'S PROPERTY

Social Corner Members: An old colored man was asked one day how it was he was able to overcome sin and how it was that he so successfully met temptation.

He said: "Well, it is like this: When temptation comes to me I know that I am not able to meet it and so I do not try. I just go where I can speak to the Lord and I say: 'Lord, here is this temptation. I am sure to fall under if I am left alone; but I have given myself to Thee and I am Thine. Now, Lord, take care of your property.'"

And He does take care of his property. Is that the way to pray? Let us see. If I lend these faculties to God today, haven't I a right when temptation comes to say: "Lord take care of Thy property, my eyes are Thine, take this responsibility. I have given it all to Thee." Yes, I have. He will keep me from falling. He will keep me pure, and if I continue to make this daily consecration He will finally present me faultless before His throne with exceeding joy. But you say I am afraid I cannot hold out. A great many people have said that to me when I have asked them to give their hearts to God. They say "I have seen others try and fail, so I am afraid I shall fail also." My friends, God has made provision for your every weakness. It was all considered before the Lord undertook your salvation.

Jesus came into the world and was tempted in all paths of life as we are, thus demonstrating the fact that God has power to give victory over every temptation.

Courage, then. Let us turn our eyes to the One who is mighty to save. I think this is wonderful if we would all try this. There would not be so much sin in this dear old world. We all love the beautiful things here, but do we all try and do our part to keep clean with a clear heart and pure thoughts? If we have the love of God in our heart we don't want to backbite and say hateful things and do the ungodly things in this life, but try and cheer and help each other as we pass along. If we find something good, pass it along and we will all be much happier.

I have been to two Social Corner meetings while here on a visit. I had a fine time. I am soon to leave for more trips to Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. I was glad to see my old friends. Best wishes to all.

THE MISSING POEM.

Dear Social Corner Readers: No doubt you have continued to wonder what the poem was that was intended to complete the article "An Hour With a Stranger," "A pen picture of days long ago."

I will produce it in this Saturday's Social Corner, as your wonder never will cease until you see it in print; besides I want it as a final to the article to paste in my scrap book with many nice letters written by the Social Corner folks; also those of C. H. "Dac" Shaw.

I trust that the editor's cat will leave the poem in the office when he goes for his Friday morning meal. Who the author of the poem is, I don't know, but it is a good pen picture of days long ago.

Memories

Those days when buck-board buggies
Gave us the greatest thrill.
Those days before the autos came
To break the laws at will.
Those days before the aeroplanes
Sped o'er the Atlantic.
Those days when walking was a joy
And not a funny antic.
What would you give to have them back,
Those days of trailing dresses;
What would you give to see again
Those heads of braided tresses?
How would you like once more to see
The young men wearing whiskers?
To see them walking arm in arm
The Misses and the Misters?
'Tis but a homely virtue,
Thinking back on by-gone days.
Perhaps 'tis but a waste of time.
Those tales of wonderous ways.
But even then, I like to dwell
On thoughts of days gone by.
I like to flick away (at times)
A teardrop from my eye.

MY TULIP BED

Dear Social Corner Members: How the wind does blow! Regular March gale only two months late. As I look out on my tulip bed, the wind is blowing them around in all kinds of ways.

There is a story in that tulip bed and I will give it to you.

At Easter time 1928 Beth C. had a pot of beautiful red tulips given to her. We all enjoyed the blossoms. When they died I cut them off, put the flower pot in the cellar and left it until early November.

By that time the leaves were all dried up and the bulbs looked rather dead. We took a chance on them, planted them, covered them with dried leaves and boards to hold the leaves on. They look fine, with nine blossoms already and many more buds. Of course some may know of this method, for them it isn't intended, but for others who have been in the habit of throwing out the dead plants as I myself have done many times. I have been told the same method will work with Easter Lilies.

Wonder how many of you have casters on your kitchen table! I had ball-bearing casters put on mine and they are such a help. Also I had an old chest, very heavy, hard to move about. I never felt the rug was clean as I couldn't move the chest each time I cleaned. Now I have casters on that, one shove, and I can clean where it stood, another shove, back it goes into place.

If some of the Corner Members know of a "true and tried" way of making lettuce head up closely, won't they please write of it? I've tried and tried and never had what I call good luck. Some will head up—more will not and we do not care for loose leaf lettuce. Any information will be appreciated.

CLUB NO. 4 HAD NICE MEETING

Dear Social Corner Editor: I will tell you about the fine time we had at Club 4 meeting at East Killingly last week. I had given up all notion of going, as I would have to walk a out four miles after leaving the bus. But "1928" came to my rescue and hired an auto to carry us all in a comfortable way to the meeting. We arrived there after enjoying the scenery and waterfalls along the route. It began to rain so a few were discouraged and did not venture out, but about 40 sat down to dinner, and oh, boy! what a spread. Beans never taste so good as at a Social Corner meeting. Well, we ate and ate until I just dared not consume any more for fear of splitting my silk gown. Well, Try Again and her helpers surely did themselves proud. Other clubs were represented and we sure did have a good gabfest. We missed the members who were not there, but hope to see them next meeting. We sang songs and most of the members responded with readings. Try Again taking the "bake shoppe" with her humorous selection.

CLUB No. 1 MEETS MAY 8th.

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: Just a few lines to let you know that Club No. 1 meets in the chamber of commerce rooms Willimantic, May 8.

October and Wisteria are to be the hostesses.

As this is our last indoor meeting until September we hope to see a good crowd out.

Come all who can and bring your smiles as well as something good for the table is the wish of

WISTERIA.

MEMORIAL DAY FOR CORNER

Dear Editor and All the Good Friends: Well, we have had two fine days and I hope we get more. Say, gals, didn't we have a fine time at our meeting? Hostess, you and your helpers did some fine work. Everything went on so nice, a lovely dinner and fine program. Try again. I hope John won't send you after any more radio fixtures. My, but that was fine; it was all so nice.

The Ladies' Relief corps and the Rebekahs are having a memorial day, so I broached it to some of our members, why not the Social Corner have one? They were all in favor of it. Let each club set their own day in June, the beautiful month of roses. I think the third Sunday in June for Club 4 and all those that can go and carry a bunch of roses, or any other flowers they can, and place on the graves of our sleeping members that have passed on. Let each club name their own day, but Club 4 have theirs the third Sunday, then meet the following Thursday and each bring in a report of those graves they have visited.

I would go if I had any way. I only know where two are sleeping, but I am willing to do all I can. I was asked to bring it before the Social Corner by putting it in the Corner page, then all can see it and say what they think of it.

Rural Delivery: I do hope you are better.

Kentucky Wonder: I hope you are better, too.

Rural Aunty: I was asked if I was dreaming about that party. Well, I guess not; no one was asleep and I guess you would not have had time to go to sleep if you had been there. But that was not so bad as the husking bee.

One sister asks what to do for sore feet and corns. Well, I put salt and soda in my foot tub, then the warm water. Then I soak my feet. I dry them nicely. Then rub them with Vicks Vaporub or Arabian Balsam, and they feel fine for quite a while. I had a corn on each little toe. I took the pulp of a lemon and bound it on three nights, then soaked my feet, and they peeled off. That was 41 years ago and I have never had a corn on them since. Try it and get relief.

Cara: Yes, you are very kind to say you will go sliding down hill after the snow is gone. Well, there is another pasture, if you are still game. We will just get 1492 and Keziah Doolittle out in that. We will get some front buggy wheels; fasten a board on the axle, then we will go out on the hill. There is a dandy one near me. Just sit on the board and ride down the hill. I have more than once. Say, are you game for the sport? I think we can get Lost Rose of Summer out with us, too. We will not invite Keziah, he is too slow for any sport. I would just like to wake him up a bit. I intend this fall, some time, to have a real old-fashioned party, and we will sing Goodby, Susan Jane, and Paddy Duffey's Cart.

Velvie: You missed a lot by not being with us.

Peter Prime: Have you lost your pen? If not, just give us a letter.

Just Peter: Wish you had been at our meeting.

L. T. H.: Will answer your letter soon. I have not been very well.

God bless and be with all is my best wishes.

NONESOPRETTY (Club No. 4).

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT

Dear Social Corner Folks: I don't write very often, but after Saturday's letters I thought I must. I almost knew that Kuchia was a bit behind the times, but now I am sure of it. My rib was broken the 10th of last January and was well long ago. He stirred up something, and I got many words of sympathy, for which I thank one and all.

It's a cold, raw, windy day; seems spring's warm days will never come, but I suppose they will, same as ever. We must have faith and patience. I have pieced up three bedquilt covers and linings and am now waiting for cotton. When it comes I will tie them. I sewed quite a lot of carpet rags, but never will sew any more rags when you can buy nice rag rugs for one dollar. Nothing doing! My time is worth more. I've made quite a lot of new curtains and I make or mend all the time—something to do.

I want to plant my flower seeds if it ever comes warm enough. I wanted to go to Killingly so bad but couldn't make it, and shall not be able to get to Norwich as much as I would like to.

Years ago the first day of May was "May day," and some pretty girl was chosen "Queen of May," and there was a May pole to be wound with ribbon and the "queen" sitting up high all dressed in gauzy white stuff. What I was getting at is, wouldn't she be cold if the weatherman then was as unkind as now? Such cold winds are trying; more so if you happen to have neuralgia. In spite of cold weather our housecleaning was done quite a few weeks ago. I always like to get it done early, then when nice warm weather does come a body has more time to enjoy the outdoors. I am no good "waiting," as I had rather be a little ahead of time.

I would like so much to know who Nonesopretty is and where she lives. I wonder why some of the writers are so afraid of anyone knowing who they are. I guess everyone knows who I am, and I sure don't care. I know I cannot write very instructive or entertaining letters, but it helps fill up and is much better than no letter at all. Many belong who never write. They ought to be made to do so once in a while in order to hold their membership. Daylight saving is once more with us, and I like it. It gives us such a nice long time of daylight after supper. Will stop now with best wishes to all and much sympathy for all who have had troubles to bear. I am as ever. MA OF GREENE GABLES.

SAVING CLOTHES BY DYEING

Dear Social Corner Members: I have always had a dislike for faded clothing, so for the last five years I have bought nothing but fadeless ginghams for house dresses and clothes for my little daughter, thereby solving the problem that far.

But what about the little sweater and the bath robe that were perfectly good but had taken on that shabby air that faded clothes have? I found a plan that has woked wonders with quite a few things. I bought four packages of dye—blue, green, garnet and brown. If the directions are followed closely there will be no failures.

I used a small part of the blue, perhaps two teaspoons, boiled the bathrobe in it until it was the shade I wanted. Then I just tinted the sweater in the same dye. Both look surprisingly good and will wear for a long time. Hubby's soft flannel shirts have a dye bath every once in a while and he's always delighted over the results. Several of them were past wearing to the office just because they were faded and now are quite pretty, especially one that was dipped in a very weak solution of the brown dye, which made it a pretty soft shade of tan.

With these four packages of dye of colors that are always good I have saved quite a few dollars and it takes such a short time, when my washing is done, and while the articles are still damp to freshen them, that I really feel like the time is well spent.

HOUSEHOLDER.

GARDEN HINTS

Mr. Editor and All the Friends: Well, some spring for us farmers. My, we can't plant much this weather! Potatoes will rot, but no matter if they don't go in until the first of June, for the ground will then be much warmer than now. They will grow fast enough to pay not to be in too big a hurry. They will come up quickly. Peas and beets are all right now, and spinach will grow fast this summer. I shall plant some garden dandelions. I plant them in August for spring cutting, and I think early turnips would do to put them in now. Let someone give some good ideas. Wishing all fine health.

DADDY LONGLEGS

ANTHONY BOOSTER FOR "CHEERIO"

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Will try and write a few lines to the Corner page, as I read last Saturday's Corner page there was a letter sent in by Cara, that I was pleased to see. I was glad that she was one who has listened to "Cheerio" mornings. What a lot his message means as it goes out on the air to "somebody somewhere." I have wondered many times who this person might be but there is no statement of the identity of this man who calls himself "Cheerio." Nothing has been said by him or the broadcasting company but newspapers have been requested to cooperate in the work by disregarding the man's identity. Cheerio gives his time and work without compensation, either in money or personal prestige. He gives his services and the broadcasting company cooperates in giving its facilities and also in furnishing instrumental music for the programs! Herbert Hoover approved the purpose of this broadcasting and made possible the use of funds for the necessary incidental expenses. This was in 1926. Cheerio's programs began 1927 in March. I hope those who haven't listened to his programs will some morning. Only a few minutes but it helps to start your day right.

Merna Bell: I suppose you too are enjoying your new radio. So glad you have one.

Bo Peep: Your letter was fine about greens. Many a dinner has been prepared in our home but as you write it. We had greens yesterday and I thought of your letter you wrote.

With best wishes to all the sisters especially the shut-ins.

PHOTOGRAPHER

PREPARING SIMPLE SALADS

Dear Cornerites: I find this department such a help that I would like to pass on my experience in what I consider a necessary adjunct to my table.

In this day when health experts advocate a generous daily portion of fresh fruit and leafy vegetables, salads should be served several times a week the year round. For both the wife who goes to business and the stay-at-home mother there is no more appetizing, easily prepared and necessary addition to a meal than some of the simple salads. They are good for both school child and adult. The more elaborate salads may be left for special occasions.

There are a great variety which may be prepared any time of year. Combinations of apple and celery, apple and raw cabbage or all three are good. A woman noted for her cookery, salads in particular, told me the secret of a delicious vegetable salad or combination of apples and vegetables, was, always, to add a wee bit of onion.

When adding apples to a salad try this. Instead of peeling lovely red-skinned apples, wash and core, then slice them, skin and all. This is very attractive in a salad and the skin adds a bit of roughage "to the out."

Apples and raisins are good. In summer add bits of green onions and radishes to shredded leaf lettuce. When tomatoes are in season one may make a variety of attractive combinations with other vegetables. Green peppers add color any time.

Any of these may be served individually on lettuce. But for the busy mother a bowl of salad is less trouble than the individual way and yet may lure the appetite as readily.

My mother used to prepare head or leaf lettuce this way: Wash and shred. Then add a few tablespoons of vinegar and sugar to taste. Dice bacon and fry. Then pour hot fat and bacon over the lettuce and mix.

This gave me an idea. I dice bacon or slice in thin strips. Fry until crisp, remove, leaving drippings for other frying. Arrange the bacon over the top of any combination salad. 'Tis delicious, my friends say.

When I purchase head lettuce or celery in winter I immerse it in a pan of cold water and here it freshens up as crisply as can be. I have kept these in water overnight and for two or three days and they are still nice and fresh, a better method than wrapping in moist cloth. Cabbage I wrap in wax paper and keep in a cool place.

For the housewife who eats her noon meal alone, or for a Sunday evening bite, here is a pleasing and satisfying lunch. Arrange slices of tomatoes on hot buttered toast. Dot tomatoes with salad dressing and top with slices of crisp bacon. NORMA

HELP FOR THE CHILDREN

Social Corner Editor: Promotion time is just around the corner for the school children; many of these little ones will fail, and oh! how badly they feel. A little help at home means so much to them, but so many do not get it. A little prize will make them so willing to study at home, if needed. It is the mother's interest in the child that makes the child's life worth while, as daddy hasn't much time. Some people seem to think that school is only play for the child and that only the teacher and the child should be concerned in it.

If a child in the first grade stays there two or three terms it may be the beginning of a wrecked life, for the child loses hope. I get games at the store also books and many other little useful things; I give them each one when they bring home the promotion slip. I judge by their marks how they are doing their work and help them as I think they need it, and the little 10c prize is what they work for.

I hope you can find room for this. I've never written you before but I just thought this might help so many poor little children in what is so hard for them, yet so easy with a little help.

From a helping mother.

THE BEGINNER TEACHER

Dear Editor and Social Corner Readers: We read with interest the letter about the Parent-Teacher association by Marjory published in a recent Corner page. We are thinking of this relation now in a little different way. A wise old lady, an instructor of teachers for many years, once remarked that her love for and interest in a child was the bridge connecting teacher and parent. Many times we have thought of this. A beginning teacher, though she is a normal or college graduate, is bound to make many mistakes through inexperience when she actually starts work independently.

How well do we recall one or two sad incidents of our first month. Harry was a bright little five year old who had a faculty of completing his work in record time. So late one afternoon we gave him some colored crayons and sent him to the board to amuse himself with them while we busied ourself with the others. You know the kind of painting called spatter work? That best describes Harry's efforts as far as his little white sailor suit was concerned, for it was green stains. We were not surprised to receive a polite little note the next morning saying please not to let Harry have any more colored chalk, as he got his clothes so dirty.

In that same first month we glanced out of doors one noon and saw the younger children each equipped with small birch switches merrily engaged in playing horse. All seemed peaceful so we resumed our work. It was quite a jolt to have tossed on the desk the next morning a fiery note from an irate Italian parent. Then and there we learned the lesson as well expressed by one wise dad, "Hurting games ain't no games to play." For the good of her little flock and her own peace of mind we advise all teachers to be on the strict offensive against all forms of "hurting" games.

If the beginner teacher is enthusiastic over her work and profits by her errors, have tolerance for her mistakes and remember her love and your love for the child as the bridge connecting your common interests.

We mentioned polite notes and fiery notes. What teacher doesn't feel a constriction about her throat when a sullen youngster pokes his head in at the door, tosses a note on the desk and darts out again. Please don't send that note you wrote under the influence of a rising temperature. Remember to hear two sides of every tale of woe brought home and that a courteous note or a little visit bring far finer results in the end. And we certainly hope our teacher has good sense and breeding to refrain from the discourteous reply if she desires to preserve her own self respect.

How many mothers make a point of visiting once or twice a year the school their children attend? Regular sessions, we mean, not Christmas entertainments.

A large percent of your tax money goes for education. Then don't you owe it to your child and to your pocketbook to see for yourself what's going on? Any teacher who takes pride in her work will welcome your interest.

Commuter in his excellent letter mentioned the value of reading aloud at home. In the enthusiasm that burst over our schools several years ago for silent reading we have felt that the pendulum swung a little too far. We don't want elocutionists, but we do feel that a child should be able to read aloud his Sunday school lesson, to read understandingly a story to members of his family and to read a simple poem sympathetically. And of course there's the enjoyment and sense of unity that comes from reading aloud in the family circle. Remember that a teacher, especially in the rural schools, with many subjects in her curriculum, is limited for time and that this can be a very practical way of helping without requiring too much effort on your part.

A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM

Editor and Social Corner Members: Daddy, mother, Francis, Mary and Johnny were a happy family six days in the week. Sunday was another story. Daddy had never learned to attend church and would not go to church with them. It was all right for them to go, but he had other things to do on Sunday.

Mother took all the children when they were very young and they could not remember when they did not attend church. It was part of life on Sunday.

One Sunday morning Johnny said he was not going to church. Mother did not insist and drove away without him. Johnny was a quaint child of seven years, with ideas beyond his age.

Daddy read his paper and slept a while, but it puzzled him why Johnny had not gone with his mother. Johnny was busy with his books and toys. Finally Daddy said: "Why didn't you go to church? Don't you like to ride in the car?"

"Yes, Daddy."

"Don't you like to hear the music?"

"Yes, but I thought you would be lonesome if we all went and left you, so I stayed home with you. When I hear the music I wish you could hear it too; it is so nice. We would all be happy if you would go to church with us. Won't you come with us, Daddy?"

"Johnny, I never learned to go to church. If I had had a mother like yours I would know more."

"Anyway, Daddy, mother says we'll keep right on praying for you and mebbie something will happen."

"It's going to happen right now, Johnny. I'm not going to be the one to keep you from church. I'm going with you next Sunday."

"Won't mother be surised when we tell her you're going to church with us next Sunday! We'll all be happy together, Daddy. Our car will look nice, all the family in it; Daddy, too."

Through Johnny's childish talk Daddy has united with the church and all are happy. "A little child shall lead them."

MEETING ON MAY 14TH

Dear Corner Folks: Before I forget it, our meeting comes later in the month for Club No. 2, on the second Tuesday, which is May 14. There wasn't quite beans enough solicited. Those who will bake a pan and also furnish salads, kindly phone 1457 and let me know so as not to get too many.

Georgette and Laleet have kindly promised to help serve the dinner. I hope that the May 14 and the June 11 indoor meetings, which are the last until the outdoor picnics are over, will be so enjoyed that you will all be looking forward to the time we start the fall metings.

Keziah Doolittle: Was that our Rural Delivery I saw in the news from Danielson being in hospital?

Joan: I didn't know you were sick until Mrs. M. from G. L. called up and told me. I do hope you are all right now.

Qnondague 1902: I was pleased to read a Corner letter from you. I hope you are able to go out when good days ever come.

Scottie: We miss you with us.

Wurdy Bell: I was glad to hear you are gaining. I was pleased to see you are able to write again. Go slow.

Windham Blue Bell: How do you like coming back to your old home town to live?

Sister Ready: Did I see you going crosslots to visit Sweet William last Sunday? A gray hat? Am I right?

Sympathy to the bereaved onees, recovery to the sick, and best wishes to all.

CALLA LILY (Club No. 2).

READS CORNER LETTERS OVER ONCE AGAIN

Dear Social Corner Friends. It is a real spring day, but a chilly south wind floats over Gray Plains. I started to clean a bedroom. Tearing off paper is no easy job, so as I stopped awhile to rest, I was reading over a Social Corner page of March 30th.

I love to read them over many, many times and they are always new.

A letter from Prairie Chicken tells of the passing of Nancy Peck, Mrs. William Babcock, also of her being a member of the North Stonington Baptist church.

I have a Bible that was given to my father's mother when she joined that same church, when she was 15 years old. She was Lucy Newton Bentley. The pages are yellow with age, the covers are leather. She was 87 when she died in 1867. The print is so fine I can hardly read it, together with the dark brown of the pages.

The sorrowing ones have my sympathy, for we never know when the Silent Reaper may visit our home.

I love to hear the birds' sweet song and the merry song of the frogs.

The lake looked like glass this morning when I went down to sit and gaze across to Pumpkin hill, so high, with cottages snuggled in at the foot, the heavy growth making a wonderful picture for lovers of nature. The grass is green and there is arbutus in abundance.

We go across the lake into the Diamond Match company's woods, where the growth is thrifty. Several Mallard ducks we have housed all winter, came to meet me, looking for their handout which they were sure of.

Haven't any planting done yet for only two weeks ago there was snow and rain, and rain and snow, all in one week with only one pleasant day in a week—it sure did look as though winter was on the way again.

I am sending in some poetry and I trust to see it published sometime.

Miranda: Pleased to get your letter. Will answer it soon now. Trust you are as well as usual. You sure were fortunate to get out as well as you did. I do enjoy Dad Shaw's letters also.

Quid Nunc: I trust this will find everybody happy and looking on the bright side of life. I am pleased to see the page over run with such real heart to heart talks. It makes a body feel good—even though they are feeling blue. How is it with you O. H. S.?

Must ring off as it is time to get lunch and have to make biscuit taken from Social Corner page.

Best wishes to one and all. Sincerely the same. BALSAM FIR.

PICKING A HUSBAND

Dear Social Corner Members: Here is a way to pick out a husband:

The average girl selects a husband with less thought and care than she gives in picking out a new dress. She doesn't even stop to consider whether he's suitable and becoming to her style of character or not, or whether he's a real man or just a near-man, or whether his disposition is all silk and a yard wide, or whether he's liable to fade and shrink in the wash of matrimony.

Now, of course, there is no infallible test by which a girl may tell beforehand whether a man will make a good husband or not. Matrimony works strange miracles. Sometimes it turns a lover into a brute, and occasionally it turns a brute into a lover. Sometimes a man is mean to all the balance of the world and good to his wife, and very often a man is an angel outside of the home and a devil in it.

There are no hard and fast rules that never fail by which a girl can judge on the safe side of the altar whether a man will be a desirable life mate or not, but here are ten tests which any maiden may apply with advantage to the man who asks her to be his wife before she says "Yes."

1—Pick out for a husband a man who is healthy. Marry no man who is not willing to present you with a doctor's certificate of a clean bill of health. Do this as you value your own life and the welfare of the children that may come to you.

2—Pick out a man of good character for a husband. Don't depend upon your angel influence to reform a drunkard or a roue. Select a man who doesn't need reforming. A damaged article is always a bad bargain.

3—Choose for a husband a man who has already proven that he has strength and ability to make his own way in the world. The man who is making $25 a year by his own brains is a far better catch than the gilded youth whose father supports him and makes him an allowance of $25,000 a year. The wife of a poor hustler is pretty sure to be rich at middle age, while the wife of the rich young spender is almost certain to be poor in her old age.

4—Don't marry any man who hasn't some secure way of making a living and providing for a family. There is no misery worse than that of dire poverty. Take no chances on it that you can avoid. Let a man show he has the industry and ability to get along before you unite your fortunes with his. Remember that nothing scares away Cupid so quickly as the sound of the wolf howling at the door.

5—Look well at the disposition of a man before you marry him. Surly temper and grouches have wrecked more homes than drink ever has. Many a man who is a model of all the virtues is a torment to live with. Avoid the man who is morbid and jealous and choose as a husband a man who is bright and good natured.

6—Notice whether a man is generous or stingy. Never marry a man who haggles over every cent and who parts with a ten-cent tip as if he was having a tooth drawn. That kind of man makes the sort of a husband who doles out carfare to his wife and wants to know what she did with the quarter he gave her week before last.

7—Notice how a man treats old women and little children and servants. If he is rude to old women and calls children brats and is overbearing and insolent to servants, beware of him. He will neglect and mistreat you when you have lost your youth and charm.

8—Before you marry a man ascertain his opinion on the matter of making a home, and the relative duties of husband and wife. Marry no man who doesn't consider that it's just as much a man's business to help make a happy home as it is a woman's and who doesn't think that a wife should be her husband's full partner in business and pleasure, not his domestic slave.

9—Don't marry a bossy man. The tyrant on the hearthstone is just as intolerable as the tyrant on the throne.

10—Don't marry a man who has a contempt for women. The man who is always jeering and sneering at woman's weaknesses is a little-minded fool and bigot who makes the kind of husband who browbeats his wife. If you want a good husband and one whom you can honor and respect, marry the man who reverences womanhood and who believes that she has just as much intelligence and is entitled to as fair a share of the pleasures and perquisites of life as any man.

Follow these rules in choosing a husband and you won't go far wrong.

This is something that Dorothy Dix wrote quite a few years ago.

Hope the sick are feeling better and sympathy to those in sorrow.

PLANNING DINNER FOR GUESTS

Dear Editor and Corner Members: Perhaps the suggestion I am about to bring has been used by most of the readers, but I find it has been very helpful to me when planning a dinner for guests.

In the back of my favorite cook book I keep a list of the guests I have had for dinner at some time and two columns after each name for the dishes they liked especially or unfortunately disliked. Of course, this couldn't apply to very formal dinners for then no mention is made of food, but it is the friendly informal dinners at which families of moderate means entertain, that I am writing. For these affairs I find my food notations in back of cook book very helpful.

Another tiny item I have noticed that cotton damask table cloths, when laundered and starched, look almost like good linens and are very inexpensive.

Hoping this will prove as beneficial to some one else as it has to me, I will bring this lengthy missive to an end with best wishes for your continued success and a word of appreciation for your absorbing articles. I'm sure most of the readers turn to them as eagerly as I do.

DEATH OF KENTUCKY WONDER.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: I still find myself here in Danielson under the doctor's care, but must try and write a bit to the Social Corner members that I heard the sad news of "Kentucky Wonder's" death this morning. My sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones that are left to mourn her loss.

Beauty Answers Peter's Questions

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who for new knowledge never tries
Will never be accounted wise.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit was full of questions. He is apt to be when he is interested in anything. He was interested now—greatly interested. There were many things he wanted to know—things that only Beauty the Wood Duck could tell him.

"Did you ever before have your home in a hollow tree?" inquired Peter.

"I have never had it anywhere else," replied Beauty. "I was hatched in a hollow tree myself."

"I suppose," said Peter, "that when you told me the day you and Mrs. Wood Duck arrived that there was only one tree around here that would do for your home, it was because you couldn't find another hollow tree. Was that it?"

Beauty bobbed his lovely head. "Yes," said he, "that was it. At least, it was partly it. There are other trees with holes in them, but no other tree with a big enough hole high enough up to suit us."

"Do you always nest as high up as that?" inquired Peter.

"No," replied Beauty. "We have had a home in a hollow tree stump, but we always feel safer if our home is up high."

Peter scratched one long ear with one long hindleg. Then he scratched the other long ear with the other long hindleg. Peter was thinking. He says that scratching his long ears with his long hindfeet always helps him to think. Beauty watched him a few minutes. "Well, Peter," said he, "what have you on your mind now?"

"I was wondering about those baby Ducks," replied Peter.

"What about them?" inquired Beauty.

"That hole is very high up," said Peter.

"Of course it is," replied Beauty. "That is what pleases us. We wanted a home high up."

"That is all very well for you and Mrs. Wood Duck, but what about the Ducklings?" asked Peter.

"Well, what about them?" Beauty replied.

"How," demanded Peter, "are they going to get down? Do you keep them in there until they are big enough to fly down? I cannot imagine twelve young Ducks big enough to fly being crowded into that hollow tree."

Beauty chuckled. "Neither can I," said he. "I fear that some of them would smother to death long, long before they were big enough to fly."

"Then how," demanded Peter, "will they get down?"

"They'll get down all right," replied Beauty. "If you are around about that time, you may be interested in seeing them get down."

"When will it be?" demanded Peter eagerly.

"Oh, not for some time," replied Beauty. "You see, it takes quite a while to hatch out Duck's eggs. Mrs. Wood Duck will be sitting on those eggs two or three weeks yet."

"I shall come over every day," declared Peter.

HOUSE VOTES $104,500 FOR HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

a sharp debate, participated in by Chairman Lynch of the cities and boroughs committee. On the motion of Judge Peck of Bristol the question was divided and report of the committee was accepted. Judge William L. Larash, judge of the town court of West Haven, supported the unfavorable report of the committee. Others supporting the report were Carrington of Bethany, Hill of Shelton, Miss Cheney of Manchester. The previous question was called for by Johnson of Sherman. The report was objected to by Pelton of Clinton and Allen of Plymouth. The bill was rejected by a standing vote of 149 yeas and 66 nays.

Bills from the senate received concurrent action.

But five bills from the calendar were acted upon as follows:

H. B. No. 971, an act authorizing the city of Waterbury to issue school reconstruction bonds.

Substitute for H. B. No. 651, an act concerning the sale of motor lubricating oils.

Substitute for H. B. No. 704, an act amending an act incorporating the Title and Guaranty Company of Bridgeport.

H. B. No. 978, an act to carry into effect the recommendation in Appendix II of the report of the commission on the revision of the general statutes.

At 12.43 the house adjourned out of respect to the memory of Ex-Governor Roberts, whose funeral was held today.

SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION BILL "FALLS BETWEEN HOUSES"

STATE CAPITOL, Hartford, May 2—(AP)—House Leader Johnson, of Manchester, having announced the end of the ban on controversies on Friday, the house and the senate proceeded today to do battle over three measures, two of which were rejected and one adopted.

The following bills were adopted from the calendar:

S. B. No. 284, authorizing the city of Waterbury to issue sewerage bonds of $750,000.

S. B. No. 532, instructing the treasurer of New Haven county to pay $8,300 annual for the law library in the courthouse at Waterbury.

S. B. No. 47, paying members of the board of examination and registration of nurses $10 a day and expenses and exempting from examination any person 20 years or older who is a graduate of an accredited training school in another state and who has worked or resided in this state since 1918.

S. B. No. 162, appropriating $5,000 for the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard.

Foot Guard Gets $5,000.

S. B. No. 233, appropriating $5,000 for the First company, Governor's Foot Guard.

S. B. No. 38, incorporating the community of Morningside in the town of Shelton.

S. B. No. 69, extending the city pension system in New Haven enabling payments to widows of firemen and policemen.

S. B. No. 535, increasing the number of constables in Plainfield from five to seven.

S. B. No. 128, providing for the reversion to the city of New Haven of title to land used as a state armory in that city.

The senate adjourned at 1 o'clock until 10.15 Monday morning.

MORE THAN TWO DOZEN ISSUES HIT RECORD HIGH PRICES IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—As a culmination of a succession of efforts this week to arouse the stock market from its April nap, the bull party today succeeded in pushing the general level of prices above the record heights reached just before the break in late March.

More than two dozen issues were elevated to record prices, which carried the Associated Press stock index of 50 industrials up more than 3 points to a new peak at 272, nearly a point above the previous high record reached on March 16. The index of 20 utilities also mounted to a new high level, but the 20 rails lagged.

The bulls, however, had to deal with their customary obstacle, tight money. Call loans renewed at 10 per cent, but the increasing demands of the market, together with the week-end currency requirements sent the rate up to 11 in the afternoon. This brought some profit taking, and prices sagged a little from their best levels of the day, but for the most part the liquidation was readily taken up. Another indication of firm credit was an increase of 1-8 of one per cent in 30 bankers' acceptance rates.

The upturn was given a sharp impetus by increase of but $40,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, as estimates had run as high as $100,000,000. Increases in Federal Reserve holdings of gold and acceptances were also made bull capital, but bankers were of the opinion, however, that reserve officials would not permit additional gold to be used to expand credit, and it was pointed out that the reserve came into the acceptance market again only to tide over for a few days dealers whose portfolios were overloaded.

The day's business and industrial news held favorable. Secretary Lamont's statement on general business conditions was particularly reassuring. The weekly business reviews reported little change in the generally favorable situation, although it was indicated that heavy rains in April had hurt retail trade. American Railway Express proposed a three-for-one splitup, and Spicer published an excellent earnings report.

American Can was a noteworthy strong point, touching a new peak at 149 1-4, up more than 6 points. Radio, in which it is rumored a new pool has been formed, rose 4 points to 114, a record for the present stock, only to lose most of its gain in realizing. Some of the auto accessory stocks continued their upward march. Electric Auto Lite mounting 6 points to a new top at 172. The company predicts earnings for the year of about $20 per share, more than twice the 1928 profit.

Commonwealth Power jumped 8 points to a new top for the year on rumors that United Corporation is negotiating for a large block. Marmon crossed 100 to a new top on reports of large sales of its high models, and Ludlum Steel reached a record at 99 on merger rumors. International Harvester was sent up about 7 points to a new top. Interests recently active in Union Carbide are reported to have switched to this issue.

Hershey Chocolate common, strong of late on prospects of inauguration of dividends, jumped 8 points to another record level. Postum, North American company, Bohn Aluminum, Republic Brass, Pure Oil, Wilcox Rich issues, and Woolworth were among other issues reaching new tops.

An unsettled development was further deflation of the speculative bubble in the Advance Rumely issues, to the accompaniment of unconfirmed rumors that exchange officials were investigating recent activities in the stock. The common dropped 8 points, and the preferred sold down nearly 20 points, closing 15 off, net. Coppers were inclined to heaviness, with the exception of Greene Cananea, which made a substantial gain. American Bosch dropped 4 points, after reaching a new high. United Aircraft was again heavy.

Commodity markets followed diverse trends. Cotton closed about 50 cents a bale higher on reports of crop damage, while wheat lost about a cent a bushel on reports that Canadian railways would meet the freight cut agreed upon by American carriers. Corn sagged on better weather.

Foreign exchanges were dull, with little change in quotations. Sterling cables were unchanged at $4.85 5-16, while German marks were a shade lower at 23.70 1-2 cents.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

ODD FELLOWS

The regular meeting of Shetucket lodge, No. 27, was held Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows hall with a large number of members present. Noble Grand James E. Wood presided in his usual affable manner and the regular routine business was quickly disposed of.

The chairman of the entertainment committee announced that on May 18 there is to be a social get-together for the members of the lodge in conjunction with Uncas lodge, No. 11, and Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 21. It is hoped there will be a large number present.

A large number of the past grands are planning to attend the Grand Lodge session in New Britain on May 14 and 15. From all reports the present session is to prove one of the most interesting in many years.

After the close of the meeting refreshments were served those present by Chairman Stanley of the entertainment committee, and pinochle and pool were enjoyed. Several of the pinochle devotees are endeavoring to raise funds to purchase Past Grand Henry Smith a leather medal for his efficiency as a score keeper, suggestions also being made that Brother Bill Hopkins be furnished with an adding machine to take care of his meld.

WOMAN'S BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

The Woman's Benefit association held its meeting Monday evening in Eagles' hall. Two names were brought in and will be initiated at the next meeting. Arrangements were made for the birthday party for all members whose birthday comes in May. The members celebrated the birthday of Miss Lillian DeCarlo and Miss Marion Buonanno at the home of Miss DeCarlo of 14 Church street Thursday evening. They were presented with a very beautiful gift. During the evening piano solos were rendered by Miss Lucy DeCarlo. There were three tables of whist. Miss Elizabeth Eckstein winning first prize and Miss Bertha Wiese second. At ten o'clock a supper consisting spaghetti, chicken, frankfurters rolls, cake and coffee was served by the committee.

GRAND ARMY

The passing years have taken a heavy toll among the veterans of the Civil war, according to the official membership list of the department of Connecticut, Grand Army of Republic, which shows that from a membership of 6,946 in 1890, the department membership has now dwindled to 362 veterans.

Of the survivors, however, many are in excellent health despite their advanced years and are looking forward to many more annual encampments before they face the inevitable and join their former comrades in the great beyond.

For the past five years the membership has dropped off at ther ate of about 100 members a year, the rate of loss in membership becoming less each year in actual numbers, but retaining a steady percentage of the entire membership still surviving. In 1900 the membership had dropped to 4,707. This represents an average loss of more than 200 members a year.

For the next ten years the membership dropped from the 4,707 in 1900 to 3,281 in 1910, representing an average annual loss of a little more than 100 members for this decade. In the next ten years, from 1910 to 1920, the membership dropped to 1,342, representing a loss of nearly 200 members a year again. Since 1920 slightly less than 1,000 members have answered their last earthly roll call, making an average of about 100 members that have passed beyond each year in this time.

Comander George A. Tucker expressed the sentiment of the surviving veterans in his annual report when he stated that the time of the surviving veterans as mortals cannot be long at best, but the fortitude and courage with which they faced death on theb attlefield in the Civil war for the Red, White and Blue, remains in their hearts and pending the final call each of the veterans will keep a stiff upper lip and a hearty smile.

Commander Tucker is one of the ten past department commanders who are included in the list of veterans surviving. The others include George Haven of New London, who served as department commander in 1903. The other past department commanders and the date of office are: Wilbur F. Rogers, 1893; Virgil F. McNeil, 1906; Henry J. Seeley, 1918; George T. Meech, 1919; Christian Swartz, 1921; Ira R. Wildman, 1924; James R. Young, 1926, and Charles M. Shaller, 1927.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS.

The annual Connecticut department convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, which was held on Monday and Tuesday of this week at the Waureegan hotel in this city, with an attendance of over 200 delegates kept the office of president in the eastern part of the state, where it has been for the past year as Mrs. Jennie S. Newbury of this city was president for the term that has just closed. The newly elected president

MRS. MINNIE MATHIEU.
Elected Dept. President.

is Mrs. Minnie Mathieu of Willimantic, who has been department senior vice president under Mrs. Newbury's administration. One new tent, which was at Torrington, was instituted while Mrs. Newbury was president and the year was one of activity and sustained interest among the tents of the patriotic women, which it is anticipated will be sustained under the new administration.

REBEKAHS.

A very pleasing sketch entitled, "The New Minister," was presented by members of Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 21, I. O. O. F., at its regular meeting held recently in Odd Fellows hall following the business session, at which Noble Grand Mary L. Dow presided and matters of a routine nature were transacted. The sketch created a good deal of laughter and fun and was followed by refreshments of assorted sandwiches, crullers, doughnuts and coffee.

At the close of the next meeting, May 15th, there is to be an open house for Uncas, Shetucket and Hope lodges, when a large crowd is expected to attend as an entertaining programme has been arranged. It is announced that the sewing society meets on the afternoon of each meeting night. The members are requested to come and do their bit to help out a good cause.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY

Norwich Grange Auxiliary met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Christine Hummel with a very good attendance. A quilt was tied, also other sewing accomplished. The auxiliary is holding a rummage sale and all grangers are expected to bring donations early Saturday morning, May 4, to the store across from the Mohican store.

LADIES AUXILIARY A. O. H.

The regular meeting of Ladies Auxiliary A. O. H. No. 54, was held Wednesday evening, the vice president, Miss Catherine Coughlin, officiating in the absence of the president. Miss Nellie McCarthy, Mrs. Julia Breen reported that a pleasing sum was realized from the dance held recently in T. A. B. hall and Mrs. H. McGowan and Mrs. Nellie McHale, chairman of the two recent card parties, also made excellent financial returns. The next card supper is in charge of the Misses Jane Breen, Dolly Tobin and Catherine Toomey. After the next regular meeting a social hour will be held with Mrs. E. Wickham in charge of refreshments.

A communication from Mrs. Mary O. Horan of Pittsburgh, Pa., the national president of the A. O. H., was read by the secretary. In this Mrs. Horan stated among other matters of interest to the A. O. H. that the national convention will be held this year in Minneapolis, Minn., on July 16 and 17.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre.

Nothing But the Truth, which comes to the Broadway theatre for a four-day run, is a 100 per cent talking production with no silent version. It is a veritable laugh-factory, turning out two giggles and one guffaw per second. It is the first all-talking farce Paramount has yet produced to satisfy a farce-hungry public, and it sets a high mark for succeeding farces to shoot at. A dyspeptic pessimist could see and hear it and leave the theatre a chuckling optimist.

Richard Dix does things in this that you never saw him do before. He pulls surprise after surprise with his artful pantomime and definitely joins the ranks of the masters of meaningful gestures. In addition, he speaks with a fine, vibrant voice, light enough to be winsome and just rich enough to stay out of the "heavy" class. It is his first appearance in talking pictures.

Helen Kane, in his first picture, starts auspiciously for one who has never faced the cameraman before. Her baby-talk singing and tiny, tiny voice just seem to make your heart swell up and go boom. She has one of the biggest comedy-purveying roles in the piece and she deals out a great brand of funny stuff. Helen is well-known everywhere through her phonograph recordings of popular ballads, done in the baby-talk manner.

Others in the cast are actors who have dealt out comedy successfully on the stage for years. They achieve new honors in this great all-talking, all-laughing, all-box office farce sensation.

In addition to the feature there are three entertaining Vitaphone acts presented.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 3—(AP)—Trading in the general investment issues, notably in the foreign list and a few select rails, broadened out today but failed to stimulate any general upward movement of prices. As in preceding sessions, most of the action was concentrated in a handful of popular convertibles subject to speculative buying.

Ruggedness characterized many of the standard investment issues in the late trading but the steady undertone of the fixed-income securities was manifested in the firmness of United States government obligations. Prices in the government list, on buying by banks and institutions mainly, scored advances ranging from 2-32 to 10-32. The Liberties are now more than a point above their low prices of the year and the treasuries from 2 to 4 points above their low levels.

American I. G. Chemical 5 1-2s, still leading the list in sales with a total of $715,000 par value, failed to duplicate its gains of preceding sessions. After some early strength, they finished down fractionally for the first net loss, since they were listed last Friday. These debentures are convertible into class A common, which carries no voting power and is subject to call at option of the company.

The convertible group as a whole turned irregular after early firmness. American International 5 1-2s, the second fastest-mover, gained a point but American Telephone 4 1-2s sold off. Alleghany corporation 5s also closed down fractionally after an early bulge. Tennessee Copper & Chemical 6s A moved downward for a net loss of 3 1-2 points but the B's finished more than a point higher.

German loans were conspicuously firm in the foreign division. After the recent disappointing news of the reparations negotiations, they sagged to levels where yields were very attractive. The Central Agricultural bank 7s ran up 2 points. The Republic 7s and various industrial and municipal issues also firmed. Brazilian issues were soft but most of the foreign list held steady, on fair buying.

Strength in the high-grade rails was evidenced by gains in Atchison General 4s, Pennsylvania issues and Southern Railway General 4s, which moved up a point to duplicate their year's high at 89.

Industrials, which have suffered in a recent shift of investment attention to rails and utilities offering good yields, moved a little lower. The disposition of prosperous corporations to call their bonds also has made them less desirable to investors seeking long-term obligations.

COSTLY CAR BEAUTY AT AMAZINGLY LOW PRICE

THE entire line of new Superior Whippet Fours and Sixes is distinguished by such beauty of design and richness of color as have never before been associated with inexpensive cars.

And Whippet is a big car, too, with plenty of room for you to lean back, stretch out your legs and relax in absolute comfort.

Mechanically, no other low-priced car has so many important advantages—full force-feed lubrication, silent timing chain, big four-wheel brakes, extra long wheelbase, oversize balloon tires, invar-strut pistons, "Finger-Tip Control," higher compression engine giving more speed, pick-up and power—and, in the Six, a heavy seven-bearing crankshaft.

FIFTY HEARINGS IN PARKING LAW CASES FOR NEW LONDON COURT TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 3—Automobile parkers continue to violate the law and as a result of their indifference in the matter at least 50 cases will be called for hearing when the police court convenes tomorrow. Twenty-four such cases were booked at police headquarters tonight and 18 others known will be presented, while additional violators will be gathered in during the night. Those already booked for parking overtime are: William B. Kingsland, 276 Prospect street, East Orange, N. J.; William R. Bliven, 13 Viets street; Morris Okorn, Westerly; John Doyle, 57 Greenleaf street, Medford, Mass.; E. A. Bauer, Quaker Hill; Charles W. Nelson, Brookline, Mass.; James Beran, Ocean Beach; Albert C. Douglass, Waterford; Raymond H. Swan, York avenue, Niantic; A. Alderman, New Haven; Alfred G. Kone, 193 Cleveland avenue, Hartford; Joseph Perrone, 43 Summer street; William W. Blake, 30 Oneco avenue; William Barclay, Hotel Mohican; Dulio Luzzi, 50 Smith street; Nathan Goodman, 123 Blydenburg avenue; Alexander McPhail, 196 Montauk avenue; John Montello, 20 Shaw street; Henry A. Beckwith, 105 Main street; Harry P. Jones, 527 East 130th street, New York; Lindsley B. Marvin, 14 Earle street, Providence; Meyer H. Hollandersky, 154 State street; Harrie L. Dill, 38 Waller street. Other violators of the auto law included John Lawsky, 21 Shapley street; George Wesley, 66 Douglass street, charged with driving without a license; Leslie B. Pearson, 26 Belden street, reckless driving, on complaint of Max Belt and George Goss, Pearson having been arrested by Patrolman Albert Iverson; Joseph A. Gorton, 80 Pequot avenue, and Gladstone H. Stevens, 231 Vauxhall street, each charged with reckless driving upon complaint of the other. Gorton and Stevens were arrested by Patrolman Lawrence Fardy.

A Friend in Need

John H. Moynihan, 27 Tribow street, Brockton, Mass., reported to the police tonight that his automobile was missing, but he did not know whether it had been stolen. Moynihan said he parked the car on Washington street yesterday afternoon and this afternoon when he went to take possession of the auto, he discovered it missing. It developed that a friend of Moynihan had caused the auto to be taken to a garage for safe-keeping when the owner allowed it to remain in the highway over night.

During the height of the rain and wind storm last night a tree was blown down in front of the property, 89 Pequot avenue. City laborers today removed the tree. The gale that continued throughout the day caused masters of a number of tugboats to head the craft for this port, where they are riding out the wind storm.

To Be Tried For Hold-Up

Charles Krieswski, 16, 11 Congdon street, and his pal, William Wlezorick, 17, of 24 Harrison street, will be in court tomorrow charged with attempted hold-up and robbery. Krieswski and Wlezorick were arrested two weeks ago after attempting to hold up Fred Simpson, proprietor of a grain store at 19 Mill street. Krieswski was shot down while escaping, but his condition is such that he will be discharged at Lawrence-Memorial hospital tomorrow morning, a half hour before the session of the police court.

GROTON MAN ACCUSES A. D. MATHER, WATERFORD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 3—Albertus D. Mather, Station 12, Waterford, was arrested tonight by Patrolman Clarence Wells, charged with reckless driving, upon complaint of Douglass C. Wilbur, 20 Ledyard avenue, Groton, the arrest of Mather being the result of his automobile colliding with and wrecking the car driven by Wilbur. Wilbur was injured, but not seriously. The autos driven by Mather and Wilbur were descending the grade of Bank street, near Colman street, the latter machine preceding that of Mather. As Wilbur started to drive to Colman street and after the car had reached the center of the highway of Bank street, the car driven by Mather crashed against Wilbur's machine, with such force as to overturn it.

Burnette Hays, of 70 Morgan street; Allen Willard, Groton; Mrs. Lillian Enos, Quaker Hill, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Dr. E. Oliver Winship has sold a building lot on Glenwood avenue to Grace L. Colt.

Car Taken For Joy Ride

Edward Geer, 485 Montauk avenue, parked his automobile in the rear of the National Bank of Commerce last night and when he went there to drive home, the car was missing. A report of the theft was made at police headquarters and two hours later the machine, a Packard, was found abandoned on Brewer street.

WEST VIRGINIA WOMAN SEEKS BROTHER'S ADDRESS

Mrs. Ruby Ashworth, Huntington, West Va., has requested the New London police to assist her in ascertaining the whereabouts of her brother, J. H. Miller, whose last known address was 12 Methodist street. Miller is a former sailor, stationed at the Submarine base.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the drivers' licenses of George Pearson, Submarine base, and F. P. Low, U. S. Coast Guard. The right to drive was also denied Roscoe Pennell, U. S. Coast Guard. Commissioner Stoeckel ordered the return of the driver's license to John F. Congdon, 396 Bank street.

AIRPLANE PROPELLER BROKE S. J. COALE'S LEG

Samuel J. Coale, Jr., of Berlin, Conn., employed by the Red Wing Flying Co., Inc., of Ware, Mass., was painfully injured late yesterday at the state flying field, Eastern Point, sustaining a compound fracture of the leg. He is a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital. Coale, with other employes, was on the field handling planes and in walking too close to one, the engine of which was running, he was struck by the propeller. Coale was given emergency treatment and then was taken to the hospital.

Driving Father's Car

PROFIT IN GASOLINE INDICATED BY LEASES

Henry H. DeBeaulieu today leased his two gasoline filling stations to the Tide Water Oil Sales corporation. One of the stations is located at the corner of Ocean avenue and School street and is leased for a term of ten years, dating from May 1, 1929, at the annual rental of $2,000. The other station is at the corner of Williams and Bragaw streets and the term of the lease is for the same duration, but at the annual rental of $2,400. A stipulation of the lease is that should the sales of gasoline exceed 150,000 gallons in any one year, from the date of such sale the annual rental will be $3,000 for the balance of the term of the lease.

ALCOHOL, BEER, GLASSES, SEIZED AT WOODLAND GROVE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 3—State police last night raided the resort at Woodland Grove, Waterford, occupied by Joseph Naples, long reputed to be a house of ill fame and a place where liquor was sold. The visit of the police resulted in the latter allegation being substantiated by evidence found there but no evidence warranted the former charge. Naples was arrested on a charge of violation of the liquor law and is held in bail of $1,000 for trial in the Waterford town court Monday next. For a quantity of alcohol and beer, together with numerous whiskey glasses were seized. Mrs. Lottie Naples, wife of the proprietor; Thomas Murphy, Douglas Helm and Henry Nessick, submarine base; Marjorie Sandora, Station 7 Waterford and Joseph Nelson, 29 Kimberly avenue, New Haven, who were found in the house, were arrested on a charge of frequenting and were held for trial in bail of $25. The raid was made by State Police Officers John Smith, Bernard Kennerson and Arthur Whitmarsh.

The funeral of Dolores Morsetti, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo Morsetti, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of the parents, 85 Smith street. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

RUTH ULLMAYER'S CLAIMS MYSTIFY LOCAL POLICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 3—Mrs. Ruth Ullmayer, 27, alias Ruth Coleman, Betty Nelson and Irene Marks, who says she is a resident of New London and a trained nurse is under arrest at New York charged with carrying a concealed weapon and passing worthless checks. She also claims to be the wife of John Ullmayer. A request of the New London police has been made for a record of the woman, but Mrs. Ullmayer is not known to them. In 1925, John Ullmayer and wife resided at 36 Truman street and at that time Ullmayer was arrested on a charge of non-support. He was tried in the police court and sentenced to six months in jail, but upon his promise to contribute $10 weekly to his wife's support, execution of the sentence was suspended. At the Truman street address occupants of the house are not aware of Ullmayer's present address.

A BOSTON CAR TAKEN, BUT BY OWNER'S BROTHER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 3—Raymond H. Jackson, 208 West Canton street, Boston, made complaint to the New London police at 2.50 o'clock this morning that his Hupmobile which he had parked but a brief time in front of the union station had been stolen. He said that the car had been observed to turn from State to Bank street. The state police barracks were requested to be on the lookout for the car. Two hours later, Lieut. Bushey observed the auto passing through Saybrook and held up the driver, another Jackson, who possessed a license. Jackson, however, was brought back to New London by Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin and Patrolman William Manice and it was developed that he was a brother of the owner of the machine and claimed to have used it through a misunderstanding between himself and his brother. The charge was withdrawn. Inquiry of the Boston police revealed that Jackson is a recognized bootlegger, but no liquor was found in the machine.

GREENEVILLE

N. M. SEWING CIRCLE HELD WEEKLY MEETING

The Greeneville N. M. Sewing circle held their weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. Helgo Ericson on Golden street Friday evening with a large class present. The first period of the evening was devoted to sewing of fancy articles after which a social hour was enjoyed with piano and vocal solos featuring. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Day and Mrs. Harold Wickham. The dining room was prettily decorated in the color scheme of green and gold. The class will hold its next meeting Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas Harrington on Central avenue.

Bitten by Dog

While waiting for a car at Sixth street Friday evening Miss Snow of Taftville was bitten in the leg by a dog owned by Dr. Paul Gadle. Miss Snow went to the office of Dr. Gadle where medical treatment was administered.

Mrs. John Casey, Miss Sarah Shea, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eccles of Prospect street will leave today (Saturday) to spend the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Webber of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The little Busy Bees held their May meeting Thursday afternoon with Miss Roberta Cole of 13th street. Work was continued on the scrap books the young ladies are making for the hospital. At the close of the work hour refreshments were served. A May pole cake formed an attractive center piece on the dining room table. A social hour followed during which games were played and Miss Helen Hooker of Hartford entertained with fancy dances in her usual charming manner.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Greeneville Congregational church was held in the church parlors Wednesday evening. The various reports were read and the vice president, Mrs. Jennie Young, presided. Plans were made for their annual banquet to be held next month and Mrs. Paul Zahn was elected chairman. After business was transacted, refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. Paul Zahn, Mrs. Clinton Atterbury, Mrs. William Kramer, and Mrs. Charles Foster.

Thursday evening the K. B. sewing class of Aux. 18, A. O. H. met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Niles of Division street. Several very beautiful lamp shades are being made. Of much interest to the class was the completion of all plans for the mammoth whist to be held next week.

After sewing, Mrs. Niles served a lunch of sandwiches, cake, and coffee and was assisted by Mrs. Dennis Sullivan, and Mrs. Andrew Boyens. Miss Joan Niles played several piano solos which the class members greatly enjoyed.

Next week Thursday evening the class meets at the home of Mrs. John Brennan of 117 Fourth street.

NO DEFINITE PLANS FOR USE OF THE FAIR GROUNDS

Attorney Francis Gilman, who, together with his brother, George H. Gilman, both of this city, purchased the Norwich fairgrounds at East Great Plain, the property of the New London County Agricultural society, at public auction Wednesday afternoon, said Friday evening that he had not made up his mind what he would do with the property. He said that it would make a splendid aviation field. Asked if he would sell the land to be used for a site for the New London county home or for an aviation field, Mr. Gilman said that he might, but he was only speaking for himself. No one has approached him relative to buying it for this purpose, he said.

$20,000 BEQUESTS TO FORMER LOCAL RESIDENTS

Two former residents of the East Great Plain section of Norwich, the Misses Phila Pauline Lyman and Caroline C. Lyman, sisters, who have been residents of Hartford for a number of years are beneficiaries under the will of the late Moses Stern of Hartford, who left them $20,000 each. He also left them his furniture and other personal belongings in the apartment in which he lived.

The remainder of the estate is divided into ten equal parts which are left six sisters, one brother and to nieces and nephews.

Before Sprague Town Court

Louis Sigal of this city was before Justice of the Peace Henry Adams in the Sprague town court Friday on the charge of abandoning an automobile upon a public highway on Jan. 18. The automobile was the wreckage of a motor truck that had been burned. The case was nolled by the Justice on payment of a small bill of costs. Sigal claimed that he had notified the constables of the town that he could not move the truck until insurance adjusters had seen it.

FEDERAL MEN ARRIVE AT THIRD ST. HOUSE WHILE BIG STILL IS WORKING

Federal officers looking for violations of the liquor law interposed a serious obstacle to what seemed to be the plans of Boris Avdevich to embark in the moonshine trade on a wholesale scale when they appeared at his home at 12 Third street about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon and found a big 150 gallon copper still at work there. It was claimed that the still was only put in on Thursday and had just got into working order, the heat being furnished by a big specially constructed gas plate.

Besides the big still, which was a circular copper tank about 4 feet high and 3 feet in diameter, the officers found 14 five-gallon cans of corn alcohol, 9 one-gallon jugs, all containing liquor, 4 quart bottles and 4 pint bottles of alleged moonshine, a 75 gallon still and eight 5-gallon barrels of mash. The mash was destroyed but everything else was taken to police headquarters.

Avdevich was arrested by the officers who were Stanton L. Briggs, head of the federal force in this state, Harry Avery and William Congdon of Willimantic, who were accompanied by Officer Carroll of the local force. Avdevich was brought before U. S. Thayer building and the case was continued until next Saturday, May 11, with a bond of $1,000 accepted from Mrs. Anna Mierzjewski.

Officer Patrick Murphy with the patrol wagon and assisted by Officer Carroll transported the two stills, the cans, jugs and bottles of liquor to police headquarters, from which these articles were later removed to Willimantic by the federal officers.

The search warrant which the federal officers had was issued, it was understood, upon information given by Joseph Ladyka who stated that he had bought several drinks in the Avdevich place on Easter Sunday and Avdevich had also given him a drink for nothing but refused to sell him a quart, which Ladyka asked for.

The smaller still found at the Avdevich house was in the attic and was disconnected, having been displaced by the larger one. Some of the containers of liquor were found under the mattress of a crib.

This makes the second time that Avdevich has been arrested on a liquor charge as he was caught by the local police on Jan. 5, 1928, was fined $200 and costs and given a jail sentence of 10 days.

CLEVER MINSTREL SHOW BY CENTRAL FELLOWSHIP CLUB

The Central Fellowship club presented its second annual minstrel show Friday evening at Bushnell chapel in the Central Baptist church to the delight of a large audience. The show, given under the direction of Lloyd Neil, was splendidly given and eclipsed the previous efforts of the club. There was a well arranged programme, containing a variety of specialty numbers, which were out of the ordinary, and music, both vocal and instrumental, that was a feature. On top of this the audience were let in on a barrage of snappy jokes, exchanged by the end men and interlocutor, who was Emory H. Davis.

The end men were Mose, Frank Steinke; Snowball, Frank Dodge; Rastus, E. Boyden Taylor; Bones, Donald Royce; Midnight, Floyd Lambert; and Sambo, Stanton Smith. The chorus comprised Misses Marion Royce, Signe Seaberg, Alma Taylor, Unabelle Harbeck, Grace Taft, Mildred Cass, Amie March, Helen Bellows, Viola S. Hill, E. Hill and Miss Nevins and Louis Mell, Stuart Hynd, G. Lambert, S. Smith, H. Ludlow, R. Storms, G. McNeil, A. Brown, A. Armstrong, Shepard Palmer, A. Nevins, Earle Swan and Edward Abel. The pianist was Dwight Richardson.

The programme was as follows:

Overture—"In the Land of Cotton," entire company; end song—"In Memory's Garden," Frank Steinke; duet—"Carolina Moon," Miss Viola Hill and Miss Amie March; end song—"That Funny Melody," Floyd Lambert; girls' quartette, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," Miss Marion Royce, Miss Viola Hill, Miss Unabelle Harbeck, Miss Amie March; mid-chorus—"Down Among the Sugar Cane," the entire company; end song—"Chloe," Frank Dodge; cornet duet—"Sweet Mystery of Life," Miss Grace Taft, Shepard Palmer, Jr.; end song—"I Loved You Then," E. Boyden Taylor; solo—"Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," Louis Mell; end song—"Just a Bum," Stanton Smith; end song—"Sweetheart of All My Dreams," Donald Royce; boys' quartette — "Yankee Doodle Boy," Dwight Richardson, Frank Dodge, Stuart Hynd, Earle Swan; solo—"Old Black Joe," Frank Steinke; piano solo—"Flapperette," Dwight Richardson; finale—"Dixie," the entire company.

MISS FAY HILL WINNER OF WILLIAMS PRIZE READINGS

Eight Academy girls contested Friday evening at Slater hall in the Williams prize readings, providing a very interesting evening for the large audience which listened to the programme.

Before the readings the Academy orchestra was heard in three well rendered selections, playing Music Flag Day by Schramm, Valse Pathetique by Lake and Venetian Love Dance by Rich.

The following were the contestants and their selections:

Leonardo DaVinci (Alfred Noyes), Gertrude Church, '30. The Little God and Dicky (Josephine Dodge Vasham), Rena Cantlin, '31. The Spanish Jew's Tale (Henry Wadsworth Longfellow), Fay Hill, '30. The Highway Man (Alfred Noyes), Mary Kostawlch, '32. An Imperial Secret (Alexander Dumas), Fagie Mandell, '30. The Barrel Organ (Alfred Noyes), Anna Peck, '29. An Adaptation from the Bird's Christmas Carol (Kate Douglas Wiggin), Rose Pasnik, '31. A Speech to New-Made Citizens (Woodrow Wilson), Rose Dugas, '32.

The judges announced their decision to Principal H. A. Tirrell later in the evening, giving first, the Williams prize of $15, to Miss Fay Hill, and second, the Cadden prize of $10 to Miss Gertrude Church, with honorable mention to Miss Fagie Mandell.

WHIST AND PINOCHLE HELD AT FORESTERS CLUB

A large attendance rewarded the committee that conducted the whist and pinochle card party of the S. M. D. club at Foresters club Friday night, with Louis Sautter, Charles Lasch and M. J. Duggan in charge.

Winners at whist were the following:

Mrs. McKelvey, Jr., 34, Mrs. J. Gladue, 33, Mrs. J. O'Brien, 32, and J. Delaney, 40, Ed. Sullivan, 38, Harry Collins, 32.

At pinochle the winners were: Mrs. Retkowski, 7,420, Mrs. Bjorke, 7,250, Mrs. Casey, 7,250, and John Blank, 8,240, John Hiebold, 7,920, John Lafferty, 7,270.

McAll Association Annual

The 45th annual meeting of the American McAll association will be held in the Church of the Redeemer in New Haven on Wednesday and Thursday, May 8 and 9. The morning session opens at 10.30.

An evening service will be held at the United church on the Green, on Wednesday and Dr. Charles R. Erdiwan, president of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church, will speak.

Returning from Miami.

Herbert W. Lucas, whose habit of recent years has been to spend the winter and early spring season in Miami, Fla., is on the way back from there to his home in this city. He came as far as Washington by bus and was at the national capital on Thursday.

Mr. Lucas saw the Boston National league team while in its training season in Florida and he advises the fans to keep their eyes on the Boston Braves this year.

Entertained at Bridge.

Miss Mildred A. Cass of Pearl street entertained with two tables of bridge at her home Wednesday evening, the prizes going to Miss Chrystal Whitney, and Miss Eunice Taft.

TWO OUT OF 64 TOWNS SHUN DAYLIGHT TIME

Daylight saving time is being more widely observed this year than in 1928, according to a state-wide survey just completed by the Connecticut chamber of commerce in co-operation with local chambers of commerce. Out of a total of 64 communities, only two —Kent and Old Saybrook—are operating on standard time. Last year, four out of a total of 51 communities surveyed remained on standard time. These were Clinton, Guilford, Kent and New Milford.

Following are the communities included in the 1929 survey which are operating on daylight saving time: Ansonia, Bethel, Brooklyn, Branford, Bridgeport, Bristol, Clinton, Colchester, Cromwell, Danbury, Danielson, Derby, East Hampton, East Hartford, East Haven, Essex, Glastonbury, Greenwich, Groton, Guilford, Hamden, Hartford, Lakeville, Manchester, Meriden, Middletown, Milford, Moosup, Mystic, Naugatuck, New Britain, New Canaan, New Haven, New London, New Milford, Newtown, Niantic, Norwalk, Norwich, Plainville, Portland, Putnam, Rockville, Seymour, Sharon, Shelton, Southington, South Windsor, Stamford, Stratford, Thompsonville, Torrington, Wallingford, Waterbury, Waterford, West Hartford, West Haven, Westport, Willimantic, Windsor, Windsor Locks, Winsted.

NORWICH TOWN

REV. ARTHUR C. ADAMS SPEAKER AT FIRST CHURCH

In the chapel of the Congregational church, the women's department of the League of Service put on a special program in place of the regular Thursday evening prayer meeting. The committee in charge, Miss Charlotte Barbour and Mrs. John L. Browning, conducted the opening service with hymns, Scripture and prayer. Miss Jennie M. Case, secretary of the league, gave a brief report of the year's work, and Betty Browning sang the hymn, "I Think When I Read that Sweet Story of Old," voice and action making this illustrated song most effective. Miss Louise Hyde accompanied for the hymns and Mrs. D. W. Avery for the illustrated song.

The speaker was Rev. Arthur C. Adams, recently returned from social service work in South Africa. Mr. Adams contrasted Johannesburg, a modern city only 40 years old, with Natal, where primitive conditions still prevail. Here the churches are filled with women, but few men are found in the churches as they have gone to the gold mines of Johannesburg. Night schools furnish the main opportunity for the cattle boys' education. The boys strip the inner tubes of auto tires and bind about the legs to prevent snake bites. The able-bodied men from the outlying regions flock to Johannesburg and sign a year's contract to work in the gold mines. The wages paid range from 35 cents to $2 a day. The natives are not allowed to live in the city proper, but are segregated on the outskirts of the town and in the slums. They live in galvanized shacks. About 200,000 of the natives come into the city every year, seeking work. The only reason for the existence of Johannesburg is gold. This city is the hub in which the interests of a large area concentrate. As there is no manufacturing here the city furnishes a splendid market for the other nations.

The color line is more sharply drawn than in any other part of the world. A native coming to the city for work has a print taken of his hand. He is not allowed on the city streets except between the hours of 4 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., and then only to pass to and from work. He must secure a pass to be used between 4:30 and 9 p. m., in his own district. If found on the streets after 9 p. m., he is fined or jailed. Mr. Adams outlined some of the social work being done for these men who come to the city to make a living. He referred to the pioneer work which Dr. Fred Bridgman began some years ago and which blossomed into a finely equipped hospital. Mr. Adams related some of his own experiences as secretary of the Y. M. C. A. building in Johannesburg, and of his work with a native troop of Pathfinders. While the white boys' troop is called Boy Scouts, the native troop is called Pathfinders, as the whites do not want to carry the same designation as the natives. The uniform must also be varied from that of the Boy Scouts. The routine of camp life, the drills and tests of the Pathfinders are practically the same as those of the Scouts. The native boy is easy in discipline, eager to learn, fine in group singing and shows himself capable in every way of doing what the white boy does. Mr. Adams found good sport in adapting camp songs to old Yale melodies. He found that the Yale "Bulldog" melody gave great pep to the native troop.

Some of the opposing features to the social work are communistic propaganda, atheism, and the usual temptations of a large city with its dance halls and free spending of money. Many boys are so much engrossed with the city's glamour they forget to write home or care to go home. Yet there are hopeful signs on the horizon in the interest which many boys with leadership qualities are taking in the future of their own people, and not a few have already devoted themselves to the task of uplifting their race. The churches on Sunday are filled with men.

Mr. Adams received words of appreciation for his instructive address by the pastor of the church, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, and after a social hour with light refreshments the meeting adjourned.

Square Meal Demonstration

Norwich Town group of New London County Home and Farm bureau held an all-day meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Wellington Miner, Vergason avenue, with an attendance of eight. Miss Ruth Russell, during the morning, gave a demonstration on Square Meals. With the assistance of those present the following were prepared: Raised graham muffins, rye muffins, cabbage salad with mayonnaise dressing, Chinese rice, steamed pudding and cocoanut candy. At the noon meal these were served. Each member carried a basket lunch and the hostess served potato salad, sandwiches, tapioca pudding and coffee. During the afternoon, Miss Russell lectured on the vitamins, proteins, fats, etc., found in the different foods consumed. Besides the hostess and demonstrator, those attending included the leader, Mrs. William Weaver, also Mrs. Ernest Washington, Mrs. Thomas Beetham, Miss Florence Browning, Mrs. Arthur Fulton and Mrs. Burdett P. Flynn.

Discharges at Backus Hospital

Patients discharged at William W. Backus hospital Friday were Mrs. Max Smotrich and infant son of 53 West Main street, Mrs. William Thompson, 644 Main street, Mrs. Fred Charbonneau, 37 Penobscot street, and Jacob Socha, 184 Boswell avenue.

TAFTVILLE

A birthday party was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Moors in honor of the 10th birthday of their daughter Evelyn. Games were played and there were piano selections and games. There was a large birthday cake with 10 candles. The refreshments consisted of cake, ice cream, fancy cookies, candy and fruit punch. Those present at the party were Miss Elsie Airey, Miss Ena Scott, Miss Liberty Johnson, Miss Edith Seddon, Miss Evelyn Moors, Warren Hedler, Arthur Schofield, Wilfred Watts, Robert Mather and Thomas Fogarty. Miss Evelyn received many useful birthday gifts. Miss Phyllis Airey and Miss Ruth Grimshaw assisted Mrs. Moors in serving the refreshments.

Lightning struck the house of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Potter and family of Jewett City road during the severe electrical storm Thursday night. Several bricks were dislodged from the chimney. The radio antenna at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Weller, Jr., of Blissville was also struck by the lightning. In various parts of that village, electric light trouble developed.

Rev. and Mrs. Harvey H. Conklin and their sons Harvey, Jr., and Willard are to leave early Monday morning for their new home in Jacksonville, Florida, where Rev. Mr. Conklin has accepted the pastorate of a large church built in 1925 at a cost of $85,000. For the past few years he has been pastor of the Versailles Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Thomas Perkins Sears of North Fifth avenue was in New London Thursday attending the state convention of the American Legion auxiliary.

Joseph Paul has been ill with an attack of the grip at his home on South A street.

It has been announced that the service at the Versailles Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday will be at 9:30 daylight time, and the church school will convene at 10:45 daylight time.

The members of the St. Louis society held a business meeting Friday evening with a large attendance. The society is taking part in the plans of the convention of Franco-American societies the latter part of this month.

Wiley Stewart of Aloha, Louisiana, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Stewart of Norwich avenue.

Plans are being made by the members of the choir of the Versailles Methodist Episcopal church to present their play "That's One on Bill" in Baltic in the near future.

Henry Marland is in Winsted today (Saturday) to attend the funeral of William Heath.

Lost letters advertised this week at the local post office are for Mrs. I. Rivest, Joseph Kloreau, James Hartley, Joseph Millville, J. B. Gladin, Miss Mary Loffler.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Frohnmayer moved Thursday from Dion street to an apartment in the new house owned by Mrs. Clara T. Caron on Prentice street.

A birthday party was given in honor of the eleventh birthday of Miss Edith M. Seddon, Thursday afternoon at her home 12 North B street. Refreshments of cake, candy and ice cream were served by Mrs. Percy Seddon assisted by Mrs. Frederick Thorpe. Each child was given a favor filled with candy. The color scheme for the affair being pink, the table was adorned with a large cake containing 11 candles and a lovely pink May basket which contained many beautiful gifts from her cousins and friends. Piano selections were given by Mrs. W. P. Seddon and Miss Inez Seddon. Games were enjoyed by all. Those present were Miss Inez Seddon, Miss Lucille Seddon, Miss Aurore Seddon, Miss May Krodel, Miss Maurice Gulette of Hartford, Miss Ena Scott, Miss Elsie Airey, Miss Evelyn Moors, Miss Liberty Johnson, Stanley Holden, Irving Seddon, William Seddon, Walter Seddon and Douglas Whiting.

A young woman aged about 18, who claimed she came from New London, and who appeared to have violated the Volstead act, slipped and fell on Providence street Thursday evening and was unable to remain her equilibrium. A kind hearted woman who resides on the street assisted the girl into her house, where she washed her mud-splashed face and prepared her a drink of strong coffee. When the girl seemed able to walk to the trolley, she was allowed to depart for the Whaling City.

STATE OF SIEGE STILL IN FORCE IN BERLIN SUBURBS

Strong Police Cordons Are Circling the Districts of Neukoelin and Wedding—There Has been No Repetition of Open Street Fighting Which in Four Days From May Day Had Brought Death to 27 Persons and Serious Wounds to Hundreds.

BERLIN, May 5 (AP)—The state of siege in two suburbs of the capital was in no way relaxed tonight although the day passed without further communist violence except for scattered shots in the early hours before dawn. There had been no repetition of the open street fighting which in four days from May day had brought deaths to 27 persons and serious wounds to hundreds.

Strong police Cordons today still circled the districts of Neukoelin and wedding and barred wire obstructions still closed the areas to all who could not show cause for their presence. Traffic was slowly resumed in the districts after having been at a standstill from the time the demonstrators first seized the streets and defied the police. The residents were allowed to move about freely during daylight but at 9.00 o'clock tonight the police order for them to remain indoors was again applied.

The only shooting as the fifth day began was the assault of a police officer and the attempts by police to clear roofs from which sniping had earlier been done. A newspaper reported finding a box of cartriges on a railway car which the police alleged were of Russian origin.

Police Chief Karl Zoergiebel tonight ordered the police in the disturbed areas to us the greatest care to refrain from shooting and to return scattered shots from snipers. Instead the officers were to search houses, all of which were ordered to be kept unlocked during the night.

Distribution of copies of communist papers "Rote Front" and "Rote Sturmfahne" in Neukoelin in place of the forbidden "Rote Fahne" led to further arrests late today. After registration of names 100 of those arrested since May dav were released today.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister, addressing the annual meeting of the people's party government employes organization today, said that the communist disturbances, which "were by no means merely local,' arising at this moment of financial need demonstrated that no state can exist unless it has a healthy working relationship between capital and the proletariat. It was essential moreover to protect the salaried and clerical class which had proved the mainstay of the government.

The British ambassador has under consideration diplomatic steps with regard to the shooting to death in Neukoelin of C. E. Mackay, New Zealand journalist, but no action has been decided upon. A police autopsy tomorrow was regarded by the British consulate and diplomatic authorities as necessary before an official report can be made to the British government.

Mackay had no relatives here so the Foreign Press association of Berlin has cooperated with the British authorities and the Reverend R. H. Cragg, pastor of the British church in arranging for the funeral and for burial Tuesday or Wednesday.

Twenty-nine of the hundreds injured earlier in the disorders still were in serious conditio of hospitals tonight. The police still detailed about 100 prisoners besides a "considerable number" arrested today.

An attempt to transfer the center of activities from Neukoelin on the southeast to Wedding on the north was frustrated today by the police closing three wedding on the north was frustrated today by the police closing three wedding subway stations.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

VIENNA, May 5—(AP)—Parliament ratified the new coalition cabinet of Premier Ernst Streerurwitz. The vote was 89 to 59.

BEIRUT, Syria, May 5—(AP)—At least 50 persons perished at Deirezzor in extensive floods caused by overflowing of the Euphrates river. About 200 houses were destroyed.

DOVER, England, May 5—(AP)—Mlle. Aimee Pfanner, a 22-year-old mannequin, reached Dover at 6:05 p. m., yesterday, having crossed the English channel from Calais on a hydro-cycle in nine hours and 19 minutes.

KONIGSBERG, Germany, May 5—(AP)—Two members of the Steel Helmet organization received serious knife wounds and 16 persons were arrested in disorders growing out of a two-day meeting of the nationalists here. The return of the Danzig corridor to Germany was announced as now part of the program of the Steel Helmet organization.

PARIS, May 5—(AP)—Countrywide municipal and departmental elections progressed throughout the day with the greatest calm despite the particularly bitter campaign which preceded them. No disorders were reported. The first returns tended to show a victory for the moderate parties. Only one communist was elected out of more than 300 contests on which early returns were made.

LONDON, May 5—(AP)—Continental police have begun an investigation of a mysterious diamond robbery involving stones valued at £25,000 (about $125,000). An international gang is believed to be involved. The diamonds were posted in registered mail from Lorenco Marquez, Portuguese East Africa, to an Antwerp firm. When the parcels reached Antwerp they were found to contain only worthless pebbles. The original seals had been removed and others substituted.

TWO MOTOR VEHICLE BILLS STILL AWAIT ENACTMENT

STATE CAPITOL, Hartford, May 5—(AP)—Legislation relating to every of life, was considered, adopted or rejected by the present general assembly, but probably the greatest interest was accorded its work in the realm of the motor vehicle—traffic, operation, insurance, gasoline, oil, damages, injuries, fatalities, everything also relating to the automobile and the truck.

Sixty bills or so were presented to the legislators for consideration. Out of these, 60 emerged four or five major bills, which were enacted, and about 10 others, also enacted. The remaining 45 were discarded, many of them merely because they were incorporated in one major bill—such as that bill, now a law, which provided for two score phases of motor vehicle operation.

Two bills, one passed in the senate and the other in the house, still await final enactment. One of them would make the state a pioneer among all the states in the world in the type of activity which it outlines—basically, it provides a merit rating system for insurance, the motor vehicle commissioner to designate the classifications, the insurance companies to fix the rates, all of them based on the carefulness of the driver, his accident and his legal recodr. The other sets up a standard government test for lubricating oil and went through the house only after a fight.

The first bill probably will appear tomorrow in the house, the second in the senate. Both are assured of passage, though the interstate commerce act concerning the shipment of lubricating oil may lead to doubt as to the constitutionality of the second measure.

NAVAL EXPERTS OF FIVE BIG SEA POWERS TO MEET

GENEVA, May 5—(AP)—A disarmament meeting of naval experts of the five big sea powers, probably in Washington, promises to be a feature of coming disarmament negotiations. A delegate of one of the maritime nations expressed the opinion tonight that it will be impracticable to conduct the slated conversation between Britain, the United States, Japan, France and Italy by long distance exchange of written communications.

He therefore foresaw likelihood when the governments have completed their studies of the recent American suggestions that the experts will be obliged to group themselves around a table and talk.

The preparatory commission for a disarmament conference probably will adjourn tomorrow after reaching agreement to postpone further detailed consideration of the naval question. The delegates of all naval powers plan to advocate such action.

Japan, Great Britain, France and Italy are expected to emphasize the necessity for time to subject the American ideas to technical scrutiny, especially the suggestion concerning estimation of strength of fleets by a formula of equivalent tonnage.

CROSSED ATLANTIC OCEAN IN A 22-FOOT LIFEBOAT

GIBARA, Cuba, May 5—(AP)—Paul Muller, German, has arrived here after a safe crossing of the Atlantic in a 22-foot lifeboat called the "Aga." He used a sail as well as oars to propel his craft. So unexpected was his appearance that he was detained yesterday because of lack of papers. He continued toward Havana today.

He left Hamburg, Germany on July 6, 1928, and cruised leisurely down the coast of Europe and Africa until at Tenerife in the Canary Islands he took aboard supplies and pointed his small craft toward the opposite shore of the Atlantic. He had reached the Canary Islands February 2, 1929.

Muller, who is 43 years of age, expects to reach Havana late this week and will then sail northwar dfor New York. He is already planning a return trip to Germany over a more northerly route that would bring him to England.

TWO WORKMEN WERE DROWNED IN PROVIDENCE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 5—(AP)—Carried to death when a 65-ton locomotive crane they were working on, plunged from a temporary runway, two workmen of the Merritt, Chapman and Scott corporation, were buried alive beneath the waters of the Seekonk river at Washington bridge, East Providence, today. The tragedy brought the total of deaths since work started on the bridge last August to four.

Divers and other workmen of the company strived up to a late hour tonight to recover the bodies, thought to be crushed under the heavy apparatus in ten feet of water and mud.

SUCCESSFUL TEST OF TWO WAY PHONE CONVERSATION

TORONTO, May 5—(AP)—A successful test of a two-way telephone conversation carried on between an express train on the Canadian National railways speeding toward Allendalen and the office of the telegraph company at Cotonto, was held today.

The system of telephone communication was worked out by the railroad's telegraph engineers and was the first time a sustained two-way conversation has ever been held from a moving train.

The conversation was carried on between W. D. Robb, vice-president in charge of the telegraph department of the railroad, and W. G. Barber, general manager of the Canadian National Telegraphs. A connection linking the train with the office here was made with the celerity of the usual local telephone connection.

The system makes use of radio, telegraph and telephone lines with the usual transmitting and receiving sets for the passengers on the train. Those on board call the operator on the train, giving the number wanted, and the operator signals by radio a terminal station at a point on the railroad. Here the call is retransmitted over the usual commercial telephone lines and the communication established.

The train operator reaches the terminal point by transmitting a radio impulse from the moving train to the group of commercial telegraph wires running beside the track. This group of wires acts as giant antennae to the terminal station. Here the call is switched to the telephone the use of the telegraph wires as antennae in no wise interferes with the wires used for telegraph or telephone operation. The terminal point in today's demonstration was at Davenport, Ont.

Germany has been using train telephone communication for some time, but it is one-way in operation. The equipment has to be readjusted when the listener desires to make a reply. Officials of the Canadian National railroads said tonight that as a result of today's test the railroad between Montreal and Toronto would be installed with equipment for train telephone.

ATTENDED MASS CELEBRATED BY CARDINAL O'CONNELL

ROME, May 5—(AP)—Boston pilgrims to the number of 250 attended mass celebrated by Cardinal O'Connell this morning in Saint Susanna's church of American Catholics in Rome. Fully 50 of their number received communion at the hands of the cardinal, while the choir of the American college of which he is a former rector sang hymns of the cardinal's own composition.

Every seat in the church was filled before Cardinal O'Connell was received at the door by the Rev. Thomas D. O'Neil, rector of Saint Susanna's, and solemnly ushered in. The cardinal said low mass assisted by Monsignors Splaine and Spellman.

He then addressed the congregation. Dwelling on yesterday's impressive audience with the pope he said the pilgrims should be most thankful for the warmth of the welcome as well as for the privilege of visiting "this wonderful and beautiful land of Italy, home of art and culture, but above all home of the vicar of Christ."

Cardinal O'Connell told his congregation that the pope gave all the visiting priests the privilege of imparting his own apostolic benediction to their parishioners. He then distributed medals which the pontiff consigned him yesterday as mementos of the pilgrimage.

BRIDGEPORT WOMAN COMMITTED SUICIDE

BRIDGEPORT, May 5—(AP)—After tucking her two children into bed and tying the bedroom door shut with a clothesline so that they could not come out into the gas-filled kitchen, Mrs. Lillie Calcaterra, 25, of 73 Beecher street, went into the kitchen last night and committed suicide by gas.

At 11:50 o'clock this morning, Benjamin Calcaterra, her husband, returned to his home and hurrying into the kitchen, he found his wife sitting in a chair facing the open burners on the gas stove. She was dead.

DIED OF HEART ATTACK IN ST. PETER'S CHURCH, ROME

ROME, May 5—(AP)—The Reverend Daniel J. Heffernan of Billerical, Mass., died of a heart attack in St. Peter's church this evening a few hours after achieving his life-long ambition to say a mass in that famous shrine.

The death of the priest injected a note of tradegy into the otherwise triumphal progress of the party of 250 Boston pilgrims led by Cardinal O'Connel. The body probably will be taken back to the United States on the steamship President Wilson when the pilgrims sail on Tuesday.

Father Heffernan appeared in excellent health and high spirits this morning and when he went to the Basilica to say mass, considered a special privilege to visiting priests, he told his colleagues that he was fulfilling a lifetime ambition. He was likewise in fine health during a luncheon at noon given by Cardinal O'Connell and in the afternoon he visited the North American college with the other pilgrims.

Late this afternoon he went to vespers in St. Peter's accompanied by Father Donovan of Natick, Mass., and Father Murphy, of Atlantic, Mass. They sat in front of him and midway through the service suddenly noticed that he had left them. They discovered that he had gone into one of the side crypts where he was lying dead.

Father Heffernan had intended to go to Lourdes with his nephew Francis Biery of Andover, Mass., in hope that the poor eyesight of the latter might be cured at that shrine.

This was the second death on the pilgrimage. Mrs. Ellen Deneby of North Easton, Mass., died on the way to Italy.

THREE BALLOONS ALOFT IN ELIMINATION RACE

PITTSBURGH, May 5—(AP)—Three of the lighter than air craft that set out from here Saturday as entrants in the national elimination balloon race in quest of the honor of representing the United States in the national elimination balloon race still were in the air tonight or were unreported as having made landings. Nine were reported down in various sections of Pennsylvania and New York.

Those still in the air or unreported were:

Detroit Times, E. J. Hill, Detroit, pilot; Arthur G. Schlosser, Detroit, aide.

Navy No. 1, Lieutenant Thomas W. G. Settle, Lakehurst, pilot; Ensign Wilfred Bushnell, Lakehurst, aide.

Detroit Balloon club, S. A. U, Rasmussen, Detroit, pilot; Tracy Southworth, Monroe, Mich., aide.

A report from North Adams, Mass., said Navy No. 1, Lieutenant Settle, pilot; passed over that city tonight. A note was dropped from the balloon by Settle to establish identification, balloon headquarters learned. Later, a bag believed to be the same balloon, passed over Brattleboro, Vermont.

EARTHQUAKES ARE CAUSING TERROR IN NORTHEAST PERSIA

TEHERAN, Persia, May 5—(AP)—Telegraphid advices today told of horrible havoc in the Khorassan district of northeast Persia where earthquakes continue after causing three days of terror.

Several villages have been literally destroyed and unofficial estimates were that 2,000 persons had perished. In the cities of Shirwan and Bujnurd, near the Turkestan border, 700 buildings were demolished.

(Askhabad, Russian Turkestan, reported four violent earthquakes last Friday destroying many houses on both sides of the international line and killing 11 persons and injuring 40 in the Turkestan cities. Medical aid was sent to the Persian victims who were in much greater numbers.)

BALLOON FAILED IN EFFORT TO MAKE LANDING

SHELBURNE FALLS, Mass., May 5—(AP)—Residents of Elm Grove, nine miles north of here, reported that the crew of a balloon tried unsuccessfully to effect a landing on a hill there shortly after 7 o'clock tonight. A high wind prevailed and a heavy gust swept the craft away to the northeast.

Test Vote To Be Taken In Senate This Week

Fate of the D[illegible]ture Proposal Hin[illegible] on One or Two V[illegible]

WA[illegible]N, May 5—(AP)—The stre[illegible] administration can com[illegible] senate will be tested this [illegible] a vote is taken on the e[illegible] debenture plan which President Coover opposes as a part of his farm relief program.

Whether the plan is to be retained in the senate farm bill or eliminated hinges upon one or two votes and both sides claimed victory if their ranks hold firm to the last.

Administration leaders have been concerned at the steady drift among middle western republicans toward the plan and Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, one of those leading the government for inclusion of the debenture section, claimed a majority outright.

However, upon the basis of the latest check made by administration senators, they claim 47 votes in favor of eliminating the plan as against 46 who wish to retain it. Of the remaining three votes, two senators are ill in hospitals and one is classed as doubtful. The ability to obtain "pairs" for the absent senators and the decision of the one classed as doubtful are conditions expected to hold the key to the outcome.

Twelve republicans are admitted by administration leaders to have definitely decided in favor of the debenture. They also are certain of only four democrats. If pairs can be obtained with any of these democrats for Senators Shipstead of Minnesota and Kendrick of Wyoming, both of whom are ill, and the senator classed as doubtful finally casts his ballot with the administration group, the result would be a tie and Vice-President Curtis would be required to break it. This deduction, however, is based upon the supposition that all senators not ill or not paired will be in their seats.

Senator McNary of Oregon, who is in charge of the farm bill, does not look for a vote on the debenture section before Wednesday. A half dozen senators desire to be heard and at the rate the debate has progressed, this probably will take two full sessions.

$7,500,000 WAS TAKEN FROM MEX. REBELS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 5—(AP)—Two alleged Mexican rebels spent today in a federal jail here while a black bag containing $750,000 with which the government believes they were absconding to Spain reposed safely in the vaults of the Harrison Trust company.

Two Americans, one of them a government official who are charged with conspiring to assist the flight from Mexico by way of the United States, were at liberty under $2,500 each.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle announced tonight that the raid in which the four were arrested yesterday at a local hotel had been a complete roundup and that no others were believed to be implicated in the alleged plot.

The raid had been planned carefully by Tuttle. Under his direction a party of 20 federal agents and New York policemen headed by an assistant federal attorney entered a suite of rooms at the hotel McAlpin. They arrested Salvador Ateca, former paymaster in the Mexican rebel army; Antonio Maqueo, his secretary; Russell Matthews, assistant director of immigration at El Paso, Texas; and W. H. Fryer, former assistant United States attorney, at El Paso.

The two Mexicans had been arrested last Wednesday in Kansas City as fugitives from justice from El Paso, where Ateca was wanted for smuggling an airplane into Mexico. At Kansas City the men posted bonds of $5,000 each out of the black bag and came to New York, with secret service men on their trail.

Officials said today Ateca persists in saying the money and securities in the bag are his property and that most of them were deposited in El Paso banks before the present revolution.

TRESSLARS TO SEEK HEARING FOR PARDON

HARTFORD, May 5—(AP)—Maynard A. Tresslar and Guy Tresslar, described as dummies in the Roger W. Watkins stock swindle, will seek a hearing for a pardon Monday, when the board of pardons meets at ten a. m., at the state prison in Wethersfield. If they are granted a hearing, State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn will oppose their petition for a pardon. They have served seven months of their prison sentences.

There are 86 petitioners for pardon to be heard tomorrow. Many of the petitioners, serving life sentences, for murder, are repeaters. Michatel Ruglero and Joseph Cianfione, principals in the Enio Renaldino murder seven years ago, are among the petitioners. They are represented by William H. Lewis, Negro lawyer from Boston, Mass.

TO REOPEN RAYON PLANTS AT ELIZABETH TODAY

ELIZABETH, Tenn., May 5—(AP)—The determination of officials of the American Bemberg and American Glanzberg Rayon companies to reopen their plants here tomorrow and the pledge of union leaders that efforts would be made to prevent such action have brought the strike situation to the most acute stage of its duration.

At a mass meeting this afternoon, union leaders reiterated their pledge that "not a wheel will be allowed to turn in those plants tomorrow." They said several thousand union workers oppose the opening.

The state, county and city answered by preparing to have approximately 800 national guardsmen, deputy sheriffs and policemen ready for duty.

CONGRESSMAN TO STAND TRIAL UNDER LIQUOR LAW

KEY WEST, Fla., May 5—(AP)—Representative M. Alfred Michaelson of the Seventh Illinois District, Chicago, tonight was believed to be en route here to stand trial on charge of violating the prohibition law during the six day term of federal court beginning tomorrow.

Michaelson previously has said he is innocent of the charges and that he would be present in court when his case is called.

There appeared little likelihood today that Michaelson's case would be called for trial before Tuesday.

Damage By Tornado And Thunder Storm

Loss Estimated at $500,000 in Berlin, N. H., Along the Main Street of the City.

BERLIN, N. H., May 5—(AP)—A tornado accompanied by a thunderstorm struck the main street of this city late today and did property damage estimated at $500,000. The roofs of buildings for a distance of a half mile were ripped.

Fire broke out in a business block and virtually destroyed it.

No injury to persons was reported.

Residents observed the rapid approach of dark clouds up the Androscoggin river and in a few seconds a high wind descended upon the city. The tornado confined itself to the business district on Main street.

A two-story 100 foot garage was hit first. The roof was torn off and hurled a distance of 25 feet. Two three-story, brick blocks farther up the street were hit next. The roofs were ripped off and the interior of both structures badly damaged. A brick building containing the offices of the International Paper company, was badly damaged.

Witnesses said the tornado went from one side of the street to the other breaking plate glass windows and tearing down all the electric light poles in its path for a distance of a half mile.

The roof of the city hall suffered considerable damage as did that of the Albert theatre. The Steady block, a two story wooden building, burst into flames immediately after the tornado had passed. Although firemen confined the blaze to the building, it was totally destroyed. It was not determined whether lightning had hit the structure, or whether the effects of the tornado had caused a short circuit in the wiring.

The twister spent itself as quickly as it had come. It was estimated that it lasted only three or four minutes. The city was without electric lights tonight.

BAGGAGE IN WINGS NEW PLANE FEATURE

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—With baggage compartments in the wings and other new aeronautical engineering features employed, the Bach Aircraft corporation is putting the first of its newly designed 10-passenger monoplanes into the service of the Pickwick Airways.

The line, now linking Los Angeles and San Diego, is a forerunner of a transcontinental line. The route will be extended, according to company officials, as the new tri-motored planes are produced, until finally it stretches from Los Angeles to New York.

The plane uses a 525-horsepower Hornet engine in its nose, with two 150-horsepower Comet engines on the wings—a departure for tri-motored planes. The plane is richly finished with a walnut interior, comfortable air-cushioned aim chairs, electric lights, heaters and other conveniences.

When in operation, the transcontinental route will extend through southern Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, northeast to St. Louis, Chicago and New York.

SINCLAIR READY TO BEGIN PRISON TERM

NEW YORK, May 5—(AP)—What was expected to be Harry F. Sinclair's last free Sunday for three months was spent by the oil magnate today in seclusion at his Long Island estate.

Although no word came from him directly, through Martin W. Littleton, his counsel, it was learned that Sinclair was uncertain whether he would be asked to report at Washington tomorrow or Tuesday to begin serving his 90-day sentence for refusal to answer questions asked by the senate oil investigating committee.

"The authorities at Washington know that Mr. Sinclair will make his appearance when he is wanted," a brief statement issued by Mr. Littleton at Manhassett, Long Island, said. "The process there is rather slow and we are not sure whether he will be called Monday or Tuesday. When he is called he will be there."

RT. REV. D. CAMPION ACHESON WAS TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL

NEW HAVEN, May 5—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. D. Campion Acheson, Episcopal bishop of Connecticut, was taken suddenly ill early tonight preparatory to attending a confirmation class of 40 children in Christ church, West Haven. The bishop was driven to his home in Middletown by Rev. Floyd Steele Kenyon, rector, and his condition was said there, not to be serious.

Several weeks ago, Bishop Acheson complained of a slight infection of one eye for which he is being treated by a physician. Soon after confirming a class at Christ church, New Haven, this afternoon, he went to the West Haven church against the wishes of Rev. Kenyon and collapsed before the service began.

TARIFF REVISION TO COME BEFORE CONGRESS THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, May 5—(AP)—Tariff revision, the second major legislative task mapped out for the special session, will be placed before the congress this week in the form of a measure to supplant the seven-year-old Fordney-McCumber act.

The bill which has been formulated by the republican members of the ways and means committee after two months preparation, will be introduced in the house Tuesday, four months to the day from the date public hearings on the question began in the last congress.

DUKE OF YORK WAS IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

LONDON, May 5—(AP)—The Duke of York, second son of the king, was in a motor accident last night. He was returning to London when his automobile collided with a motorcycle and side car. Only minor damage was done to the vehicles and no personal injuries were sustained. The duke continued his journey in 15 minutes, after satisfying himself that the driver of the motorcycle was not injured.

REPARATION PROBLEM NOW UP TO FRANCE AND BELGIUM

Germany, England and Japan Have Accepted the Compromise Named by Owen D. Young—Memorandum Will Be Distributed to All the Members of the Expert Committee Today—The Offer to France Will Be 5,500,000,000 Gold Marks.

PARIS, May 5—(AP)—The question of whether the difficult reparations problem is to be settled at this time will rest upon the decision of the French and Belgian delegation to the conference on Tuesday. Germany, England and Japan have accepted the compromise evolved by Owen D. Young just as failure appeared to store the committee of experts in the face. Two weeks ago the fate of the conference rested on the Germans, but now it is in the hands of the French and Belgian delegations.

The memorandum of Mr. Young was concluded in all its details late this afternoon. Tomorrow morning, together with the German note indicating acceptance of it with certain reservations, it will be distributed to all members of the experts committee. Each delegation will then begin separate study so as to be in position to discuss both documents on Tuesday.

The French press, where it was not definitely opposed to any diminution of the French claims, was in the rather bitter mood of feeling that "one bird in the hand is worth two in Berlin."

The solution proposed by Mr. Young and the American delegation means another appreciable concession and loss to both France and Belgium as compared with their lowest figures presented to the conference chairman some weeks ago. The atmosphere in reparations circles this evening indicated that both France and Belgium were none too favorable to this solution. French circles felt that they had been maneuvered by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation. They said that it would be an error to interpret the spirit of conciliation in France for one of resignation.

The French point out that under the Allied memorandum presented three weeks ago France would receive 8,000,000,000 gold marks, while under the "German-American" figures, as the Young proposal is popularly termed, she would get only 5,500,000,000. Translated into the paper franc this means a formidable looking reduction figure of 17,000,000,000 francs.

The French consider this unsatisfactory, but expectations in political circles were of a settlement of some sort within a few days after the return to Paris of Emile Moreau late Monday or Tuesday morning. The governor of the Bank of France was called away by the municipal elections today but his associates have been in close touch with the situation.

A certain portion of the French press is chiding Mr. Young for asking France "to do what the United States themselves refused to do" in the matter of concessions in post-war financial problems. A number of headlines today referred to the Young schedule as "German-American figures" but most of the comment ended in the vein of the Petit Parisien which said "At any rate, the United States is better situated than any other nation to assist the conference out of the new blind alley which it has just entered."

The newspapers draw graphic attention to the size of the cut that France is being called upon to make by displaying prominently the Allied memorandum of April 13, the German of April 17 and Mr. Young's proposal of yesterday.

RELIGIOUS CLASH IN MOSCOW SATURDAY NIGHT

MOSCOW, May 5—(AP)—Throughout Saturday night this city was in the throes of a religious clash that required extraordinary police precaution to keep order. The occasion was the 12th post-revolutionary Passover.

Countering night-long requiems and processions around the churches, young communist army units in a huge torchlight parade with blaring bands marched through the city with anti-religious banners and caricatures singing revolutionary songs.

The opposing groups converged at the magnificent Church of Our Saviour overlooking the Kremlin on the one hand and in Ekaterinisky square on the other. At the latter place many anti-religious speeches were made.

Theatres were kept open all night with dancing between the performances.

FELL TO DEATH FROM A 150-FOOT PRECIPICE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 5—(AP)—Alfred Brooke, 9-year-old son of Prof. C. F. Tucker Brooke and Mrs. Brooke of Yale university, New Haven, fell to death from a 150-foot precipice, while on a picnic with his mother and sister at Dover Plains, southeast of here.

Mrs. Brooke and Alfred came to Poughkeepsie to visit Elizabeth Brooke, a sophomore at Vassar college. Late Saturday, the Brookes with five students left here for a picnic near Dover Plains. Alfred wandered away. His body was found on rocks and his skull was fractured.

Professor Brooke, of the English department at Yale, is lecturing in Pasadena, Calif.

A STORY OF BANDITRY INCLUDES THREE MURDERS

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 5—(AP)—An amazing story of banditry and murder was related to Detective Chief John G. Reville today by Anthony Kalkiewicz, a member of the gang held in connection with the Fedders Manufacturing company holdup of last week. The slaying of three persons during a series of holdups stazed by the bandits and the summary execution of one of their own number whom they suspected of treachery were among the details related to the police by the prisoner.

The victims were: Victor Choinicki, gangster, executed in a barn at Depew three weeks ago.

John Perraton, killed in the robbery of the Fedders plant on April 26th.

Ward J. Pierce, killed in the holdup of the Art Metal Works plant in 1925.

Patrolman Vincent Connors, shot while attempting to frustrate the robbery of a mail truck about two years ago.

Two other persons were killed when one of the bandits' cars, speeding away from the scene of a holdup, collided with an automobile causing fatal injuries to two of its occupants. Several others were wounded during the gang's depredations.

MAN SLAIN BY FORMER JUDGE AT AMARILLO, TEX.

AMARILLO, Tex., May 5—(AP)—Tom Walton, Jr., 21, shot to death by R. H. Hamilton, former judge of the Texas supreme court's commission of appeals, after he had entered Hamilton's office to tell of a secret marriage with the attorney's daughter, was sent on the fatal errand by his mother, who was silent in grief today.

The mother had been worried because Walton had kept secret his wedding to Theresa Hamilton, 19, which occurred February 10 while the two were students at Texas university. "Go and see the judge," she told her son "he'll be sensible and everything will be all right."

So Walton walked into the office yesterday saying carelessly to Miss Evelyn Watley, a stenographer, "If you hear some shooting you'll know I've been shot." A few minutes later Hamilton shot him four times, surrendered and made only this explanation: "I had rather die than kill a man but I had to protect my family."

The lawyer, prominent in Amarillo, was released under $20,000 bond, and waived preliminary hearing.

THREE PROVIDENCE FIREMEN WERE INJURED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 5—(AP)—Injury to three firemen and damage estimated unofficially at $300,000, resulted from a fire that raged in a downtown four story brick building for almost three hours late last night, and early today before it was under control.

Ladderman Phil Agnew suffered a broken ankle when a fire axe fell from a second story window and struck him. Ladderman Albert Skor, was badly cut on the left hand and partly overcome by smoke. Captain William J. Manton received a cut on his finger.

The blaze is believed to have started on the second floor of the structure and to have been drawn up through an air shaft to the fourth floor, where the greatest damage was done to that section immediately adjoining the Dreyfus hotel.

F. J. MARTIN HANGS HIMSELF IN ATTIC

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 5—The body of Frank Joseph Martin, 49, a laborer, was found by his two sons shortly after 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon hanging from a clothesline fastened to a shovel that rested across the beams of an attic trap door at his home, 976 Main street. Chief of Police Thomas F. Grady conducted an investigation and summoned Medical Examiner Dr. Louis L. Mason who pronounced death due to suicide by hanging. Relatives of the man were at a loss to explain the act except to advance the belief that the man had become forlorne and despondent during the past two years that he has occupied the little tenement of the house alone and had been able to secure but temporary employment. Martin was last seen shortly after 7 o'clock Saturday morning entering the house which is on the Mercer estate directly opposite police headquarters in the town building. Dr. Mason stated that the man had been dead for several hours. Martin had resided in this city for some 40 years and was well known. He had been a widower for some 12 years.

Discovery of the body was made by the two sons, Theodore and Frank Jr., when they came to the house to get furniture which they intended to remove to a house on Windham road. They had taken some of this furniture one week ago Saturday and by agreement with the elder Martin came for a second load. One of the young men had a key and the two entered, finding the body after a search of the tenement for the possible presence of their father. The deceased was to have observed his 50th birthday today. Medical Examiner Mason turned the body over to the Hurteau-Bosse Corp.

Frank Joseph Martin was born in St. Cecile, Quebec, May 5, 1880, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Martin. He is survived by four children: Theodore, Frank J. Jr., and Miss Noella Martin of this city and Mrs. Pierre Bellumeur of Putnam; two brothers, Eugene of this city and Napoleon of Canada; one sister, Mrs. Louis Marrotte of South Coventry and his father, Benjamin Martin, of South Coventry.

TO RAISE FUND FOR THE WILLIMANTIC SILK CO.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 5—Among the numerous irons which the chamber of commerce, under the direction of Secretary John J. O'Rourke, has in the fire at the present time, is the preparation for a campaign to raise the amount of the fund which resulted in the coming to Willimantic of the Willimantic Silk, Inc., a concern which has startled the people here by its marked growth within a short time. The company now has 104 looms in operation and 20 more are being prepared for shipment to this city. The expansion of the concern has brought into existence still another firm of similar nature that is now installing 40 looms which will put into operation next week. This second concern has ordered 60 additional looms that will be set into operation as soon as they arrive, giving a combined employment to nearly 200 persons. President Frank P. Fenton is now at work lining up a general committee which he will officially appoint to take charge of the campaign. In view of the progress made by the concern which came here greatly through the influence of interests of the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company which owns the former Quidnick-Windham mills where the new industry is located, little difficulty in raising funds to assist the concern is expected.

Walter Bradley of the public utilities company, acting on request of the chamber, recently was in conference with the officials of another industry which has expressed a desire to remove from New York. The officials, who claim that they will employ about 50 people to start operations, were favorably impressed with the advantages offered here and are to come to this city next week to investigate further. This company was founded in 1911 and manufactures a staple article for which there is a year-round demand.

Among other projects that the chamber of commerce has under immediate consideration is that of taking action on the reports of the committees of the city planning commission. The commission plans, in the near future, to outline these reports in conferences with city and town department heads.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL, JEWETT CITY

NEW ST. MARY'S SCHOOL, JEWETT CITY IS BLESSED BY BISHOP NILAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, May 5—The impressive ceremonies incident to the blessing of the new St. Mary's school by Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, D. D., of Hartford, this afternoon, were carried out under ideal conditions before an assemblage of over 3,000. Most of the great company gathered had seen this fine building grow from its foundations, had witnessed the impressive laying of the corner stone and now were there to see the grand building completed and equipped, and to hear the words of the bishop, as he invoked the divine blessing upon the school.

An Imposing Procession.

The procession of parishioners and automobiles with the bands and the church societies, made up one of the largest bodies, for a like occasion, that ever moved over the streets of the borough. All along the line of march, from South Main, to Fanning park, up East Main and through Palmer avenue and to the church and school, via North Main, the streets were lined with those who pressed forward to see. In pleasant contrast with Sunday, Nov. 4th, 1928 when the corner stone was laid today's weather proved fine.

Edward Blake and Wilfred LeClaire on horseback preceded the line.

The first division was headed by the marshals of the day, M. E. Shea, Louis Beaulieu and Martin Meszaszck. The color bearers were Lucien Marcarelle, Raymond Wheeler and Michael Solinski. Officers Henry Vezjard and State Trooper Royal Scranton marched at the head, as did also Adjutant Edgar C. Knox, of the American Legion.

Ashland Boys' band, Fred Bourque, leader, were under the marching order of P. W. Chase. On this, their first public appearance in line of march, they won admiration and plaudits for themselves and compliments for their instructors.

Four hundred children of St. Mary's parish, each carrying an American flag, were in charge of Thomas F. Barnett, Louis Cyr, James Morey and Edward Dudkowski.

The several women's societies of the parish, close to 50 in all were in charge of Mrs. Edward Rousseau, Mrs. M. E. Shea and Mrs. Andrew Burda.

Praise for Willimantic Band.

The fine appearance of the Catholic Boy Scouts' band of Willimantic, was remarked upon by the many who enjoyed their fine music along the line.

The men's societies, including the St. Casmir Polish order, were under the direction of William McGovern, George Sylveste and Joseph Jasukiewicz.

Guests in a long line of automobiles included state, town and borough officials, members of the school board, officers of the town court heads of various manufacturing interests, the architect and contractors of both school and convent, and newspaper representatives.

Ceremonies at School.

Arriving at the school, the great audience filled the school grounds in front, as well as North Main street from which state road traffic was detoured. With Bishop Nilan, upon the platform were seated a company of 40 Sisters, visiting priests, the speakers and guests for the day, including the chorus choir. Preceding the addresses Bishop Nilan performed the ceremony of the blessing of the new school, which included both the outside and inside of the new building.

Chorus of 100 Voices.

The musical program was in charge of Sister Cecelia and James Olson. A chorus of one hundred voices sang in fine harmony The Star Spangled Banner; veni Creator (Gounod); Divine Praises and America interspersed by selections by both bands.

The ceremonies in connection with the blessing of the building itself were directed by Very Rev. Msgr. William H. Flynn of Hartford, chancellor of the diocese, assisted by Rev. Francis Keough, the assistant chancellor.

Addresses in French, English, Polish

Following the imparting of the benediction by Bishop Nilan, the first speaker was Rev. Arthur Routher of Bridgeport. His address was to the French speaking audience. Rev. Father Stanislaus A. Icick of St. Joseph's parish of Norwich next spoke vicariously in Polish. Rev. Matthew Brady of St. Thomas seminary, Hartford, then delivered the following brilliant address, to which the great assemblage listened with keenest interest:

This occasion is a memorable one in the history of this parish, likewise in the annals of Jewett City. In the presence of our right reverend bishop who with benign and zealous eye sees in this ceremony a progressive step in the building of the kingdom of God; in the presence of your intrepid and devoted pastor, justifiably proud of the imposing grandeur of this edifice yet ever mindful and conscious of your support and sacrifice, who beholds in it the assurance that rising generations will find truth and training to fit them for useful and religious lives; in the presence of your civic rulers and industrial leaders who, both by office and a solemn realization of duty, are interested in every act that advances the well-being of this community; in the presence of your fellow-townsmen, filled with civic pride that another impressive educational institution will grace and bring cultural influence into their thriving township; all of us here assembled, no matter what our creed, prelate and priest and layman alike, inspired by a sincere consciousness of the tasks and duties of life together with the weakness of our own powers, fittingly and humbly dedicate this edifice with the invoked blessing of the omnipotent God, who so calmly and gently orders the course of our lives, our community and our country.

A Fundamental Issue.

In an age and a country where so many misguided minds understand neither the Catholic outlook on life nor the principles that underlie Catholic teaching, a declaration of the truths that color that outlook and underly that teaching does not weary by repetition nor does it lack instruction. The Catholic mind is profoundly persuaded that this life is a fleeting, passing show; that within these tottering temples of our bodies burns the light of an immortal soul that will never be extinguished; that our end is eternal not temporal life; that any education or preparation for life that denies or neglects this fundamental issue and outlook is, in its mildest expression, misdirected and incomplete. This outlook colors and pervades our lives. Those lives may be allured by the glitter of gold, the charms of pleasure, the mirage of glory, but to be conquered and turned from the conviction that these are other than temporal and fleeting, never! All the subtle reasoning of materialism, paganism and misconceived Christianity cannot hush that cry of our conscience, "Aeterna non caduca," "the eternal, not the perishing."

Persuasive Yet Insistent.

Like an echo of the voice of God himself above the thunders of Mt Sinai, like the echo of the gentle voice of the Son of God in the dusty byways of ancient Palestine, the church, divinely founded by Christ to continue his mission, thunders and pleads in a restless world for men to realize their end and destiny. Her teaching is worthy of her founder. Its doctrine she challenges the assertions of the greatest enemies of religion in the age. Against those who profess that religion is a fiction of intellect, that God's existence is uncertain, that religion is a desire of the infinite, devotion to the universe or to the service of humanity, she teaches the worship of a personal God one and infinitely perfect, the creator of the universe, who actively conserves and directs all creation.

She boldly solves the greatest questions in the life of man; teaching his origin and nature—a creature of God with the dignity of the image of God; that all things perish, but that the soul of man is immortal and his destiny an eternal life with God.

Teaches Sanctity of Home.

With the moral teachings of her founder she places the true foundations of civilization; teaching the sanctity of the home, the unit of society; protecting it by making the marriage bond indissoluble; she reconciles civil authority with its subjects by declaring that all authority comes from God and must be obeyed. She sanctifies labor. She warns capital of the right of the laborer to a living wage and protection. She declares that labor, in justice, must return an honest day's work therefor. She teaches the right of the individual to possess private property and that this right must be respected and protected. The sublimity of her teaching is evident in her exhortation to follow Christ, the example of the highest perfection. "Be ye followers therefore of God." She exhorts to a universal law of charity, "Be ye kind to one another, merciful, forgiving one another, even as God has forgiven you in Christ." She calls men to the practice of virtue, teaches that true happiness is not in serving one's self but that "To serve God is to reign". This teaching she would impress upon the hearts and minds of her young.

Would Guard Innocence.

Who has not looked into the eyes of a child, wide with wonder and interest in the world about it? They are like bright windows through which the soul shines forth in its innocence, its purity, its trust. That innocence, that purity, that trust that are the greatest charm of childhood are not qualities of the mind or he body, but qualities of the spotless soul within. Who would not wish to guard it, to protect it; who does not wish that those eyes might never narrow and grow cold with greed and craft, that they might never waver and droop with shame and dishonesty? What father's or mother's love would hesitate to give that soul the largest measure of strength and protection in its education, a deep knowledge of God and his mysteries, a habit of prayer in time of temptation and danger, a desire and love of receiving our Lord in the eucharist to strengthen it, a love to visit His house where throughout the world a shining sanctuary lamp gleams through the shadowed windows on the crowded busy streets of the cities, on the quiet fields of the countryside, telling of Him who keeps the lonely silent watches, ever calling, "Come to me all ye that labor and are heavily burdened and I will refresh you. Take up my yoke upon you and learn of me because I am meek and humble of heart, for my yoke is sweet and my burden light." That is why the Catholic church, with the wisdom of the ages, is so solicitous for the education of her children; that is why she erects and supports her own schools, in spite of every difficulty and at the cost of every sacrifice, in order that her children may receive the fulness of the strength of their faith, that they may grow up to Christian manhood and womanhood, a glory to that faith, a credit to their community and country as well as their church.

Nobility of Sacrifice.

The faith and sacrifice that have raised this stately edifice can look forward today to the vision of future generations of children entering these halls in answer to the divine command, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not." That faith and that sacrifice will find, even on this earth, a measure of reward, in satisfaction of duty nobly and gladly accomplished that brings with it "the peace of God that surpasseth all understanding." That peace, in turn, will descend also upon their children, for it is found again in prophetic words that might well be carved over the portals of this school, "Thy children shall be taught of the Lord and great shall be the peace of thy children."

THE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING A MODEL STRUCTURE

The new school building, an imposing structure, beautiful in its architecture and a model in all its appointments and furnishings, is 204 feet long and 48 feet wide. The main entrance to the hall is located at the center of the building on the ground floor.

The entrance leads to the assembly hall lobby, in which are located the ticket-office and checking room. The main hall is entered from the lobby, through three folding doors. On either side of the lobby is located the boys' and girls' play rooms and boys' and girls' lavatories. Beyond these are two entrances to the school with stairs leading to the first and second floors. The stairs are of steel, with terrazzo treads, and are enclosed in brick walls on three sides, and kalamein screens at the entrances. At either end of the building is a store room, made school room dimensions. These two rooms can be used as class rooms in the future, as the light and area are similar to the other class rooms.

On the First Floor

This floor accommodates six class rooms, six coat rooms, superior's office, corridor and two stair-cases in the school proper.

The corridor and staircase walls are of fire proof materials. Each class room is fitted with book-cases, slate blackboards, tack strips, an electric clock, a ventilation system in each room. The second floor is a repetition of the first with the exception that the teachers' rest room occupies the space of the superior's room on the floor below.

The foundation walls are concrete. Outside and staircase walls are Fiske shale brick backed up with terra cotta and tile.

The bricks in the outside walls are variegated in color. All the interior walls are carried on a steel frame, fireproofed.

The building is designed in the Italian renaissance style of architecture. The general contractor is Earle E. Gilbert of Jewett City; heating, B. A. Fitzgerald, Norwich; plumbing, Edward Rousseau, Jewett City; painting, Matthew Exley; furniture, Francis Y. Brown; wiring O'Neil Electric company, Norwich. The school was designed by O'Connell & Shaw, Boston.

DANIELSON

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT FUNERAL OF MRS. E. F. BAILEY

(Spec to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 5—Upwards of 125 persons relatives, friends and representatives of various organizations which she and they have been identified for years attended the funeral services for Mrs. Ella F. Bailey at the home, 90 Broad street, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. J. Armstrong, pastor of the Danielson Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman. Among the organizations represented were the Department of Connecticut, G. A. R., and the Woman's Relief corps; W. W. Perkins, W. R. C., No. 13, of New London; Sedgwick, W. R. C., Norwich; A. G Warner, W. R. C., Putnam, McGregor, W. R. C., Danielson, of which Mrs. Bailey had been a member for years, and representatives of McGregor, G. A. R., of Danielson. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. During the service James Royle, choir leader of the Congregational church at Plainfield, sang Beautiful Isle of Somewhere, and Safe in the Arms of Jesus. The bearers were Frank J. G. Bailey, Ray P. Bailey, J Arthur Leach of Natick and William Hutchins of Moosup, all nephews of Mrs. Bailey's. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

In addition to the relatives mentioned in Mrs. Bailey's obituary in this column she leaves her youngest brother, W. Herbert Hutchins, of Moosup, and in addition to the organizations mentioned in which she held membership she was affiliated with the Woman's Christian Temperance union.

A wealth of floral rememberances were sent by relatives, friends and from organizations of which Mrs. Bailey was a member.

There were 35 beautiful floral pieces including the following from organizations in Danielson and throughout the state: Baptist church of Danielson, spray of carnations; Baptist Ladies' Aid society, galax wreath with roses; William Workers S. S. class, floral basket; Congregational church choir of Plainfield, spray-callas and snap dragons; Leach's orchestra, spray of roses; McGregor Woman's Relief corps, Spray-daodils and snap dragons; department of Connecticut, W. R. C., spray-red roses; officers of the department of Connecticut, Woman's Relief corps, wreath-red roses and carnations; Woman's Relief corps, department convention members, large standing wreath; Past Department President's association, Woman's Relief corps, floral wreath; woman's Relief corps Home Board, floral wreath; Connecticut department, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war, spray-white and pink carnations; George A. Tucker, commander, department of Connecticut, G. A. R. Spray-white roses and sweet peas. There were 20 other floral pieces from relatives, neighbors and friends.

A good sized audience greeted the children from the Connecticut School for the Blind in Hartford when they appeared in the auditorium of the high school building this afternoon at 4 o'clock to aid in opening the Week for the Blind in Danielson. The children were accompanied by Supt. and Mrs. Gordon Hicks and several of the teachers of the school. Mr. Hicks presided at the piano during the chorus singing of the blind children, which was excellent. The children sang with expression and fervor, to the delight of the audience. Edward B. Wilbur, president of the chamber of commerce, presided and introduced the blind entertainers. There were vocal and instrumental solos and recitations by members of the school group. Perry Hale, blind tax collector of Portland, this state, was the principal speaker. His subject was Battling Through. Mr. Hale is engaged in a business enterprise in his home town, and most successfully, and for three terms has been elected tax collector. Although totally blind, he keeps his tax books in the Braille system, and is most business-like in his methods. Mr. Hale lost his sight in an explosion about 14 years ago. In his Yale days he was one of the outstanding football players of the country, and for two years was named as a member of the mythical All-American football team.

The blind chaplain of the state senate, Rev. Edward P. Ayer, was also on the platform, and spoke briefly, urging the people of Danielson and vicinity to support the Week for the Blind, which is to be held in the town hall every day and evening the present week. The exhibition will be open from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., and demonstrations will be given by blind people, and exhibits of work of the blind will be on display. No admission will be charged to any of these events.

With the week end and its heavy traffic came a series of motor vehicle accidents, another reminder that the good old summer time is fast approaching. At Dayville Four Corners at 6 o'clock Saturday night Joseph Guay of Danielson sustained a broken collarbone when the Nash touring car he was operating was in a collision with a Maxwell touring car owned and operated by Napoleon Harrell of Killingly. Guay was bound north along the Danielson-Putnam route and Harrell east-bound on the Dayville-East Killingly road when the cars smashed into each other at the intersection of these highways. Harrell was ordered by the state officer that checked up the accident to appear in court to answer to a charge that he failed to grant the right of way.

At 3:30 Saturday afternoon at the junction of Water and Cottage streets there was another crash between a truck owned and operated by Harvey Fortune of North Sterling and a sedan operated by Charlotte Alling of Worcester. Harvey, traveling south, swung into Cottage street, and the car of Miss Alling, north-bound, jammed into it. Harvey was ordered into court by the state officer making the checkup to answer to a charge that he failed to give the proper signal that he was to turn into Cottage street across the path of the Worcester car.

John Largesse of Putnam also will make a court appearance here Monday, to be charged with failure to grant half the traveled right of way. A machine he was operating and owned by Daisy (Champague) Largesse of Putnam was in a collision with a truck operated by Eugene Blanchard of Dayville near the town farm at Dayville at 9:45 last night. Both machines were damaged in the accident, but there were no personal injuries.

A death this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Spooner in North Sterling, was that of Mary Ellen Credit, widow of Paul Credit, and for years a resident in this section of the state. Mrs. Credit was born in Essex, Vt., February 14, 1840, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Plant. She leaves the following children: Telles Benway, Stratford; Mrs. Edith Morse, Yorkville, N. Y.; Peter Benway, Utica; Earl Benway, Millbury, Mass.; Wilbur Benway and Mrs. Eva Spooner of North Sterling and Bertrand Benway of East Killingly. She also leaves a half-brother, William Wood, of Cranston, R. I.

Saturday morning the funeral of Mrs. Clementine Lussier was held from the home in Wauregan, with funeral services at the Sacred Heart church in that place at 9 o'clock, Rev. J. F. Quinn, the pastor, was celebrant of the high mass of requiem, at which many relatives and friends were in attendance. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery, the committal service conducted by Rev. Fr. Quinn. The bearers were Alfred Lemieux, Oliver Lemieux, Delphis Desparthy, Joseph Gingras, Delor Rondeau and Frederick Reynolds. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the arrangements.

This afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Babbitt on School street funeral services for their two months' old daughter, Virginia, were conducted by Rev. Albert Abbott of the Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was in Westfield cemetery, L. E. Kennedy had charge of the arrangements.

Burton Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, has enlisted in the U. S. navy and is now in training at Newport.

More limbs were broken from trees and minor property damage resulted today as the result of the southerly gale that swept over this section of eastern Connecticut.

James A. Martineau of Pawtucket was a visitor with friends in Danielson today.

This is Clean-up week in Danielson, the effort sponsored by the chamber of commerce, which is inviting all property holders to co-operate in the work to be done.

Again this morning the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus trains passed through Danielson, southward bound from Boston, where the show has been the past two weeks, to Brooklyn, N. Y.

It was pointed out today by those who have been analyzing the call for the coming special town meeting, that $700 desired to meet the cost of removing trees from Reynolds street will not cover the cost of repaving the gutter and remacadamizing that section of the street between Main and Broad streets, and that the actual cost, first and last, is likely to be far in excess of $700, to do the entire job as it should be done.

James Gartland was reported as critically ill today at his home on School street. Mr. Gartland is a former assistant chief engineer of the fire department.

Flushing of the streets in Danielson's business section is being advocated as one means of helping the work of making the borough spic and span.

The body of Miss Clara Day, who died in Florida recently, was interred this afternoon in Old Trinity churchyard on Church street, Brooklyn, of which town Miss Day was a resident for years.

Monday morning the public schools of Killingly, closed the past week for the last vacation of the present school year, will reopen and remain in session until the end of the school year about mid-June.

Almost incessant inclement weather is responsible for delaying the work of oiling trunk line highways through this section, though some of this work already has been done.

Only ten more days remain for paying town taxes, which Collector James R. Walsh has been receiving since about mid-April. While collections have been good, many have not as yet discharged their obligation to the town.

No word has come out of Hartford to definitely establish when the quarantine on dogs, effective in Killingly and Brooklyn since Feb. 25, is to be lifted, but it is expected that it will be some time during May.

Something of what may be expected in the way of motor traffic on Sundays during the warm weather season was indicated today by the thousands of cars that rolled over the trunk line highways through Danielson.

JEWETT CITY

AUTO PROVIDES THEME FOR BAPTIST PASTOR'S SERMON

Sunday evening at the Baptist church, Rev. E. E. Scates delivered the first in an Automobile sermon series. The themes are to be: Sermon series—Automobile Illustrating Christian Life: I. Operator's License, or Virtue of Ordination for Clergymen; II. Battery, or Christian Enthusiasm; III. Brakes, or Self-Restraint; IV. Filling Station, or The Place of a Church.

Louise Manard, who was operated upon for appendicitis last Monday, in a New London hospital, on Sunday was reported as doing finely.

Boys Made Big Hit

Borough hearts swelled with pride as the crowd saw and heard the Ashland Boys' band, when it made its first public appearance on the street Sunday afternoon. They wore the nattiest uniforms of red, white and blue—white suits with blue capes lined with red, and blue hats. None of the boys are over 14 and the drum major is the smallest of them all. But they can play! And they can play while they march, which many an older band finds difficult to do. One of the finest enterprises that ever was promoted for the town and principally for the welfare of boys is the organization of this band.

Leaves For Georgia

Mrs. G. H. Prior, state president of the King's Daughters, left Sunday for Augusta, Ga., to attend a council meeting of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons.

Mrs. A. J. Trinker is spending two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Horace Fifield, in Adams, Mass. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McKenna, of that place, on the trip to Adams.

Girls of Trinity Methodist church, Norwich, are to present the operetta, The Riddle of Isis, in Pachaug Grange hall for the benefit of the grange.

The sale of articles made by the blind of the state is to be held in the Town hall Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5. This sale is conducted by the state, but all money received for the purchase of any article is given to the blind person who made it. It is only through these sales that their products can be sold. In this way they can earn something, also have employment for idle hours.

To Address American Legion

Rev. Stanislaus A. Icick, of Norwich, is to address the American Legion in the K. of C. hall in the Finn block this (Monday) evening.

COLUMBIA

Mrs. Carleton Davenport and four children of Shelbourne Falls, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Davenport's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Potter.

The last meeting of Columbia grange was in the form of a May party. The program consisted of spring songs by a chorus, mandolin selections by Miss Lucie Greene, and two flower contests. May baskets for each couple were furnished by the committee in charge, Mrs. Edith Isham, Mrs. Ruby Wolff, and Mrs. Verd Lyman. Plans are being made by the lecturer for the two numbers this grange is to furnish at Bolton, May 10th, when Neighbors' night will be observed.

Eleven tables were in play at the whist held at the hall Friday evening. Prizes were won by Miss Lillian Lyman and Madison Woodward. Mrs. Mary Hutchins and Frank Preston, The committee was Mrs. Cora Hutchins and Miss Margaret Hutchins.

Miss Ethel Newberry returned Friday after spending her vacation in Hartford.

Mrs. Bessie Trythall is recovering from pleurisy.

The weather remains cold and with plenty of rain. Cellars in some houses are flooded badly and the garden spots are so water-logged that it is impossible to get to them to do any planting. It looks as though early vegetables will be late ones this year.

PUTNAM

PERRY HALE SPEAKER AT WEEK FOR THE BLIND MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 5—An air of happiness and joy surrounding a group of thirty boys and girls of the Connecticut State School for the Blind, handicapped with the loss of sight, gave an audience that filled the Putnam high school auditorium no inkling of the difficulty which they are slowly learning to overcome through the training furnished them by the state. The blind students were here today in connection with the formal opening exercises for the Week for the Blind.

Mayor Charles A. Richard presided at the gathering and delivered a brief address on the meaning of the six days, which the city of Putnam is to devote to the blind.

Perry T. Hale, blind tax collector of Portland, Conn., was the speaker of the impressive programme. "Battling Through," was the subject of his talk which in reality was a story, with himself as the principal character of how the blind overcome that tremendous setback in life—the loss of eyesight. In beginning Mr. Hale informed his listeners that since he suffered his misfortune he slowly worked his way back up the ladder of life to one of his best positions. While his days are consumed in the selling of insurance and the work of tax collecting he still finds time in which to carry on his philanthropic laboring among his "blind brothers" as he termed the sightless victims in the state and in many instances cooperates with the state board of education of the blind in taking part in programmes by delivering his "Simple Song" with its foremost weakness being himself, he said.

Into his address he wove bits of wistful humor that tended to offset the sufferings endured by all who have come to live in the darkened world in early life. Despite the fact that he is blind Mr. Hale still maintains his love for athletics, especially football. He related interesting incidents that occurred in his life, while at Yale university and as a member of the varsity eleven at that college. He is always present at every gridiron meet between his alma mater and their ancient rivals and seemed thrilled as he related the victory Yale scored over the Crimson in the fall of 1900 when he himself was a member of the Bulldog aggregation that inflicted the trouncing upon the Cambridge rivals. It was on the return trip to New Haven that Mr. Hale first saw Putnam. "Putnam is a great town", said the blind speaker, "and if your policemen had not been somewhere else at the time, we Yale men would have perhaps seen your police station". The speaker smiled as he told of his initial visit to this city but did not further describe the incident.

Upon the completion of his Yale college course Mr. Hale devoted himself to chemical experimenting and it was during an analysis of explosives that an explosion took place severely injuring him and finally rendering him blind. "The infliction of this handicap was not the beginning of the end," he said. "For now, was the time to be a man and fight my way back." Upon his discharge from the hospital, Mr. Hale began his work of experimenting on kites. The knowledge he obtained from his blind aerial experiments with the worthless kites enabled him to invent a kite which has netted him a considerable sum. While Mr. Hale commented on his kite he presented a copy of his invention to Mayor Charles A. Richard. The value of the kite became the foundation of a shop in which the kite was made, and the manufacturers were all ex-service men whom Mr Hole termed as "war wrecks", who shared his happiness in the manufacture.

"The state of Connecitcut," he said, "has the right idea of helping the blind and that is 'keep them working,' for my experience in blindness has been world wide and this is the only thing that causes me to forget I am blind".

Rev. E. P. Ayer, blind chaplain of the state senate occupied the speakers' platform and at the request of Mayor Richard spoke briefly on the subject "What It Means to be Blind." Blind".

The remainder of the programme consisted of the singing of the cantata the "Village Blacksmith" by the chorus of blind boys and girls. Supt. Gordon Hicks of the state schools for the blind was in charge of the children and played the accompaniment for them. A number of the students in music sang anthems, gave recitations and played instrumental solos that demonstrated their ability to sing and appear acceptably before an audience.

A Putnam boy of 19 years of age was arraigned in city court in this city Saturday morning on a charge of indecent assault on a fourteen year old girl. The youth was taken into custody Friday evening by Police Sergeant George Llard following an investigation by the police and probation authorities. In court he pleaded guilty to the charge, stating to the judge that he was unaware of the offense he was committing. Judge Geissler at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Eric H. Johnson bound the prisoner over to superior court, placing bonds for his release at $500. Attorney Johnson informed Judge Geissler that he would endeavor to have the offender arraigned in superior court in this city on Tuesday if the state attorney would consent to draw up a bench warrant for his hearing.

The young girl associate was committed to Long Lane farm in Middletown for an indefinite period, following a hearing in juvenile court.

Manager James F. Mahoney of the Bradley theatre stated Friday evening that negotiations with the manufacturers had been completed and that the Putnam theatre would be equipped with "talking movies" within a fortnight, he hoped. Manager Mahoney said that the equipment to be installed in the theatre is of the latest type and design and that the work of rewiring the motion picture house will be launched at an early date.

It was announced several weeks ago that the owners of the Putnam Theatres corporation, of which the local showhouse is a member of the chain, would be equipped with the talkies. Because of the nation-wide demand by theatre concerns for the apparatus the electrical corporations were unable to supply the volume of talking sets desired, and it is because of this fact the Bradley was forced to await a time when the talking apparatus could be supplied.

In connection with the installation of the sound photoplays, Mr. Mahoney intimated that many of the latest productions that have scored heavily in the metropolitan districts have been booked and will be screened as soon as the sound producers are installed.

High winds during the past two days have weakened the charred shell of the City hotel on South Main street remains of the fire that swept through the inn last March. It is weakened to such an extent that it is liable to crumble and topple over at any moment. Signs indicating the danger have been erected. Fire authorities today ordered the owner, Zeffin Marquoli, to erect a rope fencing about the property on the side facing on South Main street and close the alleyway from South Main to School to public passage.

Mayor Charles A. Richard has disapproved of the Eastern Oil company's plans for the construction of a filling station on Grove street opposite the Methodist Episcopal church and on Friday denied the application of the concern a permit to carry out their plans. Since the trustees of the Methodist and St. Philip's churches presented petitions of disapproval to the council Mayor Richard has been investigating the situation and after carefully considering all arguments in opposition and in favor of the project, announced today that he could see no reasons for the New London oil concern erecting a filling station in the heart of the city's best residential section.

Scott Blackwood of Providence spent Sunday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lester G. Herlihy of Grove street.

A session of naturalization was held Saturday afternoon in the clerk's offices of superior court. Miss Marjorie Bradford, assistant clerk of courts, presided and issued the papers to several aliens who made application.

A reception was tendered Mrs. A. D. Beausoliel Saturday evening at her home on 90 Van Den Noor street, in honor of her thirty eighth birthday. Ninety friends and relatives from Marlboro, Worcester, Webster, Millbury, Quinebaug, Spencer and Putnam were present at the dinner served by the hostess. During the evening Mrs. Beausoliel was presented with a beautiful mahogany table, a gift from her husband. Mrs. Beausoliel received numerous other remembrances from her guests presented to her during the anniversary dinner.

All of sportdom in the northern part of Windham county will be lured to Webster Monday in anticipation of seeing the internationally known long distance runer Clarence DeMar of Boston, six times winner of the annual Patriots day classic, the Boston marathon, who is to address the student body of Bartlett high school and will also speak at a gathering of the Webster Rotary club. The running printer will occupy only a speaking part in the programme and will not take part in any track events as has been rumored about this city.

Putnam high school baseball nine met their second defeat at the hands of Bartlett high school of Webster Saturday afternoon in Webster, the final score being 4-3, with the Webster aggregation on the long end of the count. Hayden (Bud) Franklin, local diamond star, twirled the entire game holding the home players scoreless until the eighth inning when they scored six runs and concluded with a run in the last inning.

The pupils of the Pomfret grammar schools under the direction of Miss Annie Ash, musical supervisor presented the operetta "On a Mid-Summer's Night" to a capacity audience at Putnam high school auditorium on Friday evening.

Devotions in honor of the feast of the Forty Hours were held at the 10.30 o'clock mass at St. Mary's church this morning, Rev. U. O. Bellerose pastor and Rev. Ernest J. Boileau officiated at the services.

FUNERAL.

Miss Ellen E. Fox

Miss Ellen Elizabeth Fox, 80, a summer resident of the neighboring town of Salem died last Tuesday at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Milton for about 40 years. Burial was in the Fox family lot in Linwood cemetery, Colchester Saturday morning, a large number of friends and relatives being present.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John H. Purcell.

Mrs. John H. Purcell, 68, died early Sunday morning at her home on South Main street after about four months' illness resulting from a complication of diseases. She had been in failing health for the past five years. She was born in Lyme, Conn., November 5, 1860, the daughter of Henry and Mary Kildea Banning. She attended Lyme public schools and when reaching the age of seventeen came to Colchester where she lived for about ten years. November 15, 1880 she married John H. Purcell of Colchester. During the time from 1893 to April, 1928, Mr. and Mrs. Purcell were residents of Salem, where Mr. Purcell conducted a large farm. In April, 1928 Mr. Purcell retired from farming and they moved into the village of Colchester.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, John, Jr. of Bridgeport, William of Salem, four daughters, Mrs. William Smith, Camden, N. J., Mrs. Manuel Castillo, Bridgeport and Mrs. Henry O. Sorrell and Mrs. Leon Miner of Colchester, a sister, Mrs. Henry Chapman of Lyme, two half-sisters, Mrs. Ada Bump and Mrs. Ruth Hall, both of Lyme, a half-brother, Martin Banning of Lyme, and seven grandchildren.

She was endowed with a cheerful and genial disposition which she maintained even to the end of her lingering illness. She leaves a wide circle of friends in Colchester, Salem and surrounding towns who have extended sympathy to the sorrowing family.

May Party.

In spite of bad weather, Golden Rule Junior Missionary society enjoyed a May party, Friday afternoon. They had a May pole dance and Edith and Dwight Marvin were chosen king and queen of the May respectively. Games and refreshments were enjoyed.

Mrs. Murray Cohen of 294 South avenue, Bridgeport, a former local resident is president of the auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Raymond W. Harris post, No 145, of Bridgeport and was in charge of the committee arranging for the 3rd quarterly state department banquet held at the Stratfield hotel in Bridgeport, April 28, a large number of prominent guests being present. Mrs. Cohen is a graduate of Bacon academy, Colchester, in the class of 1916 and is a daughter of Mrs. Eva Freedman, of South Main street.

Selectman C. A. Kramer had men at work Saturday, repairing the roadway on Linwood avenue.

Miss Agnes Smith of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., visited over the week end with friends here.

George Fuchs returned to duty Saturday, as rural delivery mail carrier to the Chestnut Hill and Cedar Swamp sections, after several days' vacation, John Conrad covered the route during Mr. Fuchs' absence.

John Wrinn of Brooklyn, N. Y., former local resident was visiting over Sunday with relatives on Windham avenue.

A number from here attended the official opening of the new East Hampton Bank & Trust company building in East Hampton, Saturday.

Members of the Junior C. E. society hung a May basket at the home of Miss Annie Bashiloff on Hill avenue, Friday evening. Miss Bashiloff is ill with pneumonia.

Good Trout Catch

Principal Raymond Osgood Kendall, Science Instructor John Weeles Goodrich and Joseph Ezekial Falk were wading the brooks on the outskirts of the village, Saturday in search of trout. After a strenuous day they returned home with a fine string of ten, nearly all of which weighed about twelve ounces.

Eleven years ago an Atlantic City man was arrested mistakenly for a notorious burglar. Police apologized and explained to the man he was an exact double of the one sought. Since then the same man has been arrested nine more times for the same burglar. After the third arrest, the victim demanded a letter from the police which they issued. He now carries this letter wherever he goes.

STONINGTON

NEW HAVEN PREACHER AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Rev. R. S. Haberlins of New Haven was the preacher at the Second Congregational church Sunday.

Heavily Fined.

William S. Jagger, Jr., of Lower Pawcatuck and Irving W. Merrill of Wequetequock were before Judge William A. Wilcox on Friday morning on a charge of destroying personal property. They threw the contents of a can of varnish remover on the new car of A. Morgan Stewart which was parked on High street Wednesday evening. They pleaded guilty and each was fined $25 and costs of $9.95 and ordered to pay $150 in compensation for the damage they had done.

The fishing schooner Charlotte, Capt. Lawrence Clay sprung a leak while tied up at the Atwood Machine Co. wharf, Friday morning. The Stonington Steam Fire Engine Co. pumper was called out to prevent her sinking.

No One to Blame.

Coroner Edward G. McHay of Norwich has announced that he is satisfied that the death of Samuel T. and Alice W. McDowell was not caused by a criminal act or carelessness of any person or persons. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell were instantly killed when their Pontiac coupe was struck and demolished by an express train at the Water street crossing in Stonington several months ago.

Edward Farnam of the New York police force is visiting here with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hazen of New York have arrived here and will make their home on Temple street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pond of New York have opened their summer home at Lord's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manchester of Providence are here and will remain for the summer at Stonington.

UPHOLDING MELLON.

When the McKellar resolution was introduced in the senate to have Secretary Mellon disqualified under the 140 year old law which forbids secretaries of the treasury to be concerned in carrying on the business of trade or commerce, it is believed that the intention was to create political bother. As the inquiry has progressed before the judiciary committee there has been support for that belief in view of certain insurgent activity, but from the decisive manner in which the committee turned down the Norris report it becomes evident that there was no disposition to follow the independent Nebraskan.

The committee declares that as a stockholder Mr. Mellon is not disqualified. He is in that respect in no different position than plenty of those who have held that office before him, both democratic and republican secretaries and in recent administrations. This has been admitted by former secretaries.

The old law has been similarly interpreted in each instance and that is that being a stockholder does not mean being interested in "carrying on" the business of trade or commerce. There is a marked difference in being interested to the extent of being a stockholder and being interested to the greater extent of "carrying on" the business of a corporation such as a director or an executive.

It isn't a case of dodging the law but of interpreting the whole of the law and not simply a part of it. Senator Carter Glass, democrat from Virginia, secretary of the treasury during the Wilson administration declares that he remained a stockholder while in the cabinet and considers that he did not violate the law. It is the common interpretation of the law as made by democrats and republicans and as expressed in the recent opinion of the attorney general, and to have the question of disqualification raised at this time after Mr. Mellon has held the office for eight years leaves no other inference that it has been prompted and supported solely for the purpose of making it uncomfortable for one of the best secretaries of the treasury the country ever had, and for the administration. How the committee could do any different than it did in turning down the Norris report is difficult to understand.

NO ENTANGLING ALLIANCES.

As the result of the inquiry that was made last year in Washington, the so-called power trust got a lot of publicity that has been made the most of by those who have exerted their influence against developments of that character.

When it was recently brought to light that the International Paper and Power company had acquired two Boston papers new attention was directed to the power interests with the result that hearings have brought to light the manner in which this particular company has been getting into close touch with newspapers as well as acquiring power privileges for developments. It is the claim of the company that its financial interest in newspapers has been for the purpose of increasing the market for its newsprint output, since through such a means it is able to sell paper to newspapers with which it did little or no business before.

Following the disclosures as to the activity of this corporation it has been set forth that these financial interests did not in any way involve the editorial policies of the respective newspapers. Such a thing is, of course, entirely possible. As the head of the Gannett string of newspapers declared, there could be a financial advantage in obtaining a loan through the paper and power company which was not available in the open market, but it has since been recognized by this same individual that the impression created through such loans is not likely to prove advantageous to the respective newspapers. The effect of that relationship upon the public is fully appraised by Mr. Gannett when he makes announcement to the effect that he has transferred all those loans with the paper company elsewhere.

This makes it apparent that he is desirous that there should be no confusion as to what connection really exists between the paper and power company and his newspapers. He is desirous of putting them in a point where they cannot be misjudged in such views as they may express. This may in no way have an influence upon those views but the desire is to get away from influence which may be subjected to a wrong interpretation. No entangling alliances is the best policy.

COOPERATION REQUIRED.

If the former district attorney for the eastern district of New York, W. A. DeGroot, carried the impression that the president was going to refuse to stand by his attorney general in calling for the resignation of the district attorney he has awakened to a realization of his error. Instead of having a chance to resign he finds that he has been dropped from the office, fired on the grounds of incompetency and failure to enforce the prohibition laws. The recommendations of the attorney general have been carried out and for the good of the department another attorney will be named. Mr. DeGroot has involved the president in it because of his action but he has taken a course which brings no refutation of the charges nor embarrasses the attorney general.

The action of the attorney general makes it evident that the department of justice has not been getting the cooperation from the district attorney's office in the eastern New York district that it expected. It apparently found it impossible to obtain it while Mr. DeGroot remained at the head, for various other removals of subordinates in his office had been made without desired results.

The removal in the New York district is not the only one which has been brought about under the new administration. It is a continuance of the desire to bring about a more sympathetic regard for administration views in the enforcement of laws and it serves notice that the department of justice is determined in its policy.

If there cannot be cooperation by those in office it is possible to get it by putting into office new attorneys who will furnish it. It can hardly be expected that a district attorney is going to stand in the way of the work of a department of which he is only a minor part. When he balks or if he is incompetent he must expect to make way for another. It is impossible to get results when the heads of various districts are doing about as they please regardless of the requirements of the department of justice. Not until they are working together in the proper administration of the law can it be told what the effects of real enforcement are.

WEAK DAMS.

Once again it has been demonstrated that the proper reinforcement of dams cannot be delayed until the flood waters have become such that the pressure can no longer be resisted. This is revealed by the giving way of a dam at Kidderville, N. H., which swept through that village virtually destroying it, though through adequate warning there was no loss of life.

Following the disastrous flood in the Connecticut valley the danger of several dams going out because of the great volume of water caused the city to be raised for a careful inspection of all dams in order that weaknesses might be located and repaired in time to avoid any danger in cases of emergency. That demand was fully justified. Some dams were inspected. Some were reinforced but occasionally since then it has been feared that dams would give way because of high water and in some instances they have. The New Hampshire instance indicates that they can be expected to under proper provocation unless they are strengthened.

The loss through the destruction of the Kidderville village is going to be heavy. It would have involved a comparatively small outlay had steps been taken at the proper time to have prevented the dam from breaking.

In the case of dam construction it is not sufficient to build a structure that will temporarily hold back a desired quantity of water. Provisions must be made for a larger quantity such as a flood time may bring and even then there must be taken into consideration ice and deterioration. Furthermore the best of dams ought to receive a thorough inspection from time to time. Weak dams are a serious menace.

THE GAS TAX.

According to the report of the federal bureau of public roads, there was collected in gasoline taxes last year the impressive total of $305,223,842 from all but three states, the levy having been in effect for a month in Illinois, but none existed in the states of New York and Massachusetts.

For the most part recognition was given to the obligation of devoting this tax money to the maintenance and construction of roads. Occasionally there are states where part of the money has been turned to other purposes such as schools or put into the general funds, but for the most part the state legislatdre recognizes that this is a special form of taxation and the proceeds should go for the benefit of those from whom it is exacted.

When motorists find, as they will this year, that they must pay a gasoline tax in every state they have no ground for objecting if they but stop and realize that it is through such contributions that good roads are made possible. They demand good roads and it is only fair that they, and not those who do not need or use the roads, should be taxed for their construction and upkeep.

With such a large sum collected last year, and an increased amount sure to be obtained this year through increased rates, increased use of automobiles and the addition of three states levying such a tax, there is good reason to anticipate a marked gain in the miles of improved roads and the improved condition of the roads which have been in existence for a considerable time and need attention. Those who meet the gasoline tax appreciate the fact that they are going to get special benefits.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Another ten days and the straw hat will be the piece de resistance.

That long sought chance to be a-Maying has at last arrived. Make the most of it.

The man on the corner says: Standing knee deep in May is almost possible and June is coming right along.

Every storm of wind, every earthquake and every extensive flood makes us thankful that we live in New England.

With a presidential pardon the only thing that can keep Harry Sinclair out of jail, he might as well bow to the inevitable.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

There's no place so much like home for leftover vegetables as in vegetable soup.

A sharp knife, day-old bread and softened butter makes sandwich-making easy.

Never store away in a closet cloths used for oiling and polishing. Keep them in a covered tin pail.

Add a little kerosene to the water when washing linoleum. This will loosen the dirt.

Enameled furniture is nice for a child's room, as it can be cleaned so easily.

If you rinse cooked noodles with hot water, they will not stick together.

Dry skim milk may be used in bread with good results.

Never plant flower or garden seeds that are more than a year old. Buy new seeds.

Out of door hydrangeas should now be cut back severely if you wish a healthy growth. Do not cut house hydrangeas.

Put Easter lily bulbs in the ground after the plants are through blooming. They will blossom again during the summer or early fall.

When planning your flower garden arrange to have a rotation of bloom from early spring to late fall. The seed catalogues will help you to do this.

When sowing seeds in boxes in the house, plant the seeds in rows about an inch apart. Drop them from the small end of a paper cornucopia.

Rub your kitchen sink occasionally with kerosene. It keeps it in good condition.

Do not cut down house hydrangeas. If you do you will never get any blossoms. Each branch must be a year old before a blossom comes.

To provide drainage in a seedbox when planting seed indoors, place a piece of coarse screening over the bottom of the box before sifting in the soil.

To clean cut glass, wash it in soap suds, then pack in sawdust. The sawdust absorbs moisture. Remove the sawdust with a soft brush.

Save all meat skewers for spring housecleaning time. They are excellent for cleaning corners and grooves in woodwork.

NEW SAUCES

Instead of serving cream over everything from bread pudding to gelatin, why not try out new sauces? Fruit juice drained off canned goods makes an excellent base. Heat lemon or orange sauces and even a hot apple sauce seasoned highly gives a welcome change.

FOR THE KITCHENETTE

When space is limited and time and speed are an asset, a square block of wood, which is fastened to the wall and holds five shining knives so firmly that they cannot fall down, is a boon indeed.

SHORTENED BELT

When the sewing machine belt slackens, heat a hatpin red hot and run it through the leather to make holes for threading it up tighter.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Never have medicine uncovered in the sick room.

Here is a curling fluid for the hair for the girl who uses water-waving combs or who has her hair finger-waved: Boil 1-2 ounce of quince seeds in a pint of water until the liquid is reduced one-half. Strain through cheesecloth and stir in 1 1-2 ounces cologne water, 1 1-2 ounces alcohol, 10 drops oil of cloves, 12 drops oil of lavender (or rose).

To prepare for the dry shampoo, brush and comb the hair well. Part it in the middle and again from ear to ear. Make other parts in the hair and sift the shampoo mixture into them and down to the ends of the hair. Now throw a Turkish towel over the head and massage well to mix the shampoo powder with the oil in the hair vigorously.

The brushing is the most important part of the treatment and must be done thoroughly. The professional hairdresser covers her brush with gauze before using it. When the gauze begins to get soiled it is replaced by a fresh piece. There is no point in using dusty, oily brushes for this treatment; clean ones are essential, for all the powder must be taken out of the scalp and hair. The hair may then be polished with pieces of clean silk moistened with cologne water.

CAN BE DECORATIVE

When you are short of closet space and must have a wardrobe in the bedroom you can turn it into a decorative feature by the use of decalcomania. Transfer pictures may be bought in floral designs and used to ornament the panels on the wardrobe with excellent effect.

GAY BATHROOM WALLS

Tiling and tile-pattern wallpaper are no longer the only available covering for your bathroom walls. The tile papers have given way to wallpapers of rich Chinese designs and colorings, floral papers, papers with bright backgrounds across which flit birds of brilliant plumage, fish patterns, or papers showing ships with tinted sails. Choose the paper to suit your own taste, then give it a coat of shellac or varnish. This will make it waterproof and lend it an attractive mellow tone.

LIGHT

Many a man has had his whole day's program disrupted by the irritations of shaving under inadequate light in the bathroom. An overhead light should be used here, especially if but one light can be afforded. It is well, however, as in the bedroom, to have both sides of the mirror illuminated in such a way as to throw the light on the face. It must be remembered that it is the face that is to be shaved and not the reflection in the mirror.

MOTHER-OF-PEARL

Mother-of-pearl is very fashionable just now for knife handles, small spoons and various ornamental pieces. It must never be cleaned with soap and water. A soft duster moistened with olive oil, followed by gentle rubbing and a final polish with an old silk handkerchief, will restore its first beauty.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Evening slippers gain an added lustre if the buckles are of pastel colored pearls to match the shoes.

A beige suit allows its blouse color freedom. The blouse is of beige crepe de chine with intricate incrustations of Egyptian red, yellow and black.

The cravat scarf in gaudy color is new and very smart. One gets it in monotone to set off a suit or frock. It is especially smart with a collarless frock.

A biscuit jersey cardigan suit has its skirt circular on a fitted yoke. There is a circular yoke in the cardigan that extends across the sleeves and front as well as the back.

An individual evening wrap is a sort of cape of two colors in one fabric. Secretatively seamed at the center back and designed with the one-sleeve effect.

A chiffon frock for afternoon or restaurant wear has a three-tiered skirt which is longer on one side than the other, and soft little bows upon the waist. The sleeves are long.

A checked transparent velvet frock in silver gray and black has a peplum developed in the current drooping silhouette, with much greater length in the rear.

Midnight blue faille makes a nifty long tunic dress that has a drop skirt with deep side pleats and the tunic tight and laced with gold up the sides.

Seersucker, an old-fashioned fabric, comes in again in silk. A stunning, sweet little suit is of blue with a fine pin stripe of beige, with the coat cut with a flaring peplum.

The turban has had such a well merited success that it is now possible to purchase the tricot, or brushed wool bands, by the yard and make one's own turbans.

BAGS FOR EVENING

Useful little bags to carry in the evening are made of crepe de chine in pastel colors and are shaped like the roll bag now so popular in leather. At either end is a large tassel of pearl beads, and the top has one of the convenient slide-fastenings.

FOR THE DRESSING TABLE

The dressing table of taffeta or chintz will be most complete if to it is added a large triplicate mirror of jade green composition and a complete toilet set of the same. The mirror is large enough to form the back and sides of the table.

MANY STRAND NECKLACES

Long glass beads or small composition beads in various colors are shown in necklaces of many strands. A new idea is the type of long beads outlining the neckline with one free end, which a few stylists believe will take the place of the scarf.

COAT WITH A CAPE

One of the most attractive models for spring and summer wear consists of a coat of deep blue wool with a wide cape collar which ends in deep revers in front. Fully half of this coat is covered with a cape or collar of platinum caracul, which is immensely becoming.

LAUNDRY HINTS

Clothespins that have been left on the ground may be cleaned by putting them into sudsy water in the washing machine. Run the machine a few minutes, then set the pins out to dry.

When putting clothes, on which there are buttons, through a wringer, fold the buttons inside of the garment and hold it flat as you turn the wringer, thus preventing the breaking or pulling off of buttons.

What causes winter damage to laundry? A number of theories have been advanced as to its cause. Some scientists claim that the sudphur fumes given out in coal smoke and the consequent formation of sulphuric acid causes the disintegration of the material. It is maintained by other investigators that the condition is the result of bacteria.

BLACK LIQUID POLISH STAINS

For black liquid polish stains, sponge or wash with soap and water toremove as much of stain as possible, then apply potassium permanganate, but do not use this on rayon fabrics.

The tan liquid polish contains more or less free oxalic acid, and as this will injure the fabric, it is advisable to treat such stains while fresh. For all tan polish stains on cotton and linen, use soap and water, and for other fabrics, especially wool, wood or denatured alcohol will be found more effectual.

WICKER EASY TO KEEP CLEAN

Wicker furniture has been promoted from the porch and the garden to the interior of our modern homes. Its popularity is largely due to the fact that it is inexpensive, attractive and easy to keep in good condition.

The blower attachment of a vacuum cleaner helps to simplify the matter of keeping wicker furniture free of dust. Unpainted wicker is best cleaned by scrubbing with warm, soapy water to which a little borax has been added. For the painted or stained variety, kerosene added to the soapsuds will help to keep the colors bright. The furniture should then be wiped with a cloth wrung out of clear warm water and, if possible, placed in the open air to dry.

FERN'S MEDICINE

Ferns stay fresh and green and grow luxuriously if one remembers to give them a bit of castor oil every now and then, a taste of cold tea, or a drink of cold coffee. A semi-weekly bath under the bathroom shower comes near giving them the freshness of a day in the spring rain.

HOW TO GET RID OF SOOT

Soot can be cleaned from a chimney by lowering into it a stout rope to which has been attached a bunched-up coil of chains. Your old broken tire chains are just the thing for the purpose. Pull the chains up and down and swing them about until soot has been knocked from the entire surface. Very often a furnace doesn't burn up well because the chimney is so clogged with soot that there is no draught at all, or only half what there should be. A half hour's work with the old auto tire chains will remedy this.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Women voters for the first time are in the majority in Great Britain and will decide the three-cornered general election May 30.

Women members of the police force of Gloucester, England, have been provided with motorcycles for the quick performance of their duties.

The Rev. Alma G. Broadhead is pastor of the Ovid Center Baptist church, near Waterloo, N. Y., and, under her ministrations, the congregation has grown in numbers. The church was built in 1830.

The London Board of Trade lists show that a large number of women have qualified to command their own ships, while others are listed as owning cargo boats.

Mme. Delius, 90-year-old mother of Frederick Delius, a famous British composer, recently flew by airplane from Bourget, France, to Croydon, England.

STOVE BLACKING

Add a little vinegar to the stove blacking to give the stove a better luster and prevent dust from scattering during the process of polishing.

CEMENT

Rice flour and water simmered until they are thick make an excellent cement for china.

RECIPES.

Scalloped Potatoes—Wash six medium-sized potatoes and cook them in boiling water until half done. Skin the potatoes and cut in cubes. Grease a baking dish or pan, place in it a layer of potatoes, sprinkle with flour and dot with butter. Continue until all the potatoes are used. Pour in enough milk to almost cover and bake in a slow oven until the potatoes are brown on top and soft throughout. If they become dry, add more milk. If they cook too rapidly, the milk will boil over and will not only be difficult to clean from the oven, but will also make a disagreeable odor all through the house. Serve the potatoes from the baking dish, and just before sent to the table sprinkle two tablespoons of chopped parsley over the top.

Golden Fudge: Cook together four level tablespoons of golden molasses (not the dark, strongly flavored kind), two cups of sugar and two-thirds cup of milk to the soft-ball stage. Cool quickly by setting the pan in cold water, and when lukewarm beat hard, add one teaspoon of vanilla and four tablespoons of butter and half a cup of chopped almonds or pecans. Yellow butter color can be added to the fudge if necessary to make it attractive. Pour into a buttered tin and mark in squares. If you like this fudge softer, cook in a little lower temperature.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 5—To a reportorial veteran of the Washington arms conference— and the Bystander is that—comes a fascinating announcement.

That announcement is that under President Hoover the American group at the Geneva disarmament conversations is prepared to submit plans for a new yardstick for measuring the relative combat power of naval ships.

That was what Secretary Hughes first sought to do in preparing for the 1921 Washington naval conference. The technical experts of that day failed completely to evolve anything but the tonnage by categories plan and the definitions as to maximum size of both ships and guns in each combat class.

And Washington still feels that is the most simple and effective method to follow. It is the basis of the Washington limitations treaty.

Only a resolve by Mr. Hoover that his administration will be conducted in both the letter and spirit of the Kellogg-Briand war renunciation pact could justify experimenting with new and untried arithmetical or algebraical formulae of naval relativity.

Hoover's Responsibility

It was natural that Hoover engineering genius should be given credit for finding a technical solution of the problem navy brains failed so utterly to best in 1921.

Just what the president personally contributed in that way it would be difficult to discover.

In any event, when the American scheme is made public, it well can be termed the "Hoover Formula," since it was his responsibility to accept it.

There can be no doubt, however, that any president, not himself professionally a naval expert, must be guided very largely by the judgment of his most trusted technical advisers in the navy before committing himself to any equation for determining "equiva, lent tonnage" in combat ships.

He could not risk national security on his own engineering skill alone.

The Washington treaty started a new era of engineering competition in construction of naval ships. It imposed maximum limits in size for ships of each class and also limited the size but not the number of guns each type of fighting ship could carry.

Immediately naval brains tackled the problem of getting into new ships the best possible combination of speed, gun power, cruising radius, protective armor and other military characteristics under those limitations.

The sailors were called upon to peer into the future and say what factors among these might be decisive in battles at sea. They had the lessons of the World war conflicts to go on and estimates of probable national policy in each country touching on use of naval force.

Rests on Formula

The differences in design between British, American, Japanese, French and Italian 10,000-ton "treaty cruisers" indicated how each naval group saw that problem of design.

And not until the exact terms of the new American proposal for a formula of combat relativity measurement becomes known will it be possible to say what its effect on future warship designing might be.

YOUR HEALTH

Why Examine School Children?—Are They Benefited?

By Ada E. Schweitzer, M. D., Child Hygiene Division, Indiana State Board of Health — Gorgas Memorial Institute.

What is the value of all these examinations? What good comes of finding defects? How many children have defects corrected and how are they benefited? These and many other questions are asked concerning the examinations of children made by the state board of health child hygiene physicians and family physicians.

The value of the examination is likely to vary with its thoroughness, and with the information concerning the child's needs that the parents receive and act upon.

In all examinations made under child hygiene supervision, the parents or persons responsible for the child's welfare are asked to accompany the child, and to agree that as far as possible they will try to carry out instructions.

The examining physicians not only call attention to defects found, but discuss the probable causes and effects, suggesting that measures should be taken to relieve the present condition. A consultation with the family physician is advised.

Often parents of children who should have had corrections long before boast that their physician has never seen the baby since its birth. The child may not have slept well or he may have had digestive upsets or other symptoms to which they gave little attention, thinking of them as "common to childhood." They usually manifest surprise when the importance is explained to them, and often are stirred to immediate action.

From counties where the child health conferences have been held, parents' report cards are coming to the child hygiene office. We learn that dental care has been given, that since diseased tonsils and adenoids have been removed the child has an improved appetite, sleeps better, hears better and is happier. Changes in diet and faulty habits of eating have resulted in better posture, in weight gains and in fewer digestive disturbances. The little near-sighted child has been taken to the oculist for vision correction, and for the first time in his brief life the joy of moving about freely. Many little cross-eyed children are having supervision and care that will help restore to normal a vision that had been failing rapidly.

Even the one and two-year-old babies brought to the contest may have defects that will result in damage to the child.

That much can be done by intelligent care is shown by the fact that in 1925 and 1926 only 3.6 per cent of the contest babies were 10 per cent or more below average weight for height, while for the same years respectively of the non-contest babies 11 in each 100 were 10 per cent or more below weight for height. Health supervision was advised to determine the cause of the apparent poor nutrition.

In every case the child's best possible health is the ideal for which we strive, and any condition that falls short of the ideal is considered in the light of possible improvement.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Memorial Day in Plainfield

Mr. Editor: It will soon be memorial day again, the day we are supposed to pay respects to our dead "heroes," and that word takes in all who served in any war, whether they were "home guard," 30 day wonders in some safe camp, or officers training camp dug outs. They are all counted, at so much a count it seems. This town pays something like $200 a year for Decoration day observances, and according to the "Plainfield Journal" the American Legion demands the full control of the day, and the 200 bucks for doing it full pay for patriotism. It's true that flags are provided, and wreaths made by the G. A. R. auxiliary and they should receive the mazuma. The gals do all the work, except look like real soldiers, (it takes a drafted 30 day man to do that,) and if there are any pickings on this detail, let 'em have it says I. I'm just soldier enough to do my stuff on Memorial day without any hope of monetary reward, and I'm of the opinion that there are enough regular guys, who went "over there," and faced the music, to help me and the G. A. R. auxiliary to honor our dead for nothing. How about it, fellers? I don't care what army you were with, American, Canadian, British, French or Italian, so long as you were in our lot (and even a few "Jerries" would be acceptable if they were real fighters.) Let the overseas men turn out and show these guys what real soldiers look like. Overseas men all, and that doesn't take in the propylactic squad, or medical corps either. Let them command the Legion post, we don't need 'em now! we're cursed.

And I hereby make a motion that all overseas veterans of the allies in the World war, and all naval men who crossed to the other side during the war, shall meet at Central Village on the morning of Memorial day and offer their services to the ladies of the G. A. R. auxiliary in the town of Plainfield, for any services they may be called on to do, and all we ask in return is one sweet smile and a hot dog. Let's go!

CHILD TRAINING

Co-operating With Mother

Helen Gregg Green

Looking through a magazine the other day, I became interested in a letter written by one of its readers. It was from a woman past 50, the mother of several children. She was discouraged and worn out, mentally and physically, with her years of responsibility and work.

"We are all to blame for many of our troubles," the letter read. "We ask nothing in return for our labors but the pleasure of our dear ones; it is a great mistake.

"We teach them from babyhood to take our services as a matter of course, and by the time we realize what we have done, we are too tired and worn out to care; and it does not pay."

This is only part of the soul-revealing letter, but in it there is food for thought and study, and a warning to young mothers—a warning to begin with the just-around-the-corner-from-babyhood days to give the children small duties and small responsibilities, so that the burden which usually falls to the mother's lot may be lessened. When boys and girls discover how much actual labor there is connected with a house, they realize the great help they may be to Mother.

So many mothers will continue taking the entire responsibility for running a house smoothly and efficiently year in and year out. The only sign of protest they ever make is weary little "I'm a bit tired" at night, without ever a heart-to-heart talk with the family asking for co-operation.

The piping-hot breakfasts, the dainty, wholesome lunches and delicious dinners, the cozy, cheery, neat home, are taken as a matter of course. Children who have had no experience in doing household tasks do not realize the effort, time and hard work back of it all. It all looks so easy, so simple!

And who is to make them realize and appreciate, if not the parents? It is not fair to the "dear ones" to allow them to take all this for granted.

"If we allow ourselves to be left behind, if we work so hard we are too tired to take part in the daily lives of our children and husbands," the letter continued, "they simply learn to do without us."

Isn't there a lot of truth tucked away in those words? Shouldn't they make all mothers who have tiny children think?

I remember a certain Thanksgiving that shames and grieves me. We did not have a maid, so Mother cooked and served a delicious Thanksgiving dinner for two guests and our own family. After dinner the guests, my father and I hurried down town for an afternoon's merrymaking, leaving Mother, who was not strong, to clear off the table and do the stacks of dishes. Mother was the one who deserved and should have had the happy afternoon. And, now that I have come to a realization of the many sacrifices she made and have learned how much help I could have been, and would like nothing better than to lighten her burdens, it is too late.

That is what the writer of the letter suggested:

"And by the time they marry and have children of their own, and learn from experience what life means, and what children mean in a mother's life, perhaps it is too late; you may have passed on, and if not, it is still rather difficult to teach old dogs new tricks!"

So the wives and mothers must remedy this. They should commence with the husbands at marriage, and with the children in their very early years. It is really very easy to teach the children to hang up their wraps, to run errands, to keep their rooms tidy, and to do the hundred and one other little things which inculcate in them the habit of service and the sense of responsibility.

A mother, like a child, needs understanding, love and play. She should share these and also her household cares with her family. This would make happier, sweeter-tempered, younger, and more charming mothers the country over, and better and happier boys and girls.

Never judge the kind of mother a man had by the woman who marries him.

NEW WHITE HOUSE COFFEE SERIES 8:30 MONDAYS WJZ

The White House Coffee Concert needs no introduction. It is already known to millions of enthusiastic fans, but it will now be heard over a different network. Also, the program will be changed from Saturday to Monday night. As usual, Hugo Mariani and his talented staff of 36 musicians will render the concert, and the program will show its customary happy balance of favorite semi-classical and important modern compositions. The White House Coffee Concert will be heard from now on over WJZ and 14 associated stations every Monday night.

JUNE BUG EPIDEMIC FORECAST THIS YEAR

NEW YORK— (AP) —A widespread epidemic of June bugs is predicted for this year by scientists connected with the New York botanical garden.

These large brown or greenish beetles appear periodically. The insects spend years as white grub worms crawling beneath the ground, and eating the roots of grass. When they are ready to reproduce, they emerge as winged June bugs, lay their eggs, and soon die.

OKLAHOMANS WORKING TO DRY UP BROADWAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Two of Broadway's leading exponents of official rectitude hail from Oklahoma.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, in charge of prohibition enforcement, is a native of Oklahoma's panhandle.

One of her assistants, Leslie Salter, who recently was employed in cases against New York night club hostesses, has been active in Oklahoma political life. He was among legislative prosecutors who ousted Gov. J. C. Walton in 1923. Recently he was an assistant district attorney in western Oklahoma.

EMANCIPATOR'S TABLE GOES TO LINCOLN U.

HARROGATE, Tenn. (AP)—A table used by President Lincoln during two sessions of the legislature at Springfield, Ill., has been added to the Lincoln room at Lincoln Memorial university. Affidavits furnished by Jacob Bunn and other intimate friends of Lincoln prove the authenticity of the piece.

For many years it was on exhibition in the First National bank at Springfield. Fire in the building made its removal necessary and it became the property of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, who treasured it for years.

"Yes, I like the room, but the neighbors can hear everything we say."

"Well, I shall be pleased to hang a heavy tapestry on the walls."

"But then we can't hear what the neighbors say."—Pele Mele.

FUNERAL

Henry H. Gallup

With a very large attendance of relatives and friends, the funeral of Henry H. Gallup, president of the Norwich Belt Manufacturing Co., trustee of the Norwich state hospital and former state treasurer, was held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home, No. 127 Washington street. Bishop E. Campion Acheson of Middletown conducted the service, assisted by Archdeacon J. Eldred Brown, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London and Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church. There was a wealth of very beautiful floral forms, testifying to the high esteem in which Mr. Gallup was held by his numerous friends and acquaintances.

The burial was in Maplewood cemetery where Archdeacon Brown conducted the committal service. The honorary bearers were W. Tyler Olcott, Mr. Sterfield, Reginald Reynolds, Dr. E. S. Burdsall, Charles S. Tolles, Orlando Smith, Walter F. Lester, Judge Arthur P. Libby, Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London, and Frank L. McGuire of New London. The active bearers were Warren F. Burt, S. P. Kelley, Walter Fuller, Marshall Jewett, William G. Gilchrist, Charles S. Storms, J. A. Parker and Perry Byrnes. Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

WEDDING

Chapman—Pierce

Leonard Chapman of No. 9 Fountain street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Chapman, and Miss Rachel Pierce of No. 32 Church street, daughter of Walter and Bessie Brooks Pierce, were married at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, No. 215 West Town street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church. The attendants were Miss Bertha Pierce, sister of the bride, and Kenneth Morrill. The bridegroom is employed at the Norwich Paper Box company.

Baltic Skeet Shoot

At the weekly shoot of the Baltic Skeet club held on Saturday high score for the day was made by R. Robitor, with 20 out of 25. The following were the scores: C. Freemon, 7-9; G. Deslandes, 11-16; H. Sargent, 14-18; and R. Robitor, 14-18-20.

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS TO USE FOUR PLANES

CHICAGO, (AP)—Convinced of the value of airplanes to a newspaper, the Chicago Daily News this summer will have four airplanes in operation.

In addition to delivering papers to vacationists in the upper reaches of the Great Lakes states, the planes will carry reporters and photographers on stories, will transport executives to engagements and will convoy news reel photographers to important news spots. They also will be used in promotion work.

Shirley J. Short, winner of the Harmon aviation trophy in 1926, is chief pilot.

PILOTS SEEK CONTACT DURING FLYING HOURS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP)—Student aviators of the future may use planes equipped with an interphone, a device enabling instructors to communicate with novice pilots while flying.

A board of officers from Brooks field, Kelly field and the air corps training center in San Antonio has been formed to study possibilities of equipping student planes with the interphone.

A setup and trial of interphone equipment soon will be held at the army's material division at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio.

RAID ON VACATED PAUTIPAUG HILL FARM YIELDS FOUR BIG STILLS

Four copper stills, each of 350 gallons capacity and complete in every way, a large quantity of mash and a five-gallon keg, partly filled with what was said to be cider brandy, were seized in a raid conducted by six state police officers from the Groton barracks and Deputy Sheriff John J. McGuire of Baltic on the "Joseph Wellington" farm on Pautipaug Hill, about two miles north of Baltic, about 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning. At the time of the raid the residence was vacant, the family having moved away on the previous day, leaving the stills and et cetera behind. The farm had been occupied by Omer LeClair or Carrier, having been known by both names, and family, for the past four months.

Going to the farm on Friday for the purpose of collecting the rent, Joseph Wellington of this city, owner of the farm, found that the family had moved, but had failed to remove the apparatus used for making illicit liquor. Upon his complaint the state police came to Baltic and seized what is believed to be the largest single haul of its kind in the state, since prohibition came into effect. Three of the stills were completely rigged out and set up, while the fourth was dismantled.

The stills, which were not in operation, were located on the first floor, and the mash was discovered in a front room on the second floor in huge vats. These were built in the room and were said to be large enough to house 1,000 gallons of mash. Two of the vats were half full, while the third was filled.

The alleged proprietor of the equipment could not be located, but his wife was arrested by the state police in New London and placed under bonds of $1,000. She was unable to secure surety on her bonds and was taken to the Groton barracks, where she was locked up to await court trial in Baltic town court before Judge Henry Adams.

The contraband equipment, valued at $5,000, was removed to the state police barracks in Groton in a five-ton truck.

In the raiding squad were Officers Johnson, Whitmarsh, McKenzie, Smith and Busch and Sergeant Webber.

PROGRESS EXPOSITION COMES TO A SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

After a successful three days run the second annual Norwich Progress exposition came to a close Saturday night at the state armory. Another large crowd visited the exposition Saturday afternoon and evening, inspecting the varied merchandise on display at the 75 attractively decorated booths.

An unusual feature entertainment programme was enjoyed by the evening audience. There was the style show which was given each of the three nights. The five models displayed for the Reid and Hughes company a number of stunning gowns, on the stage at the west end of the hall.

The headliner Saturday evening was Miss Emily McKenzie, well-known radio vocalist, who played a leading role in the musical comedy success, My Maryland, last season. Miss McKenzie was accompanied by D'Atri's popular band, which provided the concert programme for the evening. Another feature of the final evening of the exposition was staged by Clarence B. Collins, widely known as the Radio Janitor, who gave his janitor's sketch, much to the amusement of the large crowd.

The popularity contest came to a close Saturday evening. It was expected that the result of the vote would be announced in this (Monday) morning's Bulletin, but Secretary Walter H. Pilcher of the chamber of commerce, who is in charge of the contest, could not be reached Sunday evening to learn the result.

At last reports Miss Alice Gallup, an employe of the Reid and Hughes store office, was leading in the contest, with Miss Mary Bundy, employed at the chamber of commerce office, in second place. Misses Susan McNeely, Marie Gerard, Catherine Daley, Nonie Nagle and Inez Orn, the latter stenographer at the chamber of commerce office, are also entered in the contest. The prize is a $10 gold piece.

AIRPLANE WEDDING FROM AIRPORT AT GROTON

Miss Babe Bebliacqua and John Luzzi, both of Smith street, New London, were married in an airplane which took off from the Groton airport Saturday afternoon. A big crowd watched the bridal party make preparations for the flight, which had several delays before the machine left the ground. First the Bridegroom balked at paying $50 for the fee which Justice of the Peace Clayton B. Smith set as his price for officiating. This was smoothed out when the price was cut to $10.

Then it was found that only four besides the aviator could go up in the machine. This meant leaving the best man behind. There was no way out of this so that the wedding party finally embarked, consisting of the bride and groom, maid of honor and Justice Smith. When the plane was over New London, where the license was taken out, the marriage was performed and the plane winged its way back to the airport to land amid the applauding crowd.

AUTO SMASHES STORE WINDOW AT BALTIC

A 6 by 10 foot plate glass window in the Roderick block, Baltic, was smashed to pieces about 12:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when it was struck by a Dodge roadster operated by Adelard Simineau of River street, Baltic. Mr. Simineau had made the sharp turn at the intersection of High and Railroad streets and instead of proceeding down High street the machine veered sharply to the right, mounted the sidewalk and hit the side of the building. Several bricks were loosened and the window frame was scraped, besides destroying the glass. The quarters are used for a storeroom by George Nicholas, restaurant proprietor. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff John J. McGuire of Baltic. The machine was considerably damaged in the front end, the axle being twisted and the right mudguard smashed.

BEGINS PASTORATE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Percy A. Kilmister, who has been pastor at the church at Concord, N. H., for nine years and was recently called to the First Baptist church in this city, began his pastorate there Sunday, preaching at the morning service.

His sermon theme was "A Dynamic Religion," which he treated in a thoughtful and forceful way which held the close attention of the good-sized congregation which was present to greet him.

ANOTHER SMALLPOX CASE DEVELOPS IN CITY

Another case of smallpox was discovered in the city Sunday afternoon when Dr. J. J. Donohue was called to attend Frederick Mehrholz of 35 Boswell avenue. Dr. Donohue diagnosed his illness as smallpox and two other physicians who saw the man agreed with the diagnosis.

Mehrholz was accordingly taken to the isolation ward at the Backus hospital.

Three Calls for Firemen.

The fire department answered three calls Saturday. Two were telephone calls and one was an oral alarm. At 3.05 o'clock in the afternoon there was a telephone call for a rubbish fire on land off No. 681 North Main street, owned by William A. Somers. Engine No. 1 and Squad A responded.

At 7.32 o'clock in the evening there was an oral call for a brush fire at No. 619 Boswell avenue, owned by William Kramer. There was no damage.

The final call of the day came in by telephone at 11.40 p. m., for a brush fire on land at No. 658 North Main street, owned by William A. Somers. Engine No. 2, Squad A and Acting Chief Henry R. Taft responded to the call.

VERSAILLES MAN MISSING; WIFE FEARS SUICIDE

Martin Heduk, 38, of Versailles, an employe of the Inland Paper Board Company, Inc., is missing from his home and fear is expressed for his safety. It is believed by his wife that he committed suicide by jumping into a pit in the beater room, where he is employed at the mill. Mr. Heduk left the house at 6 o'clock Saturday morning for his employment and was last seen about 12.30 o'clock in the afternoon eating his dinner at the company's restaurant. He had not returned up to 10.30 o'clock Sunday evening.

Mr. Heduk for the first time since he worked at the mill failed to punch the time clock at noon. He was attired in his working clothes when seen at the restaurant by his boss, who greeted him but only received a nod in return. Mr. Heduk's boots, shoes and suit coat were found lying on the beater. In his work it was necessary for him to wear boots for safety and after work he would change to his shoes. The presence of his shoes and suitcoat makes things appear mysterious.

Informed by Heduk's wife, Mr. Brown, boss of the beater room, discarded the belief that Mr. Heduk had taken his life, but, nevertheless, conducted a thorough investigation of the room on Sunday evening. He looked in every nook and corner with the exception of one beater, but failed to find a trace of the missing man. Early this (Monday) morning this beater will be run dry.

Mr. Brown spoke very highly of Mr. Heduk as an employe and was of the opinion that he would not commit such a rash act, although he did say that it was a mysterious case. Deputy Sheriff John J. McGuire of Baltic, who was called in on the case, in the absence of the Versailles constable, had his doubts that Mr. Martin's body would be found in the mill. He was inclined to believe that if he had taken his life he had jumped into a pond. There is a pond in the rear of the mill.

FOUGHT IN AUTOMOBILE DRIVING THROUGH CITY

When two petty officers of the marine corps attached to the submarine base called the attention of Officer Michael Pounch to a yellow Buick roadster with Massachusetts license plates which was pursuing an erratic course in Thames street Sunday evening, the officer stopped the Massachusetts car and had its two occupants driven to police headquarters. There Ralph Cloutier, 40, of Boston, who was driving the car, was charged with driving under the influence of liquor, and Rosanna Cloutier, 35, of Taftville, his wife, who was with him, was charged with intoxication.

Cloutier's face was streaked with blood and it was claimed his wife had been screaming and striking him in the face as they drove along, while the car swayed from one side of the street to the other so that the two marines, George Winters and Joseph Meale, who were in another machine, reported what they saw to the police. Mrs. Cloutier was held in the woman's room over night while Cloutier went into a cell.

Officer Henry Fenton accompanied the marines when they drove to police headquarters after the Massachusetts car.

CHARLES CLAYTON CHASE ENDS LIFE AT HAVERHILL

Word has been received here of the death last Tuesday in Haverhill, Mass., of Charles Clayton Chase, a prominent business man of that city who was one of the group of business men who became interested in the Palmer Bros. Co., of New London, when the concern was reorganized last December. Mr. Chase was found in the bathroom of his home by his chauffeur. Two gas jets were open and it was presumed he had committed suicide.

Mr. Chase had long been one of the most prominent business men in Haverhill. He was owner and president of the Haverhill Milling Co., a director of the Haverhill Trust company and had large real estate interests. He was a former president of the chamber of commerce. He is survived by one son.

Collision on Street in Baltic

A Dodge coupe, driven by Miss Victoria LeBlanc of No. 15 Boswell avenue, proprietor of St. Therese's private maternity hospital, and a Chevrolet truck, operated by Henry Wiau of High street, Baltic, came together and were slightly damaged about 10 o'clock Saturday morning in High street, Baltic. In attempting to pass the truck Miss LeBlanc struck it in the front end as it turned to go onto the street which leads to Baltic Heights. Both machines were traveling northerly on High street at the time of the accident. The coupe had its right mudguard damaged and the truck its left mudguard. Deputy Sheriff John J. McGuire of Baltic was notified and conducted an investigation. No arrests were made.

Mills Association To Meet.

The next regular meeting of the Eastern Connecticut Mills association has been set for Friday night of this week at Occum where a supper will be served at 6.30 by the Methodist church and the meeting will be held in Tolles hall.

Starting Citizenship Class

A citizenship class to run for four weeks, three nights a week, is to be started this (Monday) evening at Broadway school. The sessions will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, with Bernice Willey in charge. The class is for those preparing for citizenship and will have instruction in the history and government of the United States.

Opposing candidates are naturally conflicting dates.

BEES GLADNESS COME THROUGH LAW OBSERVANCE

Speaking upon the theme, Law Tucked into Sense, in his sermon on Sunday evening at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Howard Coonse pointed out three ways in which law could be considered as a cause for gladness.

In part he spoke as follows:

Statute law came into existence through the growth of population which brought the necessity of defining the relations of man to man and marking the boundary line between personal rights and the rights of the community.

There are three ways of treating the law. You can deny its authority. This is the attitude of the nihilist and anarchist. According to such men no man has a right to control other men. All are equal and among equals there can be no authority given to one man to control the others. It is the spirit of Cain who is made to say "Am I my brother's keeper." In Israel at one time "every man did that which was right in his own eyes". The result was one of the most terrible periods of crime and lust that history records. The police strike in Boston some years ago showed us in a flash what a hell of moral confusion would come by lifting the repressive influence society has established for its own protection. Until all men are perfect in judgment and in morals such Edenic conditions could not exist. Extermination would be the final end of it all. We can obey law grudgingly. Law has arisen out of human experiences as men have tried to live peacefully together. It increased its scope and intensity of operation as population increased. Most sensible people feel it must be so even if the law pinches at some point. As President Hoover has pointed out in regard to the eighteenth amendment. We may not like it but patriotism demands that we keep it for the sake of good citizenship alone.

Consider law as a cause of gladness. This is the highest and noblest attitude towards law. Many people acquiesce with law but fret against some of its restrictions. The Psalmist says that law became his song. He turned the Ten Commandments into music. Law became a definite guide, a personal protection, a defense against the harmful and destructive. How does the Psalmist get into this happy frame of mind?

First, he recognizes the fundamental rights of his neighbor. Law is a neighborly thing. It tries to settle the rights of society upon a basis of equity. In human society we elect our neighbors to formulate these laws and others are elected or appointed to carry them out. The legislative and executive bodies are our own creation. We put them in and we turn them out. We give them the power to make laws and we expect them to be applied. Many times when these laws are made we do not like them and some people refuse to obey them. This is to my mind simply anarchy. What have we left? If majority rule is broken down is there any other method of democratic government? I believe that any infringement of this principle means destruction to society as it is organized in this country. Minorities may be in the right as sometimes they are but minority rule can only bring on civil war. If Al Smith had been elected president of our country I should have given the same loyalty to his administration as I hope to do under the present administration. When a man picks out what laws he will obey and what he will not obey he is a dangerous man. The state becomes nothing but a pile of sand. Society would disintegrate and the work of three thousand years would crumble. All laws are an infringement of personal rights, but unless we surrender these rights for the good of the whole communal life is impossible.

Secondly, by cultivating a spirit of obedience within ourselves. Law is not made for the law-abiding but for the lawless. Obedience to the law has been one of the growing attitudes of the democracies of the world. As feudalism broke up and slavery passed away as the great multitudes of common folks entered upon a vast area of personal liberties which they have defended and preserved with their lives on a thousand battlefields.

We lose what we refuse to use properly. Italy has lost its democracy because many of its people refused to work in the spirit of obedience to the law of the land. Obedience to the law is one of the prime necessities of the hour.

Thirdly, cultivating a spirit of gladness for law that conserves our highest interests and protects our rights. The good loyal citizen will come to see that it is his protection, his school master, as Paul speaks of it to bring him to better things. He gets to rejoice in it and thanks God for it. Good men find the law like the notched tree in the olden days to the traveller it guides him to the right path. A law-abiding man comes at last to be glad for the law. He knows what he can do and what he cannot do. He finds the law a help instead of a hindrance. It pinches his selfishness but it preserves his self respect. It defeats his anarchism but it makes neighborly relations possible and profitable. It makes us toe the mark but it defends our true liberties. It punishes us if we step aside, but it warns us of our danger. The good man comes to the place where the law doesn't bother him at all. He does not want to break it so he keeps it for conscience sake. He keeps the speed law and saves his own neck. He looks upon the policeman as his friend and not his enemy. He walks under the shadow of the law and finds it a delight. He obeys the law and forgets that it exists. Law becomes his song in the house of his pilgrimage. Instead of a menace to the community he becomes its sunshine. Law becomes a song of gladness to those who keep it.

CEREMONIAL MADE BIG EVENT FOR GROTTO MEN

Large delegations of Grotto members from Hartford, New Haven and New Britain were added to the membership of Nonreed Grotto, M. O. V. P. E. R., here Saturday for the ceremonial, which made a feature for the spring season. The visitors kept arriving during the afternoon at the Grotto home on Cliff street where they were hospitably welcomed and at 6 o'clock supper was served.

Monarch Henry Gee presided at a short business meeting which was held at 7 o'clock and at 7.30 the parade of Grotto members, all wearing fezzes, marched to the Strand theatre where the ceremonial was impressively conducted with eight candidates taking the degree. The evening closed with an entertainment programme which made a most acceptable finish to the busy evening.

Patients Discharged at Hospital

The following patients were discharged Saturday and Sunday at the W. W. Backus hospital: William Downing, Voluntown; Joseph Curto, No. 80 Boswell avenue; Raymond Andrews, No. 488 Main street; Mrs. Delia Molleur, No. 28 Providence street; Rose Vayane, No. 43 Perry avenue; May Geary, Backus hospital; Frances Benoit, Taftville; Mrs. Alma Selkas, Laurel Hill avenue; Mrs. Phoebe Fish, Lantern Hill, North Stonington.

A suspicious woman raises a large crop of doubt.

GIVES THRILLING RECITAL OF ANTARCTIC EXPERIENCES

Writing from Commander Byrd's flagship in the Antarctic expedition, Esmond O'Brien, son of Patrick O'Brien, 112 East 108th street, New York, formerly of this city, gives a vivid description of experiences with the expedition. The letter was seven weeks in transit from the Antarctic region to New York. Mr. O'Brien, first engineer officer with the expedition, flew in the plane as mechanic when a large range of mountains was discovered. He writes as follows:

On Board the American Barque "City of New York," Flagship of Commander Byrd's Antarctic Expedition, Bay of Whales, Antarctica, Jan. 25, 1929.

Dear Dad: Now for the South Pole! And with the yelping sons of Chinook will make it! Received every one of your messages, including the Christmas message broadcast from Station KDKA. Christmas day about 7:30 p. m. (our time). Every word of the program broadcast from KDKA received here in the Antarctic as clear as a bell. It was as if the announcer was right alongside of you, so clear was the spoken word; the musical part of the program was excellent, the selection came over very clearly and with plenty of volume.

Of course, "Sparks," the radio man, used seven stages of amplification, two steps of radio frequency and five steps of audio frequency, to accomplish this result. Be sure to tell the boys of the New York fire department that I received every one of their messages.

Tell Jack Reiss and members of Engine Co. No. 77 that the Bay of Whales is a little over 14,000 miles and I consider that is hanging up a record for radio communication. Christmas day (1928) we were in Discovery inlet and at about 8:30 p. m. the great ice barrier was sighted by the lookout in the crow's nest. We were under full sail at the time.

The great ice barrier is one of the most impressive sights that I have ever seen, 90 to 120 feet in height, beautiful in the sunlight when it glistens like a mountain of pure white diamonds; one is utterly staggered with the beauty of it all. And when one realizes that the barrier is of solid ice and extends downwards into the sea for a depth of 640 feet (our scientists agree on that), one cannot help but realize how insignificant man is. We gave it a charge of dynamite but with very little effect—only to blow a small round hole in it. We sailed along the barrier for 500 miles and mile after mile the scene grew ever grander and more inspiring as each mile we put behind us. Our map makers charted the entire coast and we have made some very clear maps showing the barrier to scale. The depth of the sea all along the barrier as shown by our Sonic depth finder is 300 fathoms, or about 1,800 feet; some soundings had shown 360 fathoms. The barrier resembles the Palisades but the Palisades do not represent the sublime majesty and power the barrier does, and on top of the Palisades it is not 10 degrees below zero F. and the wind does not blow 80 to 100 miles an hour. The scene from the top of the barrier with all the wonderful cloud effects must be seen to be appreciated. The ice and snow spread in all directions far as the eye can see with the crevasses, which seem bottomless. The loneliness, the vastness and the beauty of it all is beyond words.

Christmas day, in accordance with the best traditions of the sea, we "spliced the main brace," and, by the way, the commander is a stickler for sea traditions. He gave us an entertainment and concert.

"Ukelele Dick" who is an expert performer on the uke, did himself proud. Second Officer Stromm plays a concertina exceedingly well and he also did himself proud. You know, Dad, to seamen in the uttermost part of the world their ship is truly their home, no matter whether "wintering" in the Antarctic seas with the thermometer well below freezing or sweltering under canvas in the tropical heat of the equator; an entertainment is always provided on Christmas day.

We were exceedingly fortunate to have on board this Christmas a good array of talent and plenty of foodstuffs. Our Christmas cake was provided by the wife of the governor-general of New Zealand and we had plum duff from "Merrie Old England" that we got in New Zealand. The kind people of New Zealand showed the expedition unsurpassable hospitality; long will Commander Byrd's boys remember them.

The festivities on board ship Christmas day were innocent enough, but perhaps to the aviation personnel, the scientific staff and other land lubbers, they seemed a little childish, but, nevertheless, served a purpose, that is, helped to strengthen that intangible link that binds the commander to the men and the men to the commander.

Well, Dad, in my last letter I told how we were on the edge of the ice pack in the Ross sea; that your letter went back to New Zealand by our supply ship, the Eleanor Bolling, that towed us to the edge of the ice pack.

However, we waited for four days at the edge of the pack for the ice to break up. The Norwegian whaleship, the "C. A. Larsen," of 1,300 tons lay about one mile to windward of us all the time, whaling.

The Larsen has five fast steam-driven whale-chasers capable of making 17 knots, with a gun mounted on the bow which shoots a harpoon containing an explosive charge which is detonated when the harpoon is embedded in the body of the whale, killing him in a few minutes. There is, however, enough air left in the lungs of the whale to keep him afloat so that he can be towed back to the Larsen. The bow of the Larsen is so constructed that a section of it opens up and the whale is pulled through the bow to the well-deck aft and stripped of its blubber. There is absolutely no waste, all of the by-products are used. The blubber is rendered into oils and the bones made into different shapes of whalebone. Even the whale's hide is utilized. All of the rendering of the blubber is done on board the Larsen, which is really a large floating factory. From our deck of the "City of New York" we could see the whales spout and watch the whale-chaser go after them. We could see the harpoon leave the gun and watch the explosion a minute later and see the whale give battle. Quite thrilling while it lasts.

But when we consider the bomb gun and floating factory, "whaling takes the

ACADEMY BEATS LINDER OF DEEP RIVER IN TENSE 12-INNING STRUGGLE

"BUTSY" WEISGRABER

"RED" FAGAN

The great Linder fell the latest victim of Academy bats Saturday afternoon at the campus but only after he had given a great exhibition of pitching. The game was another one of those thrillers and wasn't finished until the 12th inning when Red Fagan's smashing double and his fourth hit of the day was followed by two sacrifices. The score was 4 to 3.

3,500 See Contest

With a capacity crowd of 3,500 looking on, the state championship Wildcat team battled Mr. Linder and his Deep River cohorts tooth and nail for those 12 long innings before the break came. The visitors scored right off the reel in the first inning, and the Academy tied things up at one all in the second. The Wildcats took the lead with a run in the sixth and then picked up another in the eighth. In the ninth, that fateful ninth, of late games, Deep River pushed over two runs to tie the score and that was all until the third extra inning.

Red Fagan today stands as the hero of that brilliant Academy victory. The sorrel-top started the game on the mound and gave a pretty exhibition outside of the first inning. However, along about the sixth inning he showed signs of weakening and was moved to right field by Coach Brigham and Butsy Weisgraber, Academy pitching ace, assumed the pitching duties. Fagan meanwhile had been finding Mr. Finder to his liking and as the game continued piled up his hits until by the 12th he had three singles in five trips. His last trip to the plate was the crowning effort and probably to him more than anybody else goes credit for the victory.

Butsy Weisgraber, who again turned in a sterling performance on the hill, stilled the bats of the invaders almost completely, allowing but one lone hit and fanning eight men in six innings. Still another of the red-hosed crew, Hal Cummings, the little third-sacker, was brilliant, racking Linder for three solid clouts and played a fine game afield. Buck LaCroix, in centerfield, with five hard putouts, was still another Academy great Saturday.

Linder Fanned 19

Linder had his strikeout ball working, fanning 19 men but this ball was also straightened for 14 hits by the state champs. Linder had the majority of his strikeouts in the early innings. He passed two men while Fagan passed two and fanned the same number and Weisgraber struck out eight and didn't walk any.

With two away in the first inning, Linder doubled to the Manual Training building in right and he scored on Jaeckle's hit on which Chubby Gibbs at shortstop made a nice stop.

Academy Ties Count

The Academy was retired on strikes in the first inning, Arico, Gibbs and Cummings being victims. In the second, however, the Wildcats tied it up. With one away, Fagan beat out a hit to second base and went to second when Mozzochi threw wild over first. Tombari fanned but Bud Fontaine came through with a single into centerfield that scored Fagan. Gibbs and Cummings singled cleanly to center in the third inning but LaCroix was a strikeout victim to end the inning.

Mozzochi walked to lead off the second for Deep River and moved to second on Hagen's bunt but Henry and Todeschini were easy outs. Deep River was retired in order in the third and fourth but with one out in the fifth Henry tripled to deep right field, the ball rolling through the fence and only a fine return by Tombari held it from a home run. Todeschini walked but Fagan got Swan and P. Linder on hoists to the outfield. The visitors were retired one-two-three in the next three frames, Weisgraber having taken over the flinging duties in the seventh.

Meanwhile, after the Academy had been retired on strikes in the fourth and in order again in the fifth they took the lead in the sixth. Chubby Gibbs was the first batter and he was safe on P. Linder's fumble. Cummings forced Gibbs at second and Cummings was out stealing, a fine slide failing to make it for Hal. LaCroix singled into center field, Fagan into right, sending Buck to third and Tombari beat out an infield single, scoring LaCroix. Arico walked with two away in the seventh and stole second but was stranded when Gibbs rolled to Mozzochi.

In the eighth the Academy scored again. Cummings led off with a line single into the left field. LaCroix sacrificed him to second and Fagan scored him with a hit into left. Tombari beat out another infield hit but Fontaine fanned, and after Sherry walked, filling the bases, Weisgraber struck out.

That Ninth Again

The big ninth then came once again. W. Linder was the lead-off hitter. He tapped one down to Sherry and was to all appearances retired when Arico dropped the throw and Deep River had a life. Jaeckle drove a long fly into left field which Tombari went out and captured in. Linder took second on a passed ball. Tourville got an infield hit, the only hit off Weisgraber, that sent Linder to third. Mozzochi hit to Sherry who fumbled and Linder scored, Tourville going to third and Mozzochi to second a minute later. The squeeze play then was on and Tourville raced across the plate as Hagen laid down a bunt. Mozzochi also attempted to score but was thrown out, Weisgraber to Fontaine. Henry fanned to end the inning. With two out Cummings and LaCroix pinched in the ninth but Fagan fanned to end the inning.

Weisgraber Fans Linder

With one out in the tenth Swan got a life on Sherry's error and P. Linder sacrificed him along but Weisgraber fanned Walter Linder on three pitched balls. Deep River was retired in order in the eleventh and with one out in the twelfth Henry got on on Gibbs' error of his hard grounder but Todeschini fanned and Swan popped up to the same Chubby to end the frame.

The Academy meanwhile had chances in the tenth and eleventh innings before they finally won the game. Sherry doubled to the Manual Training building into the crowd in right field, with two out but the best Weisgraber could do was send a grounder to Todeschini. In the eleventh Arico was safe on Henry's error, was sacrificed along by Gibbs and took third on a passed ball but the squeeze play went wrong when Cummings laid down a bunt and Arico, who was slow starting from third was trapped at the plate, W. Linder to Jaeckle. LaCroix then flied out.

N. F. A. Wins Out

Fagan smashed one into the crowd in right field for two bases to open the twelfth. Tombari sacrificed and Fontaine then laid down a bunt on the squeeze play and Fagan scored as Bud was being thrown out.

This was the third tight game for the Academy in eight days and all of them were won by the same score, 4 to 3. Last Saturday at Chapman Tech they were forced into eleven innings, Wednesday with West Hartford at the campus they came out ahead in the last of the ninth and then again Saturday. The team in winning these games is showing plenty of aggressiveness and is winning a multitude of friends.

Norwich is proud of its fighting Wildcats.

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

Runs were scored as follows: N. F. A.—Cummings, LaCroix, Fagan, 2. Deep River—W. Linder, 2, Tourville.

Jaeckle, Deep River catcher, wept bitterly when he returned to the bench after Tombari took his long drive into left field.

Swan, leadoff man, attempted to start the game off using a bat with a flat edge but Hank looked it over and made him get another.

Many saw the new athletic house Saturday for the first time.

Linder can be beaten after all.

A great crowd and a great game and also a great pitcher in Mr. Linder.

Linder got a big hand when he came to bat in the ninth and tenth innings and he deserved it.

Butsy Weisgraber also came in for the plaudits of the crowd. Butsy is turning in some fine pitching for the champs.

Souvenir programs, revealing a history of baseball at the Academy since 1890 were sold at the game. They also contain the 1928 averages and pictures of the teams. The historical sketch, by Miss Mary Coughlin, a member of the faculty, is very well done.

P. Linder, at short for Deep River, is a brother of the great Walter.

The field was in perfect shape, the infield being hard and fast and the outfield like velvet.

Tombari had to dive through the fence in left field to go after Henry's three-baser in the fifth. He also had to do this little thing in chasing a ball in the West Hartford game. Also plays that field very well.

In the last inning Buck LaCroix moved to second when Crowell went to right and Fagan to center field and it must have seemed like familiar surroundings for the Baltic boy for that's where he cavorted in 1928.

Hank Morin and Johnny Murphy were the umps.

Coach Brigham used practically all those classed as regulars, sending in twelve men.

Capt. Jack Marks was in uniform and his injured ankle is expected to be in shape for him to play this week.

Jaeckle, before sending one out to Tombari in the ninth, fouled one off that smashed through the glass roof of the Converse Art Gallery.

The stands were packed to the limit Saturday and both sides were black with fans.

Two games this week. Westerly at Westerly Wednesday and Windham here Saturday.

100-YARD RECORD BROKEN TWICE UNOFFICIALLY

NEW YORK, May 5—(AP)—The world's record for 100 yards has withstood another week-end battering without yielding up its place in the record books. The mark, set in 1906 by Dan Kelly and never officially beaten since, was bettered twice yesterday but neither George Simpson, of Ohio State, nor Russell Sweet, of the Olympic club, San Francisco, will be in a position to claim a new world's record.

Simpson, regarded in some quarters as most likely of all the current crop of sprinters to lower the official mark of 9 3-5 seconds, ran the century in 9 3-10 seconds at the Ohio relays yesterday. Sweet, a former University of Montana athlete, turned in a 9 2-5 "hundred" at the Pacific association championships in San Francisco.

Susie Says

Wot a game; Wot a game!

If I live to be a hundred years old I don't think I will ever see another game like it. But that's what we say after all close games.

Of course you folks know that I'm talking about that game Saturday afternoon when the Academy beat Mr. Linder and Co., of Deep River.

If it wasn't for the said Linder nobody would know there was such a place as Deep River. In fact a couple of fans wanted to know where it was, and another said he thought it was down near New Haven. Buy a map brother.

This Linder boy is one sweet pitcher for a high school kid but four years of college baseball would do him a lot of good and make him just about right for the leagues.

Norwich rejoices at the Academy triumph and at the same time bows to Mr. Linder and offers her condolences. He pitched a whale of a game against a whale of a ball club.

There is one thing that the Academy might emulate Deep River in and that is in the school spirit. With only a handful of supporters Deep River was given more encouragement than the Academy with hundreds.

That do or die spirit just radiates from that Deep River gang as was shown by the actions of Catcher Jaeckle. When Tombari robbed him of his hit it broke Joeckle's heart.

The boy cried his eyes out so deep was his feeling. That's the spirit that makes men and ball clubs. A little more of this heart and soul spirit don't hurt a bit.

The proudest man in the whole ball yard Saturday afternoon was Pop Fagan, father of "Red" Fagan. And he has something to be proud of, his kid was almost the whole show, he and Butsy Weisgraber. Some boy, that Weisgraber.

Pop wasn't a bit afraid to let anybody know it although he took some heavy but good natured abuse from the crowd. That's the spirit, Pop. I hope I can be as proud of my son some day.

Chubby Gibbs and Hal Cummings make a neat pair of infielders, both being fast and heady kids. Chubby should go a long way in baseball and so should Hal. More power to 'em.

The third base gang did all they could to win that game but at times it looked mighty dubious. The gang was augmented by George Gross and that means a lot.

If our old friend Hank Morin would get together with his base umpire and tell him about the ground rules there would be less arguments and the game would go much smoothre.

The most nervous man on the field was Coach Brigham and we don't blame him. Norwich must take their hats off to him, he has produced one of the finest ball clubs ever to represent the Academy.

Well, it was a great game, won by a great team against a great pitcher. Ain't that great?

RELAY TEAM FROM ACADEMY WINS N. E. CHAMPIONSHIP AT PROVIDENCE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 5—Norwich Free Academy's strong half-mile relay team carried away the New England high school title here Saturday afternoon at the Brown relays when they outran quartets from all sections of the states. The time was 1 minute, 42 seconds. The boys wearing the Red and White were Capt. Eddie Lyons, Harvey Berkman and Robinson.

The event was open to all high schools in New England. The only other school from Norwich's section was its ancient rival, Bulkeley of New London. Hope high of Providence was second.

Twenty-one high and prep schools were entered in the relays, including Dean academy, Hebron academy, Moses Brown school and others.

The time Saturday that Norwich made equalled the record for the half mile Interscholastic league relay, set by Chapman Tech in 1924.

Norwich led from the start, Lyons getting a lead at six yards to along and this was kept to the end. Except for a fuggling of the baton by Berkman, the time would have been faster.

The relays, run off on the Brown university track were witnessed by a fairly large crowd. Conditions were ideal. Following the relays all contestants were admitted to the New York University-Brown baseball game, which N. Y. U. won 2 to 1.

N. F. A. vs. Bulkeley Today.

This afternoon at New London the Academy and Bulkeley high met in their annual track meet. The two ancient rivals appear evenly matched this season and a close meet is expected.

The Academy opened its season impressively last week by trimming Putnam high. Coach Matthew J. Sheridan appears to have a strong squad, the strongest that the local school has had in many years. The locals have not beaten Bulkeley at track in something like ten years or more and a victory this afternoon would be very sweet.

Saturday at Brown the Red and White trimmed Bulkeley in the half mile relays and they expect to continue this work in all events this afternoon.

Young Eagles Win.

The Young Eagles trounced the Young Hawks Sunday afternoon, 14 to 12. The Hawks led by a wide margin until the fifth inning when the Eagles started a hitting assault and Attaman shut them up. CARDS STAGE LATE RALLY TO BEAT OUT GIANTS

NEW YORK, May 5—(AP)—The Cardinals rallied in the eighth and the ninth at the Polo grounds today to take their second straight game from the Giants. The score was 9 to 7. Chick Hafey played the leading role for the champions on the offense, with a homer, a triple and a single, which batted in four runs. Taylor Douthit also hit a homer for the Cards, while Travis Jackson punched out one for the Giants.

Both Grover Alexander and Fred Fitzsimmons, starting pitchers, were hammered hard. Willie Sherdel relieved Alex, and got credit for the victory, although he stepped aside for a pinch batsman in the ninth when the Cards scored three times. Joe Genewich, Fitzsimmons relief, was ineffective.

ALLOWS ONLY TWO HITS BUT IS BEATEN BY INDIANS

CLEVELAND, May 5—(AP)—Ad Liska, Washington rookie hurler, held Cleveland to two hits here today but lost a pitching duel to Walter Miller, 1 to 0.

The tribe scored its lone run in the second inning when Falk beat out a hit to Myers, went to second when the Washington third sacker threw wildly and scored when Cronin fumbled Fonseca's roller.

Washington filled the bases with none out in the fifth, but Falk's sensational throw cut off the rally and the side was retired without a score. Score:

PIRATES HALT WINNING STREAK OF THE BRAVES

BOSTON, May 5—(AP)—The five straight winning streak of the Braves came to an abrupt end here today, when the tribesmen yielded a 7 to 2 victory to Pittsburgh. It was the first National league Sunday game held in this city and a crowd of 35,000 persons attended.

Bob Smith was hit hard in the third but Maranville fielded brilliantly, having yet to make an error this season. Three doubleplays and a triple play helped the visitors out of some of their difficulties. The triple came in the fourth after Mueller had singled and took third on Maranville's single. Spohrer grounded to Grimes, Mueller was run down, Spohrer was caught trying to reach second and Maranville nailed trying to score, a continuous play.

VANCE WINS THIRD STRAIGHT BEATING REDS

BROOKLYN, May 5—(AP)—Dazzy Vance hung up his third consecutive victory here today, holding the Reds to four hits and striking out nine while the Dodgers were winning by a 4 to 1 score. Curt Walker's home run was the only score off Vance.

The first appearance at shortstop of Glenn Wright for Brooklyn was a feature of the game. Wright got two of his team's dozen hits off Pete Donohue, one of them being a home run over the right field wall with Bressler on in the third. Wright did not have a fielding chance up to the time he was replaced in the field by Dave Bancroft.

TIGERS SWAMP RED SOX WITH FLOOD OF HITS

DETROIT, May 5—(AP)—With the Tigers back in the batting form which has made them the most feared sluggers in the American league this year, Detroit defeated Boston here today, 10 to 2. Three Red Sox pitchers yielded 15 hits, including home runs, by Charlie Morris. Boston, right hander, left the Gehringer and Marty McManus, Det. mound in the fourth after five runs had been garnered by five Tiger hits, two of which were doubles and one of which was McManus' circuit blow. MacFayden went well enough after that except for a flurry in the sixth in which the Bengals pushed across two runs on three doubles but was pulled in the eighth for a pinch hitter.

WOLVERINES SWAMP RIVERVIEW UNDER AVALANCHE OF HITS

The Wolverines of Hartford pounded Nickerson and West for a total of 19 hits Saturday afternoon at the State Hospital diamond to win from the Riverview club 12 to 2. The Hartford team pounded Nickerson hard in the second and fifth innings getting all their runs off his delivery. West took up the pitching burden in the fifth and held the visitors to five scattered hits. Riverview was able to get but seven hits off Dixon, West getting two and Nickerson two. Bishop led the hitting for the visitors with four singles. The score:

WALBERG HOLDS BROWN TO LONE HIT; ATHLETICS WIN

ST. LOUIS, May 5—(AP)—Pitching masterful ball, George Walberg held St. Louis to one hit, a single by Melillo, today and the Philadelphia Athletics blanked the Browns, to 0. It was a pitchers' battle in which Sam Gray, Brownie darling ace, lost his first game in five starts this season, although he held the Athletic six five hits in eight innings when he gave way to a pinch batsman. Blaeholder finished the game and allowed one hit.

The Athletics were turned back except in the fifth when they bunched three hits with a walk to make the only two scores of the game. The victory gave Philadelphia the league leadership.

SHYMA CLUB SPLITS EVEN IN WEEK-END GAMES

The Shyma club of Taftville split even in its week-end games, losing on Saturday at Plainfield to the Plainfield Red Stars, 8 to 5, and winning on Sunday at Taftville from the Montville U. S. Co., 13 to 10.

Benoit led the Taftville club in hitting on Saturday while Beausoleil and Conitois were best for Plainfield and on Sunday Kobos led the Shymas at the bat and Nevin was best for the losing Montville team.

BIG CROWD SEES YANKS TROUNCE THE WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, May 5—(AP)—Fifty-nine thousand spectators watched the Yankees batter out their second straight victory over the White Sox today. The score was 8 to 3.

Babe Ruth and Tony Lazzeri were the big guns in the Yankee attack today. Each drove in three runs and each hammered out home runs. It was Ruth's second circuit clout in two days and it was off Grover Alexander in the fifth inning with Koenig on base. This drive put the Yankee total up to four. Lazzeri also got a triple.

The Yankees fell on Adkins for 17 hits, while George Pipgras was pounded for 10, most of which were scattered.

INDUSTRY HAS ENTERED MAY WITH NO SIGNS OF A LET-UP IN ACTIVITY

NEW YORK, May 5—Apparently having set several new records in large scale production during April, industry has entered May with practically no signs of a let-up in activity.

The sustained high rate of operations in the steel industry was particularly noteworthy. Mills were still operating at practical capacity, and incoming business was reported as adequate to assure heavy operations until at least well into June.

The rate of pig iron production in April has been exceeded only by May and June of 1928. Steel and automobile production, according to early calculations, may have exceeded the records set in March.

United States Steel reported record peace-time earnings for the first quarter amounting to $5.04 per share, more than 70 per cent of the dividend requirement or 47 for the entire year.

The tremendous output of steel indicated for the first half caused some apprehensions as to the probable course during the second half. Although Iron Age stated that indications were for a less than normal seasonal decline, it was pointed out in some quarters that sharp declines have usually followed periods of heavy production in the past.

Continued firmness of credit still caused uneasiness in banking circles. The National City bank of New York, stated in its May 1 review, "Unless some way is soon found where by the existing credit situation can be cured and rates restored to normal levels, it is difficult to see how a check to business can long be postponed."

Building operations, usually the most sensitive to tight money, showed some recovery from the sharp drop as indicated for two weeks ago by F. W. Dodge's weekly compilation of contracts let in the states east of the Rockies, but were still well below last year at this time.

One of the most favorable statistical showings appearing during the week was the total of freight car loadings for the week ended April 20, which passed the 1,000,000 mark for the first time this year, and indicated one of the highest rates of distributions ever experienced at this time of year.

Retail trade was again impaired by unseasonable weather in many sections of the country. Primary textile markets showed some unevenness and sentiment in the textile industry was a little less cheerful. The leather industry was again troubled by renewed depression in the hide markets, particularly in markets abroad.

Wheat markets were depressed by heavy stores and fears that they can not be moved in time to make way for the new crop. To meet the emergency, railroads agreed to cut their freight rates in order to move wheat for export. Cotton futures sagged under favorable crop reports. R. G. Dun and Company reported further improvement in the insolvency record, with total failures to the latest week showing a marked decline from the two previous weeks and the like week a year ago.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

It is given to few, in human experience, to stand as the elective head of an institution for more than a quarter of a century. Such, however, is the record of Henry Haskell Gallup, who at the time of his death on Thursday, May 2nd, 1929, had been President of the New London County Mutual Fire Insurance Company for more than twenty-six years. Therefore, be it

RESOLVED: That the Directors of this Company, in the death of Mr. Gallup, recognize with profound esteem the uniqueness of such a service, performed so many years with the utmost of fidelity and devotion; and, though realizing that through the lapse of time such ties must inevitably be broken, they register herein their deep sorrow and regret at its termination.

W. F. LESTER, Secretary.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Peter Sees the Queerest Sight
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Mother Nature doth arrange
Her affairs in ways most strange.
—Peter Rabbit.

Little Mrs. Peter Rabbit was quite provoked. Yes, sir, she was quite provoked. She insisted that Peter spent no time at all in the dear Old Briar-patch. It is true that he didn't spend a great deal of time there. Really, little Mrs. Peter, from her point of view, had reason to be provoked. She said as much to Peter, in fact, she told it to him many times.

Now, Peter is naturally good-natured, but he does once in a while lose his temper. After he had listened to Mrs. Peter's complaints as long as he could, he stamped as only Peter can stamp. "If you talked less, perhaps I would stay at home more," said he. "But the more you talk, the less I want to stay home." With this he turned his back on little Mrs. Peter.

"You are the handsomest bird I have ever seen," he declared.

One could hardly blame Peter for wanting to be out and about these spring days. There was a great deal to see. There was much to hear. If Peter had been less curious, it might have been easier for him to stay in the dear Old Briar-patch. But you know how full of curiosity Peter Rabbit is. So not even his duty to little Mrs. Peter could keep him at home. The one thing that Peter was most interested in was the home of the Wood Ducks. He had seen Mrs. Wood Duck enter a certain hole in a certain dead tree. That hole was very high up from the ground. He had seen Mrs. Wood Duck do this more than once and each time he saw it he wanted to pinch himself to make sure that he saw what he thought he saw. It was very, very hard work to believe that a Duck of any kind would nest in a hole in a tree like a Woodpecker or an Owl. But Beauty the Wood Duck had told Peter that a hole in a tree or a stump was always their choice for a home. So there was nothing for Peter to do but to believe Beauty and his own eyes.

Beauty had told Peter that Mrs. Wood Duck would be sitting on the eggs for two or three weeks. It would have made it easier for Peter if Beauty had told him exactly how many days Mrs. Wood Duck would be sitting on the eggs. You see, Peter wanted to be on hand when those eggs hatched. He couldn't imagine how those ducklings were going to get down out of that tree, and Beauty wouldn't tell him. So Peter was determined to be on hand when the great event took place. That meant that he had to spend a great deal more time over in the Green Forest, where, from a safe hiding place, he could watch the hole in that tree, than he really wanted to.

Every once in a while Peter would go down to Paddy the Beaver's pond for a chat with Beauty. Every time he saw Beauty he admired him and "You are the handsomest bird I have ever seen," he declared.

"You flatter me," replied Beauty. But it was plainly to be seen that he was much pleased.

"No," said Peter, "I am not flattering. I really mean it. Did I understand you to say that you were hatched from an egg in a hole in a tree?"

"Something of the sort," replied Beauty.

"How did you get down to the water?" asked Peter.

Beauty chuckled. "The same way that those Ducklings of mine will get down," said he, and his eyes twinkled.

"It's mean of you not to tell me," replied Peter. "Anyway, I'm going to see how those Ducklings of yours come down."

"I hope you will," replied Beauty. "You'll enjoy seeing them."

So it was that Peter pretty nearly lived over in that part of the Green Forest. He was seldom very far away from that tree which was the home of the Wood Ducks. And then one morning his patience was rewarded. He saw the queerest sight. It was so queer that he fairly caught his breath watching it. It was the young Wood Ducks leaving their home in the hollow tree.

FASHIONABLE ASSEMBLAGE AT TODD-HANKEY WEDDING

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 5—George Libanus Todd, of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Phyllis Bancroft Hankey, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Philip Z. Hankey, were married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, 891 Montauk avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, in the presence of about 80 relatives and friends. Walter Ledyard Todd, brother of the groom, was best man and Miss Eleanor Van Mater Bancroft Hines, of Montclair, N. J., cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. The ushers were Dr. Conway Todd, professor of archaeology at Cornell university, and Paul Noeth, of Rochester. Smilax, delphinium, sweet peas, roses, snapdragons and African daisies were the decorations. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown. Her veil was trimmed with duchess lace and arranged in a cap effect, fastened with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of calla lilies. Miss Hines was attired in sky blue chiffon with a horsehair picture hat to match. She carried vari-colored spring flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd will sail for Cherbourg, on a steamship Empress of Scotland, from Quebec, May 7. They plan to motor through the French chateau country and the Italian lake region, returning on the Roma in July, sailing from Naples. On their return they will reside at 77 East boulevard, Rochester. The bride was educated at the Gateway, New Haven, and at Smith college. Mr. Todd, who is of the Ledyard family of Connecticut, is a graduate of Cornell university in the class of 1926 and received his master's degree in English at Princeton the following year. He is assistant manager of the Todd company in Rochester.

George Wesley, colored, of 66 Douglass street, was charged in the city court Saturday with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving while his license was under suspension. He was fined $100 and costs and went to jail.

Leslie B. Pearson, 26 Beldon street, was charged with reckless driving, but the charge was nolled. Pearson was arrested Friday upon complaint of Max Belt and George Goss to the arresting officer, Albert Iverson. Belt and Goss claiming that Pearson had endangered their safety by the manner in which Pearson drove through Main street.

Ignored Traffic Signal.

Joseph A. Gorton, 80 Pequot avenue and Gladstone H. Stevens, 231 Vauxhall street, were jointly charged with reckless driving. The charge against the former was nolled and Stevens was fined $10. Each driver was arrested Friday night by Patrolman Lawrence Fardy upon complaint of the other and after a collision of the cars that Gorton and Stevens were driving. It was shown that Stevens had ignored a traffic signal on Bank street, which act was directly responsible for the crash.

Albertus Mather, Station 12, Waterford, was charged with reckless driving and the case was continued to Monday.

MOTORISTS MAKE BUSINESS FOR CITY COURT SATURDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 5—A large number of auto drivers were in the city court Saturday charged with various violations of the automobile law. John Lawski, 31 Shapley street, charged with passing an automatic traffic signal set at danger was fined $10; William B. Kingsland, 376 Prospect street, East Orange, N. J.; William R. Bliven, 13 Vietz street; Morris Ukron, Westerly; John Dovie, 57 Greenleaf street, Medford, Mass.; E. A. Bauer, Quaker Hill; Chester W. Nelson, Brookline, Mass.; James Beran, Ocean Beach; Albert C. Douglass, Waterford; Raymond H. Swan, York avenue, Niantic; A. Alderman, New Haven; Alfred G. Kone, 193 Cleveland avenue, Hartford; Joseph Perrone, 43 Summer street; William Blake, 26 Oneco avenue; William Barclay, Hotel Mohigan; Dulio Luzzi, 50 Smith street; Nathan Goodman, 123 Blydenburg avenue; Alexander McPhail, 196 Montauk avenue; John Montello, 20 Shaw street; Henry A. Beckwith, 105 Main street; Harry P. Jones, 527 East 150th street, New York; Lindsley B. Marvin, 14 Earle street, Providence; Meyer H. Hollandersky, 154 State street; Harrie I. Dill, 28 Waller street; Paul E. Vincent, 324 Pequonoc road, Groton; Manuel T. Perry, Jamestown, R. I., and Grant E. MacLaren, South Road, Poquonoc, all were charged with parking overtime. None of the drivers appeared in court so their respective bonds of $2 were declared forfeited. Andrew Rosinsky, Waterford, charged with violation of the traffic law by driving against traffic on a one-way street, was fined $5 and Alfred Utz Canterbury charged with passing an automatic danger signal on Bank street, was fined a like sum.

John Sullivan, of Norwood, R. I., and Alfred Thereaux, Axton, R. I., were arrested yesterday on Potter street, where they engaged in a fight. The two men were battling when interrupted by Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey and Station House Keeper Frank Corcoran. The pair will be in court Monday charged with breach of the peace and intoxication.

TAR FROM C. G. CUTTER KNOCKS OUT SUB-BASE SAILOR

Szopan Koszak, a member of the crew of U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Wilkes, was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Clyde Murphy charged with breach of the peace and will be tried in the police court Monday. Koszak engaged in a wordy argument with M. L. Wilhelm, a submarine base sailor, on State street and dealt the latter a blow on the jaw that rendered Wilhelm unconscious.

MONTVILLE WOMEN'S SCRAP TO GET THEM INTO COURT

The trial of Mrs. Louis Hubbard, Montville, charged with breach of the peace, scheduled for Friday night before Justice of the Peace Oscar Church in Montville, was not held owing to Mrs. Mabel Johnson, also of Montville, complainant against Mrs. Hubbard, being arrested on a counter charge. Both women will be in court Wednesday next. Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. Johnson engaged in a quarrel and each is alleged to have applied vile and obscene names to the other.

Henry Taisky of Montville, will be in a Montville justice court Wednesday next on a charge of violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving without tail light display. Tiesky was arrested in Montville Friday night by State Police Officer Joseph King.

J. N. LAPOINTE STRICKEN WHILE ATTENDING THEATRE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 5—Joseph N. Lapointe, 68, proprietor of the Hotel Lafayette, corner of Broad and Williams streets, and at one time a prominent manufacturer in New London, died suddenly of heart disease while attending a performance at the Garde theatre Saturday afternoon. Mr. Lapointe died almost instantly and before medical assistance could be summoned. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Ralph, of Hudson, Mass.; Frank, of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Dr. Leonard Lapointe, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; a daughter, Mrs. Beech Carpenter, of Flushing, N. Y.; a sister, Mrs. A. Mallett, of Waterbury, and three brothers, Louis Lapointe, Waterbury, and Augustine and S. F. Lapointe, of Hartford.

Mr. Lapointe for several years was proprietor of the J. N. Lapointe company, manufacturers of broaching machines, with plant on Pequot avenue. He retired from the manufacturing business several years ago and leased the Hotel Lafayette. During the World war, Mr. Lapointe was a large contributor to the several Liberty loan drives and was instrumental in the formation of the Home Guard, of which he was made a captain. Mr. Lapointe was a skilled musician and at one time was the leader of a military band at Hartford, which bore his name.

He was apparently in sound health Saturday and shortly after 1:30 o'clock started for the theatre. Arriving there and but a few minutes after taking a seat, Mr. Lapointe was stricken with the heart attack. He collapsed and was taken to the theatre office, where he expired before it was realized that death had occurred.

Eugene O'Neill, playwright, of Ridgefield, Conn., and who has property interests in New London, has given to Harry Weinstein of New York, power of attorney.

Miss Harriet Emmerich, stenographer in the probate court, spent the week end in New York.

Rose DeLuca has sold a house and lot on Moore avenue to Concetta Ragonese.

Rubin Slotnick has sold to Celia Elkin, a house and lot on Mountain avenue.

Eugene O'Neill, Ridgefield, has sold a house and lot, 182 Broad street, to the Sheffield Dentifrice company.

Frank Larkin, of Shapley street, was arrested Saturday charged with non-support and will be in the police court Monday.

An employe of the Kenomoc Iron Works, Central avenue, reported to the police Saturday that youths had caused much damage there of late, by smashing metal parts. The damage, it is believed, was perpetrated after the closing of the yard nights by boys residing in the neighborhood.

YOUNG LOCAL TOUGHS HELD UNDER BAIL OF $5,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 5—Charles Krieswski, 16, of 11 Congdon street, and William Wiezorick, 17, of 24 Harrison street, youths arrested three weeks ago following two holdups, were in the police court Saturday charged with holdup and attempted robbery. They demurred to the complaints and were bound over to the next term of the superior court in bail of $5,000, each. Krieswski and Wiezorick could not obtain a surety on their bonds so were committed to jail.

Henry Kroth, submarine base, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. Trial of his case was postponed to Monday. Kroth was driving on State street late Friday night and when ordered to stop by Patrolmen Arthur Feeley and Edward Skoczylas, it was determined that the sailor was drunk.

CITY MANAGER COMMENDS OFFICER LABOUE'S ALERTNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 5—City Manager William A. Holt Saturday in a letter to Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney, commended Patrolman George Laboue for that officer's work in apprehending Ralph Wolfe and Junior Ellison, youthful crooks, who were detected attempting to break into the ice cream and confectionery store of A. J. Maloof, 370 Bank street several nights ago. By the capture of the boys and the confessions of the pair, Raymond Brooks and Jay Steele two other young men, were implicated in a series of thefts that involves the entrance and robbery of 17 places of business. All four youths are prisoners at the county jail, having been bound over to the next term of the superior court for trial.

FISHERMAN TIPPED OFF, LEFT HILL STREET JOINT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 5—The police raided Saturday the residence of Robert Coleman, colored, of 15 Hill street, long reputed to be a disorderly house. Information had been received that a taxicab driver, who makes a practice of supplying female company and liquor for fishermen, had taken a number of fishermen to the house. Sergeant Samuel Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey, Patrolmen Dennis Murphy and Frank Linehan went to the house, but when they arrived there only the occupants of the place were in evidence. However, it was ascertained that the fishermen had been there and had departed a few minutes before the arrival of the bluecoats at the house.

Coleman-Smith.

Thomas J. Coleman and Miss Grace J. Smith, both of New London, were married Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the First Church of Christ by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth.

FUNERALS.

Richard F. Blake.

The funeral of Richard F. Blake was held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at his residence, 10 Maple avenue, the services being conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial was in Deep River.

Miss Hattie Brooks.

The funeral of Miss Hattie Brooks, 25 Washington street, was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at 62 Washington street, the services being conducted by Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of Groton Heights Baptist church. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

The condition of Giam Musante, member of the firm of Leverone & Musante, who has long been ill at his home on Williams street, has taken a change for the worse.

Miss Elizabeth Way of Saybrook, a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, was discharged Saturday.

The residence of Lieut. H. J. Walker, U. S. N., 53 Gorton street, was entered by a thief during the absence of the family Friday night and plunder consisting chiefly of apparel was stolen. The loot included three suits of clothes, 12 white shirts, overcoat, kodak and suitcase. Lieut. and Mrs. Walker left their home early in the evening and returned about 10.15 o'clock when they discovered the house had been entered during their absence. An investigation revealed that entrance had been gained by forcing a window.

Fined on Serious Charge.

Charles Waterhouse, a marine engineer, residing at 62 Jay street and Mrs. Lena Carollo, wife of Joseph Carollo, wife of Joseph Carrollo, 457 Bank street, were in the police court Saturday charged with adultery. Each was fined $25 and sentenced to 60 days in jail, but execution of the jail sentence was suspended.

Thirty-two cases await hearing in the police couat Monday morning, of this number 13 are charged with intoxication or breach of the peace or both. One of the latter is a resident of North Bank street and was arrested this afternoon on that street.

Charles Whitelaw, 208 Riverview avenue, Billingsport, Paulsboro, N. J., reported to the police this afternoon that while driving through this city earlier in the day a suit case containing woman's apparel had dropped from the automobile and requested that he be notified in the event of the case being found.

GORDON MACINTOSH VERY ILL FROM PERITONITIS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 5—Gordon Macintosh, 31 Blinman street and employed by the Plaut-Cadden compan, is a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital in a dangerous condition as a result of peritonitis following an attack of appendicitis. Mr. Macintosh had been complaining two days and when an examination was made today by his physician, it was determined that he was suffering from appendicitis and that the appendix had burst, eH was taken to the hospital and operated on at once. Tonight his recovery was considered doubtful.

Vaughn Porter, of Waterford, was arrested Saturday afternoon by State Officer Bernard Kenerson charged with intoxication and indecent exposure. He will be in Waterford town court tomorrow and until then he will be a prisoner at New London police headquarters.

HALLVILLE MAN NOISY—COMPLAINT TO STATE POLICE

William Gray, of Hallville, was arrested Saturday afternoon by State police charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. Gray engaged in a brawl with Morris Costed, in Preston and Coster complained of the former's acts, and caused Gray's arrest.

Reckless Driving

Herbert Palmer, Groton Long Point was arrested by Groton state police last night charged with reckless driving and will be in the Stonington town court Tuesday. The automobile which he was driving collided with a machine driven by Fred Keupfer, of Mystic, at the corner of Home and Greenmanville avenue. Investigation showed that Palmer was driving at a high rate of speed.

Crowded The Wrong Man

Francis Kelley, 33, 178 Hillside street, Roxbury, Mass., was arrested Saturday by State Police Officer Joseph King charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He was locked up, but was released this afternoon when he provided a surety on his bond of $200 and will be tried in Groton town court tomorrow. Kelley is employed by the Shore Line Express company, of Roslindale, Mass., and was driving a five-ton truck on Thames street, Groton when he guided the big vehicle in such a manner as to force Motorcycle Officer King off the highway. The cycle barely escaped crashing against an iron fence.

Crashed Against Truck

Henry Marshall, Stonington, was arrested by Groton state police last night charged with evasion of responsibility and driving with defective brakes. He will be in Groton town court Monday. The Cadillac auto that Marshall was driving crashed against the rear of a truck, owned by Roberts & Co., 1217 Third avenue, New York, and which was driven by John Mazanek, also of New York. Following the accident Marshall and the truck driver engaged in an altercation, which terminated when Marshal drove away, to be intercepted and arrested at Pawcatuck.

Doctor Found Women And Children Sick More Often Than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice, he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and placed it on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a public success as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us it helped when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, its mild, gentle action is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

WESTERLY

NEW YORK WOMAN DRIVER SENDS CAR UP ON WALK

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., May 5—About noon Sunday, Edward H. Mulliken, of 809 Lexington avenue, New York, and two women occupants of his 1928 Auburn sedan escaped injury when, in making the turn from Grove avenue to High street, the car dashed on to the sidewalk and tore into the trunk of an old elm on the property of Mrs. George H. Utter. A woman who had a New York permit to learn to drive was at the wheel and in making the turn put her foot on the accelerator instead of the brake. Damage to the car included a punctured radiator, broken front bumper and a puncture in the rear tire. After temporary repairs were made the party continued to New London. Officer Robert Kessel investigated the accident.

Justice Hahn To Hold Court

In Washington county superior court this (Monday) morning at 10:45 in Westerly courthouse for the trial of civil cases Associate Justice J. Jerome Hahn of Provdience will occupy the bench. Judge Capotosto was expected to preside, but due to the death of his son, shortly after midnight, Saturday, Justice Edward W. Blodgett detailed Judge Hahn for the Westerly session.

The first case on the calendar is the action at law, Frances A. Kenyon vs. The United Electric Railway Co. of Providence, which was continued from the Kingston session of the superior court. To follow this case the action at law, Clarence E. Roche vs. William M. Champlin, brought up from the third district court in Westerly, is marked ready.

The May meeting of Westerly town council is to be held this (Monday) morning at 9:30.

For the May session of U. S. district court in Providence a number of Westerly men have been drawn among those from the entire state, 23 grand jurymen being selected to report Tuesday, May 28. Sixty petit talesmen were drawn for service. New grand jurymen included Albert A. Williams of Westerly. Among ten extra grand jurymen chosen was Alfred Johnson, Westerly. Among the petit talesmen are Ernest E. Webster of Kenyon, Harry J. Nichols, Joseph L. Lenihan, George W. Andrews, George L. Prentice, Jr., and Henry M. Clarke, Westerly; Sprague Sims and Allen Money, of South Kingstown.

At the home of Mrs. William A. Wilcox, in Pawcatuck the past week end, was held the May meeting of Phebe Green Ward Chapter, D. A. R.. The regent, Mrs. Fayette Freeman, presided. Following the business meeting of the chapter, Mrs. Freeman told of her experience as a delegate to the Continental congress in Washington. The hostesses were Mrs. Horace E. Burdick, Mrs. Hiram Barber, Mrs. George L. Stillman, Mrs. H. C. Chase, Mrs. Harry Mitchell, Mrs. John Randall, Mrs. J. A. Gordon, Mrs. H. A. Dunning and Miss Theodosia Wallace.

OBITUARY

Miss Susan I. Greene

On Sunday morning Miss Susan I. Greene, 73, died at the Westerly hospital following an operation for appendicitis performed two weeks ago. She has for a number of years made her home with the family of Albert H. Langworthy of Elm street. She was the daughter of the late William R. and Annie M. Rathburn Greene.

Antonio E. Capotosto

At an early hour Sunday morning, in Providence, Antonio E. Capotosto, son of Judge Antonio A. Capotosto of the superior court, and Mrs. Clementine Eletta Castiglioni Capotosto, died at his home, 53 Brenton avenue. The youth had had heart trouble over a period of three years and his death followed a period of illness which began three weeks ago. The youth attended the Moses Brown school, where he was a student in the first grade of the upper school.

FUNERAL

George H. Maxson.

George Henry Maxson, former Stonington resident, died the past week at South County hospital, Wakefield, R. I. He was at one time a member of the Connecticut General Assembly and held several offices in the town of Stonington. His funeral services were held at 46 Granite street, Saturday afternoon. The officiating clergyman was Rev. B. U. Hatfield of the First Baptist church. Masonic committal services were held at the grave in River Bend cemetery, Westerly, being conducted by the officers of Asylum lodge, No. 57, A. F. and A. F. and A. M. of Stonington, in which Mr. Maxson had long held membership.

Injures Hand

Joseph Bruno of Dayton street sustained injuries to his left hand Saturday while engaged in work on the addition to the St. Claire Chapel, Crandall avenue, Misquamicut. He was taken to the Anderson hospital for treatment.

The first meeting of the S. D. B. society of Pawcatuck Seventh-day Baptist church, with the newly elected president, Miss Raechel Barber, presiding, was held Sunday evening at the home of Miss Elizabeth Hiscox, 19 Granite street.

To Present Silk Flag

Westerly Chapter, Order of De Molay for Boys, sponsored by Palmer Chapter, No. 28, R. A. M., of Pawcatuck, Miles Coulbourn, master councilor, is to hold its first patriotic day exercises this (Monday) evening in the Masonic hall. An interesting program has been arranged by Uncle Carl Anderson and Uncle Thomas McKenzie. Officers and members of Harriet Beecher Stowe Tent, No. 2, Department of Rhode Island, are to be guests and make a presentation of a silk parade flag to the DeMolay chapter.

Flag From Providence

The Alert Hook and Ladder company at their first regular meeting in their new quarters in the Union street fire building, formally accepted a silk parade flag presented in Providence, April 22, by Amos P. Chapman Post Auxiliary, No. 11, Sons of Veterans. Dwight Bromley, flag bearer of the company, went to Providence to accept the flag.

Oliver Ward Stoddard, of the Mary Oliver Kennels, Westerly, was in Providence, Saturday, in attendance at the dog show.

Mrs. John Ferguson, wife of Westerly's town solicitor, returned Friday night from New York, to take up her residence for the season at their Watch Hill cottage, in Misquamicut park.

A large van of the Roberts company was delayed in Pawcatuck, Saturday afternoon, by an officer of the Groton barracks, Connecticut state police, following a rear end collision with the Cadillac sedan of a Mystic man, also engaged in the trucking business. Westerly police stopped the truck on orders from the state police of Connecticut, to hear the arguments of the occupants of car and truck and their statements to the police.

Choral Society's Second Contest

The Norwich Choral society is planning for its second annual concert in the near future.

The main part of the programme will be "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," a cantata by Coleridge-Taylor, in which Arthur Hackett will sing the principal part. It certainly is with the greatest satisfaction the Choral society is announcing the fact of being able to secure this well-known and popular tenor for the coming concert of the society, which has the wonderfully enthusiastic leadership of Dr. Lawrence Erb, of New London, and already has made such a fine name for itself.

There will be besides the cantata, a number of part songs, the "Hall, Bright Abode" from "Tannhauser," and also a solo group sung by Arthur Hackett.

The rehearsals have been going on regularly in the Slater Hall annex for a number of weeks.

Gelatin Salads and Desserts

This meeting is to be held at the home service room of the gas and electric dept. on Shetucket dhs. W— tric dept on Shetucket dhs. W— tric department on Shetucket street at 2:30, daylight time.

The New London County Farm Bureau and Connecticut Agricultural college extension service are responsible for Miss Andrews coming. This meeting is open to the public so bring your friends with you.

Broadway Theatre

Richard Dix's first all-talking picture, "Nothing But the Truth" is undoubtedly one of his best. And that is saying something, because the handsome young Paramount star has made more than thirty films.

At the Broadway theatre yesterday jubilant audiences looked at and listened to his artistic acting and indicated by their frequent bursts of laughter that they consider him a great favorite of the audible silver sheet.

"Nothing But the Truth" is that favorite of farce successes revamped for the screen and refurbished with newer and better comedy situations and an adequate trimming of music, singing and dancing.

Dix plays the part of the young man who makes a wager that he can tell nothing but the truth for 24 consecutive hours. He wins the bet after going through a veritable circus of bizarre and uproariously amusing situations.

The play is chockful of rich humor and does not lag for an instant.

Helen Kane's singing in her famous "baby talk" manner is an agreeable feature of the production. She turns in a fine comedy characterization, as do Louis John Bartels, Ned Sparks, Berton Churchill and Wynne Gibson.

"Nothing But the Truth," then, is one "look and listen" film you should not miss.

Palace Theatre.

The opening of How to Handle Women at the Palace theatre last night provided a large and enthusiastic audience with one of the most entertaining pictures that has been witnessed here this year. There was scarcely a moment during the showing of the Universal comedy hit that the spectators did not respond to the film with peals of laughter.

Glenn Tryon is starring and Marian Nixon is his leading lady. They make an excellent team, and the great success of the picture is due in large measure to these two.

Tryon has only recently been elevated to stardom but his original type of comedy portrayal is rapidly making him one of the outstanding stars in point of popularity in the country. He imbues his characterizations with clever tricks and funny actions that never fail in their purpose of providing mirth.

Tryon surpasses in the current attraction the great hit he made in Painting the Town, which first served to introduce him properly to the public.

On the same program:

An interesting, exciting, well-directed and perfectly-acted picture, The Crimson Canyon, the Universal western feature starring Ted Wells, found instantaneous favor in the eyes of its audience as a western picture with much more to recommend it than the usual amount of good riding and thrilling stunts.

This Week at Third Baptist Church.

Monday evening at 7.15, Boy Scouts of Troop 21 will meet. Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. the troop and all boys connected with the church from 12 to 15 years are invited to attend a weiner roast in Mohegan park, leaving the church at 4 p. m. There will be no mid-week service, the members of the church are invited to a union prayer meeting in the Central Baptist church, Rev. Floyd Carr of New York, will be the leader.

Christian Science Services.

Wednesday evening meeting 7.45, the reading room, 40 Main street, is open every day except Sundays and legal holidays from 2 to 4.30 p. m.

Corporate Communion For Women

On Thursday of next week, which is Ascension day, the corporate communion for the Woman's auxiliary of Grace Episcopal church at Yantic will be held at 7:30 in the morning.

CANTERBURY GREEN

At the grange, Wednesday evening the program was arranged by the men, who presented a pleasing entertainment for over an hour. An orchestra of nine gave several selections. The players were Malcolm Wibberly, William Wright, Clinton Frink, Arnold Kerr, Bert Tracy, Charles Hart, Fremont Smith, Arthur Kinne and Wilfred Sage. Other musical numbers were a saxophone solo by Mr. Wright, guitar, Wilfred Sage; vocal solo, Bert Tracy, Sol Hicks and the Beanville band, a company of four. Song, with monologue by Fred Hicks. Two humorous sketches were given, one by Arnold and Norman Kerr, the other by Bert Tracy and Curtis Kinne. A fashion show of Paris styles by Olive Sabin, Fred Hicks, Curtis Kinne and Bert Tracy brought forth much applause. Cake and coffee were served. The sisters of the granges will have charge of the next meeting. The judges of the merits of these programs are Mr. Perry, master of Shetucket grange, Mrs. Fred Willoughby, of Shetucket and Mrs. H. B. Brown of Plainfield.

The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. James and Mrs. Milo Appley on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Small will entertain the next gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Appley entertained a party of friends at bridge Monday evening in celebration of their eleventh wedding anniversary.

Celebrated Birthdays.

Nelson Lyon who passed his eighty-fifth birthday Monday, enjoyed a family dinner party Sunday in honor of that event. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lyon, Mrs. Parkhurst and son Roy Parkhurst of Plainfield and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peck of New London who have been spending several days at the Lyon home, Sunday being Mr. Peck's birthday a double celebration was in order. Mr. Lyon was presented a handsome basket of fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson and daughter, Julia, are spending a few weeks at their cottage here.

Death of John F. Clark.

Levi Clark received news this week of the death of a brother John F. Clark of Los Angeles. Cal. Mr. Clark was a native of Brooklyn and was in his 76th year. Two other brothers also went to California and made their home there. He never married. Levi Clark of Canterbury is the last survivor of the family.

An invitation has been issued by Rev. Harry Small of the church on the Green, to the grange to attend the morning service May 12th and assist in the music. This invitation has been accepted.

Onions Get Competition

NEW YORK (AP)—Domestic onions are getting considerable competition this season from Chile and Egypt. Approximately 250 carloads of Chilean onions have arrived since the season opened in February and 60,000 sacks of Egyptian onions are afloat for New York and Boston.

Might may not make right, but it usually manages to make good.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

Pressure remains low from the Hudson bay region southward to northern lake region and it is relatively low from Maine southwestward to Mantana and Saskatchewan.

A weak area of high pressure is moving rapidly eastward with center over West Virginia.

The southwestern disturbance will move eastward during the next twelve hours and then toward the northeast. It will cause rain in the Ohio valley and the lower lake region and showers elsewhere in the Washington forecast district within the next 36 hours. The weather will remain fair Monday, however, in the north Atlantic states. The temperature will not change materially Monday but cooler weather will overspread the Atlantic states Tuesday night.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Moderate to fresh southwest or west winds and partly overcast weather Monday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Moderate, shifting winds and fair weather Monday.

Forecast

For southern New England and New Jersey: Fair Monday; Tuesday showers, not much change in temperature.

Observations

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric changes Saturday and Sunday:

Saturday:
6 p. m.	43	30.10
12 m.	52	30.20
6 p. m.	50	30.20
Highest 59; lowest 42.
Sunday:
6 p. m.	50	30.20
12 m.	64	30.30
6 p. m.	57	30.30
Highest 66; lowest 50.

Comparisons

Predictions for Saturday and Sunday: Mostly fair, little change in temperature.

Saturday's weather: Fair, brisk west wind.

Sunday's weather: Fair followed by cloudy; rain in afternoon, followed by clearing, southerly wind.

GREENEVILLE

G. F. S. PRESENTED PLEASING PLAY AT CHURCH FRIDAY

The Girls' Friendly society, which is a national organization and its object "Bear Ye One Another's Burdens," of St. Andrew's Episcopal church gave a very successful play, "A Vaudeville Show," Friday evening in the Guild room of the church. A large audience was present, taxing the seating capacity of the hall. Miss Edna Prodell, president, and Miss Mildred Woolley, secretary, had charge of the successful affair. The first playlet of the evening was a scene of Dr. Cure All's office in which many of Dr. Cure All's (James Johnson) patients entered and told the doctor of their different ills. Marie, the faithful maid, was played to perfection by Miss Maude Woolley. The remainder of the cast as they made their appearance on the stage was as follows: Mrs. Blooming, Mrs. Annie Dushane; Mrs. Scrawny, Miss Ruth Telford; Mrs. Brown, Miss Ruth McKinley; Miss Jane Scrimpkins, Miss Elizabeth Haden; Mrs. Rotchkins, Miss Stella Peterson; Mrs. Rotchkins' daughter, Kate, Miss Bertha Wallace; Seraphina Paddington, Mrs. Oddie; Miss Laretta Gold, Miss Mildred Woolley; Marie, Maude Woolley; Alphonso DeJones, William Haden.

Act II—The Crowe Sisters, Mildred and Ruth Crowe, violin solo and singing accompanied by Mrs. William Crowe.

Act III—"A Doggone Shame," William Haden, John McNeal.

Act IV—Alexander Finlayson entertained with Scotch songs and dances. Mr. Finlayson rendered in a very pleasing manner the following numbers: "Bella, the Belle of Dunoon," "Saturday Night" and "The End of the Road."

The fifth act, Izzy and Abie, was acted by the Misses Iola Shaw and Maude Woolley. It was the comedy hit of the evening. Both young ladies received many fine compliments for their clever acting.

Act VI was a clever act of mind-reading, by Hokus and Pokus. Torn and restored newspaper, burlesque mind-reading, spirit slate test, card and telephone mystery, all were done under the guidance of the Greeneville magician, William Banfield, assisted by Miss Katherine Norris. The soloists during the evening were: Miss Mary Prodell, who rendered two numbers very pleasingly, "You Were Meant for Me" and "I Get the Blues When It Rains"; Miss Josephine Gibson singing "Carolina Moon"; Mr. Lockhart and Mr. DeMute singing "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," "Paradise," "Wedding Bells," "The Wedding of the Painted Dolls."

Miss Dorothy Winterbottom was the announcer of the program. The candy booth, which was very attractively decorated, was in charge of the Misses Mae Adams, Elsie Risley and Mrs. Edward Risley. Music during the show was played by the following: Mrs. Frank Lathrop, piano; Miss Marian Hayward, mandolin, and Arthur Fitch, banjo. After the entertainment, dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by Art Fitch's orchestra. The ticket committee was Miss Emily Haden, Elsie Riding, and the program committee, Miss Doris Peterson.

Sunshine Class Met

The Sunshine class of Versailles Methodist Episcopal church held its business meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Benker, Wednesday evening. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Hilda Benker. Sixteen members were present. Numerous games were played throughout the evening, the prizes going to Mrs. G. Cole and Mrs. L. Eelbeck. Election of officers will take place at the next meeting in June.

Rainbow Sunday Afternoon

A late Sunday afternoon shower produced the unusual sight of a rainbow about 7:30, d. s. t. Only the lower section of the rainbow, where it touched the eastern horizon, was visible.

BALTIC-NORTH FRANKLIN ROAD TO HAVE NEW BEAVER BROOK BRIDGE

Construction of more than 15 miles of state aid, town road is provided for in contracts advertised by the Connecticut highway department for bids on May 13, according to an announcement made by Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald. This work will supplement a program of state aid construction which is already the largest in the history of the state.

Eleven different projects are covered in the contracts upon which bids will be received next Monday. With two exceptions, all of the contracts call for the laying of macadam surfacing. One project will consist of gravel surfacing on about one mile and three quarters of road in the town of Canton, and one other will consist of the construction of a 40 foot concrete span bridge and its approaches at Beaver brook on the Baltic-North Franklin road. The largest single stretch of macadam will be laid on the New Preston-Warren Center road in Warren and Washington.

The projects advertised for bid and contract are as follows:

Town of Ashford, 6,180 feet of native stone waterbound macadam on the Westford-Willington road; town of Canton, 9,976 feet of gravel surface on the Canton Center-Collinsville road; town of East Haddam, 5,000 feet of bituminous macadam on the East Haddam-Moodus road; town of East Haddam, 4,250 feet of macadam on Town street and 3,000 feet of gravel surface on the Millington road at Mt. Parnassus; town of Glastonbury, 4,000 feet of trap rock waterbound macadam on the Hebron (Addison) road; town of Litchfield, 9,551 feet of waterbound macadam on the Litchfield-Milton road; town of New Hartford, 3,341 feet of waterbound macadam on the New Hartford-Bakerville road; town of Sprague, a 40 foot span concrete bridge and about 850 feet of waterbound macadam at Beaver Brook on the Baltic-North Franklin road; towns of Warren and Washington, 26,757 feet of native stone waterbound macadam on the New Preston-Warren Center road; town of Weston, 3,092 feet of native stone waterbound macadam on the Bull Punk Hill road; town of Winchester, 8,963 feet of native stone macadam on the Winsted-Winchester road.

CATHOLIC CH. ANSWERS CHRIST'S QUERY, SAYS PRIEST

In continuance of his series of sermons on the Apostles' Creed, on which he has already spent three years, Rev. John J. Reilly, junior assistant pastor at St. Patrick's church, preached Sunday at the 9 o'clock low mass to a congregation filling auditory and both galleries. As a special favor following the service the parish rector himself, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May, gave Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The members of the Altar society had chosen as the flowers for the three marble altars and the shrines double pink geraniums and white carnations. The organist, Henry J. LaFontaine, directed the singing of the hymns by the Junior choir, beginning with "Jesus, Keep Us Close to Thee" and concluding benediction with "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

While all things about us reveal the attributes and beauty of the Creator, Father Reilly reminded his hearers, a certain proportion of men always remain children mentally, never seeming to learn the true meaning of the manifestation of God in their environment. God made the world and God loves that which He has made.

Through Christ's earthly career, from the lesson of the prodigal son to that last "I thirst," upon the cross, the Redeemer taught God's love for man. After Christ had come down to earth He was always intensely interested in what men thought of Him. He put the query directly to the disciples, "Whom do you think I am?" It was Peter who replied, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Modern men, like those of old, will answer the question by replying, A prophet, an evangel, the greatest man that ever lived. But as Peter answered of old, so the church founded on Peter still responds to the question of Christ, "Thou art the King of glory, the Son of the everlasting God."

Catholics thus favored are firm in the realization who Christ is. They yearn to live like Christ and are able to do so through His gifts of the seven sacraments. Suffering, humility and the various virtues were considered as the scaffolding which men are building toward that goal in which they shall rest in Christ's love and dwell with Him.

Rev. Father Reilly waited to assist Rev. Myles P. Galvin in giving holy communion to a great proportion of the congregation.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF DRIVING UNDER INFLUENCE

After a collision Saturday night in the Thamesville section below the city, John Snukowski of 19 Prospect park was placed under arrest by State Policeman Arthur Whitmarsh on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. He was operating a Hudson coach owned by Mrs. Wm. Glen of 3 Rosemary Ave., New London, which was in collision with a Ford roadster driven by its owner, Elmer M. Wright of Plainfield, N. J.

The New London woman's machine had the left front wheel damaged and the New Jersey car sustained damage to the left fender, running board, both left tires and the left rear wheel.

CONVENTION HONORS FOR SEDGWICK W. R. C. MEMBERS

The 46th annual convention of the Woman's Relief corps of the Department of Connecticut was held in the First Baptist church in New London May 2 and 3. It was a large and successful convention. Great praise is due to the city of New London for its splendid hospitality extended to the delegates and to the Grand Army veterans who held their annual convention and camp fire on the same dates.

A very fine banquet was served at the Mohican hotel, which was well attended by both the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief corps.

Delegates to the convention from Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps, No. 16, of this city, were: First delegate, Lola Belle Roath; second, Miss Maria Briggs; third, Mrs. Viny Wilson. The honors conferred by the convention on Corps No. 16 were: Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury as the third member of the executive board and Lola Belle Roath as first alternate to the national convention to be held in Portland, Me., on the week of September 8.

Other members of Sedgwick Relief corps present at the convention were: Mrs. Althea Brown, Mrs. Grace Fowler, Mrs. Mary Austin, Mrs. Annie Newton, Mrs. Florence Dean, Mrs. Jayne Seed, Mrs. Annie Turner, Mrs. William Balcom, Mrs. Lydia Perkins, Mrs. Clara Burke, Mrs. Jennie Newberry, Mrs. Iola Bjurstrom, Mrs. W. H. Manning, Mrs. Maude Moody, Mrs. Alice Brinkman, Mrs. William Whiteman, Mrs. Rose Graham, Mrs. Mae Spiers, Mrs. Charles Copeland, Mrs. Gertrude Tootill, Mrs. Emily Irish, Mrs. Inez Hill, Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Mrs. William Murray, Mrs. Lena Pukalus, Mrs. Carrie Prentice, Mrs. Browning, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Covey, Mrs. Grover.

Department President Miss Lillian Bailey called for all members who had belonged to the Woman's Relief corps 25 years to approach her station. She presented each with a red rose, after which the color bearers ecorted them around the convention hall. Twenty-five year members from Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps were Mrs. Emily Irish, Mrs. Lydia Perkins, Mrs. M. Florence Dean, Mrs. Gertrude Tootill, Mrs. Dora Balcom.

Mrs. Irish and Mrs. Perkins have rounded out 42 years in this great patriotic organization.

THREE PARCHESKI BOYS NOW IN U. S. NAVY

Joseph Parcheski, of 44 Forest street, who has just enlisted in the navy, according to an announcement made by J. J. Kenerlerber, who is in charge of the recruiting stations at the Norwich and New London post office buildings, makes the third boy in the Parcheski family to enlist in the navy and gives Norwich the unique distinction of being the only town in the state to have three brothers in the navy service. Joseph is the youngest of the brothers, his two older brothers having been serving in the navy for some years. The three boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Parcheski.

Joseph was educated in the local grammar schools and at Norwich Free Academy. Upon enlisting he was sent to the training station at Newport, R. I., for eight weeks military training. If found qualified he will then go to the naval aviation pilots' school at Pensacola, Fla.

Peter Parcheski, next younger than Joseph, enlisted at the Norwich recruiting station July 11, 1926, and took the navy course in pharmacy. He graduated from the pharmacist school at Portsmouth, Va., with honors. In 1927 he left with the U. S. marines for duty in China and served with them during the whole revolution. He is now doing duty at the U. S. naval hospital, P. I., holding the rating of pharmacist mate, second class.

Charles Parcheski, the oldest brother, has served in the navy for ten years. After his enlistment he attended the radio school at Hampton Roads, Va.; he has served on different ships throughout the world. He holds the rating of chief radio man and is stationed in the U. S. battle fleet on the Pacific coast.

CISCO NAME REAPPEARS IN WALL STREET FINANCE

Many in Norwich society will be interested in a reference in the New York Herald-Tribune of Friday to John Jay Cisco, Jr., who married Miss Phyllis Blackstone, younger daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. (Grace Webb) Blackstone, of Norwich. For a time, Mr. and Mrs. Cisco resided in the Blackstone home on Broad street before the death of Mrs. Cisco's mother. Mrs. Cisco is sister of Mrs. Perkins, wife of Corporation Counsel Edmund W. Perkins, of Washington street. The New York paper said:

Many more firm changes were announced yesterday by brokerage and investment houses.

Jay Cisco, Inc., has opened offices here, and the old name of Cisco, long associated with banking and investments, now reappears in Wall street after an absence from the financial district of more than a generation.

John Jay Cisco, Jr., a graduate of Harvard college and an alumnus of Harvard Business school, who is in personal charge of the new firm, comes from a family prominently identified with finance. His great-grandfather, who was assistant secretary of the United States Treasury at New York under President Lincoln, established the banking house of John J. Cisco & Son, which was located at 59 Wall street.

DRIVER OF AUTOMOBILE FOUND WITHOUT LICENSE

After a collision Saturday night on Norwich avenue, Taftville, between an automobile driven by its owner, John F. Jones of Canterbury turnpike, Norwich Town, and a car owned by Charles Tatro of Versailles, the Canterbury turnpike man was placed under arrest by Constable Paquette for driving without an operator's license. The Jones machine had stopped behind a trolley car which came to a stop when it was hit in the right side by the Versailles man's machine.

Jones, it is stated, has passed the examination for an operator's license last Thursday, but had failed to take the next step by sending in to Hartford to get his license. When he took the car out for a ride Saturday night and the accident occurred the investigation by the constable showed that Jones was without an operator's license.

TRUCK DRIVER CROWDED POLICEMAN INTO FENCE

After the five-ton truck he was driving on Thames street, near Allen street, Groton Saturday morning, had driven Joseph King of the Groton state police barracks off the traveled portion of the highway and had almost pinned the officer against an iron fence, Thomas Kelly of Roxbury, Mass., was arrested by the officer who charged him with driving while under the influence of liquor. Kelly was locked up at the Groton police station and will be arraigned in the town court today (Monday).

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. L. Goffe Briggs, of Broad street, were guests at the wedding of Miss Phyllis Bancroft Hankey and George L. Todd, of Rochester, at the home of the bride in New London Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank H. Smith of Washington street has returned from New York where she has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Noves, widow of Judge Walter C. Noves.

Mrs. James L. Hubbard and sons, Charles Lanman, Austin Flint and Robert Agnew Hubbard, who spent a week in Philadelphia visiting Mrs. Hubbard's uncle, Sherman Flint, have returned to their home on Scotland road. Mr. Hubbard, who returned home following a cruise through the sound on his yacht, Lou, has left for a fishing trip in Block Island waters.

In a marvelous bowers of exquisite spring flowers, Mrs. Lucius Briggs and Miss Marion Brewer Briggs of 272 Broadway, were at home to about 75 friends Thursday. For the first hour Mrs. L. Goffe Briggs and Mrs. Willis Phipps Austin poured; later Mrs. Frank B. Ricketson, of Taftville and Mrs. George T. Brown, of New London, were at the tea table.

This (Monday) evening Mrs. Elijah S. Burdsall is opening her home for a D. A. R. bridge of about 20 tables.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Norton, who have been at Kenilworth inn, Asheville, N. C., are leaving today (Monday) to motor back to the Hotel Elrae, New York. About June 1st they will open their summer residence at Eastern Point for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Palmer and Miss Priscilla Palmer will return Wednesday to Lighthouse inn after a visit with Buffalo relatives.

Miss Sarah L. Tyler leaves town this (Monday) morning to spend a week or two in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Perkins and little son, of Providence were week guests of Mrs. Perkins' mother, Mrs. Amos A. Browning, of Union street. Mrs. Perkins is remaining for a longer stay.

TAFTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Heselton and children Kendall and Revela of North B street spent the week end in Bailouville with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laramie of Plainfield have returned after a week end visit with Mr. Laramie's brother-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Smith and Miss Lillian Laramie of North B street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Linderson and their daughter Miss Janet Linderson of Centerville have been passing the week end with Mrs. Linderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Yerrington and family of South Second avenue.

Former Taftville residents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Young of Pittsfield, Mass., spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Linderson and family of North Third avenue.

The Wequonnoc school reopens today (Monday) after being closed this past week for the annual spring vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood of North B street have returned from Middle Haddam where they have been visiting Capt. and Mrs. Dwight Hooker.

A meeting of the members of St. Jean Baptiste society was held Sunday afternoon at their rooms in the parish hall building on School street with President Desire J. Dufresne. Routine business was transacted and committees' plans for the society's part in the preparations for the coming convention of Franco-America societies of the state, which is to be held in Taftville the latter part of this month, were outlined.

With President George Serus presiding, the monthly meeting of the members of Branch 98, Polish Workers Sick Mutual Aid society was held Sunday afternoon at their clubrooms in Lower Norwich avenue.

A lively brush fire on Ponemah Heights called out the members of fire department No. 1 Saturday noon. It was reported that the fire was started by two small boys who tried to build a small fire and which got out of control.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bogle of Providence street have been recent visitors in New Bedford, Mass., where they have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Brierley.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beique of Hunters avenue are planning to build a new residence on upper Merchants avenue.

MOOSE LODGE DICTATOR FOR HIS FOURTH TERM

Norwich lodge of Moose had its officers installed Sunday afternoon the list of officers being headed by Bernard Wunderlich, who was installed as dictator for his fourth term. The installation ceremonies were conducted by Dictator Limerick of Mansfield lodge in an interesting manner and several visiting Moose from other lodges spoke upon matters of importance to Moosedom.

Other officers installed were the following: Vice dictator, Herbert Cooce; prelate, George Emback; inside guards, Henry Couture; sergeant-at-arms, Walter Blais; trustee (three years) Nicholas Sullivan; trustee (one year) Philip Baumgartner; treasurer, William Banfield; outside guard, Charles Korn.

William Murray, president of the Connecticut State Field association spoke in a timely way of the convention to be held in New Haven in June, and John Lee of Wallingford, state prelate spoke of the progress made towards building up the order in general. Brother Benson, chairman of the state field day, described the events to be held on convention day at Harbor park, New Haven, and Guy Rogers of Haverhill lodge, "The Blind Orator," gave a very impressive speech upon the work of the Moose in all parts of the world and referred especially to Mooseheart and Moosehaven.

BERNARD WUNDERLICH

Brief remarks upon the spirit of fraternalism were made by James Murray and Secretary Rudolph Krohn of Norwich lodge spoke on the "dark horse" and stated that the harness was ordered and would positively be here in time for the convention. Norwich lodge expects to enter a beautiful float guided by a jet black horse.

AIRPORT BEACON TO AID IN CALLING POLICEMEN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP)—A red flash in the sky will be the signal for Jefferson county police to report to headquarters.

Through co-operation of officials of Bowman field, Louisville's airport, Capt. Ambrose Hagerman, head of the county police, will test an improvised signal system for summoning his men when emergencies arise.

The big aerial beacon at the field will be used, its white beam changed to red.

Game Warden With Power Boat

Walter Palmer of Front street, Noank, has received his appointment as deputy fish and game warden for this district, which includes the counties of New London, New Haven, Hartford, Fairfield and Litchfield. He takes the place vacated by Warden Christopher Culver.

He is the only deputy warden to have a power boat given him. A fine 44-foot boat is ready for his use at any time and he will patrol the waters of the sound during the season.

NORWICH TOWN

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK INAUGURATED SUNDAY

The beginning of National Music Week, Sunday, was observed at the First Congregational church during the morning worship with special music and sermon. "My First Communion Hymn," was the theme of the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, who chose for his text, Mark 14:26, And when they had sung a hymn, they went out into the Mount of Olives. The organist, Herbert L. Yerrington, arranged a special program, all by American composers. The anthem by the choir was Jesus, Lover of My Soul, arranged by John S. Camp. The prelude was by Harrison M. Wild and the postlude by Horatio W. Parker. For the offertory, Organist Yerrington played Reverie, by L. J. Flagler. At the close of the service the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was conducted by Rev. Mr. Bailey assisted by Rev. Charles E. Reeves and four of the deacons. Rev. Mr. Reeves pronounced the benediction.

Gives Organ Recital

Continuing the activities for the first day of music week at this church Organist Yerrington gave a public recital Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, which was attended by friends from Hanover, Colchester, Norwich and other places. The church choir assisted Mr. Yerrington during the hour of music, which was greatly enjoyed by a good sized congregation. It has been arranged to devote the Thursday evening meeting to a musical service, in other words a congregational sing, omitting the usual order of conference and prayer.

Beginning Sunday morning the Primary class of the Sunday school held its session at 10:45 in the chapel. Children and teachers filed out of the church while the congregation was singing the children's hymn, "Rejoice Ye Pure in Heart." This custom will prevail throughout the summer.

The Young People's C. E. society of the Congregational church, held its meeting in the chapel Sunday evening, with Reginald Avery leader. "Service a Way to Leadership," was the topic discussed. This was a consecration meeting. The scripture reference was Matthew 20:20-28.

Has Completed First Year

Millard Fuller Manning has completed his first year at Yale Graduate school, not the entire course, as stated. Mr. Manning expects to return to Yale to finish the other two years required to receive his degree at some future time. He is to be instructor at Worcester Polytechnic Institute for a couple of years meantime.

POETRY

God's Requirements

What doth the Lord require of thee,
O man, but to do justly, to love mercy,
and walk humbly with thy God.

What doth the Lord require of thee
Man in His likeness made,
But as a son of God to live
Righteously—unafraid.

To do justly is required,
God's laws shall be thy care,
That all thy dealings with mankind
The stamp of truth shall bear.

The love of mercy in thy heart
Must find abiding place,
So only canst thou hope to have
Forgiveness through God's grace.

O humbly walk! Each day of life
To thee is unknown land,
Thou only farest unafraid
Held by thy Father's hand.

What doth the Lord require of thee
To claim thee as His son?
Justice, mercy, humility,
Faith,—till thy days are done.

Spring Market

It's foolish to bring money
To any spring wood,
Jewels won't help you,
Gold's no good.

Silver won't buy you
One small leaf
You may bring joy here,
You may bring grief.

You should look for
Tufted moss,
Marked where a light foot
Ran across.

Where the old rose hips
Shrivel brown
And dried clematis
Bloom hangs down.

There you'll find what
Every man needs,
Wild religion
Without any creeds.

Green that lifts its
Blossoming head,
New life springing
Among the dead.

You needn't bring money
To this market place,
Or think you can bargain for Wild flower grace.

—Louise Driscoll.

Since knighthood was in flower, fighting men have saluted one another. In the old days when knights met, each would raise his visor to show the other who he was. This is the origin of our modern salute, which is therefore much older than most of our present-day customs. Just as fraternities have the handclasp and lodges have a secret greeting, just so do fighting men have their salute, which is their byword. An American man-of-warsman saluting a French officer is giving him an international greeting as a brother-in-arms. Although the junior saluted first, the senior always answers and therefore recognizes the junior as a comrade in his profession.

TEXAN RAISING HERD OF HORNLESS HEREFORDS

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—A herd of hornless Hereford cattle, with linebred Anxiety blood on both sides, is being developed by R. O. Harvey, Wichita Falls, breeder.

He is in the van of Texas Hereford breeders who are campaigning to develop more hornless cattle. Heretofore the linebred Anxiety blood, considered by many breeders to betoken the highest quality in Herefords, has been confined to horned cattle.

In Superior 31st, Harvey believes he has the only polled bull of straight Anxiety blood in the world. Superior's sire was Superior Mischief, a "bred in the purple" bull of aristocrat lineage. His dam was Bright Duchess 85th, with similar blood lines.

DEMAND FOR STATEMENTS OF NEWSPAPER OWNERS

Senate Calls For Intormation About the Newspapers in Which Officials of the International Paper and Power Company Said It Had Financial Interest—Resolution Was Opposed by Senator Bingham—Call Sent to the Postmaster General.

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—The last statements of ownership given to the postmaster general in accordance with the law by the newspapers in which officials of the International Paper and Power company, said it had a financial interest, were called for today by the senate.

Sharp debate preceded adoption of the resolution of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, asking this question. Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, insisted the data could be obtained without adoption of the resolution and in response to his persistent questioning, Senator Walsh declared he believed the reports of the papers involved were not accurate in all details.

Supporting the Walsh resolution, Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, declared the reports were required in the public interest. He said if the reports did not disclose the interests of the power company in the papers, he would move to amend the law to require that newspapers be required to list all their stockholders and the amount of stock held by each. Senator Walsh also said he wanted the reports to determine if the 1912 law requiring names of owners was broad enough.

Two publishers in the senate—Capper, of Kansas, and Vandenberg, of Michigan, both republicans, joined with the democrats in the resolution. Senator Vandenberg said he wanted the reports because of his faith in the integrity of the press and in the integrity of "the very newspapers mentioned here."

Senator Capper said the public had a right to know who the owners of the papers were.

In the house, Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, introduced three bills which he said were designed to "curb the purchase and publication of newspapers by power trusts."

One of these would provide that newspapers announce "ownership and interest" in their mastheads; another would require articles referring in any way to the business of the owners to be designated as advertising, and the third would prohibit "deductions from taxes for losses incurred by reason of ownership and publication" of a periodical.

The senate adopted the Walsh resolution on a viva voce vote with several senators shouting "no" against the overwhelming "ayes."

Senator Bingham protested to the last that the resolution was an "utterly useless public gesture" and that it cast aspersions on the papers named.

Senator Walsh replied that if the aspersions were cast on the particular transactions named in his resolution, he felt justified in passing whatever aspersions might be implied by the presentation of such a resolution.

Bingham repeated that he wanted "old fashioned American justice," and declared that if the Montanan felt there was anything wrong, he should be asking the senate to direct the attention of the department of justice to the question.

"There is no aspersion here against honest ownership," said Norris. "There are many who believe that a great corporation engaged in distributing hydro-electric energy which becomes interested in a number of newspapers may be doing something for an ulterior purpose. I know many members of congress are wondering if our law is sufficient to permit the determination of owners of the newspapers."

Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, said there had been some "interesting disclosures recently" about the ownership of the Birmingham News and Age-Herald. Senator Norris said he intended to discuss that situation along see, remarked that "these may not be with others soon.

Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, said the only newspapers owned by the power companies," and "we ought to go to the bottom of this and determine what forces are molding public opinion."

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, declared that "back of this resolution there is, of course, an effort to find out the forces controlling the newspapers and the part this power company has in it."

Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, said he thought it only fair to the newspapers named in the resolution to have the report made.

The Walsh resolution read:

"Whereas, it appears from testimony taken by the federal trade commission under and by virtue of senate resolution 83 Seventieth Congress, first session, that the International Paper and Power company and its affiliated concerns is the owner of stock in the Boston Herald and Traveler, published at Boston, Mass.; the Chicago Daily News, published at Chicago, Illinois; the Chicago Journal, published at Chicago, Illinois; the Tampa Tribune, published at Tampa, Florida; the Greensboro Record, published at Greensboro, North Carolina; the Knickerbocker Press, published at Albany, New York; the Albany Evening News, published at Albany, New York; the Brooklyn Eagle, published at Brooklyn, New York; the Augusta Chronicle, published at Augusta, Ga.; the Columbia Record, published at Columbia, South Carolina; the Spartanburg Herald and the Spartanburg Journal, published at Spartanburg, South Carolina, and possibly other interests in other journals, therefore be it:

"Resolved that the postmaster general is hereby directed to transmit to the senate for its information a copy of the last statement filed by the editor, publisher, business manager or owner of each of the newspaper above enumerated, setting forth the names and postoffice address of the editor and managing editor, publisher, manager and owners, and the stockholders if the publication be owned by a corporation, and also the names of the known bond holder, mortgagees or other security holders, as required by the act of congress approved August 24, 1912.

THREE REPORTS TO BE MADE IN SENATE ON MELLON

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—Three reports and as many more individual statements on the right of Secretary Mellon to hold office will be submitted to the senate tomorrow from its judiciary committee.

The majority report, placing the committee on record, is that of Senator Steiwer, republican, Oregon, declaring that the holding of stock by the secretary of the treasury does not violate the 100-year-old statute forbidding that officer to be interested in carrying on trade or commerce.

The vote of an absentee, Senator Stephens, democrat, Mississippi, for this report today put a majority of the 17 committee members on record. Two democrats and seven republicans have signed this report.

Chairman Norris will submit a second report, signed by three others and himself, declaring that stockholding does constitute a violation of the prohibitive law regarding the treasury post.

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, will submit the third report, signed also by Senators King of Utah and Dill of Washington, both democrats. This report will hold that stockholdings should not bar a man from the treasury office but any activity by the secretary of the treasury in any business in which he is a stockholder, directly or indirectly, would constitute a violation of the law.

The whole question will be thrashed out later in the senate.

ONE PRISONER PARDONED: TRESSLARS DENIED HEARING

HARTFORD, May 6—(AP)—The board of pardons gave one man his freedom and denied Maynard A. Tressler and Guy M. Tressler, dummies in the Roger W. Watkins stock swindle, permission to be heard out of order on a petition for pardon, at their semi-annual meeting at the state prison today.

Guzlede DiLucia, 47, a swarthy, thick-set man from New Haven, who had served 22 years of a life sentence for killing Guiseppe Petrone, for a slur upon DiLucia's sister, was the one granted a pardon.

The cases of Harry Bloom, of New York, whose correct name is said to be Moses Gross, charged with beating up some strikers in Colchester, and Jack P. Segall, of New York, charged with statutory arson in Bridgeport, were continued for six months for an investigation in the meantime.

A LIFE BELT SAVED LINEMAN FROM DEATH

BRISTOL, May 6—(AP)—A life belt fastened about a pole saved Emil Bollard, 23, a lineman employed by the Connecticut Light & Power company, from falling to his death today. While suspended 30 feet above the ground after coming in contact with a 220-volt secondary wire the life belt about Bollard's body held fast until a fellow workman carried him to safety.

Resuscitation methods were used and Bollard soon revived. At the hospital he was said to be practically recovered, suffering only from shock and burns on the hands.

ELECTION BY CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA

GREENWICH, May 6—(AP)—Election of state officers and delegates and alternates to the national convention, was held by the Catholic Daughters of America, at their annual convention here today. State officers elected were: State regent, Mrs. Mabel Lavey, Bridgeport; vice-regent, Miss Florence Fletcher, Middletown; treasurer, Miss Mary Maum, Ansonia; secretary, Mrs. N. S. McGuire, New Britain; state monitor, Mrs. Frances Doran, Greenwich.

Delegates to the national convention to be held in Galveston, Texas, July 2, 3, 4, chosen, were: Miss Mary Maum, Ansonia; Mrs. Loretta Histon, Bridgeport, and Miss Catherine Mullen, Greenwich. Alternates chosen were: Mrs. Mary McQuillan, Stratford; Mrs. Joseph Fassett, Derby; Mrs. Mary Haugh, Norwalk, and Miss Veronica McQuillan, Willimantic.

Delegates to the number of nearly 300 were present representing 20 courts from the state. A business session was held early in the day and the convention closed with a banquet.

DECISION REVERSED IN GROTON IRON WORKS CASE

NEW YORK, May 6—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals today held that a government corporation may be sued and held to accounting just as any privately-owned enterprise.

The ruling was made in a reversal of decree by Judge Edward S. Thomas of Connecticut, who had dismissed the complaint in a $13,000,000 accounting suit brought by P. LeRoy Harwood as trustee of the Groton, Conn., Iron Works against the United States shipping board emergency fleet corporation.

The suit was based on three contracts entered into during the war period by the shipping board corporation and the iron works. The government, in its defense, held that the basic contracts named in the suit had been modified and set aside by a settlement in a contract of March 26, 1920, and also contended that the shipping board as an arm of the government could not be sued by the plaintiff. Judge Thomas sustained the second decision after Justice David E. Fitzgerald, a member of the Connecticut bar, sitting as a special master, had filed his report.

SINCLAIR ENTERS JAIL TO SERVE SENTENCE

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair entered jail tonight to serve three months for contempt of the senate.

Word of the oil man's arrival at the jail came shortly after a conference between Edgar C. Snyder, United States marshal, and Maj. William L. Peak, superintendent of the Washington asylum and jail.

Tension about the jail had been at a high pitch for hours before the oil man finally surrendered himself.

His whereabouts had not been known all during the day and it was a matter of speculation as to whether he would surrender tonight or wait a day or so.

Motor Vehicle Bill Passed By House

Provisions Cover a [illegible] Scope—Passage i[illegible]ate Today Probabl[illegible]

STATE CAPITO[illegible]ford, May 6—(AP)—The general [illegible] vehicle bill, in the process of [illegible]tion since the opening days of the present legislature, was passed in the house today and under suspension of rules, goes sto the senate, where it will be acted upon, undoubtedly favorably, tomorrow.

The bill, originating in the motor vehicles committee, embraces the contents of a score of small measures in addition to so many other details as to give it an exceptionally wide scope.

It provides that licenses for dealers, manufacturers and repairers shall be limit of 26,000 pounds for vehicles with to those in the state. It sets a weight solid tires and 30,000 pounds for those with pneumatic tires. It provides a fine of $50 for the registration of a vehicle by one not the owner, and makes provision for pro rata reduction in registration fees from January 31. Under the measure, heavy duty trailers to move heavy machinery may be temporarily registered, the highway commissioner to issue a permit for the use of the highways for transportation of such material. The bill allows 48 hours for notification of loss of number plate, issue of temporary plate permit and surrender of remaining plate and registration when new registration is obtained.

Applicants for dealers, manufacturers and repairers licenses must, under the bill, satisfy the motor vehicle commissioner they are suitable persons for the activity which they represent. Fleet registration may be made under $10,000 bond. Persons under 16 years of age may be made under any circumstances, operate a motor vehicle. The following classifications in fees are added for vehicles equipped with pneumatic tires: Five and one half tons $148.50; six tons, $180; six and one-half, $217.50 with addition of $50 for each ton of capacity or weight above six and one-half tons, additional fee of $3 for each motorcycle with side car used for commercial purposes. The interstate bus registration fee will be the same as that for the motor bus, the registration fee of heavy duty trailers will be $100.

The bill requires two braking systems, each having a separate means of application, on motor vehicles and at least one brake on motorcycles. It requires that, after September 1, 1929, that all commercial motor vehicles shall be equipped with reflectors and authorizes the use of green lights on front of interstate public service vehicles.

The bill also raises the amount of property damage in an accident which must be reported from $10 to $25. It provides suspension of license and registration of person who fails to pay damages awarded in court action over automobile negligence cases, limits length of motor vehicle and trailer to 40 feet, limits criminal authority to salaried motor vehicle inspectors, provides special permits for operation of tractors, trailers and semi-trailers over not more than 1500 feet of highway, such permits to be issued by the highway commissioner, provides for service of civil process by leaving it at the office of the motor vehicle commissioner, and provides for action by the state treasurer to collect taxes from distributor or purchaser of fuels.

TWO NIECES CUT OFF IN WILL OF JOHN C. HUFFINGTON

DARIEN, Conn., May 6—(AP)—The will of John C. Huffington, marine artist who died aboard his houseboat, off Rowayton, Friday, was filed in probate court today. It revealed that two nieces, Julia Elizabeth and Elizabeth Huffington, of Riverside, Conn., were cut off with the sum of $1 each, while the remainder of his estate, consisting of two pieces of property, several paintings, which have not as yet been sold, and a bank account reported to be quite large, was willed to Harry C. Schlichting, of Darien, an artist, said to be a protege of Huffington.

The will dated February 2, 1925, will be considered in the probate court on Saturday morning before Judge Martin W. Norman. Schlichting, who is the chief beneficiary in the will, is a former grocery clerk who took up painting several years ago.

Bomb Thrown At Lithuanian Premier

The Premier, in Auto With Family, Escaped Injury—Three Persons Wounded.

LONDON, May 6—(AP)—An Exchange telegraph dispatch from Riga tonight said that a bomb thrown at an automobile in which Premier Augustinas Valdemaras of Lithuania and his family were riding wounded his step-son and two other persons. The premier escaped injury.

The premier was enroute to a theatre in Kovno, the capital with his wife, step-son, and two officers. One of the officers also was wounded as was a daughter of a Lithuanian professor, who was passing at the time. The bomb thrower escaped.

SEVEN SHOTS FIRED AT PREMIER VALDEMARAS

BERLIN, May 6—(AP)—A Kovno, Lithuania, dispatch to Tageblatt tonight said that seven shots fired at Premier Valdemaras missed him but killed his personal aide and wounded a young woman and the step-son of the premier who were in his party.

They had motored to the State theatre to attend a concert and were leaving the automobile at the entrance when the shots were fired by persons hidden in the garden. Three persons were seen fleeing after the outrage.

Captain Gudinas fell dead. A Miss Joelnaite and the step-son were both seriously wounded. The premier was not hurt.

PREPARATORY DISARMAMENT COMMISSION HAS ADJOURNED

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 6—(AP)—The preparatory disarmament commission adjourned its sixth session today leaving the responsibility for the next step in world disarmament upon the shoulders of the big naval powers.

"When you have reached an agreement on naval reductions, come back and let us know," was virtually the last word of the commission.

It was the general opinion that any collapse of the forthcoming private conversations between the naval powers would be disastrous to the cause of disarmament.

COMMUNIST QUARTERS IN BERLIN RAIDED

BERLIN, May 6—(AP)—Police raids on communist organization today succeeded May-day rioting in the now peaceful districts of Neukoelln and Wedding, as the authorities began an attempt to suppress powerful groups within the party.

Much documentary material was said to have been seized during the raids. But it is doubtful if this will afford any important information since the communists had learned in advance of the seizure and had time to prepare for it. The Lokal Anzeiger described the raids as "locking the stable door after the horse is stolen."

The authorities explained that they had hoped to take the communists by surprise and had thus concealed their intentions of suppressing the organizations until the last moment.

$24,000,000 SUIT AGAINST ESTATE OF JAMES B. DUKE

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—A suit for $24,000,000 damages was filed today in the supreme court by George D. Haskell of Massachusetts against the estate of James B. Duke.

Haskell contends the damage resulted from a broken agreement between himself and the Duke interests over a Canadian power project. He alleges a conspiracy between the Duke interests and the Aluminum Company of America relating to the project.

PROCEEDINGS OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

HARTFORD, May 6—A calendar of 38 bills was on the desks of the members of the house this morning, the one relating to motor vehicles attracting the most attention, as it contains so many changes from existing law. It is a voluminous document and will require careful reading. The first change noted is section three, which provides for pro rata registration. A registration license may be obtained any time after the 31st day of January, from the first day of the month in which it is to be used. The bill was passed after a detailed explanation of its provisions by the chairman of the motor vehicles committee.

The bill codifying the school laws, consisting of 138 pages was explained by Mrs. Lewis, house chairman of the education committee, and was passed as reported by the committee. The appropriation that was made to the Norwich state hospital will enable that institution to carry out the engineering plans for the sewage disposal in a way that will not require its being emptied into the Thames river. The city of Willimantic was given power to regulate the erection and maintenance of structures of any kind within the city limits, by ordinance or resolution by suitable penalties.

The amended bill concerning the supervision and inspection of agricultural seeds that conforms to that of 38 states, was passed after explanation by the house chairman of the agricultural committee. This bill is intended to prevent the sale of adulterated seeds.

The bill creating a commission on rivers, bridges and harbors, passed some days ago and which gave the commission authority to purchase additional lands, was recalled from the office of the secretary so that the names of the governor and the mayor of the city of New London might be added to the commission. The matter of the omission of names was brought before the house by Representative Corcoran of New London.

House Leader Johnson announced that all bills on the calendar, whether starred for action or not, would be taken up on Tuesday. He did not think that there would be very many bills come down from the senate. The amount of business transacted today was the lightest of the session and was disposed of without friction.

12 SEN. REP. INDEPENDENTS TO VOTE WITH DEMOCRATS

Group Will Support the Export Debenture Plan in the Farm Relief Bill, Which is Opposed by President Hoover—Check Now Stands 46 to 45 in Favor the Administraitor Group—The Debenture Section May Be Voted Upon Late Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—The ability to win over one doubtful senator and to obtain a pair or non-voting arrangement, for an absentee, was all that stood between victory and defeat today for the advocates of the export debenture plan opposed by President Hoover as a part of his farm relief program.

This calculation, based upon checks of the senate membership by both administration supporters and the debenture group, presupposed that all members not paired would be present for the vote and would cast their ballot as expected.

The checks showed a coalition of almost all the democrats with twelve republican independents standing against the administration group which is seeking to eliminate the debenture section. While the checks stood at 46 to 45 against them with one senator considered doubtful and one still not paired, advocates of the debenture plan professed confidence that they would gain in strength rather than lost within the next two days.

The debenture section will be voted upon probably late Wednesday. An agreement was reached to limit further debate on the proposal after 2 p. m. Wednesday and under the usual procedure a vote generally is taken within a few hours after the limitation goes into effect. A final vote on the farm bill itself, however, probably will not be reached until late this week or perhaps next Monday.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, announced today that he was "inclined" to accede to a request for him to pair with Senator Shipstead, farmer labor, Minnesota, on the debenture vote. Such an arrangement would narrow further the contest between the administration forces and the democratic-republican independent groups.

Shipstead is ill in a Baltimore hospital, and the Massachusetts senator —who otherwise would vote with the administration on the debenture plan —said he had no inclination to see any senator lose his vote.

This pair would leave only two democrats, King of Utah and Wagner of New York, on record as intending to vote against the debenture plan, although the administration group claims at least one other Senator Ransdell, democrat, Louisiana, voted against the debenture plan in the agriculture committee but has not stated how he intends to vote in the senate. His colleague, Senator Broussard, also had made no commitment.

With the vote held to stand at 45 to 45, the decision of the senator classed as doubtful and the ability to obtain a pair for Senator Kendrick, democrat, Wyoming, who also is ill in a hospital, were described as promising to be deciding factors in the dispute.

Should a pair be obtained for Senator Kendrick, the vote would stand 45 to 45, giving the doubtful senator the power of decision one way or another providing all members not paired cast their vote.

Should the Kendrick pair be obtained but the doubtful senator refrain from voting, the result would be a tie for Vice President Curtis to break.

Meanwhile, the debate was carried forward by Senator Barkley, democrat, Kentucky, who declared that if the debenture proposal was called a subsidy the same held true for all benefits the government gives industry. He said the farm bill with the debenture plan was of doubtful value but that without the debenture provision it would be of less assistance to the farmers.

WINNER OF ELIMINATION BALLOON RACE IN DOUBT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 6—(AP)—With one of the 12 entrants in the national elimination balloon race still unreported, the winner still was in doubt tonight, although the Navy No. 1 apparently had broken a distance record by landing near Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, Canada, after a flight of some 900 miles.

Determination of the ultimate victor must await a report from the Detroit Times entry, of which nothing had been heard since the take-off late Saturday afternoon. E. J. Hill, Detroit, is pilot of the "Times" bag, with Arthur G. Schlosser, aide. Both are experienced balloonists, and race officials said they were well able to take care of themselves.

NEGROES NOMINATED FOR ANNAPOLIS AND WEST POINT

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—Representative Oscar De Priest, republican, Illinois, the only Negro member of congress, has nominated three Negro youths of Chicago to the Naval and Military academies.

They are Laurence Alexander Whitfield and Claude Henson Burns, both nominated to the Naval academy, and Alonzo Soulelgh Parham, nominated to West Point.

Each representative is permitted to nominate two candidates to the Naval academy and one to the Military academy, with alternates who may take the examinations if either of the principal nominees fail to pass the physical and mental tests. All three nominated by Priest are principal candidates.

DOHENY BUYS FALL'S 700,000 RANCH AT SHERIFF'S SALE

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., May 6—(AP)—The famous Tres Ritos ranch of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, today passed into the possession of Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, as Harry F. Sinclair, the third principal in the naval oil lease scandals, was ordered to jail in Washington for contempt of court.

The 700,000-acre property was bid in at a sheriff's sale here by a representative of Doheny for $168,250 to satisfy a court judgment entered Feb. 4 in favor of the administrators of the estate of the late M. D. Thatcher of Pueblo, Colo. Thatcher was Fall's son-in-law and held a first mortgage on the ranch.

In purchasing the property Doheny was represented to be protecting a second mortgage given him at the time he paid Fall $100,000.

DR. WORKS TO BE GUEST AT C. A. C. FACULTY CLUB DINNER

STORRS, May 6—(AP)—Dr. George Alan Works, recently appointed president of Connecticut Agricultural college, arrived here today from Chicago and will be the guest of the Faculty club at a dinner, tomorrow evening in the college dining hall. Dr. Works plans to spend a week or ten days at the state college gathering material with which he will form his policies he will introduce when he assumes the presidency, July 1.

Dr. Works is present dean of the Graduate Library school at the University of Chicago. He is regarded as an authority on rural education, having gained national repute by his surveys carried on in problems relative to the disposition of the educational system. He was for many years professor of rural education at Cornell.

YALE STUDENT DROWNED IN HOUSATONIC LAKE

NEW HAVEN, May 6—(AP)—Gerald Beryl Kramer, 18, of Jamaica, L. I., a sophomore at Yaleu niversity, was drowned in Lake Housatonic this afternoon, when a speedboat in which he was riding with Henry Francis Wanning, 2d, a classmate, overturned. Kramer was unable to swim. Wanning attempted to rescue his companion, but was forced by exhaustion to give up the battle. He was rescued after going beneath the water twice.

MACHINE GUNS MOUNTED AS TEXTILE PLANTS OPENED

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., May 6—(AP)—Under the ominous muzzles of machine guns mounted on roofs and guarded by approximately 600 city, county and state officers, the mechanical and chemical departments of the American Bemberg and Glanzstoff textile plants resumed operations today after being closed since April 15 by a strike.

William Kelley, vice-president of the United Textile Workers, expressed the opinion that "not more than two dozen" men had reported for work this morning while no official figures were available from the plants.

Registration of applicants for employment went forward at both Elizabethton and Johnson City as other strikers paraded past the plants as a show of union strength.

Plant officials announced that forces would be augmented gradually as other departments were opened. Approximately 5,500 were made idle by the strike, the second to be called within a space of three weeks. Union leaders said its purpose was to "do away with black lists."

FRANCE AND BELGIUM SILENT ON REPARATIONS

PARIS, May 6—(AP)—The British, Italian, Japanese and German delegations to the second Dawes committee were lined up tonight in favor of the proposal of Owen D. Young for the final settlement of the German reparations problem.

The French and the Belgians are withholding their final decision until they have made careful study of the figures and have had some light on the conditions involved.

Thomas W. Lamont tonight expressed the impression of expert circles as to the chances of success for Mr. Young's compromise measure in these terms:

"It would be foolish to minimize the importance of Saturday's development and it would be rash to count upon it as assuring final agreement."

DEMURRERS TO BE OFFERED IN THE MICHAELSON CASE

KEY WEST, Fla., May 6—(AP)—Counsel for Representative M. Alfred Michaelson, of Chicago, charged with a liquor law violation, will attack the federal indictment against him in United States district court tomorrow morning, it was announced today.

Defense attorneys gave Special Assistant Attorney General N. J. Morrison copies of a motion to quash, and a demurrer to the indictment, which they formally will present in court tomorrow for argument.

The papers were similar in contention, the demurrer petition declaring the indictment "is bad in substance and matter, and that the things therein set forth and alleged are not efficient in law to compel him to answer."

SUSPENSION OF ATTORNEY PERRY W. HOWARD LIFTED

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—The suspension of Perry W. Howard as a special assistant attorney general was lifted today by the department of justice and Howard resigned immediately, saying he intended to enter private law practice.

Howard, a Negro, is republican national committeeman for Mississippi but he is not recognized by the Hoover administration in any party matters.

He was acquitted recently in Mississippi of charges of accepting money for influencing federal appointments.

At the time of his indictment, former Attorney General Sargent issued the suspension order pending the outcome of the case.

DEATH OF GENERAL SIR WILLIAM DILLON OTTER

SPEAKING AND SPELLING CONTESTS WELL UNDERWAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 6—The speaking and spelling contests in the rural schools of this vicinity are now well underway, with yet others to start this work on schedules prepared by the supervisors. The winners will contest for the honors to represent their town in various district matches and the final victors will participate in a state contest at Hartford the latter part of May. The schedule for the schools under direction of Supervisor Levi T. Garrison follows:

Bolton, Wednesday, May 8, at 7:30 p. m. S. T. at the Center school. Judges, Miss Florence Glenny and Miss Mary Medbury.

Chaplain: Thursday, May 9, at 7:30 p. m., S. T., at Center school. Judges, Mrs. Myrtle Locke and Mrs. Marcella Deming.

Ashford: Friday, May 10, at 7:30, S. T., at Knowlton Memorial hall. Judges, Mrs. Marguerite Balch, Mrs. Alice Downs and Mrs. Delvina Ethridge.

Columbia: May 13, at 1 p. m., S. T., at Yeoman's hall. Judges, Miss Marie Bargfrede and Miss Florence Martin.

Coventry: Tuesday, May 14, at 1 p. m., daylight saving time, at North Coventry hall. Judges the Misses Catherine Adams and Frances Shea.

Willington: Wednesday, May 15, at 7:30 p. m., D. S. T., at Hall Memorial school. Judges, Miss Elizabeth Brown and Miss Mildred Mirli.

Mansfield: Thursday, May 16, at 2 p. m., D. S. T., at Storrs. Judges, Mrs. Phyllis Parking, Mrs. Edith Larkin and Miss Marian Cullen.

Hampton: Friday, May 17, at 2 p. m., S. T., at the chapel. Judges, Miss Viola Navin and Miss Charlotte Gibson. The date of the Andover contest remains to be set.

Many visitors are expected during the public inspection hours at the Willimantic State Trade school Tuesday rom 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m., D. S. T. All residents of the city and surrounding towns are invited to make the inspection of Windham's most recent education asset. During the visiting hours the Trade School band of 15 pieces under direction of Charles N. C. Wheeler will play concert numbers. The program is in charge of Acting Director Otto R. Nyffeler, assisted by Miss Ruth M. Russ, secretary: George H. Jay, carpentry; Charles F. Taylor, masonry; Waldo Landry, painting; Wilbur S. Hill, electrical; John Griffin, plumbing and William E. McArthur, drafting instructor. The 86 students taking full trade courses are divided as follows as to residence: Willimantic 53, Willington 4, Norwich 9, Stafford 2, Windham Center 2, Scotland 2, Mansfield 4, Lebanon 1, Hebron 1, Hampton 3, Chaplin 4, and Andover 1.

The school offers an opportunity to boys over 14 years of age to secure training in building mechanics in whatever trade selected by the student. Apprentice experience is given on actual jobs done on a commercial scale and under capable supervision. Allied subjects to the trade, such as drafting, mathematics and lectures, are given as additional aids to the student who studies to be a successful journeyman.

The student is advanced from one operation to another as quickly as his adaptibility and skill allows. The school is conducted the year round without limit as to place of residence. The length of any given course is 4,800 hours. The school hours are from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 5 o'clock, excepting Saturday, when the school closes at noon, making a total of 44 hours per week.

Tuition is free to all residents of the state of Connecticut. Tools are furnished, although the students are encouraged to buy tools themselves, so as to have a complete kit by graduation time.

FUNERAL

John P. Egan

Leaving from the home, 62 Summit street, the funeral of John P. Egan was held this morning with a high mass of requiem in St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Francis Duch was the celebrant. Miss L. Monica McKeon was heard in several solos, accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Edmund R. Portelance. Burial was in St. Andrews' cemetery, Colchester, where Rev. Philip J. Mooney of that place conducted a committal service. The bearers were, Timothy McCruhan, Francis Sayers, William Shea, Edward Moran, Patrick Murphy and Thomas Robarge. Arrangements were in charge of Killourey Brothers.

There is particular interest here in the application of Sava Mathvink of this city to the board of pardons made at its spring session held in Wethersfield today. Mathvink, who is serving eight to 15 years for manslaughter, made his own plea upon his first application. He was convicted for killing the wife of Jake Berkowitz while attempting to kill the man, whom he claimed had cheated him in a real estate deal. State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford stated to the board that he had absolved Berkowitz from any part of Mathvink's loss and that the murder was particularly brutal.

James Loney of South Manchester received a fine of $2 and costs in police court this morning when arraigned for assault on his father-in-law, William Richmond of this city and for breach of the peace. Judge Foss acquitted the young man of the first charge, finding him guilty of breach of the peace.

OBITUARY

William LeDoyt

William LeDoyt, 68, died at his home in Woonsocket, R. I., Sunday. He was born in Coventry the son of Samuel and Laura Jacobs LeDoyt. The deceased leaves three brothers, Edwin, Dwight and Ernest H. LeDoyt, all of Coventry.

In a final check-up today it was disclosed that all but nine of the 340 boys and girls registered for the free swimming campaign conducted at the Y. M. C. A. last week were taught the fundamentals of swimming. The progress made is to the extent that only continued practice is necessary to gain perfection in the art, it was stated today by Physical Director Eric H. Lind. Those who passed the Red Cross tests for swimmers and beginners will receive buttons, while cards will be sent to the parents of the children giving information as to the progress made during the week.

The younger pupils of the Blanchette school of planoforte playing gave their recital at the Windham high school auditorium Saturday afternoon in a varied and interesting program. The singing of Miss Celia Cohen, who possesses a rich contralto voice, proved a feature of the recital. The piano pupils who took part were: Sidney Beller, Ruth Taylor, Clara Boss, Thelma Andrews, Bernard Beller, Juliet Tryon, Merle Fryer, Betty Lou Sharpe, Shirley Cohen, Jean Branch, Annie Cooper, Adelaide Jahnes, Catherine Branch and Sylvia Zenchoff. Two numbers were given by a rhythmic orchestra of which Miss Magdelene Moriarty is instructor and Miss Mary R. Blanchette, conductor.

Miss Florence Battie of Columbia Teachers' college, New York city, has been appointed by the state board of education to succeed Miss Maude Shapleigh as supervisor of rural schools in Marlborough, Sprague, Hebron, Bozrah, Columbia, Lebanon and Franklin. Earl J. Arnold of Waltham, Mass., spent the week end with his family.

Miss Elizabeth P. Anderson, secretary of the Welfare Bureau attended the annual state conference of social workers at Middletown today.

Vacation periods, as assigned by Fire Chief Wade U. Webster, have started in the fire department personnel with George W. Larkins, electrician of Engine Company No. 1, now on a two weeks' leave. Jace Healy, call member of the company, is on regular duty during Mr. Larkin's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Norton have returned from Springfield, Mass., where they were guests of their son, Russell Norton and family.

Mrs. E. E. Latham is entertaining her sister, Miss Frances Palmer of Orange City, Fla.

Miss Catherine A. Turner and Richard Turner of Hartford were Sunday guests at the home of their uncle, Fred E. Turner.

Miss Mary Rose Savory, Hartford nurse, is spending her vacation with relatives in this city.

JEWETT CITY

WEIGHING BIG FISH FOR E. CONN. PRIZES

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, May 6—John H. Tracy, whose official weights are final, in the "largest fish" contest for the prizes offered by the Eastern Connecticut Fish and Game association, is placing some dandies on the scale pan these days. "Doc" Wallace brought in 7 Saturday, that tipped the beam at 5 1-2 pounds. Mr. Lillibridge got a two-pounder. Some of the other recent weighings, recalled the Jumping Frog story told by Mark Twain.

In a contest relative to the length of feet covered by the green backed acrobats, it was discovered that one of the frogs had been "loaded" with bird shot. Two trout were brought in the same day, measured and otherwise sized up by the gallery. Strangely, the smaller of the two fishes weighed a quarter of a pound more than the larger. No search was made for illegal ballast.

Joseph Cadieux, was the efficient manager of the automobile transportation for the parade, Sunday.

This section has been subjected to full as much thunder and lightning disturbance already this season, as was handed out by the weather department during all last summer.

WHEN SHAD WERE TAKEN FROM THE NEARBY RIVER

Passengers on the buses between here and Norwich, Sunday, had the opportunity of seeing the Quinebaug shad bush, in finest blow, and at its best. Above tunnel hill, several varieties, made there heretofore inconspicuous presence known, by means of masses of white flowers, where as yet no foliage color is shown. The appearance of this attractive shrub, recalls the actual stories told of shad seining at Jewett City, which to the present generations seems incredible. Daniel L. Phillips' newly published History of Griswold, tells "Above the falls was the great seining place for Jewett City; here the river bed was cleared and smoothed, and the fishery controlled by an organization. The actual value of these shad fisheries," according to the history, "is best told by the late H. L. Reade of Lisbon, in an article in the Norwich Courier of Dec. 2, 1869, entitled, 'The Fisheries in Our Rivers.' A part of this is as follows: Silas Read who owned a fishing ground six miles above Norwich, rented his grounds, the parties furnishing seins and boats for $100 per year."

"The largest shad sold for 12 1-2 cents each. The dam at Greeneville in 1823 destroyed all this. No shad have been taken here from that day to this."

The contract for furnishing the hardware equipment for the new St. Mary's school was handled by J. B. LeClaire of Jewett City.

There is interest in the town hall here today (Tuesday) for the benefit of those who are blind in the state.

The Slater Hawks met a crushing defeat when they hooked up with Malek's All Stars. The score was 20 to 8. The lineup of the All Stars was: Catcher, Joseph Sorokolit; p, "Ezra" Malek; 1b, Jimmy Larabee; ss, "Putz" Wechsler; 2b, Phil Anthony; 3b, Danny Rourke; lf, "Chops" Malek; rf, "Snooky" Czella; cf, Emile Malek.

Mrs. C. E. Small of Lowell, Mass. was the week end guest of Mrs. Frank E. Adams.

Mrs. F. E. Robinson is visiting for a few days in New Haven and New York.

It is estimated that fully 200 visitors were in town Sunday, to see and hear the dedicational ceremonies. Praise is given the state and local constabulary for their handling of the heavy Sunday state road traffic in detour.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL OPENING AFTER ASKING GOD'S BLESSING

The formal opening of the new St. Mary's school on North Main street, following the impressive ceremonial of its blessing by Bishop John J. Nilan, Sunday, will take place this (Tuesday) morning.

At 3:45 in the church, Rev. John J. McCabe, the pastor will celebrate a high mass, invoking God's blessing on all the future educational activities of the school. All the children, with their relatives will attend.

Following the services a processional in which all will join, will move from the church to the several grades.

Notable in the first sessions will be the establishment of a sub-primary grade, which will attend to the instruction of children of the age of five. This grade will correspond to and take up the teaching of a kindergarten.

The opening will see 275 pupils in their seats.

PREDICTION FROM NORWICH OF NEW SCHOOL'S SUCCESS

Rev. John J. Reilly, of St. Patrick's, Norwich, has this to say of the new school:

"The parishioners of St. Mary's parish and the people of the borough of Jewett City, may feel confident that the future, both here and hereafter, is insured as far as the powers of human beings can insure it, by the presence in your community of the school, which formally opens today. You may expect a good return on your investment and on your self-denial, for when things material are repaid in things eternal, there can never be a doubt as to the wisdom of your action. And if the years to come will find in this community men and women, lovers of their country, and lovers of their God, products of St. Mary's school who will be putting into their lives the things that are worth-while in life, will not the future Jewett City point with gratitude and pride to the day St. Mary's school was opened? Rest assured the future is bright and the prospects are fair, for when the doors of this parish school shall swing open upon its graduates there will go forth children not mailed in scorn or pride, but with the armor of pure intention, with duties great and small before them, and whether crowned or crownless, when they fall it matters not; God's will is done."

PRESTON

TOURISTS TO FLORIDA ENTHUSE OVER TRIP

At the Women's Bible class meeting held last Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Pendleton Mrs. John Richardson and Mrs. J. A. Smith gave a most interesting account of their recent trip to the southland. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson motored from Preston to West Palm Beach, Florida, and were accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Smith. The party went by way of Bear Mountain bridge, thence over the Lincoln Highway to Washington, D. C. to Richmond then over the Coastal Highway, across the wonderful new James river bridge, one of the marvels of the age. At Walterboro, S. C., Mrs. Smith left the party to visit her home town and many relatives there, while Mr. Smith went as far as Savannah, Ga., on a business trip.

While in West Palm Beach Mr. and Mrs. Richardson visited the flood areas of the Everglades, and as they expressed it: "Only those who have been there can ever realize the awfulness of that terrible flood and cyclone." One man, with his helpers, buried more than 800 Negroes and 75 white people.

All were very much delighted with the trip and returned by the way of Gettysburg through the prosperous farming section of Pennsylvania, then again across the famous old Hudson, back to Preston, with a strong desire to repeat the trip another winter.

BOZRAH

Bozrah grange, P. of H., met Wednesday evening, May 1, in Bozrah town hall. The business meeting was in charge of Worthy Master Charles Davis and the lecturer's hour was under direction of Lecturer Clara Gilman. Refreshments were served, after which State Grange Deputy John P. Holzwell, who was present to inspect the books of the secretary and treasurer, gave a very interesting talk. The grange then closed in form, to meet May 15th.

Although his automobile was struck by two trains and completely smashed, Harry Peifer of Shickshinny, Pa., escaped uninjured. Peifer was on the way to work when his machine stalled on a crossing. He jumped as a freight train hit it and threw it on to another track, where a second freight train completed the demolition.

Rovers Won, 7 to 6.

The Noank Rovers, a recently organized team of the Noank Baptist church and the married men of the church played a fast game of baseball on Williams' field recently. The game lasted only five innings owing to bad weather but the boys won from the men, 7 to 6. There were sensational plays made by both sides. This will be the last game played on Williams' field, as the ground is being prepared for building sites but there are several other diamonds in sight. The lineup for the Rovers was: Pitcher, Carlo Bracci; catcher, Alex Pia; first base, Vincent Douglas; second base, Harry Ashbey; third base, Carl Patterson; short stop, M Ballestrini; left field, Walter Carpenter. For the married men: Pitcher, Lloyd Brown; catcher, Parker Wilde; first base, George W. WEDDING OF DAUPHINAIS AND GINGRAS ON MONDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 5—This morning at 7.30 at St. James' church Miss Delvina Gingras of 5 Dyer street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gingras, and Rosario Dauphinais, of 76 School street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dauphinais, were united in marriage by Rev. J. A. Demers, who also was celebrant of the nuptial mass, numbers of the relatives and friends of the contracting couple being in attendance.

The bride was attended by Miss Bella A. Gingras as bridesmaid and Alexander Dauphinais was best man. A feature of the musical part of the service at the marriage mass was the violin obligatos played by Prof. Sylvestro DeSendre of Providence. The bride's gown was of white satin and she carried a bouquet of Easter lilies. The bridesmaid's gown was of Cecile blue material and her bouquet of snapdragons.

Mr. and Mrs. Dauphinais left during the day for their wedding trip. They are to visit in Springfield and other cities. The bride's going away suit was of light grey. A reception for the newly married pair has been arranged to be held in St. John's hall on May 11, when the musical part of the arrangements of the evening will be by the Jolly Four. Mr. and Mrs. Dauphinais are to make their home here. Both are employed by Powdrell and Alexander and have many friends.

SEVERAL CASES DISPOSED OF IN TOWN COURT MONDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 5—Disposition was made in the town court this morning, Judge W. Fenner Woodward presiding, of various cases that developed over the week end. Eugene St. Laurent of Willimantic was fined $10 and costs, a total of $12.50, for operating a motor vehicle with improper lights. He was ordered into court by State Officer Royal V. Scranton. Harvey Fortune of Killingly was fined $1 and costs, a total of $10.50, for failing to grant the right of way when his car became involved in an accident at Cottage and Water streets Saturday with a machine operated by a Worcester woman. William Blanchard, Providence, charged with failure to grant the right of way, was fined $5 and costs, a total of $10.50. Napoleon Harrelle, of Killingly, charged with failure to grant half the traveled right of way, was fined $5 and costs, a total of $10.50. Harrelle was operating a car that was in an accident Saturday at Dayville Four Corners with a machine operated by Joseph Guay of Danielson. Guay sustained a broken collarbone in the accident.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF WEEK FOR THE BLIND

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 5—The Week for the Blind opened most auspiciously here today, and deep was the impression made upon the many who entered the town hall and watched those who are without sight do the things they were engaged in doing with a skill that would do credit to many a person with the great blessing of sight. A blind typist demonstrated her ability to do wonderfully accurate work. Another sightless one—a man—was engaged in putting a rush bottom in an old chair and was doing the work splendidly. A blind girl sat operating a sewing machine as though eyes were no great necessity for doing nice work. And so it went. A cobbler, totally blind, tapping shoes. For those who meet with distressing adversity can do if they have the will and the proper opportunity to learn. The hall is prettily decorated and there are tables about where one may purchase articles made by the blind, every cent of the purchase price of any article bought going to the blind person who made it. Tonight there were entertainment features to add to the interest of the exhibit, sponsored by the State Board of Education of the Blind. Today and this evening the committee in charge was made up of women of St. James' parish. The exhibits continue through the week.

FUNERAL.

Mrs. Rena Frechette.

This morning the funeral of Mrs. Rena Frechette was held from the West Side with funeral services at St. James' church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Joseph Bergin was celebrant of the high mass of requiem. Burial was in Holy Cross cemetery, the committal service being conducted by Rev. J. A. Demers. The bearers were Louis Goulet, Amadee Goulet, William Plante, Albert Lagace, Arthur Belisle and Alphonse Gregoire. Louis E. Kennedy was the funeral director.

Commander Walter F. Jacobs, U. S. N., of the cruiser Raleigh, now on duty in the Mediterranean, with his vessel and crew were at Palos the past week for the dedication of the mammoth statue of Christopher Columbus, the event attracting attendance from many sections of Spain. The crew of the vessel took part in the parade that was an incident of the ceremonies. Also there were Mrs. Jacobs and their daughters, Misses Mary and Winifred, and Miss Dorothy Atwood of Wauregan. Mrs. Jacobs, the Misses Jacobs and Miss Atwood have been touring southern Spain, Italy and Switzerland by motor car, and also have visited in Vienna. Later they are to be in Paris for a time. Commander Jacobs will remain on duty with the Raleigh in European waters until fall, when he will return to the United States.

POSSESSES REPLICA OF FAMOUS PORTLAND VASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 5—Sidney W. Bard, treasurer of the Brooklyn Savings bank, has a replica of the original and famous Portland vase that appeared as a matter of news interest a few days ago when the duke of Portland withdrew it from the British Museum of Art, to which it was loaned upwards of a century ago by an ancestor of the present duke of Portland, that it might be offered for sale at auction. The highest bid of about $145,000, was not considered sufficient by the duke, and he declined to part with the valuable antique with a history dating back for centuries. Mr. Bard said this morning that many years ago some 40 odd replicas of the vase were made by Wedgewood in England and one of them came into the possession of one of his forebears and has since been in the family.

A number of his relatives and friends arranged a birthday party for Joseph Belisle of the West Side yesterday at the home of his nephew, Peter Belisle, in Plainfield, the occasion being the 63rd anniversary of his birth. An address of congratulation was read by Miss Yvonne Belisle, and he was presented with numerous gifts. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Belisle and their daughter, Yvonne, those in attendance were Mrs. Louis Gobeille and daughter, Oline, Mrs. Lea Joly, all of Plainfield, Mrs. A. Gauvin and children, Ernest and Annette, Mrs. F. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Joly and daughter, Evelyn and Frank Belisle, all of Danielson.

A row boat of sturdy, [illegible]

struction is being built for use by state officers stationed at the Danielson barracks on such occasions as it may be needed, and there have been several occasions in the past when a boat has been required, especially while officers have worked for the recovery of the bodies of drowned persons. The boat is to be kept on a trailer that can be hauled by department cars.

William Corey of Foster, employed on a farm in the Mashentuck district came to court this morning to answer to a charge of intoxication and with cruelty to an animal. It was alleged that he had too severely whipped a horse. He pleaded guilty to the intoxication charge, but not to the cruelty charge, and was committed to jail. This afternoon he was brought back from jail, pleaded guilty to a cruelty charge and was fined, the amount with the costs being $15.

Killingly grange play, Phoenix hall, tonight. 35 cents.—adv.

On May 14 a delegation of 25 to 30 members of Quinebaug lodge of Odd Fellows of Danielson plan to be in New Britain to attend the Connecticut grand lodge meeting.

First and second degrees were conferred on candidates at this evening's meeting of Killingly grange.

About town today some were engaged in the activities connected with Cleanup week in Danielson and the work will continue through the week.

Approximately 5,000 trout have been released through the Danielson Rod and Gun club for the state fish and game commission in the upper reaches of the Assawaga river and in Mashamoquet brook in the town of Pomfret. The fish were from 2 to 3 inches in length, but, if they live, will in some instances grow to weigh four to five pounds.

Finely crushed stone for the top surfacing of the unfinished state highway on the Brooklyn-Danielson road has been distributed preparatory to completing this road, which could not be finished before the past winter set in.

Another state highway improvement that will again receive attention in the near future is that having to do with the completion of the approaches to the new concrete bridge built by the state over the Moosup river at Central Village last year. The bridge has been finished for months but is not in use.

A. P. Burns is directing the rehearsals of the Danielson-Putnam Rotary club minstrels, the proceeds from which are to be used in boys' work by the clubs.

Any interested person who would like to make it possible for a girl to remain in high school and continue her studies by providing her an opportunity to work for her board may communicate with Principal E. R. Warren of Killingly high school relative to the matter. If no such person comes forward, the student will be obliged to leave school.

Rev. Harvey H. Conklin, who is pastor of churches at Baltic and Versailles and is to take the pastorate of a church in Jacksonville, Fla., was pastor of the Danielson Methodist Episcopal church from 1922 to 1925.

May 14 has been selected as the date for the opening of the Danielson Twilight league season. There are four teams in the league this season, and games are to be played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Chautauqua comes to Danielson in mid-July this year, and the programs will be featured with two plays.

A meeting of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Alban's parish was held this evening.

William A. Burrows was at his cottage at Oakland Beach yesterday, making ready for his 36th season at that summer resort. Mr. Burrows built one of the first cottages erected at Oakland Beach, where hundreds now stand.

The second registered shoot of the season was held at the grounds of the Danielson Rod and Gun club, Inc., on Sunday, and although a gale of wind blew the targets all over the field, twelve shooters took part. John B. Tebo, Fisherville, Mass., was high with 91, L. H. Bradley, Hartford, second with 89, and C. F. Peabody, New London, third with 87. L. H. Bradley won the distance with 45 and also the doubles with 42.

The scores follow:

100 16-yard targets: Tebo 91, Bradley 89, Peabody 87, Ingalls 85, Griffith 81, Slade 80, Todd 79, LeTendre 78, Gardner 77, Prest 75, Wordell 73, Holman 71.

50 distance: Bradley 45, Tebo 40, Ingalls 39, Todd 38, Prest 34, Griffith 30.

50 doubles: Bradley 42, Tebo 40, Holman 34.

PUTNAM

REMARKABLE DISPLAY OF ARTICLES MADE BY BLIND

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 6—The hall in Odd Fellows building was opened today by the state board of education of the blind for the Week for the Blind, to be held there every day this week including Saturday. The auditorium has been tastefully decorated and there is a surprising outlay of articles made by the blind people of the state. The variety is large and the workmanship is exceptionally good. One visiting the hall and carefully examining the display of articles made by the older blind wonders how the arts have been accomplished in the homes of these people.

Scores of local people visited the exhibition this afternoon and made purchases, the full price paid for each article to be forwarded to the blind person who made it. Jarvis C. Worden, assistant secretary of the state board of education of the blind, and Miss Susan Todd, sales manager, are in charge of the sales work. Two blind teachers of the state school, Miss Izetta Dellett and Miss Ivie M. Mead, are present and are explaining the faculties of the work on exhibition. Two other members of the board, Miss Genevieve M. Burby and Miss Flora Scofield, are assisting with this part of the work.

A committee of women from St. Mary's church under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lionel H. Charron assisted at the hall today and the American Legion auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. J. Dyer Potter aided the blind authorities this evening.

Feature programmes were presented by blind experts this afternoon and again repeated their work tonight. Emil Johnsen, a blind piano tuner, amazed an audience with his skill in adjusting a piano, so as to obtain the correct musical rhythms from it. Another highly interesting exhibition was performed by the blind typist and stenographer. Michael Donnelly demonstrated his work as a typewriter operator and transcribed dictation taken from a dictaphone. Arthur Kelsey of New Haven, a skilled blind rush worker, showed the manner in which the blind cane old-fashioned chairs. Miss Mary K. Desmond, a teacher of music at the state school for the blind, presented a musicale, in which two of her blind pupils participated, their feat proving remarkable to the capacity audience who stood by.

An entertainment given by sightless children of the state blind school brought Monday's programme to a close. The dramatic ability of the children, whose eyes have been closed to light, was in every respect on par with amateur stage drama presented by Putnam school children.

The exhibition on Tuesday will be along the same lines as the one given today. Another entertainment will be presented Tuesday by another group of blind pupils from the state school in Hartford. Admission to the building is free and the public is cordially invited to attend and inspect the work of the blind.

The board of water commissioners are expected to appear Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting of the common council and present a detailed report of plans for the reconstruction of the piping system and the storage supply of the city water company. During the past week Chairman of the Board R. E. Thurston has been in consultation with Henry P. Symonds, hydraulic engineer, whose headquarters are said to be in Boston. The engineer, while in conference with Commissioner Thurston, viewed tentative plans formulated by the board of commissioners and narrowly outlined by the commissioner a few months ago at a meeting of the board of aldermen. Mr. Thurston has refused to disclose the attitude of Mr. Symonds on the plans calling for the erection of a 1,000,000-gallon steel tank on Oak hill and the supplanting of pipe lines in various sections of the city. Investigation has revealed that Mr. Symonds approved of the plans as one means of providing more adequate fire protection in the business center of the city, all that the present board of commissioners hope for at the present time.

The commission has been preparing a complete report of their work for a number of weeks in anticipation of a night with the aldermanic body, but at each meeting the pressure of business on hand has forced the trio of heads of the department to postpone the report until the forthcoming gathering of the council.

Whether or not the police department is to enlist the services of gas weapons in the apprehension of outlaws is not definitely known, but on Saturday evening fumes of a well-known seasoning product seeped through a porous wall adjoining the offices of Smiling Jim Mahoney, taking him unaware and causing him to grope for a supply of oxygen. The timely arrival of a friend of the overcome theatre manager snatched him from the clutches of the weapon used in modern police warfare. A few minutes in the open and the customary smile returned to the countenance of "Smiling Jim." Determined to brave the dangerous fumes which filled his clerical chambers, and to reveal the cause of its presence with an eye for prosecution, the amateur Sherlock Holmes, equipped with a captured German gas mask—a relic of the late war—entered the offices on all fours. Cutting his way through the dense fog-like element, he succeeded in opening a window. In a few moments the atmosphere had cleared of its mysterious fumes and Jim ventured into the ante-room.

To his surprise he discovered a package, carefully wrapped in heavy paper marked "Horse radish—aged" and bearing the inscription, "Jim: Will call for this bundle later—Capt. W. J. Jarvis." While no explanation has been offered by Captain Jarvis for the nature of the dinner table food product, Jim has advanced a moral to the effect that offenders should in the future carry with them at all times a relic of the gas brigade of the late war.

The results of Saturday's special session of naturalization as made this morning by Miss Marjorie C. Bradford, assistant clerk of superior court, was as follows: Sixteen aliens were granted their first papers and four took out their second papers making them citizens of the United States. Saturday's session was one of the largest held since the announcement by the labor department was made concerning the new code of immigration laws slated to take effect on July 1. The demand for naturalization papers will necessitate another extra session of court in the near future and it is possible the local naturalization authorities will meet again on Saturday, May 11.

Dennis Larrow, son of Joseph Larrow, of this city, was before Judge Geissler in city court this morning in the continuance of his case, which was carried over from last Monday's session. Larrow was arrested by Officer Alpherie Poncey of the local police last Sunday morning following an automobile accident. A report from the police this morning was to the effect that Larrow's victim has recovered and received no ill effect, other than a few bruises as the result of the crash. Accordingly, he was fined $5 on the charge of operating a car possessing defective brakes.

Superior court will convene in this city on Tuesday morning. Only a light session is expected as the greater number of civil jury cases contained on the docket have been settled outside of court and withdrawn from the trial list. It was believed here today that a criminal case turned over to the higher court by Judge M. H.

✓"The all-metal seamless body is the auto body of the future," George J. Mercer, consulting body engineer and former chairman of the Committee on Standards, Body Division, Society of Automotive Engineers, predicted, at a meeting of the Cleveland Section of the S. A. E. —Automotive Daily News, February 12, 1929.

In the exclusive Mono-piece Body—available in all eight body styles of the new Dodge Brothers Six—you find the design to which leading engineers point as "the body of the future." It is one of the host of epoch-making advancements which instantly identify the Dodge Brothers Six as the greatest more-for-the-money car in Dodge Brothers history.

The Mono-piece Body is an original and exclusive Dodge Brothers Six feature, presented by Walter P. Chrysler, who inspired this record-breaking new car. Literally one-piece, the Mono-piece Body is proof against squeaks and rattles. Even after thousands of miles of hardest usage it remains as tight, as firm and as noiseless as when new.

Providing an abundance of room with a new degree of grace, the Mono-piece Body is stylishly trim. Doors and windows are wide. In fact, the Mono-piece Body, in every way, stamps the new Dodge Brothers Six as the herald of a new era of greater beauty, greater comfort and even greater dependability in motor car design.

Your Dodge Brothers dealer will be delighted to explain in detail every one of the many interesting and important features of Mono-piece Body construction, as well as the many other unduplicated betterments which this marvelous car has introduced.

PENALIZING DRUNKEN DRIVERS.

Different action has been taken by the states of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island as a curb of the drunken driver but they are all intent upon providing greater safety in the highways through the penalizing of such operators.

In this state there have been many instances where even on a second offense a drunken driver has escaped penalties because of suspended sentence. That avenue of escape has been eliminated by the action of the general assembly. Henceforth if a person is convicted on a second offense, and that offense has occurred within six years of the first, there can be no suspension.

In the state of Massachusetts it has recently become the law that any person convicted of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor shall be deprived of his license for a period of 10 years provided it is determined by the registrar of motor vehicles that his condition was directly responsible for the killing of another person.

In Rhode Island the legislature has provided that the licenses of drunken drivers shall be revoked for long periods following first, second and third convictions.

There has been no question about the menace of the drunken driver in the past but it has been recognized that the methods of dealing with them has not resulted in a reduction of drunken driving. There are more frequent instances where jail sentences are imposed in cases where persons are killed but the need of establishing penalties which will cause those who have been driving to refrain from driving has been recognized and the plan of taking away the licenses for long periods has resulted.

With this group of three states working in the same direction for the elimination of the same condition noticeable results ought to follow if it is possible to get results in such a manner. Safety in the highway is at low enough ebb without having it made worse by those who make themselves unfit to handle the wheel of an automobile. It may require the imposition of such penalties before some are brought to their senses but if that is so, enforcement of the new provisions must be expected.

KEEPING IT FIT.

For a long time the United States and Canada have lived in the best of relations. They are so situated geographically that there ought to be nothing but the best of relationships and such is the intention.

In connection with the problem of keeping the boundary line between the nations straight there was established long ago the international joint commission, to which body all questions are referred and to which each country looks for the adjustment of any differences. It is a board which is not overburdened with work because of the good relationship but it is apparent that it should be equipped and ready to meet any situation that may arise.

It is because of this and the fact that the commission has been used for the purpose of providing jobs for those who were deserving but may have grown old at the post that the president has called for the resignation of the chairman in order that a man of younger years, more active and able may be named to direct the business of the commission in behalf of this country.

This start in behalf of a change indicates that the president desires this commission to be something more than a figurehead. He intends that it shall do something more than provide a soft job for those who may have encountered the misfortunes of political battle. He wants a commission that will be active, that will keep abreast of the times and through a handling of the matters of concern to both countries keep the relationship at that high degree of satisfaction which means so much to both of them.

It is of no use to have such a commission that is of no benefit to the country. A commission is needed that can and will be on the job and that, from the experience of the commission of engineers named to investigate the St. Lawrence waterway project, was not found to be true. It was of little practical use and showed at that time that there was need of a change. In order that the country may have the benefit of an active and able commission before any new roblems arise changes in the commission are proposed by the president. If any commission is to be continued it should by all means be up to requirements.

GETTING MORE SAFETY.

While there were days when attention was halted by the number of persons killed in railroad accidents, the situation is far different today. Railroad accidents and wrecks never fail to get due attention but they are less common. Greater care prevails in the operation of railroads today and it is interestingly reflected in the number of deaths during the past year.

According to President Crowley of the New York Central system there were but 16 persons killed in this country in railroad accidents last year. This seems an incredibly small number in view of the fact that nearly a billion passengers were carried over a quarter of a million miles of track but there can be no surprise over the fact that it is pointed to with pride as a railroad accomplishment.

Where safety has increased on the railroads it has decreased upon the highways. When between 6,000 and 7,000 persons are killed in automobile accidents in 78 cities during the 12 months on the highways, it is a tremendous increase from that cause alone, while the number of deaths from accidents of all kinds in the country runs close to 100,000. If we include those who are injured the casualty list would grow by leaps and bounds.

It isn't necessary to study figures long before arriving at the conclusion that every effort that is put forth in behalf of safety is fully justified. It is unfortunate that the efforts have not accomplished more than they have. It is deplorable that so many lives are needlessly wiped out every year when through the exercise of a little care they might have been saved.

While there were the days when railroading was less safe than it is today the situation has changed because of devices and insistence upon safety. Those operating trains must be fit drivers and trains must be in fit condition. The need of some such safety requirements for those using the highways, along with the assumption of greater responsibility by highway users and automobile drivers, is apparent. The big death rate can be and should be reduced and it is distressing that greater progress is not being made in that direction.

HERE AND IN ENGLAND.
